GILBERTIAN SITUATION IN THE ISLAND OF CEYLON.

Elected Members Who Have Power Without Responsibility.

AN IMPOSSIBLE POSITION.

Commission Recommends a System of Government by Ministers.

Recently a special commission visited Ceylon for the purpose of enquiring into the working of the constitution and making recommendations as to how certain difficulties of government might be overcome.

The Ceylon Government had been embarrassed by the system which permits of virtual control by an official majority by whose decisions the administration has been bound, although the Official Members are responsible for the government of the country.

It is pointed out that the Legislative Council's Finance Committee composed almost entirely of Unofficial Members virtually rules the country, but without responsibility.

The Commission believes that whilst the time for full self-government has not arrived, the fact that various Departments should be administered by Ministers who have been elected members of the Council of Government.

"ARROGANT & AUTOCRATIC ATTITUDE"

The following is the text of a letter which recently appeared in the "Morning Post"—

Sir,—It is expected that during the debate on the Finance Bill in the House Mr. Grenfell, M.P., criticized the attitude of the industrial management of some of the directors varied from 70 to 90 per cent. For what is the management responsible for this condition of affairs? Is it not entirely due to our Financial System? It is Finance that has ruined the industry, as the natural order of things has been reversed. Finance should be the great of industry.

Readers of Mr. Henry Ford's book which he attempted to secure certain financial accommodations some years ago. He said the Bankers were willing to let him have the necessary credit, but made it a condition that they should appoint the Treasurer of his Company. He contended that by saying that they made no suggestion about helping him to produce more or better or cheaper and was to be satisfied with a book-keeper or accountant who was to look after the cash account, to which he naturally objected, as he saw no necessity for this.

Arrangements

In this country the Bankers have taken an even more arrogant and autocratic attitude. In the representation of many large industries they have insisted on placing on the Board men not necessarily conversant with the particular industry of the Company, to which they are appointed, but merely because they have some superficial knowledge of finance. What they necessarily must have the basic sense of technical men, those, as a rule, occupy subordinate positions to the financial controllers and the result is what Mr. Grenfell has recently complained of—Inability in this country to raise Finance rates in other countries, such as the United States and in Germany, but in those countries the Bankers seem to be more intelligent and more enlightened in industrial affairs, and they do not, as a rule, appoint the Technician as Controller with the Financeer. While they may appoint a financial representative to watch the course of events and to advise on finance, the general policy of industrial concerns is determined entirely by those qualified. Our financial system has brought this country to such a pitch that the Henry Ford has become general, and, as Mr. Grenfell truly says—incidental.

Sailors and Civilians Have a Good Time.

SUCCESSFUL DANCE.

"STANDARD" MONROSA, July 17.
 Last Monday, July 17, some 50 or 60 sailors were taken to the dance at the Monrovia Hotel. The dance was given by the "Standard" and the "New" for the dance, and the men were treated to a very good dinner and a very good time. The dance was given by the "Standard" and the "New" for the dance, and the men were treated to a very good dinner and a very good time.

at the Palace Hotel. They made all their own arrangements, and showed a wonderful knack for arrangement, and for ensuring that all had a good time.
 Many of those who had attended the dance returned to the dance afterwards, and enjoyed themselves very much. The dance was given by the "Standard" and the "New" for the dance, and the men were treated to a very good dinner and a very good time.

Zanzibar Clove Auctions.

