(Remainder of Morgan).

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan arrived here in June and left for the country. Morgan was arrested at Kisumu and sentenced to fourteen days imprisonment for travelling without a ticket. He married out of service in the Nairobi Jail.
In the meantime his wife, whom he had left in Nakuru, came down to Nairobi and, being destitute, was sent to the night at Government expense by the Assistant Deputy Commissioner. She got employment with Mr. G.W. Evans at Nakuru. After his release Morgan joined his wife and they got work at the Homestead Farm, but owing to insolence and other reasons they were discharged. Mr. Ainsworth then sent them down here, and two or three days after arrival

Morgan was committed to the jail as a vagrant. His wife was allowed to remain in the Cecil Hotel, her board and lodging being paid for out of the Distressed British Fund acts by us. Mr. Fowler, as Secretary, did everything possible to help her escape, he offered to get her a passage to Johannesburg but this she declined; he then arranged to board and lodge her with the Church Missionary Society at Frere Town, this she also refused, and then Mr. Bailey, who is the Church Missionary Society's Agent, offered to give her a home for a time; she declined this also and eventually was turned out of the Cecil Hotel as it was found that she has rifled the boxes of Mrs. Heath to whom she had been sent as a nurse. She was then committed to the jail as a vagrant.

I find both are extremely lazy, insubordinate, and insolent and have had to punish Morgan for insubordination.

MEMORANDUM

A man bearing the name of J. Turner was sent to the gaol here from Kisumu on the 26th July 1905; the warrant shewed that he had received a sentence of fourteen days simple imprisonment for travelling without a Railway ticket. It subsequently transpired that the man's proper name was J.A. Morgan, and that he was being enquired for by several persons in Mombasa and Nairobi to whom he was indebted. Turner, during the time he was in gaol here, was treated by the Medical Officer for fever; I attach copy of Medical Officer's memo dealing with the case. He made no complaint to me nor to any one else that I am aware of as to his treatment in the gaol here nor had he occasion to make any. He remained in Nairobi for two or three weeks after his sentence expired, during which time I found him and his wife employment at the Homestead farm (Mr. Sandbach-Baker) but, as they failed to give satisfaction, they were dismissed. During the time Morgan was in prison

In Mr. J. Jackson's despatch
Enclosed No. 1

Here, the authorities at Naivasha sent a Mrs. Morgan to me here saying that she had been deserted by her husband and stranded in Naivasha where there was no chance of her finding employment and she was sent here on the chance of finding something to do. After hearing Mrs. Morgan's story and making further enquiries I suspected that the man Morgan, who was, as I have said, known to us then as Turner, was the woman's husband. This proved to be the case and he afterwards admitted that his name was Morgan; he explained he had to leave his wife as he had no means of supporting her, and he expected that other people would look after her.

I found employment for both of these people with Mr. Sandbach-Baker at the Hospital Farm, but, during Mr. Baker's absence for a few days, Mrs. Baker complained that the man was insolent and that he and the woman molested her. Mrs. Baker's brother-in-law was sent for and the Morgans were dismissed. (After further efforts to obtain

MEMORANDUM.

----0000----

J. A. Morgan alias James Turner was in prison from 26th July 1905 to 7th August 1905. He was sick with Malaria from the 31st July 1905 until his release. He was on special diet during that time and was provided with ample bed covering (including a pillow). It is unavoidable that sheets should be used in such cases owing to perspiration and the consequent danger of chill. As Mr. Morgan alias Turner was suffering from fever it is possible that his powers of observation as regards attendance may have been somewhat obscured.
