LAND SETTLEMENT

Mr. Bromhead's Offer VARIATIONS TO CONCILIATE EXISTING CRITICISM

Recently this means also a far more rapid development of the district south of the Empire on land areas rather than the land areas already obtained, even when dealing with British money on reasonable terms, here it appears possible that it will be gained for the Empire by a direct deal, the Government will also give the...

Now it is so late that to say that the Scheme was open to negotiation, The difficulties involved in this proposal are not insurmountable. And I believe that the proposal can be amended so as to disarm and conciliate the irreconcilable opposition that has been expressed against them. It is in my view a sensible and beneficial compromise of all sides and of the settlement that has been evolved, it will be a piece of good constructive work. I can write this article with the hope of achieving this, and not put forward my suggestions without prejudice to my own plan of amending them, which would be a great relief to all.

My first criticism of Mr. Bromhead's head scheme is that it is not merely a deal, but that it should be run and controlled by a committee, not a master under whose terms, but as a result of the free will of the people of the Empire, on a basis of equality, and not by the Government. The variations outlined here under a new title, but under the same terms, so that the profit is shared by the people, and not by the Government. It is a simple matter to amend the scheme, so that the profit is shared by the people, and not by the Government. It is a simple matter to amend the scheme, so that the profit is shared by the people, and not by the Government.

It is an old proposal to admit that the soldier has a special claim upon the Empire's resources, and that it is the duty of the Empire to reward him for his services. SWEDISH SETTLEMENT SCHEME.

A Public Meeting will be held on Monday, 8th June, at 10-30 a.m. at the Hotel, Mombasa, to discuss the above scheme.

In view of the importance of the subject, not only to the prospective soldier settlers, but also to the whole country in general, it is hoped that all interested will endeavor to attend.

For THE B.E.A. MAIZE GROWERS ASSOCIATION.

HAROLD THACKRAH, Secretary, Coventry.

It is an old proposal to admit that the soldier has a special claim upon the Empire's resources, and that it is the duty of the Empire to reward him for his services. This is a simple matter to amend the scheme, so that the profit is shared by the people, and not by the Government.

(1) Instead of the payment of five or six times the first year, which must be abolished entirely, the soldier shall save virtually into possession of his farm on the day that he leaves home (his own land) in the first year of his settlement. In the first year of his settlement, he shall have 100 acres of land to cultivate, and 100 acres of land to cultivate, and 100 acres of land to cultivate, and 100 acres of land to cultivate.

(2) All facilities shall be not co-operative by the Association, in which the soldier shall have a vote for every £5 salary credit he receives. The 2000 acres shall be optional if it proves to be a positive danger to the land.

condition would and each acre would cost not more than £20 and should be an acre. Also additional and water supply. The soldier will look to the 20,000-acre Department for their school; to the P.W.D. for roads; the Survey Dept. for the Survey. Only medical attendance shall be provided by a minimum charge of 10/- per week. The soldier will look to the 20,000-acre Department for their school; to the P.W.D. for roads; the Survey Dept. for the Survey.

(3) A minimum guarantee to the soldier of returns of their capital and 1 per cent. interest on such property may be given. This guarantee should be in the form of a loan, which would be repaid by the soldier in the first year of his settlement. In the first year of his settlement, he shall have 100 acres of land to cultivate, and 100 acres of land to cultivate, and 100 acres of land to cultivate, and 100 acres of land to cultivate.

(4) All facilities shall be not co-operative by the Association, in which the soldier shall have a vote for every £5 salary credit he receives. The 2000 acres shall be optional if it proves to be a positive danger to the land.

CAPE TO CAIRO. The Congo Railway MEANS OF COMMUNICATION THROUGH AFRICA.

The completion of the Congo Railway means the bridge between the two continents through Central Africa from the "Mediterranean Sea". It is a great step towards the realization of the great dream of the "Cape to Cairo" route.
It was this idea which inspired the construction of the Congo Railway.
By whose beneficent efforts the end of attempts in the past to build a railway through Central Africa has finally been achieved. The Congo Railway has the honour of being the longest railway in Africa, and is the only one which crosses the continent of Africa from west to east.

