GREAT SEA BATTLE.

Will 1917 Witness It?

OPINION DIVIDED.

In 1915 added to witness the greatest sea battle of all time, a battle which, like the Aguer, will settle the question of naval predominance for generations? Many of the "Mail Observers" among naval circles are of opinion that the ocean is divided as to whether the High Sea Fleet will come out in force to engage a decisive engagement, or continue to hold behind its shore defenses and undertake the active protection of the coast and the maintenance of the sea.

Those who favor the latter theory argue that after experiencing the devastating effects of British Germany, as England, the Germans will have no stomach for another encounter with the British fleet, especially as they know themselves to be outnumbered in heavy ships by something like two to one. Nevertheless, there are indications that German naval developments are rapidly increasing. Information is had from trustworthy sources that the German navy is being re-equipped with the most modern and powerful ships. The capital ships of the High Sea Fleet are frequently seen within the "sea triangle," practicing tactical evolutions and maneuvers. In some cases of light cruisers and destroyers, while ordinary observations are made in the vicinity for spotting purposes. During October and November, 1911, a fleet of modern, swift, in the waters of the Baltic, demonstrating tactical evolutions and maneuvers. It will be remembered that similar activity was observed in the months that preceded the battle of Jutland.

DOUBTFUL NEWS FROM OSNABRUCK. Speculation as to the present strength of the High Sea Fleet is still a matter of debate. From the beginning of the war Germany's navy has been kept in a state of readiness, and extraordinary plans are taken to build more and more of the vessels.

A really splendid military anomaly in East Africa was given by the German army. It was a small force of about 100 men, which was sent to the front in the month of August, 1911, to take possession of the mountainous region of the East African coast. The force was commanded by a German officer named von Krosigk. The force was sent to the front in the month of August, 1911, to take possession of the mountainous region of the East African coast. OUR SPORTS LETTER.

Great Runners.

THE BOXING WORLD.

[From Our Own Correspondent] London, February 8.

A GREAT RUNNER.

The announcement that H. G. Hatfield, of the London Athletic Club, had won the 1000 yards race at the Royal Engineers sports meeting on Saturday last, was a surprise to many of the sportsmen. Hatfield is a well-known runner, and has won many races in the past. He is a very fast runner, and is expected to win many more races in the future.

Town Planning.

MEAT INSPECTION.

The annual meeting of the Municipal Committee was held at the Municipal Offices on Tuesday, April 10th, and was presided over by Mr. Hamilton, Chairman. Present were Mr. Wood, Mr. Henson, Mr. Barrow, Mr. Hayes, Mr. Henderson, Mr. Ross and Mr. Taylor.

TOWN PLANNING SCHEME.
The town planning scheme showing the layout of the new town of Hastings Street, prepared by Mr. Henderson, was laid before the Council and considered. Further consideration was deferred for a fortnight.

JERVANEE GARDENS.

A letter from Mr. Paton was read regarding the Jervanee Gardens. The letter stated that the condition of the Gardens was nothing short of deplorable. The great bulk of the garden was overgrown with tall grass and other weeds, and the water in the tanks was filthy and unfit for drinking. The water in the tanks was also polluted with refuse and other filth. The water in the tanks was also polluted with refuse and other filth. The water in the tanks was also polluted with refuse and other filth.

The condition of the tanks and walls was also referred to, and the letter went on to state that Mr. Paton had offered to contribute towards the cost of the improvement of the tanks and walls. The letter also stated that the Gardens had been handed by him and on condition that a considerable liability be met. He had been permitted to get into the premises and to do the work.

The District Commissioners said that several schemes for running the Gardens had been put forward, but nothing had been done. When the Gardens were handed over, the condition of the Gardens was such that it was necessary to do some work before the Gardens could be handed over. It was decided whether they should stay up the hill, or whether they should be moved to the foot of the hill. The District Commissioners said that the Gardens should be moved to the foot of the hill.

On the proposition of Mr. Barrow, it was decided that the Gardens should be moved to the foot of the hill. The District Commissioners said that the Gardens should be moved to the foot of the hill. The District Commissioners said that the Gardens should be moved to the foot of the hill.

INSPECTION OF MEAT.

The question of the inspection of meat was discussed at the Municipal meeting, which was held on the 10th inst. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Hamilton. Mr. Hamilton said that the inspection of meat was a very important matter, and that it was necessary to have a system of inspection. The meeting decided that a system of inspection should be introduced.

WAR NOTES.

(By E. YOUNG.)

London, Tuesday 8.

NO HELP WANTED.

Some events since August of 1914 have shown that the States will not be able to handle the diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany. The States must be able to do what America has done very frequently.

Opinion are divided on that point, but it seems to be generally felt that we would rather not have the assistance of Great Britain. The opinion of a well-travelled journalist who knows the States well is that never before the last of it should America go to the States to mind points that the Americans will claim to have come to the rescue of the Allies and say that this was the deciding factor, and so on.

