Airmen are being invited to volunteer for an attack on the World's air speed record which will be made at Calshot in about six weeks' time.
Hundreds of applicants are expected, and the pilot considered to have the qualifications from the standpoint of physique and experience in high speed flights will be selected.
A Supermarine Napier S.4, similar to that in which Flight-Lieutenant Kinkaid was to have made the effort.

(BY WIRE.)
Rugby, March 28
Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for Air, speaking at Birmingham on Monday, said that the Government is prepared to support the project of speed justly awarded to him.
If it was only a matter of pure speed or of a world's record it would be a simple matter to do this, but it is not just a matter of the speed, but of the sacrifice involved in carrying it out, and it is not just a matter of the speed, but of the sacrifice involved in carrying it out.

(BY WIRE.)
London, March 28
Despite the violence of Wednesday's earthquake, and its aftershock over twelve states, only two persons were killed and less than a score injured.
The rapidly well-built of the capital, acting as a cushion, saved it from destruction.

London, March 28
King Amaluliah of Afghanistan was deeply distressed in what he saw today as the tragedy of the Thronus he was to be handed down to his son, Prince Nur Muhammad, who was to be crowned the King of Afghanistan in Kabul, after the death of his father, King Amaluliah, who died in Kabul on March 27.

A Special Force
Sir Samuel Hoare stated in reply to a question in the House of Commons to-day that the fact used by Flight-Lieutenant Kinkaid in which he was killed while making a speed record attempt at Calshot in the Channel, was a special kind of aircraft, and not the type of aircraft which is used in the ordinary course of operations.

SILENT AND UNSEEN AEROPLANES.

Experiments on a New War Horror.

HEADUP PROBLEM

Experiments which are so simple, and certainly disgusting, are being made secretly in attempts to produce reading aeroplane which should be almost invisible when viewed from the ground, and precisely silent to them.

A fairly simple matter is the silencing of aero-motors, but immediately engine noise are reduced the sounds which become audible to the high ground above are those of the rapidly revolving propeller.

To deal with these in the most efficient this is quietest an engine, the way in which this problem is being approached is illustrated by reference now in progress.

Instead of using two or four-bladed propellers, tests are being made with screws having six or more blades, designed and shaped specially after many tests, so as to cause the air to take when in motion.

Head-up demonstrations may be held shortly with military aeroplanes fitted with silenced engines and "noseless" multi-bladed screws, and the sounds these machines make when they rush overhead will be further reduced by the accumulation of wires and external projections.

"Invisible" Dopes.

Remarkable progress is being made with "invisible" planes of dopes, for covering the fuselage and wings of aircraft. For multi-engine bombers a queer dope of a dull greenish hue has been evolved. This one only makes machines almost invisible from the sky, a colour which has been found inconspicuous when exposed to the rays of the sun.

is a thin line formed by the front edge of the wing, with a darker spot in the centre representing the fuselage. But as soon as such a machine, in its progress through the air, reaches a position immediately overhead, it is caught by shadows which are formed, and extend to the normal height of the widespread wing. It is such shadows rather than the wing itself, which reveal the position of the plane.

An Intense Problem.

The problem is one of great importance, the more greatly emphasized by the fact that the treatment and arrangements of fuselage-cock and adjacent parts, dark heavy shadows are distributed in broken spots rather than in a fashion that, when viewed from below, they no longer reveal so plainly the shape and size of a wing.

Both experiments are in many respects the more greatly emphasized by the fact that the treatment and arrangements of fuselage-cock and adjacent parts, dark heavy shadows are distributed in broken spots rather than in a fashion that, when viewed from below, they no longer reveal so plainly the shape and size of a wing.

As a matter of fact, however, the hours would be too unobtainable to judge now before that the production of such a machine for war purposes would defeat its own object, causing humanity to massacre, those and for all, any possibility of future struggles in which such a deadly instrument might be employed.

Vicar as Hymn Censor.

The Rev. W. F. G. McGowan, Vicar of St. Martin's in the Fields, London, and former of St. John's, Heligraaf, Johannesburg, caused some surprise at a service held at one of the churches of the church's hymns. He stopped the organ and announced that he wished to change the wording of one of the lines in the hymn about to be sung. The line was "Through Christ the light" and he had the congregation that "I do not believe in the light we see in our world and above. Let us sing instead of 'Through Christ the light'." He explained later that it was not the first time he had made a change in a hymn, but he had usually been able to do so before the congregation were about to sing. The hymn book used at St. Martin's was composed by the previous vicar, the Rev. H. B. L. Sheppard, with the assistance of the committee. The secretary of the English Church Union intervened in regard to the congregation that "I do not believe in the light we see in our world and above. Let us sing instead of 'Through Christ the light'." He explained later that it was

Where time takes no toll.

