TRADE UNION CONGRESS BLESSES PEACE IN INDUSTRY MOVEMENT.

Opposing Motion Defeated by Overwhelming Vote.

DRAMATIC SCENE.

Stormy Patrol of Miners' Federation Carried to the Hall at State of Collapse.

The Trade Union Congress by an overwhelming vote has decided in favour of the continuance of negotiations with the employers initiated with a view to establishing a better relationship between employers and employees.

There were stormy scenes during the discussion and Mr. A. J. Cook, the extremist general secretary of the Miners' Federation was carried out in a state of collapse after making an impassioned speech against the negotiations.

INDUSTRY & POLITICS.

(BY WRITERS.)
The Hon. Mr. Speaker at the Trade Union Congress today Mr. Arthur Henderson, Chief Whip of the Labour Party presided at the session of the Trade Union Congress. The meeting was held at the Victoria Hotel, Nairobi.

The Trade Union Congress was opened by Mr. Henderson, who presided at the meeting. He welcomed the members of the Congress and expressed his confidence in the success of the negotiations.

Mr. Henderson contemplates a plan to be laid to the Congress by the whole industrial administration with the trade labour, and political sections of the Congress.

He was smiling and ebullient. He was following afterwards by the Duke of Gloucester who was also wearing a long coat and a hat.

When they returned the boat-landing there were no members of the Cabinet in London, even Lord Lifford, who was now in the India Office, but who would be in the India Office.

BRITAIN'S "GOOD-BYE" TO THE PRINCES.

An Informal Departure from London.

HOLIDAY ATTIRE.

(THROUGH BRITISH AGENCY.)
London, Sept. 6.—The Royal Highnesses the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Gloucester returned at Victoria Station today for the first time since their departure for South Africa last year.

The proceedings were of the most informal character. The Prince appeared here head-dressed in a fishing cap.

He was smiling and ebullient. He was following afterwards by the Duke of Gloucester who was also wearing a long coat and a hat.

When they returned the boat-landing there were no members of the Cabinet in London, even Lord Lifford, who was now in the India Office, but who would be in the India Office.

OCCUPATION OF THE RHINELAND.

Anticipated Discussion at Geneva.

(BY WRITERS.)
Brussels, Sept. 5.—Newspapers here today suggest that the French and German delegations now attending the League meetings may take the opportunity to discuss the question of the occupation of the Rhine.

It is understood that a preliminary to such a discussion will be the interview between Mr. Brand and Herr Meunier, which took place at the Hotel de Ville, Paris, on the 3rd inst.

Mr. Brand is reported to have expressed his interest in the subject of the occupation of the Rhine, and to have suggested that the French and German representatives should meet at Geneva to discuss the subject.

The British Government's attitude towards the occupation of the Rhine is a subject which has been discussed in the House of Commons by the Hon. Mr. Chamberlain shortly before Parliament was closed.

Mr. Chamberlain is reported to have expressed his interest in the subject of the occupation of the Rhine, and to have suggested that the French and German representatives should meet at Geneva to discuss the subject.

ANTIQUEY OF LIFE ON THE EARTH.

South Australian Discoveries.

600,000,000 YEARS AGO.

A Bacter message from Sydney thus describes the astonishing finds of Prof. Edgeworth David at the Mount Lefly and Flinders L. of South Australia.
Professor Sir Edgeworth David has scribbled into a new world of beauty and of surprise which will mark geologists, evolutionists and paleontologists. He has found those ideas of the antiquity of life on this earth.
Prof. Sir Edgeworth David has discovered in rocks taken from the Mount Lefly and Flinders L. of South Australia, perfectly preserved remains of the animal life millions of years older than they are so far classified by science.

Riely Revealed.

With the discovery pushed out knowledge of animal life, nothing in the past one must understand that from organisms, and their highly evolved homologous representing and special gifts for breeding are disclosed a water, are already so complex that an even animal life to have been about nine-tenths of the way up the life column.

The newly-discovered fossils range through the thickness of at least 20,000 feet of stratum. This fauna must, therefore, have existed for many millions of years. The animals which Professor David has discovered the remains appear to be entirely new to science.

The Discovery.

