ZANZIBAR.

October 16th. 1905.

My Lord:

With reference to my despatch No. 104 of the 20th ultmo relative to the rising in German East Africa, I have the honour to transmit to Your Lordship herewith an extract from a private letter which has been written by Archdeacon Garpon, the head of the Universities Mission at Vanga, who has remained at Lindi to watch the course of events, to one of his colleagues in Zanzibar.

The news which we get from the Coast continues to be of a meagre description, and a German newspaper which is published at Dar-es-Salaam contains little more than the movements of troops.

It was reported a few days ago, from native sources, that there had been serious fighting in the vicinity of the capital, but it is officially stated that the trouble was due to a local tribal quarrel and that the Imperial troops were not engaged.

There are now three German warships on the Coast, the "Bussard", "Thetis" and "Seeadler".

I have, &c.,

(Signed) Basil S. Cave.

LINDI.

October 3rd. 1905.

Things seem to be very disturbed generally, and roads impassable; so that to get reliable information from the interior is next to impossible. Every man jack who could be spared went off yesterday and about a score of the white soldiers under Hauptmann Serfried (just come from Europe) to arrest the march of the Wangoni and others to this place as that is the most formidable foe just now. We hear all the Wangoni and others are massing at Masasi; go to Masasi, where all our people are loyal, and desire to remain so, this expedition will go clearing the roads en route and building a bomba there on arrival. If the rebels are as strong as we hear they are I am terribly afraid this force will be inadequate to cope with them.

Every day I wait hoping for messengers from Masasi, I am quite sure they will come directly the paths are clear enough, when we shall hear exactly the state of affairs behind this Lindi hill, and when we hear I fear it will be anything but cheering.

Slightly

Slightly North of here near Machinga's there have, and are still skirmishes, but as nearly all the villages are burnt down and food exhausted one hopes the rebels by sheer force of circumstances may be driven back.

We expect another handful of Europeans daily to supplement the weakened forces left behind since Hauptmann Serfried's departure yesterday.
