Ch. 10.7.13

I should like before we put this by to know what the actual situation is.
We ought to enquire whether they have included the grant in and unless it is clear that they have not.

I am rather in a fog.

Mr. P. 97/13

I confess I do not understand your figures.

Expenditure has exceeded Revenue
 at you say our surplus has increased.

Ch. 10/7/13

Anderson

I am afraid my mistake was obvious by reference to the revised estimate 14319. I had a statement which bore out the

The explanation is that the deficit is more than the projected. I have assumed that, as a result a statement for 1912
 "revenue" means local revenue & does not include the grant in aid. If Mr. Browning had meant the grant in aid to be included in revenue
 I think he would have said so. ^{including it} If he however, our surplus of £14,642 becomes a deficit of £8,858, & the balance of £297,734
 at 31.3.12 shrinks to £284,876 at 31.3.13

As I pointed out in my report of the 8th,
 the figures require qualification, as it is clear that the revenue (to wit £709,941) comes forward

Original Estimate of Expenditure	£977,899	1912-13	Original Estimate of Revenue	£780,000
Approved by you during the year	£79,941		Grant in Aid (Project)	23,500
1911-12 revenue carried to 1912-13	£70,941		From Balance	153,715
Total Expenditure	£1,028,840			£957,899
Actual Expenditure	£969,764		Part for Balance	£70,941
Surplus (Balance)	£14,642		to be met from (Total)	£1,028,840
Balance	£975,406		Actual Revenue	£957,899
			Grant in Aid (Project)	23,500
				£981,399
				£297,734
				14,642
				£308,376

Actual balance at 31.3.12 £297,734
 surplus only for 14,642 (Balance at 31.3.13)

that I can see no prospect of being able to meet his wishes
