We do not think any good object will be the outcome of allowing will be the outcome of anowing pleaders to appear in suits which have to deal with questions of Titles and Ownership. The principal land owners and those most affected by the proposed Ordinance are the Natives and the Crown. The Natives may look for assistance to the District Commissioners and the Secretaries of Native Affairs and the Crown has the whole machinery of the Land Office at its disposal. We recognize that injustice is bound to follow in the wake of the Ordinance and our object should be to endeavour to reduce this injustice as far as possible to a minimum, and we doubt if al-lowing Pleaders is a proper step towards this end. There are a very large number of Native land owners who have no paper titles but yet are recognized as the owners of land, some indeed possessing large areas, others again, the majority, very small areas. If a dispute arises among the small Landowners and Pleaders are engaged there can only be one end. that the land in dispute must be sold to defray the legal expenses incurred and one or both of them thrown on the world penniless and homeless.

As we are forcing persons, for political reasons, to register their title to land, notwithstanding that most of them are perfectly content with matter as they stand we should not put such persons to personal expense, or if it is essential to do so we should make a point of protecting them as far as lies in our power from loss. We meet a somewhat similar point again in clause 32, which states Every person upon applying for a Certifi-cate of Title and upon receiving the same shall at the time hereinafter provided pay

(1) "At the time of applying for such Certificate 1% upon the estimated value of the land in respect whereof the application cials, prominent civilians and lead ing Uganda Regents and Chiefs The invitation was not issued after months of tiring and distressing agitation but simply be cause His Excellency had genuinely recognized that in order to make the country for which he is responsible M the hing and the British Nation a success, he could not do better than gather together and hear the views of those, who though in a more humble sphere are equally as keenly interested in pressed and satisfactory and practito for the general future policy of the industry conferred upon. No acrimonious or jeering remarks, no bearbatting, no sullen sulkiness or open indifference which has characterised our Legislative Council and other public meetings-marred the proceedings; officials, civi-lians and natives were in barnony. How much of this asselled feeling is due to the tact of His Excellency, the Governor and how much is due to the whole system of Admi-nistration, it would be invidious to attempt to analyse though not a little can be learnt of His Excellency's gui ding policy from his remark that a n much needed Public Work would be carried out Departmentally only, if it was found it could not be done as efficiently and economically

by private enterprise
What an object lesson is field out to us in British East Africa. In the first place, taking our cue non official co-operation in any public matter it has been neces sary for the people to institut sary for the people to institute systematic public agitation. The Legislative Council was obtained only at the pen's point, the Land Board was established with a view quietening a people enraged by dilatory Administration and rec Let it be presumed in passing that

His Excellency, the Governor of our own Protectorate had adopted the principles of the Uganda Government and invited a body, of men similar to the body referred to above, to confer with him on the very vital question of drafting equitable Labour Rules What turmoil would have been spared us. There would have been necessity for public meetings at which in the heat of the moment things are done and said which take years to mend, friendships broken a and stupid accusations bandled from mouth to mouth causing the breach between the Governors and Governed to become still more acute The blame for these predicaments cannot be laid solely at the door of the Settler How often have Depu tations from the non-official popula tion, in a friendly and non critical at in hand, to discuss much needed improvements and how little has been the result? What has been the result of the Deputation of Citizens, who recently appealed to His Excellency to give Government attention to the danger to public health through leprouscontamination report of a conference, called by his Excellency the Governor of Igands, and held at Kutebbe at to take their share of the expenses

Space will not permit us to make mention of other similar fruithis opening remarks and it is less attempts made by the People in his opening remarks and it is less attempts made by the People these remarks and the general tone to co-operate with the Administration of the whole meeting which must favourably strike our readers, making yet another effort to urge and which has caused us to write the local Government to adopt more conciliatory spirit-towards the is article.

'I have asked you,' said His Ex. Colonist, to give the Colonis llency, "to meet me in order that credit for being able to give sound advice on very many subjects and to hold out the hand of congratulation to those who have the face of adverse circumstance merged successfully cally unanimons decisions were come monious or jeering remarks, no bearbaiting, no sullen sulkiness or open indifference—which has characterised our Legislative Council and other public meetings—marred the proceedings, officials, civi-hans and natives were in hathans and natives were in har-mony row much of this excellent feeling is due to the tact of His Excellenge the Novemor and how much is due to the whole system of Administration, it would be invidious to attempt to analyse though not a little can be learnt of His Excellency's guiding policy from his remark that a certain much needed Public Work would be carried out Departmentally only, if it was found it could not be

by private enterprise.
What an object lesson is held out to us in British East Africa. In the first place, taking our cue from the past, in order to secure non-official co-operation in any public matter it has been neces sary for the people to institute systematic public agitation. The Legislative Council was obtained only at the pen's point, the Land Board was established with a view of quietening a people enraged by dilatory Administration and red dilatory Administration and

done as efficiently and economically

Let it be presumed in passing that His Excellency, the Governor of our own Protectorate had adopted the principles of the Uganda Government and invited a body, of men similar to the body referred to above, to confer with him on the very vital question of drafting equitable Labour Rules What turmoil would have been spared us. There would have been no necessity for public meetings at which in the heat of the moment things are done and said which take years to mend; friendships broken and stupid accusations bandied from wouth to mouth causing the breach between the Governors and the Governed to become still more scute The blame for these predicaments cannot be laid solely at the door of African standard the Settler How often have Deputations from the non-official popular tion, in a friendly and non-critical spirit, approached the Government hat in hand, to discuss much needed improvements and how little has been the result? What has been the result of the Deputation of Citizens, who recently appealed to His Excellency to give Government We publish on another page a report of a Conference, called by His Excellency the Governor of on Mombasa Island and who offered attention to the danger to public Uganda and held at Entebbe at to take their share of the expenses end of the past year The incurred in lessening these dangers ect of the Conference was Space will not permit us to object of the Conference was Space will not permit us every concisely put by Governor Ball in his opening remarks and it is less attempts made by the People these remarks and the general tone to co-operate with the Administra-of the whole meeting which must most favourably strike our readers, making yet another effort to urge and which has caused us to write the local Government to adopt a more conciliatory spirit towards the Thave asked you, said His Ex. Colonist, to give the Colonist credit for being able to give I may confer with you on the very important subject of the Cotton sound advice on very many subjects and to hold out the hand o industry - and the you referred to was addressed to a body of congratulation to those who have in the face of adverse circumstance emerged successfully
