I am in the first receipt of your letter no 1413 of the 26th of June transmitting a copy of a note from the Italian Ambassador relating to the question of the identification of things at sea and request you to inform Secretary Sir E. Grey that his Lordship concurs in the latter, after some negotiation, also accepted the Italian proposal but modified it in the sense that the reciprocal communication of the forms should not take the place of that of the annual lists but should be made supplementary to the latter formality which would facilitate the task of fixing the nationality of those in the event of their names not figuring on the lists.

The Italian Government having agreed in their turn to this modification have instructed me to inform you of the fact and to ask you to be good enough to let me know whether the British Government are also prepared to accept it, in order that steps may be taken to exchange the forms with the Government of the French Republic.

In awaiting the reply which you may be good enough to make to me

Sir:-

In my note of October 13th 1908, I beg the honour, under instructions from my Government to propose to you that, with a view to the execution of article 6 of the agreement of December 13th 1906 relative to the arms traffic, the three contracting powers should reciprocally communicate to one another the forms of the acts of nationality of the snows flying their respective flags instead of the annual lists of the snows themselves. The British Government agreed to this proposal, as you informed me in your note of January 7th 1909, and in a note addressed to Count de Spreti dated April 9th last they expressed their intention of sending their forms so far as possible upon the type of those which are issued by the Italian authorities and which had in the meantime been communicated to the British Government.

The Italian Government then endeavoured to secure a similar admission on the part of the French Government, and