PARING OF AN OLD INSTITUTION.
 The recent alteration in the law by which the tax on cloves is now paid in cash instead of in kind has led to the closing of an old and interesting institution—the weekly sale at the Customs House of produce received in payment of the tax.
 For years past the clearing of the half at 11.15 on Monday morning has attracted hundreds of the forthcoming auction and for years past the buyers of graded cloves have been examined closely by prospective buyers. But now, all is finished. No longer will be heard the bids of merchants in sales, though friendly competition and no longer will the sound of the auctioneer's hammer resound from the walls of the Customs House. Once again the old order changed, yielding place to the new and modern methods approved by the Government.
 The first of these changes was the hammer used for the past twenty years by the auctioneer, which will be replaced by a hand-held mallet. This change is due to the fact that the hammer used for the past twenty years was a very heavy hammer, and it was found that the use of a hand-held mallet would be more convenient for the auctioneer. The second change is the use of a scale instead of a weighing machine. This change is also due to the fact that the scale used for the past twenty years was a very heavy scale, and it was found that the use of a hand-held scale would be more convenient for the auctioneer. The third change is the use of a platform scale instead of a weighing machine. This change is also due to the fact that the platform scale used for the past twenty years was a very heavy scale, and it was found that the use of a hand-held platform scale would be more convenient for the auctioneer.

Public Health.
In Great Britain the case of the public health is very properly regarded as one of the most important functions of local government and as a branch of administrative machinery has been defined for the purpose of ensuring that it should be a continuation of the general policy of the Government. In this country a number of years ago the health authorities were constituted and their duties were defined. The effect has been most marked. The health rate has decreased accordingly and there has been a very notable decrease in the number of deaths from infectious diseases. This is due to the fact that the health authorities have been able to enforce the regulations which govern the health of the community. The effect has been most marked. SIR E. HILTON YOUNG ON TASK OF CLOSER UNION COMMISSION.

"A Pot Which is Still on the Boil."

PLEA FOR PATIENCE.

Africa's Empresses and the Empire's Great Responsibility.

This year's East African Dinner in London was notable for the presence of members of Clocer Union Commission and a speech by the Chairman Sir Edward Hilton Young.

In a reference to the task of himself and his colleagues, Sir Edward likened the Commission to a pot which was still on the boil and from which the only impression gained was an appetizing odour and a cloud of steam.

He spoke most appreciatively of the help they had received from "people on the spot" and of his admiration for the way in which development had proceeded.

The Chairman of the Commission pleaded for patience. Many a gallant venture had been wrecked because here die the storms of the high seas, people were too anxious to hasten her entry into port.

The Commission's chief impressions of their tour were the tremendous emptiness of Africa and the Empire's great responsibility in having charged itself with the future of so large a part of Africa's Continent.

THE POULTRY WORLD.

"Gapes" in Young Chicks.

Its Cause and Cure.

A correspondent writes asking for a description of the complaint called "gapes," and for a few hints as to treatment. The "gape" is a very common trouble—nearly always chicks from four to eight weeks of age. The trouble only occurs in poultry kept in closed places, such as hen runs hung inside of walls, but in open lots or on farms, it is scarce. It is caused by a parasite, the young stages of which are known as the "white spots." These spots are found on the gill coverings of the chick, and are often seen in the first few days of life.

As soon as the parasite is hatched, it enters the chick through the mouth, and is carried to the lungs. The usual position occupied by the worms is the cavity between the trachea and the windpipe. The trachea is a tube which carries the air to the lungs. The trachea is a very delicate organ, and is very easily injured. When the parasite enters the trachea, it causes a great deal of irritation, and the chick will cough and sneeze. The trachea is also a very important part of the respiratory system, and any obstruction of it will be fatal to the chick.

The method of prevention is to disinfect the house and to keep the chicks in a clean and dry place. It is also well to keep the chicks in a well-ventilated place, and to keep them away from other birds. The treatment of the chick is to give it a course of antibiotics, and to keep it in a clean and dry place. The use of disinfectants is also very important, and should be done regularly.

It is a common belief among farmers with the chickens, when they leave the mother hen. Endeavour to rear all chicks under one hen, even when the hen is old, as long as possible, but the time will come when she does not take care of her own account. It is then that they will require careful attention. They should be penned if there is any fear of dogs, cats, or hawks, and they should be placed in a shady place.

They may be another hen at first, and usually best together in a desirable group. If the hen is scattered over the run it will keep them annoyed and active

The whole of the British Empire is in favour of signing to the Anti-War Treaty on the lines suggested by the United States.
 In the course of the British reply Sir Austen Chamberlain expresses satisfaction that all the members of the League Treaty have now been invited to become original signatories to the Kellogg Pact. It is emphasized that the Treaty does not restrict right of self-defence.
 A suggestion has been made in Germany that in view of the world peace discussions the Allied action of the Rhineland should cease sooner than is needed for by the Treaty of Versailles.

