Since these have arrived for the removal of existing provisions would propose to safeguard the interests of the Government in the matter of the Governor an interim arrangement for preliminary condition.

I am sure all against what is proposed in the case of the 1st of 1914. The provisions in 7.01 which are of present will be in force for a period of 12 months unless they are repealed or amended. It is reported that Sir P. Gwynne is attached to the provision and will not be released from his office until the end of the year.

taken up. It is the argument in favor of it has no value at all is better than one which is only slightly effective is not very satisfactory. We might reply that on this point

If Sir P. Gignard has reason to think that the rule is presently being evaded, every effort should be made to detect the offending officers with a view to some disciplinary measures being taken.

I would lay stress on the fact that these restrictions apply to all Colonies & Protectorates & expressing a hope that detailed information may be supplied to us as to those who (as the Governor states) have evaded the law.

My Lord

In reference to the correspondence which has passed on the subject of the acquisition of land by officials ending with Your Lordship's despatch No. 22 of September 6th 1909, I have the honour to state that in my opinion the time has arrived for the removal of the existing restrictions.

I think that it is extremely unlikely that any officer would be able, even if he wished, to make use of his position in order to obtain land or that the possession of it would affect the proper discharge of his duties. Land has now acquired a certain value, and even if that value should rise in the future present purchasers will be justly entitled to the fruits of their faith in the country's progress.

Capital is much required and there are certainly several officials who have become attached to the Protectorate, and who would be likely to buy farms or residences with a view to settling down here eventually on retirement. They would obviously form a very desirable class of colonists and and I think it would be a pity to drive them anywhere.

The restrictions can easily be lifted

I would propose to safeguard the interests of the public and of the country by making the assent of the Governor an indispensable preliminary condition in the acquisition of land. With such a provision I think that there would be little or no danger of the privilege being abused.

I have the honor to be Your obedient servant,
