The Nationalistic Movement in Egypt.

A Cor-evigonment writes from Carus—II was not visitors and purpose that the Nacionalities in Egypt for coner time paid have considered in Egypt for coner time paid have for the control of the State of Carus and State of the State of Carus and State of the State of Carus and State of the State of his paper Liwa that until recently appea only in Arabie. three editions. Vebement attacks against the English cocupation of the Nile valley are for Mustopha Ramel Takin, the principal means for helping his cause. Dut as an estate politician he varies them by similar districes against Germany, while France and the French policy in Morocco particularly are always applicated and defended. That are always applicated and defended. That man articles play only a secon part and are rather rare in co ition to the English nce in Egypt goes without saying. The diamos in Jegyps gos- ware strong predictions for France and the rather far-folded stacks on Germany slowing policy are particularly to be explained with the per-sonality of Mustopha Kamel Pasha and his close connections with certain Parisian cir-cles; at the same time this pronounced pro-fronch bias js a well-chosen antitote signats the serii effect which from his agitation may he feared for the att tude of the native popul ion in the French colonies of Tunis But in spite of the shrewd activity Algiers. But in spite or too sureau security of this groups of politicisms we do not think it necessary for the Eeglish Government to pay much heed to their sejaration.

Egypt has become, under English gredominance, a civilized country. As so threeh of the secontification of the englishments of European culture base than the contract of the englishments of European culture bases that the country of the englishments of European culture bases.

neen accumination, the way or tunking of the Egyptians has also undergone a change towards Europeanication. Especially among the educated classes one may observe a very wide-spread, gradual emancipation from thoughts that formerly held their away over all Orientale. Now Nationalism is decidedly all Orientals. Now Nationalism is decidedly a characteristic notion of Western culture. In the near East, were Mohammedanism with its cosmopolitan tendencies rules supreme, people bare little sympathy for it. Only as the Europeanisation advanture. ine Europeanisation advantes, the soil is prepared for introducing this plant of foreign growth. It is among the rich or well-to-do classes with a smallering of European came classes with a smallering of European eation that nationalistic tendencies are ground in Egypt. Under the English system of ad-ministration there is a very little chance for these people to fulfil their ambition and play an important part in their mother country Especially the younger generation craves for an honourable field of activity. As small as they grasp the idea of a national identity of all Egyptians, they demand the political and: Western letters they also plant to the growing Western letters they also plant to the growing uniformity of the race type among the Egtians. For the last hundred years, the argue, no wave of foreign treason has struc-Egypt; for the Turks and Armenians the arrived in the time of the Insurrection as ataged in the country, have long teen assim-lated by adopting the Arabic language, to lated by adopting the A abie language for

Never the less there can be no iloubt that the whole movement will be confined to a small minority of enuented or quarter educated people. The mass of the population, the Feliabs, have nothing to do with it. They have no conception of political or of mational interests. To till the ground in peace and to leave all other things above, is their philosophy of life. The tradition of twenty for y of life. The tradition of twenty four atturies of subjection has left its marks upon sm. As far back as history is a 'se to throw ht on this wonderful country. It has never major a long run, administrated by its own bloomly.

Thus we arrive at the conclusion that the time has not come yet for a nationalistic movement in Egypt. It appears as another case of "Mush cry. little wool."

Oats, barley, inseed, and maize do well, but the wheat suffers greatly from rust. Plant diseases of a fungoid nature seem to be common, the beans being ravaged by uromyces and calletotrichum, and no less trouble and loss is occasioned by vermin, of which great Land Concessions. There can be no doubt of the desirability of eventually bringing in foreign capital to assist in the land lopment of the Soudan, but, in the first instance, the conditions under which concessions of land should be made have to be carefully considered. I am, however, very decidedly of opinion that no great account should be taken of criticisms of this nature. The matter is indeed one of primary importance. Itis scarcely an exaggeration to say that the whole future of the Soudan depends upon the treatment which this question receives. It is one this question receives. It is one which evidently requires prolonged study and great care. Not only do the facts speak for themselves, but the experience of other countries shows the harm which can be done by undue haste.—Lord Cromer in his 'Soudan Report.'

MOMBASA CRICKET.

The match last Saturday was between sides chosen from those over 30 years of age and those under 30 30 years of age and those diagrams of age, captained by Combe and Pickwead respectively. Combe won the toss for the over 30 side and selected to bat, Corbett and Turnbul started the innings for their side.
With the exception of Corbett who batted very well for his 24 the side put up a poor defence against the bowling of the under 30 side and were all out before the tea interval. Geen bowled exceptionally well and deserved to get more wickets than he did. Pickwood took 6 wickets for 6

Walker and Moore started the innings of the under 30's but Moore H. Box was smartly stumped by Corbett almost immediately, Walker batted well for his 7 and played bong with confidence, the latter bowling very well. Croall and Hayes-Sadler showed form for their 39 and 25 F. A. Lee, b McClure not out. The fielding on both sides Y. Forrest, run out F. K. Rose, not out mot out. The fielding on both sides was greatly improved and the prospects of Mombasa sending a good team to play Nairobi in July is bright. The boys won by 3 wickets and 73 rund. It is very pleasing to note that two complete teams turned out without having to requisition the services of any of the Club boys.
