SOMEWHERE IN B.E.A.

Old somewhere south of Bona
Where the heat is like the worst,
Where the Indian has the run of things,
And the British are accursed.

Where the sun is scorching hotly
Till one's head is almost dead
And everything is dead
Where nothing is impossible,
And quaking is dead

Where electric power falls at night
And gradually grows dim
Where Hottentots are out of date,

Where someone trickles down the street
And scents the evening breeze
Where Indian rule about as large
And Indian at their ease

Where first class "Civils" walk with scorn
Where the second class,
Where girls about as "dead and aye"
Are left alone alone!

Where Postal clerks sort out the mail
With Western Oriental calm
Where Mission houses bloom about at night
With many a hymn and psalm.

Where married men ask single girls
The motor and to dine,
Where food is mostly meagre
In eight times out of nine.

Where soldiers who have fought for us
Come out to settle down,
Where land is grudging to all of them
(In spite of being Brown).

And thus a B. E. Africa
That's loaded to the sky,
Oh! ship us back to England
Or we shall surely die.

Yes, somewhere north of Suva
Where the British all come first,
And life is worth the living
And no one is accursed. E. J.

SUNLIGHT SOAP.

£1,000 Guarantee of Purity on every Bar.

"The Sunlight" Guarantee of Purity was never more justified than it is today, because it enables us to know of one of our greatest nations and makes us realize the danger and worry of household cleaning. Sunlight Soap saves rubbing, saves scrubbing, saves the clothes. That is the reason why it is a guarantee of a clean home, a clean family, a clean conscience of the house, its thorough, absolutely un-merciful when spot is touched.

SUNLIGHT SOAP is made for the household, made for the family, made for the only family we live in, the family we live in, the family we live in.

The same Love in Soap is a Guarantee of Purity and Cleanliness.
