WITH THE BELGIAN WOUNDED.

Stories tragic, pathetic, and humorous about the wounded Belgian soldiers were told by Miss Bruce in the course of an interesting lecture at the Unionist Party Club. Miss Bruce's experiences are mainly in her hands, says a correspondent in a "Times of Natal" article.

It was in Aberdeen that she came in contact with the wounded Belgians. She had been summoned to lend her services in the great struggle without success, when she was engaged at the beginning of October to act as hospital interpreter to 200 wounded Belgians, who were being sent to the city of granite.

Among those who were in the hospital were not only some who were ill and who had been severely wounded, but also others who had been made deaf by the concussion of bursting shells.

THE "Pall Mall Gazette" doubts that German note to America is the impudent document ever forwarded to the Government of one great Power by another. For no impudence can be greater than to suggest that the Government of one Power should be troubled by the Government of another Power.

DO BEARING TRINITY? BERTS, 2nd, MAKE THEMSELF THIS SHOW.

Smart Powerful Touring Cars for Hire. More expeditious by British submarines were reported by the "Standard". A large vessel laden with explosives was reported to have been sunk in the Atlantic shore by a mine.

TETONIC CRISIS.

The "Pall Mall Gazette" doubts that German note to America is the impudent document ever forwarded to the Government of one great Power by another. For no impudence can be greater than to suggest that the Government of one Power should be troubled by the Government of another Power.

HOW A RUSSIAN DIED.

"One night," says a Russian army doctor, "in a wood, before the nose of the day had quite risen, we started to break down a mine. I was the only one who was not killed myself slightly and broken down by the explosion of the mine which was demolished with a hardy slap. His face, as he lay on the ground, was almost that of a corpse."

OUR SUBMARINE EXPLOITS.

More expeditious by British submarines were reported by the "Standard". A large vessel laden with explosives was reported to have been sunk in the Atlantic shore by a mine.

TURKISH GEMSON TO BULGARIA.

The "Times" Italian correspondent, whose authority in all Balkan matters is a matter of European note, stated in a note today that the Bulgarians are now being to Bulgaria the Turkish railway which runs through Tuzla, near Mostar, south of Adriatic, to Mostar.

GERMAN TRICKS.

Uncle Bill they don't know. "The other night a man came up in our uniform and said that reinforcements were coming up on the left, and therefore we were not to shoot. However, our men were doubtful about it, and telephoned to headquarters. All units! Anyhow, they waited until the enemy came, and with their rifles, they shot the man down."

SPORTS LETTER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) London, July 20.

THE KING'S HAVERS.

The racing calendar of latest date indicates that King George's racing colours are likely to be often on view during 1910. There are 285 nominations for the Derby of this year, and all good specimens there...

Experts speak highly of Nona Clapton (the filly) and predict that she will win the St. James's Stakes, which will soon be sent to Newmarket. The filly was bred by Mr. W. A. Wood...

A NEW VENTURE.

A race meeting was held at Inver Court, near London, on Saturday, July 17, which was a big success on every point of view. It was promoted in the interest of small owners in the London district...

At one period of the Cambridge University Boat Race it is thought we should see a Royal victory, but Young Pagans finished splendidly and just beat the Blue...

HILLIARDS.

Melbourne Inman and Tom Newman are having a big struggle in their match of 10,000 yds. Newman was 2,250 yards out at the half-way stage...

ATHLETICS.

The many military events promoted since last September have led to the discovery of several capabilities of decorated gentlemen. What they can never repeat...

Another new runner headed the field on a 34 miles race decided at Lifford. He was Leo Corbett Quinn, of the West of Scotland...

UNIQUE TEST OF WAR.

A remarkable test of war was decided at the sports meeting promoted by the 2nd Battalion Surrey Volunteer Training Corps at Sandhurst...

AN UNKNOWN.

The "Athletic News" tells a capital story of an unknown runner who turned out at a horse race as a sports meeting held at a base camp in France recently...

IN A MILITARY HOSPITAL.

The first morning at breakfast I thought I should describe to you the things which I have seen in the "Daily Mail," in the same line as the everything in life in a military hospital. I have seen a man who had been wounded in the waist by a bullet which had hit his right shoulder, and who had been lying on a stretcher for several days. He had been taken to the hospital in the ambulance, and he was now lying in the ward, waiting for the surgeon to operate on him. He was in a great deal of pain, and he was very weak. The medical staff was very kind to him, and they were doing all they could to help him. The nurses were also very kind, and they were doing all they could to make him comfortable. The atmosphere in the hospital was very pleasant, and I was glad to see that the men were being treated so well. I saw many other men who were also being treated, and they were all being treated in a very kind and efficient manner. The hospital was very well equipped, and the medical staff was very experienced. I was glad to see that the men were being treated so well, and I was glad to see that the hospital was so well run.

At first I took him to be one of those variable Londoners who detect enthusiasm of any kind, who grumble about everything and who take no interest in any concern outside the bare interests of their own lives. But I found him to be a man who has studied the world very intelligently. He has faith in the future, and he has faith in his own country. He has faith in his own people, and he has faith in his own government. He has faith in his own future, and he has faith in his own country. He has faith in his own people, and he has faith in his own government. He has faith in his own future, and he has faith in his own country.

I expected that he would criticize the War Office, but he said to me in a low, steady voice, "I am not going to say anything about the War Office. I know the War Office, and I know what they are doing. I am not going to say anything about the War Office. I know the War Office, and I know what they are doing. I am not going to say anything about the War Office. I know the War Office, and I know what they are doing." He was very kind to me, and he was very helpful. He was very kind to me, and he was very helpful. He was very kind to me, and he was very helpful.

I was sitting up in bed, and I was looking at the man who was lying in the bed next to me. He was looking at me, and he was smiling. He was very kind to me, and he was very helpful. He was very kind to me, and he was very helpful. He was very kind to me, and he was very helpful.

He had been the colonel said to me, "I am not going to say anything about the War Office. I know the War Office, and I know what they are doing. I am not going to say anything about the War Office. I know the War Office, and I know what they are doing. I am not going to say anything about the War Office. I know the War Office, and I know what they are doing." He was very kind to me, and he was very helpful. He was very kind to me, and he was very helpful.

When the hospital was very full, and the medical staff was very busy. The nurses were also very busy, and they were doing all they could to help the men. The atmosphere in the hospital was very pleasant, and I was glad to see that the men were being treated so well. I saw many other men who were also being treated, and they were all being treated in a very kind and efficient manner. The hospital was very well equipped, and the medical staff was very experienced. I was glad to see that the men were being treated so well, and I was glad to see that the hospital was so well run.

A SOLDIER'S DIARY.

I have had to turn a diary, kept by a British soldier from the declaration of war to the end of the year before last. It is very interesting to see how the war was seen from the inside. The diary is written in a very simple and straightforward manner. It begins with the soldier's arrival in the front line in August 1914. He describes the conditions of the trenches, the weather, and the daily life of the soldiers. He mentions the first battle of the Marston in August 1914, and the first battle of the Marston in August 1914. He describes the conditions of the trenches, the weather, and the daily life of the soldiers. He mentions the first battle of the Marston in August 1914, and the first battle of the Marston in August 1914.

On August 12 there is a short but clear account of the first battle of the Marston. He describes the conditions of the trenches, the weather, and the daily life of the soldiers. He mentions the first battle of the Marston in August 1914, and the first battle of the Marston in August 1914. He describes the conditions of the trenches, the weather, and the daily life of the soldiers. He mentions the first battle of the Marston in August 1914, and the first battle of the Marston in August 1914.
