An Unsolicited Testimonial

To whom it may concern. For the past few weeks I have been using a 'Magne' No. 6, C. C. British Patent and should like to say how very satisfactory the results are.

One Unsolicited testimonial comes from a haberdashery and an engraver who writes: 'I have used your 'Magne' for some time and I can say that it is a most useful and reliable product. I have used it for many months and I can say that it is a most useful and reliable product.'

The 'Magne' is the smallest type and is supplied by the Best African Power and Lighting Company, Limited.

To PROVIDE SOLUTION FOR OUTSTANDING PROBLEMS.

Amongst the recommendations of the Lytton Commission, which has considered the position in Manchuria, is the establishment of an Advisory Conference between the two States to provide a solution of the Manchurian problem and the subject of the maintenance of Chinese sovereign rights.

The leader of London Press comments that the Report leads nowhere. Doubt is cast as to whether the proposals are so readily accepted although it is admitted that there is no difficulty in accepting the principles.

The importance of Britain and the United States working together is emphasized and the need for a definite policy is stressed.