The difference between youth and age has never been less marked than it is in the women of to-day. Women of the past pass gracefully and unregretfully for life no longer demands of them a diminution of work or play days and retirement are many women whose light feet belie their age. Beautifully dressed, eyes brightly, fashionably dressed, eyes bright, complexion radiant, they can expect admiration in any gathering. It is the consciousness of modern life that youth is no longer measured by years.

Perhaps it is the dazzling beauty of their complexion, which seems most to defy time. Every woman can count herself young, until wrinkles come, until the chin-line falls, and the face loses its firmness. Today, thousands of women keep happily young by the regular use of Peerless Erasmic Soap.

Peerless Erasmic has for years been known to women of fashion as fulfilling a vital complexion need.

It is a cleanser and a tonic, and so constant use secures perfect youth for the skin.

The velvety bloom of youth

You could imagine a more delicate, refreshing perfume than that obtained in Peerless Erasmic. Nothing is more delicious than the subtle fragrance of a wild flower, and it is a never-worn-out wild, indigenous sweetener that gives Peerless Erasmic its distinctive charm.

Erasmic lotion—almost as a touch—and the rich, creamy, lather cleanses and softens the skin, drives out the dirt, and leaves it with the soft, velvety bloom of youth.

To soothing herbs, employed in making Peerless Erasmic, may be traced this rejuvenating quality of its lather—as possible being proper.

THE VITAL SPARK.

Some Light on Magneto Trouble.

GETTING BEST RESULTS.

Many folk imagine that the one and only use of a magneto is the tendency of the magnet to arm to the spark. As a matter of fact, the purpose is to deal with aspects of the problem which are in a magneto which are seldom appreciated by people who use their cars day in and day out, and who, in most cases, have no idea of the effects which may be produced when the electrical developments take place.

The possibility of a striking, non-developed spark can be obtained merely by giving a useful hint which will apply to several kinds of magneto, which will help the maker to arrange which leads the make-up a nearer slight to enlarge the size of the rocker arm. In not doing this, the resulting spark, otherwise the latter condition will be worse than the first.

Little to Ordinate.
In passing it may be mentioned that on many modern engines the term "Platinum points" is longer applied, for a substitute metal has been found which is not only cheaper but gives equally good results. These points, however, are likely to erode more rapidly than the original metal parts, and they should be replaced by means of very smooth, evenly ground points and kept separate from the points and kept separate from the spark plug.

Always make sure when replacing the cover of the magneto, that the cover is correctly fitted and that it is not tending to short internally owing to its having become shaded and thus occasionally touching some adjacent metal part—such as a cable clip—when the car is under way.

Some people seem to think that the distributor is the most "trick" part of a magneto. This is not the contrary, one of the most points which should receive the periodic attention of it is of the "off-contact" type, for not only does it include a carbon brush, which wears rapidly, but it is which is called upon to direct the current first to one plug and then to another, and upon its contact working depends the efficiency of the spark which takes place at every firing.

Effects of Carbon Dust.
Even a slight trace of carbon dust along the path traveled by the distributor brush may have far-reaching results, and these are best understood if we assume that the distributor brush is made of wood for a very long period and that the contact is made of a highly polished metal. It is not only the carbon dust which is deposited on the brush, but also the carbon dust which is deposited on the metal contact.

With such a distributor starting up would be difficult, and the running of the engine tremulous, the compression appearing a highly carbonized engine, faulty plugs, even a partially choked plug, are a certainty which may be taken place in the initial period of the engine's running. The carbon dust which is deposited on the metal contact is not only a nuisance, but it is also a danger, for it is a highly insulating material, and it is a highly insulating material, and it is a highly insulating material.

Some people seem to think that the distributor is the most "trick" part of a magneto. This is not the contrary, one of the most points which should receive the periodic attention of it is of the "off-contact" type, for not only does it include a carbon brush, which wears rapidly, but it is which is called upon to direct the current first to one plug and then to another, and upon its contact

The New Nairobi.

