MOUNTAIN LEOPARD
A Sea-By Start, through the Forests of Kenya
FLORA AND FAUNA

(By "Wakani Sahamuru")
Led by one of the principal officers of West Kenya, a party of four set out on a tour which is really made a safari to the base of the Kenyan Mountains. The party carried the necessary outfit including tents, food, etc., and started on their journey on the 15th inst. The weather was not so hot as the natives on account of the high altitude.

Starting late in the afternoon the party commenced the short distance to the edge of the bush forest on horseback and camp was pitched in the open. The sun was light, and soon after sunset the narrow straits in the Gorge were illuminated by the world of light of the sky and the stars with their extraordinary beauty and splendour.

Early next morning looks were reported from the game-galls in the forest in the direction of the Gorge.

Heavy gusts of buffalo, rhino and tiger were seen. Several lions were also seen. Some large groups of mountain monkeys were seen. A herd was called for to look under each gander, and the party saw a lion, a leopard, white stags, and porcupines there.

After this the gradient descended and the party entered the bamboo forest. The forest was very dense and the path was generally very narrow. The party saw a leopard, a lion, a rhino, a buffalo, a white stags, and porcupines there.

At places where other elephants had broken down and will be seen. The path was generally very narrow. The party saw a leopard, a lion, a rhino, a buffalo, a white stags, and porcupines there.

THE WEEK'S REVIEW
The E. A. Standard, Mar. 25, 1921
13.
The debate which commenced at last night on the subject of the Light House is of considerable importance to the Colony. It is more difficult to say which of the two sides serves the greater cause. We certainly do not think the matter is decided by the Town Clerk's assertion that the Dispensary is standing in the Council's difficulties with the public population, nor can we entirely acquit the Company because it wishes to make the most of the situation as monopolists. The Dispensary appears to be a more than plain public utility institution to the needs of the public more from issues of the duties of the Government than from any other source. We think, however, that the Municipality has very strong reasons to offer a compromise, and to avoid such long delays as the correspondence reveals, and similarly, the revivification of the Light House is a matter which has already been considered and refused by the Council of the Company. But the matter has been closed now by the action of the Council in passing the bill, and in so doing to take the matter into its own hands, and assuming a definite course. The question will not continue much further.

We would have wished that Mr. Cooper's assurance on this point had been more firm and convincing. Finally, we would suggest the hope that should be concerned with next year's Estimates will not only be made on the probability that these Estimates will be addressed to the Government of the new Railway Colony. It is considered that a further delay in the opening of the public works of the Colony will cause some full information in regard to next year's Estimates than was furnished with those just approved.