BRITISH EMPIRE AND THE OUTLAWRY OF WAR.
Whole-hearted Acceptance of the Kellogg Treaty.

RIGHT OF SELF-DEFENCE.
Foreign Secretary Welcomes Inclusion of All Members of the League.

The whole of the British Empire is in favour of subscribing to the Anti-War Treaty on the lines suggested by the British States.
In the course of the British reply Sir Austen Chamberlain expresses satisfaction that all the parties to the Locarno Treaty have now declined to become original signatories to the Kellogg Pact.
It is emphasized that the Treaty does not restrict the right of self-defence.

A SIGNAL ADVANTAGE.
Australia and South Africa secure the assurance that the signatories' rights of self-defence will not be impaired in any way, that any signatory member to whom it is a benefit of the Treaty forfeit the benefits thereof and that the Treaty is not inconsistent with the League of Nations Covenant.
South Africa adds that it is fully satisfied that the Treaty is not inconsistent with all Powers in the world.

Completely Satisfactory.
Australia says that it is "entirely satisfied" in signing the Treaty.
South Africa says it is "very great pleasure" to express its "entire satisfaction" in signing the Treaty.
The Government of India "is satisfied themselves wholeheartedly and very gladly" with the Treaty.
Canada's latest reply cordially accepting Mr. Kellogg's anti-war proposal has been published.

A German Proposal.
The House of Commons in its debate on the Kellogg Treaty stated that the only treaty signed by the United States with the United States is the Kellogg Treaty.
The American people are concerned with the Kellogg Treaty to replace that of 1908.

THE ROYAL SUIT.

"STANDARD" CORRESPONDENT, London writes on July 17: There is hardly a day goes without reference to the visit of the two Princes to East Africa and the following comments from the "Evening Standard" may be of interest to our readers.
One of the seven largest ships of the British flag is on her way to the Cape of Natal, and the Duke of Gloucester on their journey to East Africa to meet the King and Queen.

The Duke is including in his plans for Kenya which he will visit in the autumn. He will put himself in line with the Duke of Devonshire, and the Duke of York, as they are expected to visit with their families. most of his opportunity for seeing many places as he has. The Duke is the "least favored" of all the King's children and this will be the first time he has made. Flanking Mary took her first trip abroad last winter, and she was so impressed with everything she saw in Egypt that she had advised her husband to be sure to include a stop there. It is thought that the Duke of Gloucester is trying to arrange to visit the Nile Valley before going on to Egypt. A motor is said about the shore of the Nile and an electric fan fitted in the roof will ensure that the drivers are kept cool. The ship will sail from London on September 25. The Duke of Gloucester has spent a period of some weeks in a hospital on which he will not be accompanied by the Prince, they will make their way across "Changanyani" islands in the Cape. "When the railway is available it will be used, and otherwise the regular" lines of motor transport will be taken advantage of.

The "Daily News" remarks: "I hear that the Duke of Gloucester is looking forward with the greatest delight to his trip to Kenya and to determine to make the most of his opportunity."

General Wode, who is now on the India supply ship is suffering from a partially festering foot and a completely raw right foot.

CONTROL AND CONSERVATION OF COLONY'S WATER SUPPLY.

Regulations and Definitions in Proposed Ordinance.

DUTIES OF A BOARD.

Rights of Public Bodies and Private Owners Set Out.

The importance of providing legislation which would govern the use of water and define the water rights and duties of the Crown and land holders has often been urged in the Legislative Council.

A draft Bill is published for information and criticism which embodies a scheme of water control and development.

BILL'S KEY PROVISIONS.

The Water Ordinance, 1924 is printed in a special issue of the Kenya "Times & Standard" prior to its introduction into Legislative Council.

