GRANTING COMPASSION 1909 - BELFIELD

July. See Vol. hereinto pp. 388-392 as to import duties on Coal, coke & pulverized fuel. The argument that if coal is exempted, liquid fuel should be exempted is not unreasonable, but of course even if the duty involved is now insignificant, later on the amount imported may increase. However, I do agree to the exemption of liquid fuel & risk the hypothetical loss of revenue.

keeps it simple as to the wording of that you will see from
pp. 40 to 915 that number of countries
admit such medicines that in many cases some exempted or so & so.

As far as Uganda is concerned I think that we ought to know what loss to revenue is likely to be incurred if we now add to the free list all the articles proposed here at already on the Uganda free list.
Uganda has agreed to the