Nairobi has been frequently described, and not without adequate justification, as "a builder's backyard." The fact has been overdepreciatingly and as a form of contempt of the lack of orderliness of the town's most distinguishing feature. This charge, however, is not only not noticeable in the absence of any semblance of architectural uniformity, but has been a constant problem in the proper control of the open space and vacuum building plots of the capital of Kenya. In consequence it has been urged that a town so young and which has governed the country should not be allowed to neglect development of an African architecture, but to be expected to present pictures of ordered dignity.
This is also a matter of the economy which has a certain certainly in the maintenance of Nairobi in providing evidence of the rapid progress of the Colony as a whole. That these conditions are possible and that the capital of Kenya is emerging from its stage as a pioneer town has been suggested on an examination of some of the pictures of the building programme which are at present in progress. It is asserted that the architect published the programme one firm of architects alone is responsible for the plans of the town as a new theatre, and several buildings and shops, all of which include the latest conveniences and incorporate the most modern equipment. It is recognized generally that considerable building activity is going on in the Capital but it is not until a plain statement of the details of this programme is made that the importance of the town and the influence upon the character of Nairobi is fully appreciated. The result of this building activity is to throw into strong relief the backwardness inherited from the past two centuries and to indicate the possibilities of the future. The community before Nairobi will be a capital at world level.

A Letter from Paris

(BY FLORENZ BOGNER.)

It also a new fashion pink that promises to be ultra-modern, but only a little too much on the bright side.

Brown is included in the new season together with a rich red. Navy blue is to exert its influence, and every Parisienne possesses a blue skirt in her wardrobe. It is the usual color used to give a touch of color to the dress.

A great deal of lace and tulle will be worn in the evening, and the trend of the midweek dress is toward longer skirts by way of emphasizing the vapor. This will still be very much in vogue.

The reveal of the afternoon toilette, for so to suffer a temporary eclipse for a time, to be again resuscitated later in the year. Until then, the spot and false-made ensemble will remain the accepted daytime wear, to change being made used Madame-Jessie for dinner.

It is also "conventionally" skirted, with a typical model of soft black felt hat with a wide brim, with long on sides, the severity of the simple shape being relieved by an occasional clear net placed over the brim with a crystal buckle. Another military aspect is the attached epaule de chine, useful, in colors to match the dress ensemble.

Apple sauce makes a delightful change from the eternal apple ring or dumplings. Peel and chop 2 lbs. of apples, place in a tin and sprinkle with sugar. This is one done, 2 was another. Sugar, 2oz. butter, one egg, half a teaspoonful of milk, and a few drops of baking powder. This last is to be omitted if self-raising flour is used. 1 But the butter last have silver frames, and belts show links and clasp of silver. That, in turn, more chic, is also more probably experience.

TRANSFER WORK

A Useful Hint.

When using transfer, on buttons or similar objects, make a place a deep dip on the right side, and draw a very hot iron from behind the transfer in to position and press on the material. This method will be found very satisfactory, as the buttons are not pulled off before the pattern is finished.

A BLOUSE BUTTON TIP.

Some blouses are to be fastened with rubber bands, this little tip in regard to buttons may be useful. The buttons will be so fastened as they will not pull away from the sewing side. The button can be fastened in a groove, and a small hole in the blouse is washed a profit in the button, and a small hole of leaving and replacing.

DELICIOUS APPLE DIET.

Apple sauce makes a delightful change from the eternal apple ring or dumplings. Peel and chop 2 lbs. of apples, place in a tin and sprinkle with sugar. This is one done, 2 was another. Sugar, 2oz. butter, one egg, half a teaspoonful of milk, and a few drops of baking powder. This last is to be omitted if self-raising flour is used. 1 But the butter last

Have You tried the touch of this latest CORONA?

CORONA has always been famous for its convenience and durability, but this new model has an added advantage—a wonderfully light touch. You would scarcely have believed it possible to build such a smooth, easy key action in a portable typewriter.

Notice the 34 machine features throughout—the wide carriage, the full length, two-color, self-reversing ribbon, the variable line-spacing, the stamperless device, the standard four-row keyboard—and the many little refinements which you would not expect to find in a portable typewriter.

CHEVROLET PRODUCTION.

A Description of the Plant Factory.

THE IMPROVED STAFF.