The Bill makes provision for the employment and conservation of water and to regulate the water supply, irrigation and drainage.

Every body of water which issues water is declared to be the property of the Crown and the rights of control and use are vested in the Governor in Council, though the provisions as to water rights shall not apply to any part of the Protectorate of Kenya which is now or may hereafter be held on lease from the Sultan of Zanzibar.

No tenure or transfer of land shall convey to or vest in any holder any right, interest or privilege, exclusive or otherwise, with respect to any body of water. The right to use any body of water may be acquired only under this Ordinance.

Water is defined as any liquid which may not be interfered with except under the Ordinance.

The purposes for which a water right may be acquired are the following: (a) Domestic purpose, for household and sanitary purposes, watering and sipping of stock, and the essential requirements of irrigating operations, where not an industrial nature.

(b) Public purpose, for municipalities, townships, villages, and communities and for all reasonable demands for steam raising on railways or for other purposes connected with public undertakings not involving the use of water for the generation of power.

(c) Mining irrigation purpose, for irrigation of lands used for orchards, gardens, nurseries, or land for storage of water from or in a body of water, except as provided for in the Ordinance, without the right to the receipt of authorisation, licence or sanction shall be an offence.

Five Classes.

Projects for the use of water or for the drainage of land are set out in five classes, namely: (1) Public projects, (2) Private projects, (3) Community projects, (4) Public projects, (5) Urban supply projects.

A site project or public project shall take precedence over all other projects for the use of water or for the drainage of land.

In the section relating to the use of water for private projects, there are stipulations in connection with projects conducted by an association of special interests.

Water projects which include the supply of water of electrical energy derived from the energy of moving water to persons other than the operator in consideration of a payment of the drainage or reclamation of land in consideration of payment, Urban supply projects shall be deemed to be public projects unless and until they are otherwise declared by the Governor in Council.

The Water Board.

The Water Board shall be appointed by the Governor in Council with the Director of Public Works as chairman. The Director of Public Works shall be a member and the Director of Agriculture and the Director of Lands, Forest and Water Affairs Departments shall be represented on the Board with not fewer than four representatives of the public.

The Water Board shall have made such surveys and investigations as may be necessary to determine the extent and source of the varying flow of streams, the character of the level of water of lake, the capacity of power sources and the probable future demands for water to enable the Board to apportion the water rights equitably and to make such regulations as may be required in the future for public purposes and applications for water rights as well as to ensure that the requirements of private holders of water for domestic purposes are not interfered with.

The Governor in Council may, on the advice of the Water Board, appoint the Director of Public Works as chairman.

access in the administration of the Ordinance in any area of the Protectorate. The rights of holders of the following permits are secured with certain provisions.

Construction of Water Works.

Any person contemplating an application under the Ordinance may, having submitted a general plan of the works, apply to the Director of Public Works for a licence to construct the works, together with the names and addresses of the holders of this land, and upon payment of the prescribed fee, obtain from the Water Board authority to do the necessary preliminary investigation in connection with the location of such work.

The authority may prescribe a time limit within which such investigation is to be completed. Having obtained the necessary preliminary investigation the person may lay such water works as may be necessary upon any public or private lands to take level, make surveys and other necessary work, doing no damage. No such authority shall be issued until the Water Board has passed an instruction to each holder, that application to enter upon the lands has been made by the stated period.

If any damage is done in the course of this work, compensation shall follow agreement between the parties, to be determined by the arbitrator.

The Ascot Meeting.

Review of the Races.

(STANDARD CORRESPONDENT.)

London, June 31. Unlike the "Stream" meeting, perhaps the only interest in Ascot took on the part of the visitors on this part of the public is social. There are, however, people who take an interest in the racing itself. The Royal Hunt Cup of course seems to create most of the interest. The first day's racing was quite interesting, and was regarded as a full but not an unimportant weather.

The Trial Stakes in the absence of Apollo was expected to be won and was by Phobos who started favourite at 5/2 against. He was always well placed, but he was to be ridden tight by hand. Bluff by a length with Mail. Peter Colbert was well for only one change, and was then very cubby beaten. Tobacco in riding Bluff 21 lb. and a length beating, quite probably accomplished one of the best performances of his career.

