SHORT STORY.

TELEMACHUS, FRIEND.

Returning from a hunting trip, I...
The little town of Los Pinos in New Mexico...

That ear, said Hicks, "is a relic...
An accident?" I persisted.

"No friendship is an accident,"...
The only perfect eye of true friendship I ever knew...

"I feel you understand,"...
I took you for a woman, but now I see you are a man...

"I feel you understand,"...
I took you for a woman, but now I see you are a man...

"I feel you understand,"...
I took you for a woman, but now I see you are a man...

"Mr. Mac," says Mrs. Jessup, turning round to Paisley, "if you was to drop in to the celebration of mine and Mr. Hicks' silver wedding twenty five years from now, do you think you could get it into that Hubbard squash you call your head that you can get a row in this business?" I've put up with your long time because you and Mr. Hicks' friend, but it seems to me it's not you to wear the willow and droop down the hill.

"Mrs. Jessup, says I, without leaving my group on the table, "in finance, Mr. Paisley is my friend, and I offered him a square game and a equal opportunity as long as there was a chance."

"A chance?" says she. "Well, he may think he has a chance, but I believe his good fortune is to get a crowd after what has been next to all the evening."

"Well, a month afterward me and Mrs. Jessup was married in the Los Pinos Methodist Church, and the whole town closed up to see the performance. When he got to the front, and the preacher was beginning to sing out his rituals and observations, I took a good look at Mr. Paisley. I calls him to the observation. "Paisley ain't here, says I. "We're got to wait for Paisley." A friend comes a few minutes later. "Telemachus Hicks, says I, Mrs. Jessup's eyes snapped some of the preacher holds up the incantations according to instructions. "In a few minutes Paisley gallops up the aisle, putting on a cuff as he comes. He explains that the only dry-goods store in town was closed for the wedding, and he couldn't get the kind of a booted shirt that his taste called for until he had braked around the back window of the store and helped himself. Then he ranges up on the other side of the aisle, and the wedding goes on. I always imagined that Paisley calculated as a matter of fact the income he might marry him to the widow by mistake. "After the proceedings was over, and the red and pink anti-ep, and exalted apostles, and recently married ladies linked their way. Last of all Paisley shook me by the hand and told me I'd acted square, and on the level with him, and he was proud to call me a friend. "The preacher had a small house on the side of the street that he'd fixed up to rent, and he allowed me and Mrs. Hicks to occupy it till the four forty train the morning when we was going on a bridal tour to Rio Paso. His wife had decorated all the room with hollyhocks and pansy, and it looked real first class."

"About ten o'clock that night I set down in the front door, and I bought a bottle of whisky and a couple of my bests a while in the old breezy, while Mrs. Hicks was fixing herself in the room. "Right about a light went out inside, and I set there a while reverberating over old times and scenes. And then I heard Mrs. Hicks call out. "Ain't you coming in soon, Lewis?"

"Well, well," says I, kind of rousing up. "Durn me, I wasn't waiting for old Paisley to go."

"I hope you get that far," concluded Telemachus Hicks. "I thought some body had shot this left ear of mine off with a forty-five, but I turned out to be only a link of a brooch in the hands of Mrs. Hicks."

"Well, well," says I, kind of rousing up. "Durn me, I wasn't waiting for old Paisley to go."

CURRENT PRESS OPINIONS.

Mr. Hatidane's Scheme.
The army of Mr. Hatidane's dream seems to be like bed hair, all head and no body. - Outlook.

France and Disarmament.
England can afford to retard her naval construction, but her example will be a force for France only, in face of the attitude of Germany, cannot enter into that slippery and dangerous declivity. - Matin, Paris.

The British Gift.
It is now possible to go from London to the heart of the Sonndra in three weeks. It is only fair to the British to recognize that they have the gift of creating a commercial centre and a comfortable station in places which could scarcely attract attention elsewhere. - La Tribune, Paris.

Effects of Exchange.
There has been a slight infusion of Eastern feeling into the American market, but it has not had the effect of making it less democratic. There has been a slight infusion of American feeling into the English market, it has made them less gentlemanly. - Illustrated London News.

