WAR OFFICE MATTER

The following is a copy of the report of the Veterinary Department for the month of May:—
Rinderpest disease has not occurred since the epidemic which broke out in the early part of 1918. The animals affected were treated with a vaccine prepared at Eldama Ravu. The disease is now almost entirely eradicated. The percentage of animals which died was 100 per cent. The following were carried out in the following order during the month:—
1. Vaccination of all animals in the district. 1,377 per cent. were vaccinated.
2. This quantity, 400 were used.
3. The following were carried out:—
Machakos Quarantine Camp: 14 were vaccinated.
The slightly increased rate may be attributed by Veterinary Officer to the fact that the animals were vaccinated in the open air. The following were carried out:—
East Coast Fever: 100 per cent. were vaccinated.
Lumpy Skin Disease: 100 per cent. were vaccinated.
The following were carried out:—
1. Vaccination of all animals in the district. 1,377 per cent. were vaccinated.
2. This quantity, 400 were used.
3. The following were carried out:—
Machakos Quarantine Camp: 14 were vaccinated.
The slightly increased rate may be attributed by Veterinary Officer to the fact that the animals were vaccinated in the open air.

The vast majority of people in this country are of those of which they are very ignorant. In fact, the Department of Education is working along the right lines, as far as the Native Industrial School is concerned. The school is a model of its kind, and the boys there are being trained in a most practical manner. The school is a model of its kind, and the boys there are being trained in a most practical manner.

The Government has announced that it will allot 28,400 "A" acres to ex-soldiers. The farms are being distributed in various parts of the country. The farms are being distributed in various parts of the country.

Very little further information can be obtained with regard to passages home for ex-soldiers. The Government is working to improve the situation. The Government is working to improve the situation.

Standard News.

The 3rd British General Hospital after four years good work, closed to-day yesterday, the former patients and staff were transferred to the European Hospital. It is learnt that the death has occurred at Kiliboni of Miss. On the 29th inst. she had only arrived in the country a month. The body was conveyed during the week-end to Nairobi for interment.

A little note to the egg farmers: Several thousands of eggs from fresh eggs have just reached Nairobi, where, by the way, most of the egg business will be done by Messrs Campbell and Co., on Monday.

NAIKOBI'S VIEW

Once more I will refer to the Nairobian remarks. An editor of the Nairobian writes: "It is a pity that we do not have more than one of the kind of school which you refer to in your article, and that at least the most advanced school should be the one which you refer to in your article."

Comment has been general on the closing of the local school. The Nairobian writes: "It is a pity that we do not have more than one of the kind of school which you refer to in your article, and that at least the most advanced school should be the one which you refer to in your article."

Suiclights on Life of Great Hunter

POPULAR ILLUSTRATIONS

Some interesting sidelights on the life of the greatest hunter and pioneer of the Mr. J. G. Millin's book "The Life of Captain Selous, D.R.S." are given.

During the course of his article the reviewer says:

"Going out to Africa in 1877, at twenty years of age, he led a life of adventure which has made a name for him which is not likely to be surpassed. His book 'The Life of Captain Selous' is a most entertaining and instructive volume. It is not only a record of his life, but it is a record of the life of the 'Overlander' who is his blood, and happy to find that he was a 'Red Rover' as well."

His life was a succession of trials, chiefly in Africa. Of course it had its full share of "hazardous expeditions" and the fact which the reader must go to the book itself to enjoy. Mr. Millin tells them with the neatness of one in command of a regiment and the interest of a soldier.

Yet his love and admiration of his friend Selous grows with his progress, and his cool reader will find certain popular illustrations which have not a kind of hero—like of which the reluctant warrior was always trying to read something out of a sergeant-hunter, about the head of Selous.

His life was a very quick observer. His observations were remarkably acute and accurate, but of the slow, rather than the rapid. He had no special aptitude in tracking the "rabbit". But he had in.

He killed few elephants, and others have killed more. It was his special gift that always reveals the greatest advantage of the rifle. The author says that he had given him an account of what he had done, and he was surprised to find that he was so good.

This said, it is curious to find him in such a position of affairs with the yet more famous "hunter" who is in fact the most dangerous of animals in the bush. The author says that he had written this in the "Word" magazine. But it is singular and just that he had placed it in the "Word" magazine, especially, to the delight.

In respect of what he is doing about the "Word" magazine, it is interesting to find that he had written this in the "Word" magazine, especially, to the delight.

BLACK HAND GANG

Incidents of railway thieving

NO LIKE LIKE UGANDA

(From Our Own Correspondent)
A strange and somewhat unusual incident occurred on the Uganda Railway on Thursday the 12th, while running between Kampala and Nalanda. It was reported that a black hand had been seen in the bush near Nalanda, and that he had been seen to be cutting the telegraph wires. The wires were cut at Nalanda, and the train was stopped. The black hand was seen to be cutting the telegraph wires, and the train was stopped. The black hand was seen to be cutting the telegraph wires, and the train was stopped.

There being no train service at Fort James station to enable the train to proceed to the police station.

The train was stopped at Nalanda, and the black hand was seen to be cutting the telegraph wires. The train was stopped at Nalanda, and the black hand was seen to be cutting the telegraph wires.

OTHER MATTERS

A meeting was held at the residence of the Commissioner and Mr. Burrows on the 15th of May, 1914, to discuss the proposal to allow the natives to sell their produce at the railway station. It was decided that the natives should be allowed to sell their produce at the railway station.

THE SOARING RUBLE. Going down but may rise again. GOVERNMENT'S LOAN.

With the object of obtaining as many views as possible on the most recent question of the exchange rate, the V.E.A. Standard has been in communication with Mr. M. D. Hampf, Secretary to the Ministry of Finance, at Nairobi.

As is generally known, the rate of exchange in this country is based on the price of silver, which stood formerly at 40d. per ounce. The price of silver has now risen to 60d. per ounce and the Eastern Government cannot continue indefinitely giving this price for the ruble.

The price of silver is fluctuating and is going down a little bit, but may rise again as this drop is due, no doubt, to speculation. All over the world the rate of exchange is trying to find its own level, the water, after the artificial and herein methods that were adopted while the war was on to stabilize the market.

London fixed the rate of the dollar at 4.76 1/2 dollars to the £ and arranged to give India a supply of silver at the rate of a dollar an ounce, on which is based the price of the rupee.

It was arranged in April of last year that the rupee should stand at 1s. 4d. as compared with 1s. 10d. previously, and this arrangement has now been confirmed with the conclusion of the war.

Last month the cost of silver jumped up in price, as the result, it may be inferred, of some speculations, as well as increased demand. The rupee's known cost is now 4d. 4/10ths to the £.

In France, the rate of exchange at the beginning of March was 30.30 francs to the £ and in the middle of March was 27.50. It has now jumped to 31 francs to the £ and is still fluctuating in value. In India the rate of exchange at the end of March was 39.75 francs to the £, as compared with 35.25 at the end of the year.

In this country of recent import much more than in 1916. The present situation may be regarded as beneficial. The ruble is that new capital being brought into the country affords a good loan, but at a time when so much capital is required to enable settlers to launch their new enterprises.

The Government loan of £10,000,000 is also presumably being put to use in the money market, becoming steadier.

MOTOR ACCIDENT. Awkward Spin-up in Ordinary Road.

Another accident in which a well known citizen had a narrow escape occurred on Thursday evening between 5.30 and 6 p.m. It appears that between 5.30 and 6 p.m. Mr. J. J. O'Neil was proceeding on his ordinary road on his motor-cycle and had just passed a spot facing the British Consul's house when a sudden spin-up of the road caused him to lose his balance and fall.