The Ascot Stakes was a triumph for the local race horse Jack. He won with ease from Henry Boy II, with Barry II third. The field was leading at the straight but was beaten after the because he could not sustain and his place was taken by Henry Jack who won easily.

For some time. Once again Priory Park proved his worth by retaining the Royal Hunt Cup. Like Mr. Conroy's gelding, he has been in three efforts to win the Royal Hunt Cup. He was first the first time when Mr. B. Jod bought him for £2,000 from Mr. Howard, the Chichester trainer. He did one of the best strokes of business in his career. In two seasons Priory Park won four leading handicaps—Aino, Lincoln, and Sovereign Cup and in the last season he won three of them. The rise to fame of this horse was the best one of the season of the turf for he is now quite common stock. His dam, Rocksway, was a handicapper and a good one. His dam, Chatham II ran a "tapping" season, and once changed hands for 12 guineas. She cost Mr. Howard less than £200. He won by three lengths from St. Jerome with Knight of the Oval third. The winner, who started at 10/1 against was ridden by Canale and trained by C. Park. St. Jerome started at 20/1 and Knight of the Oval at 25/1.

There is little to be written about the actual race which was started by Delon, who was the best looked up to well and probably as second favourite and Priory Park was the third favourite. Some little delay occurred at the start of the race, but it was cleared up by the time the race was over. The race was won by Henry Jack, who was ridden by Canale and trained by C. Park. St. Jerome started at 20/1 and Knight of the Oval at 25/1.

BUTTONED FRONT.

STANDARD CORRESPONDENT, London, June 21.

It was Andy this week. I have seen it on the newspapers since I would imagine that it is a good guess to find it. I was watching from the balcony ground so I have to think to feminine costume. I will do my best.

The King and Queen drove from Windsor Castle in semi-state, accompanied in the first carriage by the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York. The Duchess and Princess Mary were in the second carriage with the Duke of Gloucester and Prince George. The rest of the party were in the stationary train. The King's train left at 11.15. It was a long procession. The King's train left at 11.15. It was a long procession. The King's train left at 11.15. It was a long procession.

The King's Waistcoat. Some people considered that it was a very nice one. It was a very nice one. It was a very nice one.

On the whole, however, it was a black morning coat and all the same. It was a black morning coat and all the same. It was a black morning coat and all the same.

Big Hats. Women's clothes, however, were much more important than the big hats and fantastic frocks, large collars, and being the return of the King. It was for the most part a coat. Many of the coats were in black, red or blue.

Deep coils of georgette or summer for wear on many all. Most had high collars, and some were fastened only at the neck. The shade of beige was a cross-colour. In a variety of shades was to be seen in hats, dresses, coats and shoes.

As yet brought "top" hats back, with being quiet in fact and serious. One of the prettiest was a "Dolly" with a new colour with a band of blue ribbon. The alternative hat was also in black, but the shape was a "burban" shaped, such as the Queen of England's new dress.

There were an altogether brighter were not very short and not the long skirt for women. A number of women present who have a real influence upon fashions were wearing dresses, with skirts reaching almost to their ankles. Skirts were long. Frocks have become fancier than ever and a higher waist was visible on several. Materials included black velvet and black stockinette and with gold. Almost every woman was a string of pearls.

The Royal Ladies.

The Queen who wore a coat of gold and green, had a hat of white felt, with blue ribbons. The Queen's dress was of white and blue. The Queen's dress was of white and blue.

The Duchess of York, who wore a coat of blue and white, had a hat of blue and white. The Duchess of York, who wore a coat of blue and white, had a hat of blue and white.

A Letter from Paris

the right sort of sports clothes on the field occurs the many-colored sandal is by no means without attractiveness as a contribution to the sartorial scene. It is, however, in the skirt that of late we have noticed a "new" sport. Some of the very smartest and most fashionable costumes are made of silk in dark or light blue, fanned, with plenty of grey shading, as usual. Natural colours, fanned also, is considered very chic. I have seen several of these beautiful looking dresses with a narrow band of pale green material, and a matching jumper suit, and a matching jacket, and a matching hat.