These contain a mass of well-preserved portions of the bodies of animals allied to the sand-worms found on modern beaches, and to forms related to the crystal. These last specimens were up to four or five inches long. The sand-worms are less than an inch to three inches long. However, these several forms of animal life are present, and will provide for classification in the animal kingdom after paleontologists have studied them.
The most wonderful, almost miraculous, feature of these remains is their fine preservation. Their limbs and shells were formed almost entirely of a heavy substance called chitin. Usually this substance decays away as it rots. Professor David, however, examined the chitin has scarcely altered since it covered a few organisms.

Delicate Colours.

The colours range from a delicate rose to pale lemon greens, and are exquisitely lovely. In fact, the specimens are so nearly perfect that science will probably know more about the life of the period of nearly 600,000,000 years ago than it knows of almost most recent.

Much Needed Improvements.

Perhaps I am a little optimistic, perhaps on the other hand I am a little pessimistic, but I do hope that the new motorcycles shown at the next Olympia Show will be better than the present ones. I think there will be several new types on view incorporating the best of the old, and it is to be hoped that the new models will be more reliable, more powerful, and more economical than the present ones. I think the new models will be more reliable, more powerful, and more economical than the present ones.

but for ordinary use there is no doubt about the fact that the new models will be better than the present ones. I think the new models will be more reliable, more powerful, and more economical than the present ones.

Evils of Price-cutting.

During the last few years we have seen a great deal of price-cutting in the motor cycle industry. This has been done in order to attract attention to new models, and to get rid of old stock. But price-cutting is a bad thing, and it is to be hoped that the new models will be better than the present ones.

as all designers had forgotten about them. I think the new models will be better than the present ones. I think the new models will be more reliable, more powerful, and more economical than the present ones.

Hit and Miss Lubrication.

The majority of manufacturers produce their motorcycles with hit and miss lubrication. This is a bad thing, and it is to be hoped that the new models will be better than the present ones.

Kitale Comedy Company.

SUCCESS OF THEIR FIRST DAY.

FROM A CORRESPONDENT:

The Kitale Comedy Company presented their first play on Saturday night August 27 to large and enthusiastic audience.

The "Last of Mrs. Chiswick" a three-act comedy by Frederick Lonsdale was their choice and although it is an ambitious play for amateurs, the players showed that they had not only by any means over-estimated their capacity.

The acting throughout reached a high standard, the cast was as follows:—H. E. Tugman, (Chairman); Arthur Davis, (George); John Johnston, (Ledy John Hamilton); Margaret Downing, (The Hon. Mrs. Wynne); Frank Nanyingi, (Willie Wynne); Maurice Phelan, (Lady Maria Pender); Zoe Phelan, (Lord Arthur); V. B. Dowling, (Lord Essex); Isabel Kiblin, (Mrs. Ebbly); Edwin Goodfellow, (Mrs. Chiswick); Arthur Davis, (John).

The production might have been improved by a little more attention to dressing and stage effects generally, and I don't say short-coming in the respect, but it is noted on any future occasion.

The play was produced by Mr. Arthur Lanyon and the scenes were designed by Mr. J. G. O'Connell. The success of the Kitale Comedy Company was transformed into a theatre for the occasion.

A Local Coffee Market.

As the result of a discussion this week took place among the members of the Coffee Planters' Union of Kenya and East Africa and representatives of firms associated with the marketing of coffee, there is likely to be a stagnation of Nairobi's local coffee market. The grounds for this are, it is believed, twofold. The first is the fact that the local selling price of coffee and the cost of labour for the cultivation of the crop are both so high that the subject will not seem to be of great importance, but to the many coffee growers in the country and those who are interested in the buying of large quantities of coffee the question of the establishment of a local market in Nairobi is of considerable interest. The suggestion is that the local market should be organized in such a way as to be of benefit to the producer and the consumer, and that the venture should be organized in such a way as to be of benefit to the producer and the consumer, and that the venture should be organized in such a way as to be of benefit to the producer and the consumer.

Entabé Concert.

A CLUB'S INTERESTING PROGRAMME.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

Most enjoyable evening's entertainment was provided at the Alexandra Club on Saturday September 1, by a Concert Party organized among members of the Entabé Club, Entabé. It was attended by nearly all the European officials and Lady Griffin, Honorable A. M. Ferryman, Honorable Major G. H. Morrison, Mr. Keane, Mr. A. McClure, Mr. F. L. Collins and Mr. Jones.

