THE 'LUSTANIA' OUTRAGE

Opinions of the World's Press.

The following expressions of opinion by the press of the world show what was thought of the disaster by the German submarine...

The Italian newspapers, without distinction as to politics, strongly criticize the man methods in the sinking of the 'Lustania'...

The French press is equally sympathetic for the victim and declares that it is not the fault of the German vessel...

The English press is equally sympathetic for the victim and declares that it is not the fault of the German vessel...

The American press is equally sympathetic for the victim and declares that it is not the fault of the German vessel...

The German press is equally sympathetic for the victim and declares that it is not the fault of the German vessel...

The Japanese press is equally sympathetic for the victim and declares that it is not the fault of the German vessel...

The Chinese press is equally sympathetic for the victim and declares that it is not the fault of the German vessel...

This German crime affords an opportunity on the German side for a somewhat elaborate and well prepared propaganda...

It is clear that international law here is not observed. The German military will not be satisfied with the mere destruction of the ship...

The 'Lustania' is a passenger ship, and the sinking of it is a crime against humanity...

GRAND COMEDY

FEATURE PROGRAMME

TO-NIGHT

The Track

OF THE Spider League

This is one of the most remarkable subjects ever filmed, containing enough sensationalism to be usually found in half-a-dozen subjects and all portrayed in a natural and convincing manner. We have the Hero and Heroine escaping by crossing from house to house at a tremendous height by rope, dashing leaps from one vehicle to another travelling alongside, chases by horse, motor car, aeroplane, locomotive, and a multitude of other sensational incidents. The plot is most exciting, being a detective story such as never before seen on the screen, that will electrify any audience.

Money Spent on Advertising is not wasted—it is invested. It is the sowing good seed in good land which in time yields a crop, but advertisement means frequently yield several crops.

WRITTEN UNDER FIRE.

A young French soldier who has just gained his stripes as corporal has sent a letter to his father describing his personal impressions of the recent fighting at Epargue, which resulted in the capture of the French army in the neighbourhood of St. Mihiel.

The time for the 'grand coup' which we have been expecting has arrived. It is now a matter of days before we shall see the men who are so ready to die for the fatherland.

We arrived this morning, after a long and tiring march, in a little wood, where we were to spend the night. The first thing we did was to get our tents pitched.

The morning was not very bright, but we were not to be deterred. We were to have a good day's work, and we were not to be deterred.

MARTIAL LAW AT HOME.

(E. A. STANDARD'S SERIAL.) London, May 28. The very formation of the National Cabinet means that the nation has voted with exceptional power...

It is a mistake to suppose that martial law has been introduced in this country. Leaving dates were 1715, 1725, and 1784-1815 were a long appeal even then the application should be the least to be taken now.

THE VITAL FACTOR.

"All the strategy and tactics of the war depend to-day upon one burning fact," says Mr. John Bland in the Evening Post.

The French the other day in Africa had a great advantage concentration, and advanced without any trouble for four miles. High explosives in sufficient quantities will annihilate the hostile trenches.

It is no time for sending and criticism. We are all in it blameless as far as we are concerned in the field.

LONDON LETTER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

LONDON, June 27. There is a well-known American proverb which reads: "The more you know, the more you are troubled." This is a truism which is being proved every day by the people of this country. The more we know of the situation in the East, the more we are troubled. The more we know of the situation in the West, the more we are troubled. The more we know of the situation in the East, the more we are troubled. The more we know of the situation in the West, the more we are troubled.

CORRESPONDENCE.

OUR MILK SUPPLY.

To The Editor, EAST AFRICAN STANDARD.

Sir—Mr. Stillington, in your today's issue, has tried to justify himself, and those who agree with him, recently, by stating that the price of milk is 25 per cent. more than it was in the last week of October.

It would be a criminal to do a few facts, but, apparently, to be forgotten. The retail price of milk at home in Kilimanjaro is about 20 per cent. more than it was in the last week of October. This is also the case in England, here. Now I wonder if the dairy farmer so far from home, has had a better season of milk than here. And, the fact that the price of milk is 25 per cent. more than it was in the last week of October, does not mean that the price of milk is 25 per cent. more than it was in the last week of October. It means that the price of milk is 25 per cent. more than it was in the last week of October.

To The Editor, EAST AFRICAN STANDARD.

Sir—I have the satisfaction of your columns to read some letters in the daily, which will be held today at the M.C.A. Buildings at 11 o'clock. I am sure that the Garrison Institute will be a success.

It has been my aim to give a meal of 110 or 120 children, and a certain amount of instruction in the proper use of the English language. I have also given a course in the use of the English language. I have also given a course in the use of the English language. I have also given a course in the use of the English language.

The main object of the institute is to give a course in the use of the English language. I have also given a course in the use of the English language. I have also given a course in the use of the English language.

I have also given a course in the use of the English language. I have also given a course in the use of the English language. I have also given a course in the use of the English language.

With regard to point 2, by this arrangement the members will have taken off their shoulders most of the care of management by cooperation with a committee well versed in this work, and by the taking over of the duties of an administrator, staff already working. Co-operation for this purpose is not only the most effective method of doing this, but also the most efficient.

Naturally, the M.C.A. expect some financial help, and the members should be made to contribute to the maintenance of the institute. It is the duty of the members to contribute to the maintenance of the institute.

I can only mention the name of a few of the members who have taken part in the work. I have also given a course in the use of the English language.

Yours, etc. H. F. WARD.