The milliners continue to use straw and felt together with excellent effect. Straw hats have felt brims and narrow strips of felt as trimmings. A felt hat has a brim of varnished straw, and a narrow band of the same, gathered into a bow, the flowers, or a brim one side. Brims are increasingly narrower. Many felt hats are now ear only. Black banghats hats have the crown of velvet or silk, since they can be worn with almost any type of dress, and therefore in smart black can keep them appropriate company. However, I do not see the elaborate efforts of the modiste. It would seem that a washing, or the similar smart function, can persuade the Parisienne to discard the changes of small and comfortable dimensions for the wide-brimmed type.

BATHING DE LUXE

Bath salts have, of course, long been famous, but they are by no means the only bathroom accessories needed to ensure a really refreshing "soak." One has used to a favorite bath salt, of course, but physical fitness benefits immensely from changing the regimen once in a while. There is the artificial sea-bath, for instance, that is easily prepared at home with the aid of 2 1/2 lbs. of salt, 6 oz. of sulphate of magnesium (known as Epsom-salt), 1 oz. of sulphate of sodium, and 1 lb. of chloride of magnesium, and 5 oz. of bicarbonate of sodium. These ingredients must be well combined together, well mixed, and kept in a tin with a stopper. A little of this mixture, spooned added to the bath, and thoroughly stirred into the water, will produce a remarkably refreshing "soak."

Two other types of bath in the category of "relaxation" are the effervescent and the ammonia. For the first, crush 2 oz. of soda-bicarbonate into a fine powder; mix it well with 5 oz. of tartaric acid; add 3 oz. of fine powder, and mix thoroughly. Just before getting into the bath, add two or three tablespoons of this to the vegetable soap preparation in the water, and stir well. The ammonia bath is the simplest, being merely the addition of a dessert spoonful of diluted solution of ammonia, which opens the pores immediately before entering the bath.

Of special benefit to the skin is the oatmeal bath. Place in the oatmeal half a part of four tablespoonfuls of fat oatmeal in a basin and add cold water very gradually, stirring all the time to avoid the formation of lumps. When a creamy paste results, pour in more water until you have three-quarters of a gallon. When the bath is ready, add the oatmeal solution and stir well so that the oatmeal is dispersed through the bath.

GUIDE FOR APPLE GREENE-CASER.
Peel, core and slice three-pounds of tart apple. Simmer them gently in half a part of water (approximately) until they are just softening (about 15 minutes). Drain, and mix with a half-pound of sugar and roll through a fine sieve. Put in the evaporating chamber which causes the digestive juices to disappear slowly. Two poundfuls eggs take two and a half hours to digest and two hard-boiled eggs three hours; mix with the apple sauce, however if your figs are as easily digested as all soft-boiled.

A glass of boiled milk will take from two and a half to three and a half hours to digest; fresh milk half an hour less, and buttermilk the least time of all.

GUIDE FOR APPLE GREENE-CASER.
Put one and one-half parts of water in a basin and add cold water very gradually, stirring all the time to avoid the formation of lumps. When a creamy paste results, pour in more water until you have three-quarters of a gallon. When the bath is ready, add the oatmeal solution and stir well so that the oatmeal is dispersed through the bath.

LITTLE HINTS FOR THE HOME NURSE.
The following hints may be useful to the home nurse who has a patient to care for.

An evening coat of singular charm is expressed in pale yellow eye silk. One with a yachata headed bodice having very full sleeves, and a full skirt waisted at the edge and bound with matching tulle, is a most desirable little model. The fabric is in tulle to match the heading.

Quantity desired in this house. Stock in order boxes in advance. With date and deep cuts of big long organs and leaf.