The first was light and varied and things went with a swing from "The Spinning Wheel" and "A Bunch of Grapes" to "The Merry Widow" and "The Merry Widow" and "The Merry Widow". A humorous "Duet" After All Sing Along, Mary and Mr. S. J. B. and "The Merry Widow" and "The Merry Widow" and "The Merry Widow".

Cornering.

The importance of making corners correctly should be pointed out, and the task of the instructor is not yet finished when you have valuable hints that can be given, and will enable the beginner to learn from the experience of others.

To the average driver many things are unexplained or unexplained, and it is only after they have been explained to them that they will be able to do them. When teaching a complete novice, it is better to start with a simple lesson than to start with a complex one. The first lesson should be on the steering. The instructor should be on the left side of the car, and the learner should be on the right side. The instructor should be on the left side of the car, and the learner should be on the right side.

Without time and attention may proceed to the point of signposting, the first step and putting the car. Having regard to the preliminary remarks regarding cornering, it is better to start with a simple lesson than to start with a complex one. The first lesson should be on the steering. The instructor should be on the left side of the car, and the learner should be on the right side.

Head lamps should be developed, first as far as possible, not only as a usual applied to driving traffic and to the making of small signs when approaching corners and similar danger points, but also as a means of seeing the surface of the road, which one is travelling.

This is a particularly important point when the surface is one in which a light reflection is to be seen, such as a wet surface, or a surface which is covered with water, or a surface which is covered with water.

One of the objects to be aimed at during the first lesson, more particularly, is to build up the desire in the beginner's mind on his ability to take the car, and to give him the confidence to do so.

This will overcome the tendency of most novices to be afraid to take the car, and to give him the confidence to do so.

Native Welfare.
A day or two ago we published a brief review of the annual report for last year of the Uganda Medical and Sanitary Department. In another column, we refer to two regulations of ten-chamber form of a series of articles which appeared in the East African Standard some two years ago under the heading of 'Strategic Talks on Labour'. The Uganda report discusses the very satisfactory state of affairs which has resulted from the progressive development of medical work conducted by the Government for the benefit of the native people and the amount of the work which has been done in the course of the year. The report is a most interesting one and we are glad to see that the Government has taken so much interest in the welfare of the native people. New Game Reserve. The new Game Reserve has been established in Tanganyika. It covers an area of 10,000 acres and is situated in the district of Morogoro. The reserve is bounded by the Tanganyika River to the north and the Indian Ocean to the south. It is a most beautiful and fertile area and is well suited for the raising of game. The Government has decided to set aside this area as a game reserve for the benefit of the people of Tanganyika.

Uganda Cotton.
ASSOCIATION & QUESTION OF STANDARDS.
"STANDARD" OVERLOOKED?
Kampala, September 10.
The Uganda cotton trade is being favoured by the very high prices obtained for the crop since the outbreak of the war. The plantings during the last few weeks have been very large and we expect to see the next crop of cotton to be of a high quality. It is also to be expected that the standard of the cotton will be of a high quality.

THE WEATHER.
Meteorological Service Reports.
Following are the results of observations made at the Mombasa station of the East African Meteorological Service from September 1 to 10. These will be published daily in future and it is hoped before long to give additional readings from other stations:

A Letter from Paris

(By Younger Letter)

Several days, indeed, an entire week, have been spent in the most interesting of the great cities of the world.

Meanwhile the designer grows tired of European and Chicago fashions. The two most notable lines of the moment are those of the Mediterranean and the Far East. The latter are characterized by the use of rich, warm colors and by a certain amount of ornamentation. The former are characterized by a certain amount of ornamentation and by a certain amount of ornamentation.

When the rains are over, the most interesting of the great cities of the world. The most interesting of the great cities of the world. The most interesting of the great cities of the world.

THE GRAPE FOR CURTAINS

A Gaily Nice and very old style. The most interesting of the great cities of the world.

These skirts which have rushing to outline such trim can be made very attractive if the busy rushing is of a contrasting color. A beige dress with zigzag brown to trim it looks very smart, and such ruche has a good edge.

Several days and an entire week have been spent in the most interesting of the great cities of the world. The most interesting of the great cities of the world. The most interesting of the great cities of the world.

Quaker girls and lavender are now graying the pink and blue and the yellow and green.