It would be able to do what America has done very frequently. The opinion that we could well afford to do without assistance of the States. The States may recognize them as a really determine whether the British Government should be left to do it. It is not meant that they find it difficult to do it. It is not meant that they find it difficult to do it. It is not meant that they find it difficult to do it.

WHAT CAN AMERICA DO.

Referring to the question of America and the possible help she may render if it comes to war, people recognize that there will be a demand of an army of 1,000,000 men in a year to equip them. It would take a year to equip them and dispatch 200,000 men and 200,000 tons of supplies. The issue will be decided before long. It is not meant that they find it difficult to do it. It is not meant that they find it difficult to do it. It is not meant that they find it difficult to do it.

THE FOOD QUESTION.

As pointed out before, the food question is a serious one and the authorities have been working for a long time to find a solution. It is something to have a patriotic government in power that we are far away from the ideal yet. It is something to have a patriotic government in power that we are far away from the ideal yet.

We should long ago have been the mercy of Germany. The project may be to handle the food question has been outlined long ago in three columns. First of all, everyone should be made to be useful and every scrap of food-crop should be under control.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS IN FRANCE.

Their Life and Fighting. BY LORD NORTHCOTE.

The following article was written at the special request of the "Times" by the author, originally designed by Maxims, with the exception of the last paragraph.

Established in the mind of the great Commander-in-Chief of France is a body of American soldiers in khaki, who are doing their best in an effective manner of the several revolutions produced in warfare by the United States.

The first and most important was the complete invasion by the Wrights, of Dayton, Ohio. The second is the machine gun, originally designed by Maxims, with the exception of the last paragraph.

The third revolution is one that I would hardly believe had I not heard of it myself. It is the invention of the British Tommy to fight in port and to be a first instead of the last on the field.

The fourth revolution is one that I would hardly believe had I not heard of it myself. It is the invention of the British Tommy to fight in port and to be a first instead of the last on the field.

The fifth revolution is one that I would hardly believe had I not heard of it myself. It is the invention of the British Tommy to fight in port and to be a first instead of the last on the field.

The sixth revolution is one that I would hardly believe had I not heard of it myself. It is the invention of the British Tommy to fight in port and to be a first instead of the last on the field.

The seventh revolution is one that I would hardly believe had I not heard of it myself. It is the invention of the British Tommy to fight in port and to be a first instead of the last on the field.

The eighth revolution is one that I would hardly believe had I not heard of it myself. It is the invention of the British Tommy to fight in port and to be a first instead of the last on the field.

The ninth revolution is one that I would hardly believe had I not heard of it myself. It is the invention of the British Tommy to fight in port and to be a first instead of the last on the field.

The tenth revolution is one that I would hardly believe had I not heard of it myself. It is the invention of the British Tommy to fight in port and to be a first instead of the last on the field.

The eleventh revolution is one that I would hardly believe had I not heard of it myself. It is the invention of the British Tommy to fight in port and to be a first instead of the last on the field.

An admission of real value from British authorities is observable in the "Times" of London, which states that the "Fall of Baghdad" is a great success...

The paper continues to declare by means of the "Times" that the British have advanced further from their main base in Turkey...

The "Manchester West-End Observer" admits that the English have won a necessary military success, but it says that when the Turks are engaged with heavy artillery, Baghdad will not be long before it falls into British hands...

The "Manchester West-End Observer" further states that the British have won an invaluable success in the fall of Baghdad, which will be followed by the fall of Baghdad itself...

The "Manchester West-End Observer" concludes that the British have won a necessary military success, and that the fall of Baghdad will be followed by the fall of Baghdad itself...

STANDARD NOTES.

There is to be a Sunday performance of "The Fall of Baghdad" at the Grand Theatre on Tuesday night about half a mile on the Salisbury Road.

The Palace has recently received a large quantity of fine, amongst which are many well-known plays, which have been adapted to the film.

A woman will be sent to the other day that, if volunteering under the Compulsory Act, she will be allowed to be, for one week, by the Government.

We understand that a well-known woman will be sent to the other day that, if volunteering under the Compulsory Act, she will be allowed to be, for one week, by the Government.

We note that "Communist" on Thursday last, in a letter to the Editor, has stated that he will be sent to the other day that, if volunteering under the Compulsory Act, she will be allowed to be, for one week, by the Government.

In regard to the letter which we received from a correspondent, asking us to do so, we have to say that we will be sent to the other day that, if volunteering under the Compulsory Act, she will be allowed to be, for one week, by the Government.

One of a similar nature, as to do so, we have to say that we will be sent to the other day that, if volunteering under the Compulsory Act, she will be allowed to be, for one week, by the Government.