An notable feature of current times displays the elegant array of cups in oak, mahogany and luffaceous, with contrasting colored handles. These are not full enough to wear over boisterous depravity and red, yellow, and pink are lightly powdered shades. But among the competitors of the red, yellow, and pink, a model in surprising shades stands out as a superiorly attractive model, and we believe the Parisienne's recent craze for lines of every hue is not completely on the wane. This blue strain is heavy with intricate designs of blue velvet and silver.

TWO UNUSUAL TRAGEDIES IN BRITAIN.

Maid's Fall Through Balloon Roof.

ONE KILLED

"Flying Boat" Fatality at Amusement Park.

(STANDARD) CORRESPONDENT.

London, June 21. We have had two very regrettable and unusual tragedies this week in addition to our usual crop of street accidents...

It appears that the maid on her way to bed, obtained one of his trousers to look down through the skylight on to the dance below and fell a distance of 90 feet through it, having apparently overlooked...

The guests at the dinner which preceded the dance consisted of Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles and staff...

About an hour after the accident Frank Croft, a night watchman, slipped down the stairs at 10, (The Strand) Theatre, and fell at his ankle. He was taken to St. George's Hospital and detained.

The Countess, swimming up, was that the accident was simply prevented and there should be no danger at all if it was properly used...

The Census recorded a verdict of "Accidental Death."

Amusement Park Deaths.

The other accident occurred at Dromedary Park, Margate, a large amusement ground, filled with a great variety of games and structures for holiday-making...

"Carriage" Within a few days with a week. The back part of the boat tilted downwards and the eight passengers were hurled head-on to all directions from a height of about thirty feet.

At the inquest the jury returned a verdict of "Death by manslaughter" in each case. They added a rider that such types of machines should be more strictly supervised and should be tested before being used by the public...

Richmond Horse Show.

FAMOUS COACHING MASTERS AT VICTORIA.

(STANDARD) CORRESPONDENT.

London, June 21. The King and Queen and the Duke and Duchess of York visited the Richmond Horse Show on Saturday. The King's Challenge Cup was offered for the best mounted horse and the winner was P. C. Coates of St. Davids, Harpenden, who also received the prize given by the Lord Mayor and Sheriff of London.

The Duke of York's Challenge Cup for the best animal in the officers' jumping competition was won by Capt. W. G. Maitland of the King's Dragoon Guards, on "Don Count," Sea Cow, who was awarded the Coronation Challenge Cup as the best jumper in the show.

The famous Coaching Master has for a feature of the Show. Many well known coaches took part such as the two "Old Hackneys," the "Venture," the "Trotter" and the "Comet."

Kenya and Uganda Trade.

IMPORT FIGURES FROM JANUARY TO MARCH.

The following figures dealing with imports into Kenya and Uganda for the period from January to March, have been compiled by J.L.M. Trade Commissioner in East Africa, whose statements supplied by the courtesy of the Commissioner of Customs.

The total imports for home consumption for the three months prior amounted to £2618,000 in 1925 compared with £2525,000 in 1924. Great Britain was the principal source of supplies with £778,000 in 1925 compared with £778,000 of 45 per cent in 1924. Imports from India have increased from £122,000 or 11 per cent in 1924 to £250,140 or 18 per cent in 1925. Germany's contribution for 1925 amounts to £202,800 or 15 per cent in 1925 compared with £202,800 or 15 per cent in 1924.

Home consumption imports account for 50 per cent of total imports and the balance of £1340,000 or 51 per cent in 1925 compared with £1340,000 or 51 per cent in 1924. The United States of America was again second on the list with £238,000 or 18 per cent in 1925 compared with £238,000 or 18 per cent in 1924.

Off to Rhodesia.

(STANDARD) CORRESPONDENT.

London, June 21. Mr. T. H. Glynn, son of the Labour leader, has gone to Rhodesia to buy a house. He has a life in his hands. "To get all your boys (rather black) together, to buy about thirty acres, a wagon, a few tools, a few chickens, a few cows, etc. and set off for the middle of nowhere, some 1000 miles down in the forest and start cutting it down, making up trees by law—something some of them."