Officers' Progress.
We are really inclined to think that the War Office is ever mindful alike of the comfort of the soldier and the suitable employment of his officer's spare time. The latter officers should be instructed in cooking, and that a series of courses be held for this purpose at the School of Cookery at Aldershot. - Leeds Advertiser.

John Bull's Parious State.
John Bull is being driven into bankruptcy by the professions. The civil service, great colonies and the appointments, the Navy wars for the promotions, the Church is big, the law at his pocket, and the doctor at his body. - Marmaduke, in Truth.

Comparisons with England.
The German Empire stands higher in every respect, especially as regards the world's commerce, than any other nation, surpassed by both England and France. During the last few years Germany's world commerce has increased, while England's has declined. - The Statesman's Weekly.

Speaking for England.
Candidates make a great mistake in assuming that it is a matter of English right to push the English flag. They forget what John Bull, said in his last will and testament. - The Statesman's Weekly.

Overdoing Immigration.
The point is not at all whether we want the population of Australia largely increased from abroad. It is a question of how much we want. - The Statesman's Weekly.

SOME anxiety was felt in Mombasa on Wednesday morning when it was observed that the Hotel Cecil was flying a signal of distress, the flag reading [something] after enquiry it was ascertained that it was only a mistake of a native boy.

[THIS] month we had quite a number of difficulty in deciding as to who out of several was most entitled to the honour of receiving the Award. We had first considered it desirable to award the interest of the African Public to give a certain African residing at present in B. E. A. - (Slightly altered) - Don't know how to obtain one of these conundrums we had to give it up.

A European C. Newman is alleged to have committed suicide in one of the bungalows in Macdonald Street. It is reported that the man only lately arrived from South Africa he has been suffering from black-water fever and in consequence has been confined to his bed since last at 4 p.m. his friend found him with a deep gasp in the throat. ONE thousand tons of Ground sugar are awaiting shipment at the German lake ports. With all our lake shore territory and plenty of work the supply of this valuable oil nut appears conspicuous by its absence.

WE hear that the head of one of our Principal Departments will shortly go home on matters of importance to the future of our Territory, we hope this is true as it would strengthen our Commissioner's hands.

THE Assistant Livi has decided to cultivate 300 acres with cotton at Malindi and 300 acres at the village of Mombasa. We congratulate Almi-Salim on his decision and though we consider it his duty to show an example to his subjects he is in any way less deserving of praise for his enterprise.

IN last week's "Occasional Notes" we mentioned the fact that five hundred bags of sugar had come from Bombay. This sugar was sent from Bourbon, an island of Mauritius, this is of importance as it tends to show that Mauritius sugar, which is the best cane sugar, can compete successfully with the Vienna beet sugar, we would advise our lady readers to buy Mauritius sugar, the best quality, if our leading stockholders stock it or will give it to their customers.

MOBASA DUST.

Dear Sir, I send you a cutting from a home print which gives some details of the dust problem. It is very interesting and it might have the effect of inducing the Government to try the experiment in Mombasa, where the dust nuisance is not so acute as it is in other parts of such financial danger. The report is as follows: - Mr. H. B. Barrow, Surveyor to the Harbour and Municipal Commission, is making an interesting report on his day-to-day experience, which appears to have given him a complete satisfaction.

Singularly enough, he states, a better mode of clearing the dust, would be to collect the tar, the dust appearing to absorb it, and to use this tar as a dust-collector. This is a most promising method which I have thought it might be worthy taken, had it not for the fact that it is a most expensive method, and that it is a most expensive method, and that it is a most expensive method.

UGANDA.
His Excellency the Commissioner returned to Entebbe on the 3rd September, having completed his tour of the northern portions of the Protectorate.

The Commissioner had a most pleasant and instructive tour, and was everywhere cordially welcomed by the Kings and all arrived in Kampala on the 10th inst.

This decision has had a very good effect, not only on the people of Kampala but throughout Uganda.