Among the favorites are felle and ribbed dresses. These two fabrics will show popularity with a really wonderful range of colors. Especially beautiful are the printed satins, and velvets that make the advance pattern looks so charming. The smaller designs in brilliant colors on dark grounds or perhaps the most effective and historic are more generally selected by the couturier.

One would have thought that the lace Vogue had been captured by the crowd. But no. The designer is in the lace tailleur. Perfectly fitted little lace coats and exquisitely net skirts, on a fabric which is repeating the fascinating of frills and foldovers, are really remarkable tributes to the tailor's art. That store has experimented so successfully in silk and satin and silk fabric materials.

The looks of coats and dresses are assuming a new importance. Fashioned fashions are the look in a most becoming manner, and are finished off with a flit bow at the back of the collar.

An attractive new line is introduced in some of the Paris dress models. The waist is inclined to go higher, and there is a smooth rounded effect about the hips. Gold thread embroidery added to the beauty of this gown of black satin crepe.

Honours Stories by GEORGE ROBEY
THE WORLD FAMOUS COMEDIAN
Illustrated by E. P. KINSELLA

"Here is a volume packed with the funniest fun of the Robey kind, and as a sovereign remedy for melancholy it may be strongly recommended. All the world has laughed at and with Mr. Robey on the stage, but it may be doubted whether he is not even funnier in print, and those who have enjoyed the rollicking fun in the Author's previous works will find the present book at least equally entertaining. The volume is full of literary novel length, and the stories are now published for the first time."

BUCK EAT CROPS.

You cannot persuade them not to, but you might utilize the fruits of your husbandry at second-hand by selling the buck. The purchase of a good rifle fulfils three purposes. You get exercise, you get protection, and you get meat. A rifle, properly treated, will last ten years. If you don't get value out of it in this period, you can't shoot, if you can't shoot, you need a better rifle. Shooting straight, with a straight shooting rifle, is merely a matter of horse sense. If you shoot badly, we can only assume that your weapon is at fault. Call and see us about it.

THE HOLIDAY AT THE COAST.

A Camper Gives Her Impressions.

"SIMPLY GLORIOUS."

A school-girl's description of the fortnight's holiday spent by children of the Highlands of Kenya at Lakoni. Mombasa, makes an interesting study. The writer is Betty Hemmings, Nairobi.

On Sunday, Feb. 18th, the four o'clock train for Mombasa brought a crowd of excited girls and boys out of Nairobi Station. The writer.

"Some of us went nothing out of the carriage window and watch the ever varying scenery going by. But the thing that we were most keen to see was the beach. It was so lovely that we were only too glad to get out of the carriage. All right, the beach and talking never ceased, and when at last we came in sight of Mombasa Harbour, a great cry was heard on all sides. 'The sea, the sea, the sea!' There was a shout, and the children on the blue water made a marvellous background for her. After the rest of collecting our kit, we were taken over to Lakoni in a vessel which resembled a huge tub. We landed our gear, and in the end green water in our hands, in our eyes, on our

On Wednesday, we went to see 'Private Izzy Murphy' at a very ramshackle little 'jamboree' house. Needless to say, we bathed, which we did every day.

"On Thursday we went for a motor drive round the island, stopping at the Market, which was the centre of attention. Some of the lucky ones went with Captain 'Toby,' who took us to the 'Koroga' at the dockyard. Max 'thinks' him on behalf of the passengers."

"The Friday we all went to the Government House and enjoyed one of those parties so successful always when His Excellency the Governor had Lady (Irish) and family and ladies. What a marvellous way to give girls on the Government House grounds—nothing but the blue-green sea for miles!

"On Saturday the British Ship, the M. M. M. M. sailed and we had to bid most fondly to an M.M. and M.M. at his home in Lakoni. We all enjoyed that very much and the following notes which followed it.

Yachting.

"On Sunday we went out sailing. It was simply glorious. There was a real thrill in being on the busy deck and watching the water cut through the waves, leaving a line of white foam behind it. And every now and then the waves would try over our bows and we would ponder our fate. Yes—I think we all loved that sailing."

"On Monday we went about thirty miles in a motor launch and had a picnic on the shore. We collected trees and arranged them ourselves with a joyful attention."

