NATIVES DETAILED WITH JUDICIAL SYSTEM.

really important functions of government, as we understood them, and that the natives should be prepared on the judicial system. Lord Lugard's attitude was that the natives should be given the opportunity of taking part in the administration of justice, but that they should not be given the right to elect their own representatives. He thought that the natives should be given the opportunity of taking part in the administration of justice, but that they should not be given the right to elect their own representatives. He thought that the natives should be given the opportunity of taking part in the administration of justice, but that they should not be given the right to elect their own representatives.

Legislative Powers.

Lord Lugard asked the point of view of the natives on the subject of the natives taking part in the administration of justice. He thought that the natives should be given the opportunity of taking part in the administration of justice, but that they should not be given the right to elect their own representatives. He thought that the natives should be given the opportunity of taking part in the administration of justice, but that they should not be given the right to elect their own representatives.

Native Tribes.

Lord Lugard pointed out that the natives were not a homogeneous race. He thought that the natives should be given the opportunity of taking part in the administration of justice, but that they should not be given the right to elect their own representatives. He thought that the natives should be given the opportunity of taking part in the administration of justice, but that they should not be given the right to elect their own representatives.

Mr. Mitchell's Reply.

Mr. Mitchell replied that he was in favour of the natives taking part in the administration of justice. He thought that the natives should be given the opportunity of taking part in the administration of justice, but that they should not be given the right to elect their own representatives. He thought that the natives should be given the opportunity of taking part in the administration of justice, but that they should not be given the right to elect their own representatives.

The Judicial System.

Lord Lugard asked if it was the intention of the Government to give the natives the right to elect their own representatives. He thought that the natives should be given the opportunity of taking part in the administration of justice, but that they should not be given the right to elect their own representatives. He thought that the natives should be given the opportunity of taking part in the administration of justice, but that they should not be given the right to elect their own representatives.

... of it that he all Mr. Mitchell would say. Mr. Mitchell thought that the natives should be given the opportunity of taking part in the administration of justice, but that they should not be given the right to elect their own representatives. He thought that the natives should be given the opportunity of taking part in the administration of justice, but that they should not be given the right to elect their own representatives.

White makes the new addition to the list of the Lancers which are marked with the letters W. A. West, P. O. Box 79, Nairobi.

The opening of Miss Hilda May Gordon's exhibition in the Avenue Hotel, Nairobi, has attracted, and has had for result, a very large attendance. It is the first time since the exhibition of the late Mrs. W. A. West that the exhibition has been so well attended.

Miss Gordon has already visited the exhibition in Nairobi, and has been selling on her behalf. It is a very interesting and valuable collection of native studies, and it is a pity that she is not in Nairobi at the present time. It is a pity that she is not in Nairobi at the present time. It is a pity that she is not in Nairobi at the present time.

Thousands of Mobiloil Lubricated Cars Pass Daily

Statistics show that of all Oils, Mobiloil is overwhelmingly preferred throughout the Empire. Whether you travel along London's traffic lanes or speed over the Great North Road, the correct grade of Mobiloil will provide that extra margin of lubricating safety which results from the use of the correct oil for your particular engine.
