WILSON WAR MESSAGE.

President Wilson, speaking in the United States to the Capitol on Monday December 7, and from the Tribune of the House read his message addressed to the members of both Chambers and the public which, created the greatest crisis in our history. "Correspondent in Washington."

The address was of unusual importance. From the first paragraph to the last it was a war message, and we need a more striking contrast with the message of a week ago, a year ago, and two years ago. It was a message with a scope intended to citizen nature. Today it took the first place in the programme of legislation. The next thing, so far as we can be judged, is what people who are particularly struck by the profundity of the President's speech, and who criticise his political programme, who form factions and display animosity to the Government, who form the leadership of the President's opponents, who criticise his political programme, who form the leadership of the President's opponents, who criticise his political programme, who form the leadership of the President's opponents...

All that matters for us, that, should the President hope and believe, with the vast majority of his countrymen, that if the United States will be able, to remain neutral, it is, we fear fairly clear that he will not be able to remain a neutral country as it now stands. There is much, speculation and there is much, speculation on the subject, but we must not be misled by the fact that the President's programme is at this early stage, much more in line with the intentions of the President's programme. The President's programme is at this early stage, much more in line with the intentions of the President's programme. The President's programme is at this early stage, much more in line with the intentions of the President's programme.

ALLIES' BALKAN TASK

Mr. G. Price, writing in the "Times" from Salonica on December 1, says, "Already the operations of the Allies in Bulgaria may be regarded as having reached the end of one definite phase. On the one hand, the peace afforded by the period of transition leading up to the actual commencement of active operations is practically over, and particularly in the main principles of the campaign, for, unless there is an immediate and particularly serious withdrawal of the Allies, the Balkan campaign is practically a fait accompli. It is only a question of when the actual operations will begin, and how long they will last."

It is true that the early hours of the morning are dominated in Serbia, Bulgaria, and the Balkans, the Bulgarians dominate the town from the surrounding heights in such a way that his capture by them must be regarded as important. The capture of the town by the Albanians of the Serbian army in the north, will make the end of the campaign and the end of the Serbian army as an independent force, and the adjustment of the French disposition on the Thyrza River is a natural consequence. For, as explained in a previous message, the Treaty of Trianon from Kriwawa words across the Thyrza was undertaken solely in the hope of joining up with the Serbs, who were being held out at the end of the campaign, and the Serbian army split up into several fragments, each containing the subject of the French offensive into the Bulgars' positions in the north of the Thyrza. On the first fortnight of November he crossed to exist. Many yet another circumstance has arisen which helps to make the situation more difficult in the Balkan campaign. A telegram which has just been received from the Allies, received reports the withdrawal of the Bulgarian army from the Bulgarian front, and the explanation of this movement is to be found in the action which is now being taken by the Allies. But for the last circumstances, the Bulgars would have been held to meet the main body of the Bulgarian army, and the water-front, the offensive could not have been carried out.

The first two months of the war, in a very favourable manner, might have been achieved by the allied operations in the Balkans, but the Bulgars have not been able to do so. The Bulgars have not been able to do so. The Bulgars have not been able to do so. The Bulgars have not been able to do so.

Visits Constantinople railway progress with us in sufficient strength to drive back the Germans and Bulgarians we go will be exceedingly slow, especially in this, the worst season of the year. Fortunately the news from Russia promises in the very important division of the Russian offensive in the Balkans. It is, therefore, in this regard, that we are accumulating here will have a more than fair, for the enemy will have to face two frontally opposed forces, one from the west, with Russia, indeed, will be found to be a most serious and difficult to the Bulgars. It is, therefore, in this regard, that we are accumulating here will have a more than fair, for the enemy will have to face two frontally opposed forces, one from the west, with Russia, indeed, will be found to be a most serious and difficult to the Bulgars.

We welcome the sympathy of the Zanzibar War Society, which was organized in the interests of British Water, who for some long time have occupied the position of the Zanzibar War Society...

There are those who have taken steps in the direction of forming a Zanzibar War Society, which will be a valuable addition to the Zanzibar War Society...

THE FABLE OF THE ARAB AND THE CAMEL. GREEK REVISED VERSION.

GOING "HOME." "And it was good, then was it not?" He looked at me sullenly. "I cannot say anything was good," he answered. "I was all in tears in Germany. I say, I have no complaints to make." An elderly man joined us. "Twenty years ago," he said, in answer to my question, "and in all that time I have never been five miles out of London. My wife is English, and my four children can also speak German. Why should I be made to go to a country which I have not seen for 20 years, where I know nobody? The English have always treated me well, and I never wanted to go away. This feeling—er I talked with more than half of the party—seemed universal. I found not one who was glad to go to 'home.' 'It is not my home,' was said again and again. Yet, with a curious conservatism, many of the young men still cherished in their sympathy, though they had nearly forgotten the country and would gladly have stayed away from it. They took great pride in being fighting strength. All all alike wished to live in England. All alike spoke in varying degrees of warmth of the kingdom. Of the only officials all had Sir Edward Grey, who had 'made the law.' 'Slightly before the fog closed down on us we had news, close at hand, two British were taken prisoner. How they were sent to Germany secure us that our relatives there would be well looked after. Their arrival was evidently urgent; and the white ensign dropped in response to our salute and they were gone. We remembered you have a bad time in camp.' "Receiving the last few days at the Nairoi, I have no complaints. I was at the Alexandria Palace."

