The G.F.O. and the B.S.N.C. are fully unable to and unwilling respectively to effect any improvement in the service at Aden. The contract runs for year to year, although it may not be possible to make any alteration the year, there is no reason why we should not reconsider the position next year. The point seems to be whether the convenience of a cargo service from London to Zanzibar by

Address reply to "The Secretary, General Post Office," quoting Registered No. 38081.

Sir,

With reference to your letter of the 16th inst., No. 40393/1905, enclosing a copy of despatch No. 561, dated the 16th of October 1905, from the Acting Commissioner of the British East Africa Protectorate, relative to the Contract with the British India Steam Navigation Company for the Mail Service between Aden and Zanzibar, I am directed by the Postmaster General to acquaint you, for the information of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, that the question of altering the dates of departure of the Packets from Aden, so as to afford a service alternating with that maintained by the German steamships, was not long ago referred to the Directors of the British India Steam Navigation Company, in consequence of the representations made by the Postmaster General of the Protectorate and in a despatch addressed to the Foreign Office by His Majesty's Agent at Zanzibar.

From the Company's reply, of which a copy is enclosed, it will be seen that the alteration proposed would interfere materially materially with the service between London and Zanzibar, and that they do not think the public either in London or at Zanzibar would be benefited by the adoption of a service which would be attended with the inconvenience and expense involved. In view of the distance of the Company to carry out the service, and the fact that the Company has made their arrangements for the service at the Zanzibar office, the Board of Directors, the Postmaster General approved a line to refer the Admiralty to the service for 1866, to be operated on the same lines as the service for 1865.

As regards the arrangements proposed for the service, the Company's proposals are that the service should be operated on the same lines as the service for 1865, and that the service should be operated on the same lines as the service for 1865, and that the service should be operated on the same lines as the service for 1865. If it is found that the service is not profitable, the Company will be prepared to discontinue the service at the two ports and to deliver the cargo to the respective ports. The Company has, under the contract, undertaken to deliver the cargo to the ports other than Mombasa, and of course, provide that such cargo should be delivered to the respective ports.

As

As the Board of Elgin is doubtless aware, the Contract with the British India Steam Navigation Company now runs from year to year, subject to the concurrence of the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury. The service was formerly known as the slave trade service, having been maintained with a view to the suppression of the slave trade, and was borne on the Treasury Office vote. It is stated that the service could be justified on purely postal grounds.

In these circumstances, and in view of the representations made by the Directors, the Postmaster General does not feel that he is in a position to advise the Company to alter their existing arrangements, except in the matter of ports of call, as referred to above.

I am, Sir,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

Robert Stephenson

Sir,

With reference to your letter of 4th instant, I am instructed by the Directors of the British India Steam Navigation Company to say that they have carefully considered the proposal made by the Postmaster General of the East African Protectorate, to start the mail packets from Aden for Zanzibar a week earlier than at present, so as to alternate with the sailings of the German Steamers, and find that the effect would be to interfere materially with the cargo service between London and Zanzibar, which is maintained by a connection at Aden between the Company's steamers which run between London and Calcutta, and the local steamers which run between Aden and Zanzibar, inasmuch as it would involve cargo for Mombasa and Zanzibar, which is already detained five days at Aden by the present arrangement, being detained seven days longer at that port.

The Directors do not think that any advantage, commensurate with the inconvenience and expense involved by the detention of cargo, would be secured to the Mombasa and Zanzibar communities by alternating the British and German mail services as proposed, especially seeing that Zanzibar and Moabasa have besides these two mail services, three other mail services per month.

I am instructed also to mention that this cargo service, which is the only British cargo service via the Suez Canal, is of some value to the Foreign Office, who have at least on one occasion urged the maintenance of the connection. The proposed alteration, involving twelve days detention at Aden, would practically make the service unworkable.

The Directors express the hope therefore that the Postmaster General will be pleased to sanction the continuance of the same sequence of sailings for 1906 as at present, and that he will approve of the pro forma time table which I have the honour to submit herewith, and which is made up on that basis.

I am, etc.

(Sd) P. W. ARLOW,

Secretary.

Sir,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of Mr Jackson's despatch 2:5 of the 16th of October 1905 and in reply to transmit to you, for your own use, the enclosed copy of prospectus on the subject of the proposed service between Aden and Zanzibar.
