I desire that any charge can be made. The stations which are often handed about which there is no considerable body of men available for guard duty &c (which are the stations at which it is least desirable to keep large sums) are also the stations for which a strong species - escort cannot easily be spared.

Mr. Crowe's anticipation on T.D. paper 340605 hardly seems well founded. Monasteries at our stations are in small numbers - large laid out and but too said in a difficult manner to be used.

But unless future cases of loss or damage affect a more charge more urgently than we can keep things in the same way. Not by such a subsequent Paper.

which has been circulated to all sub-accountants, regulates the safe custody of public money.

5. Regarding the conveyance of specie between stations,

I would solicit a reference to the Treasurer's report on this subject forwarded by Sir D. Stewart in his despatch

No. 70 of February 8th 1905. Every precaution is taken to prevent loss during transmission and whenever possible a proper escort, under an Assistant Collector or Police officer when possible, is provided.

I have the honour to be,

With the highest respect,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient,

humble servant,