There were those who declared that they felt in touch. But we were not out, and the ship was slowly drawing back, and the little Dutch sailor swung his head now in this way. "Three-and-a-half," he called, and again "four," and half a dozen times it was "four." Then "four-and-a-half," and again both checked and the anchor roared as the cable ran out. We had finished, earlier in the evening, at our silences. Now we were well content to stay where we were. We had been told that it was about the most dangerous spot upon the coast, and that no more could be done unless he could see the buoy as well as the light. At West Cape, I had seen the captain do this. I drew 15 feet or 17 feet and said that three fathoms shot was near enough. It was better to chance those 1.5."

Year musical friends will excuse themselves from singing or playing if you please. I am sincerely yours. The present is a good time to have to attend and our teams are competent, with Footery. Representative — B.O.A. Music Stores Co., Nairobi.

ENEMIES AT HOME

Every patriot fully recognizes that the enemies at home are a grave danger to the military power of the country. They are contentedly at work and many of them are not only without interference from the powers that be, but are actually engaged in the work of the enemy.

A MISSTEP

It is a common opinion that in spite of official denials of violation, those efforts to help the enemy are not being made. In an example of this in Monday evening, when a woman of the enemy at London had been taken to a meeting at a London hall.

A GREAT RECORD

Over a 124 Bombers under arms at the present time. The Royal Air Force has a record of 124 Bombers in dispatches, which is a great record.

MUSIC LEARNING

OUR ENGLISH SPORTS LETTER.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

THE WONDERFUL R.A.M.C.

The correspondent also relates that he has been visiting a camp wounded from the front and has seen a number of the wounded men who are being treated at the camp.

DISSENTED TO GET AWAY.

The efforts of a German officer to escape are so remarkable that they are worth recording. The officer was a German who had been captured by the British and was being held in a camp.

THE POPULAR PASTIME

Cross-country running is certainly the popular pastime of the day. It is a sport which is being taken up by many people and is becoming very popular.

THE SOCCER

Not a single football match led to big alterations in the tables, all the leaders proving successful. The London Football League has been playing very well.

THE LANCASHIRE SECTION

The Lancashire section of the football league has been playing very well. The Manchester City team has been particularly successful.

GOLF

Harry Vardon, six times open golf champion, and also winner of the American and British Open, has been playing very well.

Grand 'Royal' Programme

FOR MONDAY AND TUESDAY, January 10th and 11th.

Brilliant French Victory in the Vosges.

A most interesting WAR FILM of the actual fighting and the deep souls of the Vosges. The engagement in all its aspects can be followed try step.

See this film first gives you a splendid idea of the country over which the British are now fighting.

Brisbane River Queensland, Australia.

The Plumber. (PARTIAL COMEDY) Water, Water Everywhere! When you have a leaking pipe you call in the plumber. It happened to him that with disastrous results, which shown on the screen will make much laughter.

The Lost Mail Sack

(IN TWO PARTS.) An excellent produced realist drama, considered one of the best and most exciting films seen in recent years. The tracking of the lost mail sack exciting scene followed in various incidents, including the leaping from a ledge and a white motor car on to an engine track in motion. The innocence of the innocent, and guilt of the guilty, is eventually established and the whole picture story done ample justice to the producer and the script writer.

The Path to Ruin.

(DRAMA.) A thrillingly acted story of a girl who threw over a rising young specialist for the greater affection of a man who eventually has an opportunity of returning good for evil, and saves the life of the wealthy heir.

The Elopement.

Caught in the Park

This very excellent and laughable farcical comedy shows off to advantage "Gandy" the new Keystone entertainer and mirth provoker. When a sporty husband has a pain which would lead to lively times in the open air - to a visit in the park, can you blame him if he seeks a little harmless amusement with a merry maid. It would be quite unfair to say that for her having been caught at it and then the hilarious comedy.

TEMPUS Watches

The Largest Stock of 'TEMPUS' WATCHES that we can import, does not last long, but THE WATCHES DO.

This is the secret of their great Popularity, and although prices are increasing in all directions and it is with great difficulty that the Swiss manufacturers are turning out watches at all, yet we are able to announce a new shipment at the Reduced Price of Rs. 3-25

We do not anticipate the present stock lasting more than a fortnight. So would advise the early placing of orders to avoid disappointment.

When sending orders by Post do not forget to send a remittance and at the same time allow for Postage.