The Congo Railway has the greatest length of any railway in the world. It is a railway of 1,200 miles or more in length. It crosses the continent of Africa from the Atlantic coast at Luanda, in the north, to the Indian Ocean at Port Natal in the south. It is a railway of 1,200 miles

No. 587. (PUBLISHED AS THE GENERAL TRADING OFFICE IN A FRANCHISE) NAIROBI, SATURDAY, JUNE 12, 1914

THE GREAT BATTLE French Tenacity

"ON THE WHOLE THE ENEMY HAS NOTHING TO SHOW" (Theodore HUYER'S ANSWER)

LONDON, June 11. (Theodore Huyer's answer) ... The past week brought many fresh reports which on the whole show that the French tenacity is still to be seen in the arrival of reinforcements, but it is probably possible to hold back for a few days longer. The German were called to manœuvre and to go round about their intended line of advance. We have now arrived at the formation of a new stage. ...

UBIQUITOUS U-BOATS. American Coast Attacked.

NUMEROUS VESSELS SUNK AND MANY LIVES LOST. (Theodore HUYER'S ANSWER)

LONDON, June 11. (Theodore Huyer's answer) ... The U-boats are everywhere, and it is probable that they will be able to sink many more vessels than they have done up to now. ...

THE NEXT BLOW Germans take a Breather

SCOPE FOR SURPRISE ATTACKS IS MORE RESTRICTED. (Theodore HUYER'S ANSWER)

LONDON, June 11. (Theodore Huyer's answer) ... The German are taking a breather, but it is probable that they will be able to launch a surprise attack at any moment. ...

ALLIES HIT BACK. Enemy's Next Move.

SIGNIFICANT WARNINGS TO GERMAN PEOPLE. (Theodore HUYER'S ANSWER)

LONDON, June 11. (Theodore Huyer's answer) ... The Allies are hitting back, and it is probable that they will be able to launch a surprise attack at any moment. ...

STILL MORE MEN. Fresh German Troops Thrown into Struggle

LONDON, June 11. (Theodore Huyer's answer) ... The Germans are throwing more men into the struggle, and it is probable that they will be able to launch a surprise attack at any moment. ...

ALLIED PROGRESS. Violent German Counter-attacks Shattered.

LONDON, June 11. (Theodore Huyer's answer) ... The allied progress is being maintained, and the violent German counter-attacks have been shattered. ...

HUN TREACHERY. Ask for Lenses but do not give it

LONDON, June 11. (Theodore Huyer's answer) ... The Hun treachery is being exposed, and it is probable that they will be able to launch a surprise attack at any moment. ...

WANTED. The things we most need are potatoes, butter, milk, eggs, cheese, Cattle, sheep, pigs.

GERMANS THRUST AGAIN

BIG NEW OFFENSIVE OPENS
FIERCE AND BLOODY FIGHTING RAGING
MAGNIFICENT DEFENCE BY ALLIES OF VERY HEART OF FRANCE

(LONDON TELEGRAMS)

The Germans have launched a renewed effort to break through the Allied line, and fierce and bloody fighting is raging; the enemy has made considerable gains, but a determined resistance is being encountered.

The attack was launched by the River Meuse, which flows down the west of Verdun. The principal progress yesterday was along the Meuse, the chief object probably to reach the town and thereby take in flank the whole front of the Oise, which, though not in our hands, is the main axis of the battle.

Supporting the enemy's objective at Verdun, he will naturally begin by thrusting a powerful wedge north-westward, down the Oise Valley, and another westward from the town line, thereby opening the main mass of the Ailette, Compiègne and Villers-Cotterêts. First, they will attempt to break through at Verdun, and then to pass north and south thence, following the main axis of the battle.

As an ally of the responsibility is realized, the enemy's efforts will be made to break through the American line. Meanwhile his columns are being deployed in the direction of the Meuse, the Oise, and the Ailette. The French line is being held at Verdun, and the British line is being held at Compiègne and Villers-Cotterêts.

UNSUCCESSFUL
Enemy Attempt to Break Through Belgian Line

An official Belgian communiqué states that the enemy's attack on the Belgian front was unsuccessful. The enemy's efforts were repulsed, and the Belgian line remained intact.

To the Editor 'E. A. Standard.'
Sir—In your issue of the 11th inst. you have published the sisal industry in the Trans-Volta...

This new sisal has led us up to the sisal position and as we are a better producer than others, naturally the British Government would be justified in purchasing sisal from us...

The cultivating and planting costs I do not know, but the factories needed to treat the sisal would not exceed 200,000 each and should not exceed 40,000 each, erected and in complete running order...

Now concerning that sisal which is now being purchased by the British Government...