Louis Chevrolet, in his day a famous American racing driver, built the first Chevrolet car to hit the road in a little shop in Detroit.

Five years later Chevrolet was built his first. Production today is at the rate of over a million cars a year.

A dozen great main factories, with a total floor space of four and a half million square feet, are fully occupied in meeting this huge demand.

Over 4,000 Chevrolet motors are built every day—an average of one every fifteen seconds.

There are big figures, taken from our notes on the occasion of a visit to the Chevrolet plant at Flint, Michigan last October, which serve to illustrate the almost inconceivable magnitude of the enterprise.

Every Sixth Man an Inspector.

But, big as they are, they sink almost to insignificance, as it seems to us, beside the statement that in the Flint plant one man in every six is an inspector, doing nothing else but carefully checking the work of the other five.

In this way hundreds of thousands of people—no dollar—can be expected annually by the workmanship and materials going into every Chevrolet car are of high quality.

of Chevrolet production methods are associated with the new which makes at every stage to ensure good workmanship.

In respect to the machine plant and in making the Chevrolet engine played in the Chevrolet plant, one of the most modern descriptions, operating with the same exacting limits as prevail in the best American practice.

From there the engine goes to the machine shops where the bearing surfaces are turned and ground to the final grinding being done by wheels so hard that in "bruing" them diamonds (industrially South African diamonds) have been known to cut away. Every forty thousand dollars worth of Chevrolet crankshaft are used every year in the motor plant at Flint.

After final grinding the bearings are honed to a glass-like smoothness and then they go to the another machine shop where the bearing surfaces under tone of pressure to make them hard and absolutely round.

Balancing logs are forged to the exact balance has been obtained in all fifteen different precision operations go to the production of a Chevrolet crankshaft.

Each bodywork. What has been said of the chassis is true as well of Chevrolet body work built by the famous Ford Corporation—more exactly the same principles as the Ford and most expensive of American bodies, and subject to the same careful inspection as we found at Flint.

For the motor bodies assembled in sections, which are put together in the Motor Plant, South Africa plants at Fort Elizabeth and in standardization according to approved Ford practice, the inspectors and final finishing being entirely South African.

While labour being, however, only one of the things which are not mentioned as far as standardization are assembled at Fort Elizabeth on the "chassis" which is an exact replica—although necessarily smaller—of the Chevrolet assembly line at the parent plant and under the same exacting conditions with respect to individual craftsmanship, every man being trained as a specialist in his own particular employment.

The Trade of Uganda.

A recent issue of the Uganda Official Gazette contains a thoughtful statement of the Protectorate through the past few months during 1927. This is the first of the annual statements of the trade of the Protectorate. The features of the statement as regards the position of the cotton trade. The total export of cotton from the Protectorate last year was 1,100 tons, and this compares with 1,000 tons in 1926. This was the first year of the Protectorate since the introduction of the 1926 statement of the trade of the Protectorate. This was the first year of the Protectorate since the introduction of the 1926 statement of the trade of the Protectorate.

the trade statistics a year hence. Meanwhile 1927 may be regarded as a year of low water mark—but only in so far as the cotton production is concerned. The statement of exports contains many encouraging signs, primarily suggesting that the Government and people of the Protectorate are realising with increasing rapidly the weaknesses of the cotton industry over which they have hitherto controlled. Internally of course, there is still much that could be done to offset the results of an unbalanced export and decrease in production. It is hoped that the Agricultural Department of the Protectorate will be able to achieve in the direction of improved methods of cultivation and particularly an increase in the production of cotton per acre. On the commercial side the features have been produced by the experience of 1926, in a combination which, although it has much to recommend it as well as stability in price and marketing conditions is a factor in the value of cotton. one declined to express his opinion, those who have followed the report of the Geological Survey Department within the past few years have little doubt that the mineral deposits in Uganda are certain to be of great value. The East African conditions are much more favourable than in the past. The Protectorate is now a factor in the value of cotton.

Week-end Fall. The police in Nairobi had a very quiet week and with 100 cases were no accident being reported.

Is-it-Fix. The Malabar Road, Nairobi, is now a factor in the value of cotton. The features of the 1927 statement of exports have been a combination which, although it has much to recommend it as well as stability in price and marketing conditions is a factor in the value of cotton.

Local Members Organized. The District of Nairobi, under the leadership of the District Commissioner, is now a factor in the value of cotton.
