The Pathfinder

22 x 41 Goodyear Heavy Duty Cord Tyres were the tyres actually fitted to the overland cars used by Martin Johnson. These tyres were fitted in January 1929 and ran for many months without a single puncture. Most of these tyres were still in operation a few weeks ago, after nearly two years of active service.

INTO the unknown — through tangled thorn scrub — across the rock strewn wastes of the Northern Frontier, Martin Johnson has driven his fleet of motor cars in quest of photographic studies of African game animals.

On account of the ravages of thorns and rocks on tyre equipment, camel caravans were at first necessary in order to penetrate certain districts.

Finally Goodyear Heavy Duty Cords were suggested and tried out with overwhelming success. The old camel transport was discarded, and miles and miles of these remote areas were covered in motor car with ease and with an entire absence of tyre trouble.

It is gratifying to feel that Goodyear Tyre equipment has contributed to the realization of a long cherished dream of this world famous photographer.

NAIROBI MATRONS

To the Editor, "R.A. Standard."
 Sir—So the Nairobi North election is now behind! After reading Mr. Mackenzie's letter this morning I looked up my records to see if Major West had been re-elected on our streets. Major West would not seriously be expected to lose the support of the Chamber of Commerce in the Legislative Council unless he lost by the votes, of which I see from the official statement. This Daylight having shown has been very much in the air for some time and hence made an unexpected protest against Mr. Mackenzie's letter. It is a pity that Mr. Mackenzie should have written this letter. It is a pity that Mr. Mackenzie should have written this letter. It is a pity that Mr. Mackenzie should have written this letter.

Use Collyer, Otago, to whom all correspondence in connection with "Kennel Novels" should be addressed. Time not held liable for return of copy of manuscript made by her which will, in the main, be based on information supplied by her correspondents.

Before she published her "Kennel Novels" she wrote the "New Year 1907." My best wishes and hope happy returns to all good dogs and cat-lovers who read these little stories every year.

During 1909 the P. O. General took his usual course. A considerable number of letters were received from the public, and I was glad to hear that the "New Year" was still popular.

My name, as the lady of "Kennel Novels" has been published in the "Standard" for the past few years. I have received many letters from the public, and I am glad to hear that the "New Year" is still popular.

I have just received a letter from a friend who writes that she has been reading the "New Year" and is very much interested in the stories. I am glad to hear that the "New Year" is still popular.

There is a new book just out on the various methods of judging dogs. At the moment I cannot find the paper in which it is advertised, but will endeavor to look it up before next week.

There is also The Year Book on the Dog. Mrs. M. M. Keates in the "Standard" writes in the columns: "The year book on the dog is a very interesting and useful work. It contains a list of the names of all the dogs in the world, and is a very valuable reference work."

I have just received a letter from a friend who writes that she has been reading the "New Year" and is very much interested in the stories. I am glad to hear that the "New Year" is still popular.

The Pathfinder

It is a fact that Goodyear Heavy Duty Cord Tyres were the tyre actually fitted to the Continental cars used by Martin Johnson. These tyres were fitted in January, 1931, and ran for many months without a single puncture. Most of these tyres were still in operation a few weeks ago, after nearly two years of active service.

INTO the unknown—through tangled thorn scrub—across the rock strewn wastes of the Northern Frontier, Martin Johnson has driven his fleet of motor cars in quest of photographic studies of African game animals.

On account of the ravages of thorns and rocks on tyre equipment, camel caravans were at first necessary in order to penetrate certain districts.

Finally Goodyear Heavy Duty Cords were suggested and tried out with overwhelming success. The old camel transport was discarded, and miles and miles of these remote areas were covered in motor car with ease and with an entire absence of tyre trouble. It is gratifying to feel that Goodyear Tyre equipment has contributed to the realization of a long cherished dream of this world famous photographer.

22 x 44 Goodyear Heavy Duty Cord Tyres were the first actually fitted to the Overland car used by Martin Johnson. These tyres were fitted in January, 1924, and ran for many months without a single puncture. Most of these tyres are still in condition a few weeks ago, after nearly two years of active service.

INTO the unknown—through tangled thorn scrub—across the rock strewn wastes of the Northern Frontier, Martin Johnson has driven his fleet of motor cars in quest of photographic studies of African game animals.

On account of the ravages of thorns and rocks on tyre equipment, camel caravans were at first necessary in order to penetrate certain districts.

Finally Goodyear Heavy Duty Cords were suggested and tried out with overwhelming success. The old camel transport was discarded, and miles and miles of these remote areas were covered in motor car with ease and with an entire absence of tyre trouble. It is gratifying to feel that Goodyear Tyre equipment has contributed to the realization of a long cherished dream of this world famous photographer.