"On Tuesday a few of us went to a picnic and shopping. We stopped at Miss Melton's, to buy some and enjoyed our afternoon. The following day we had a shopping trip. About three of us were taken on board the 'Mombasa' one of the best motor launches. We were taken to the shops and wandered about all the pretty places, though we were not there. The Chief Officer was most hospitable and gave us good seats on the deck to see the nature of the island. It was with reluctance that we waved our last farewell to such a sporting crowd of sailors."

"On Thursday we went for a long walk to the ocean beach. It was very interesting. The sea was right well to each of these four miles of beach by lake sea, and we explored it and collected shells, stones, sticks, seaweed, and other objects. In the evening we were sleeping in our tent, but unfortunately just as we started the most electric storm, but fortunately it was over before it came and we were forced to retire out to finish the picture in our dreams."

"On Friday we visited the M.M. All over to Arabana, and passed all kinds with a small fish, as a token of gratitude for all he had done for us."

"The camp staff was a beautiful set, facing the harbour. Two of us slept in tents, and the rest of them in the tent's lovely open camp."

"Finally, may I thank Shabbah Ali, Mr. and Mrs. Tom, Mr. and Mrs. Marston, Mr. Isaac, Mr. Brindley, Mr. Hill, Mr. Hartman, and one of those whom I have left out of half of the children for all their kind wishes and good work on our behalf."

Agriculture. Dairying in Australia

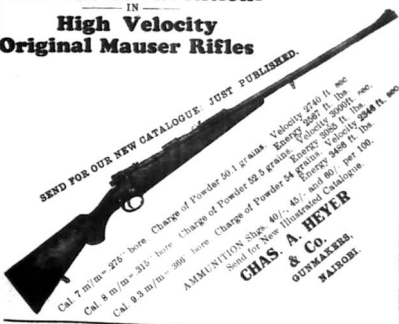

A South African farmer who recently visited Australia to take part in the Dominion Conference of the Overseas Farmers' Federation, has collected some information of interest concerning the development of dairying in Australia. The following extracts from his notes are taken from the "Farmer's Weekly":

The butter and milk factors in Adelaide is the best west in dairy equipment. On arrival at the central factory of butter made, the several branches factories, all butter undergoes careful selection, and in order to ensure uniform quality the different brands are blended together in the open tanks along a trough was also the shell machine, which cuts, wraps, and normally weighs 64 lb. of butter per minute. One man, a youth, and three girls are employed in this operation and a weekly turnover of 75,000 lb. of butter, a prepared ready for export. The machine, besides turning out the wrapped butter in a neat and marketable condition, has been the means of saving £1,000 a year on operating costs.

Common sense Co-operation.
It is in this line of co-operation, practical common sense co-operation, to handle the several grades of butter fat that arrived at the factory, and which could not be processed would be reworked into good grade butter of 80 to 85 percent quality, a Murray station superintendent says the standard product into a better grade of 85 to 90 percent. Little below the best butter. The Commonwealth Factory, a unit from various factories spread over South Australia, is noted for its being and manufacturing departments, which are noted for its milk trucks, each truck containing four 500-gallon cans, tanks supplied by the railway administration. At the factory where separation takes place, the milk itself is tested for grade and cleanliness, and 5d per lb. extra is paid for butterfat obtained from milk that has passed this test.

A Swiss Experiment.

Use of Skimmed Milk in Bread-Making.

Experiments in the use of skim-milk in place of water for mixing dough for bread-making, carried out at the Swiss Federal Establishment of Dairy Industry and Bacteriology, show that not only is bread made from skim-milk of lighter feeding value, owing to its Vitamin D and protein contents, than bread made with water, but more bread can be made from a given quantity of flour than can be made with water as the mixing agent, since the "International" variety of Aspergillus. In one experiment it was shown that 100 litres (a litre is a little more than two pints) of skim-milk gave an extra yield of over 15 lb. of bread (4 kilograms) in about 24 hr.

as compared with the same quantity of flour which mixed with water to make a loaf of the right consistency. Bread made with skim-milk loses less weight in baking than ordinary bread. Put in another way it requires less dough made with skim-milk to make a loaf of a weight equal to a loaf made from dough and water, or put in still another form, 40 g. doughs of the same consistency, one from 100 g. of flour, it would require eight litres more of skim milk than of water, thus making more bread from the same quantity of flour. The principal drawback to the use of skim-milk in baking is its tendency to combine during baking or even before, if given too