Mr. Doran of the Telegraph Department was reported to be sick with the Blackwater Fever at Jinja on the 14th October but later information showed an improvement in his condition.

mediately the agent Mr. Strathern, and clerks have all arrived.

A theme of conversation of late has been the possible move of the Government and capital to Kampala and many communications have been passing between H. M. Commissioner and the Colonial Secretary (Galt).

This decision has had a very good effect, not only on the people of Kampala but throughout Uganda.

wished they might know that over the top of a little Hoos and his cat.

He dreamed that the Sarcastic Turtle came and greeted him on the stand on it to crawl over the fence.

In the morning he and One-Two started for the place where the cat had been.

Her eyes traveled along the clear sky until they met the sun. They looked without winking straight into the glittering ball.

And the warm day arrived when the Infant, sitting on the moon, never dissociation as big an arched Wretched Dragon was as big as a clog.

Then she turned on her side, and in a few moments she had gone asleep. The sun was in the west and the memory of the sun's remaining on her round cheeks, while Hoos Chee and the cloth cat stared in amazement and stared.

BALLOONING AS A SPORT.

While the coming of the balloon as a means of recreation has been heralded in the United States by an outcry, it has done little damage for which it is responsible. In the English province, it is not so popular as a sport. Every modern club will own its own balloon. It is not so simple as it is made out to be. It is a hazardous undertaking and one which should not be undertaken by anyone who is not a member of the club.

Success of Sports.

People are now beginning to realize that ballooning is the safest of sports. Ballooning can be learned and it is even rumored that an albatross has purchased a balloon for the purpose of being inflated and held by a stick to show guests how it is done. The albatross has been found to be very much interested in the subject and it is believed that it will be able to fly in a few days.

OUR MONTHLY AWARD.

Award No. 3.

The month we have just passed is the month of the month of the month.

Captain E. V. Jenkins D.S.O.

EDITORIAL.

A Charge Needed.

One does not hear on good an theory that several applications for an extended period of services from our officers of the K. A. I. have been referred to the War Office. I cannot understand this policy. A young officer comes out to Africa gets into the saddle and in a few months he is a lieutenant. He is then sent to the War Office and is asked to extend his services. This is a very serious matter and it is one which should be looked upon with the gravest concern. It is a policy which should be abandoned at once.

feel that I can pass a mild censure on you, hoping that it will be a warning to you and others who are tempted to do such a thing again. I will send you a copy of your letter and a copy of the report of the War Office.

Zanzibar. There are still a few of the old Battalion remaining in Zanzibar, but we imagine that they will shortly return to Nairobi. The old 'Askaris have decided to return to their old duties and a new police force is being raised at a higher scale of pay.

I should like to see the author of the article in the K. A. I. referred to above. I am sure that he would be glad to see the author of the article in the K. A. I. referred to above. I am sure that he would be glad to see the author of the article in the K. A. I. referred to above.

THE CORINTHIANS' TOUR

A FINE RECORD SPOILED BY ONE DEFEAT.

The Corinthian footballers are now on their way back to England, and will arrive a few days before the end of the month. The tour in Africa was very profitable, and we are inclined to regret that the result of our most important match of the tour of the programme was a defeat from the last tour team.

Table with 4 columns: Date, Club, Result, Goals. Lists matches from Aug 11 to Oct 31.

The defeat at the Fall River was the second the Corinthians have experienced since they left England, the complete return of the former tour of victorious club being an outlier.

ALICE HALLADAY BOEY'S SIGNOR BRANDONI INVENTS THIS

Signor Brandoni invents this machine and now waits for funds. Signor Brandoni, a wandering troupe leader, makes the following declaration: 'Archimedes said there was a bottom and I shall go to the end of it. I will go to the end of the world.'

On Saturday last the Mombasa Section of the Volunteer Reserve passed the afternoon at the English pool table, but owing to bad light could not finish the match. After 200 and 241 balls Mr. H. Barnes was leading by 4 points.

THE LABOUR PROBLEM.

It is generally admitted that one of the greatest difficulties we have to contend with in this country is the question of labour without an adequate supply of which our industrial and commercial life would be almost at a standstill.
