THE P.W.D.

To the Editor.—
Sir.—A post which I consider important for the head of a Government Department to receive is that of P.W.D., to whom the question of the working of his department, its methods of operation, etc., etc., in this field, would be of great interest.

Now, as far as I can see, there are officials here who have had a hand in the P.W.D., and those through the D.P.W.D., they also have the opportunity of being able to give their views on the same.

By the system of "confidential service," Civil Service employees may be appointed, tried and sentenced and be thrown into prison, without the knowledge even of the D.P. W.D. or the head of the department, and in other cases, the bill, in other words, is passed over the heads of the Hounds of Justice and is to remain untried.

In the army unless I am mistaken, an adverse confidential report must be made known to the Commanding Officer.

Yours etc.,
C. H. SERVICE.

P.W.D.

(an extract from a "stman.")
Gentlemen, we of the violent tribes have been in the habit of sending you our men to the market, and the design with which you handled the Report of the P.W.D. is now well known to us. We are present at every opportunity to try and get justice done.

I also understand how annoying it must be to you to see this presenting itself to you.

On your arrival, by your orders,
we will be ready to give you any information you may need for their disposal, to the best of our knowledge, and we will do our best to help you.

Yours etc.,

A. SPENCER PALMER

We are sorry to inform you that our correspondent, who had been engaged in the construction of the railway from Mombasa to Lake Victoria, has suffered a severe accident.

He is now in hospital, and we hope he will recover soon. We shall keep you fully informed of his progress.

Your leading article re—
the fact that the chief magistrate of the country has been removed from office, and the importance of compensating him for the trouble he has been caused, is well written.

This happens to be the case with the Chief Magistrate of the Central Province, who has been removed from office.

It would certainly be well public to have the whole matter discussed in the newspaper.

GATTIE INDUSTRY.

To the Editor.—
Sir.—A "stman" in a recent issue of the Standard, states that Gattie's Industries are not only not responsible for the fire at their factory, but that they were not even there at the time of the disaster.

What does Gattie's
Industry think of this?

Yours etc.,

who did not really matter. Those public funds had been wisely used by the Executive Council. The Executive Government and the Public Works Department had no need to forward the Report relating to the medical prescription for an essential opiate yet to be performed. It may be a remarkable fact that will fail to be noticed, but the public still marches, and demands drastic treatment and against the policies of the complacent of the government are not even palliatives. And much reviling by the patient of the surgeon-general from time to time has been held in them by those who have employed them professionally to diagnose the disease of and prescribe for the patient, not to mention the satisfaction of their services. Patients are not always consulted as to the plan of treatment, nor does there seem to be a desire that the patient's view was a word of time.

Commons is more important in its implications than in its actual statements, vital and interesting as are the latter. Its reception in the country will depend very largely on the course of events in Europe. Mr. Lloyd George has had many more congenial changes than that thrown down by the Greeks and Romans. The result of the debate concerned more than they disclosed; there is an unintentional undercurrent in it which is not to be overlooked.

In his speech he is a personalist in so far as his speeches defend the negotiations with Sir H. Haig, probably as preliminary to a final and decisive step, and contemplate their alternative results.

Mr. Lloyd George agreed that Lloyd George's and the Labour Party's views were right, and it remains to wait for a final decision.

The other discussions of the debate cannot quite have differed from the speaker's mind; the point is that a concurrence with the former appears again to the same extent. The negotiations do not end on the same details that are to be decided upon, but a lasting peace and objective less war and threatening than the creation of a oasis, hell.

"Still Going Strong."

This is an actual photograph of an 815 Goodyear cover after it had run 6,000 miles on the back wheel and 2,000 miles on the front wheel of Mr. Englebrecht's car without a puncture. This is the first of a number of Goodyears he needs.

Buffeted by rough roads, abused by a consistently overladen car, this tyre has completed its 6533rd mile in the splendid condition shown. It good for many thousands of miles more service and is still being used.

Mr. Englebrecht has carefully tested other makes of tyres—but none has approached the splendid performance of the new Goodyears he used. From now on all of Mr. Englebrecht's transport cars will be equipped with Goodyears.

SITUATION OF

CENT. AT 80

It is generally assumed that the large majority of the debts of the Colonial Government to the United States is due to the fact that the Colonial Treasury, especially the Secretary of State and his staff, were very liberal in their spending for the welfare of the colonies. In fact, however, there is no such thing as a colonial debt. Every colony has its own debts, and these debts are to be treated as individual debts. The largest capital outlay is essential and will have to be raised by loan, but the cost of this will be very small.

It is true that the colonies will have to pay a portion of the cost of the war, but this will involve the entire policy of using railway revenue in the states, which would be an absolute farce.

In the question time, Macmillan Baldwin, who had been called to give an account of the Colonies, said that the former had been informed that while the colonies had been ordered to provide £5,000,000 for the colonies, the colonies had not been asked to provide £5,000,000 for the colonies.

COLONEL HAMMOND'S
RECOMMENDATION WERE SWEEPING SUGGESTIONS.

There are very few recommendations by Captain W. S. Hamond, the Admistrator of Rhodesia, which can be bettered after a few weeks' thought.

In his report he gives an amazing document stating that there is a very large amount of money available for the reconstruction of the railways in Rhodesia. He points out that the British Government has a desire to encourage the natives to cultivate the land, and that the railways must be improved to help them to do so. He suggests that the British Government should give a grant to the natives to help them to cultivate the land.

He also suggests that the natives should be allowed to travel on the railways free of charge.

MAIZE EXPORT.

In general meeting of the B.E.A. Farmers' Association, Ltd., was held at the Nairobi Hotel on Sunday, November 18, Mr. H. C. Thorpe presided over a large number of attendees.

The Chairman, who recently left Africa to join the Board of Directors, was present and the question of the creation of the position of the exporting of maize.

Dr. H. J. Clarke, who added that although he was not personally interested in the subject, it was his definite conclusion which he held to the point of the directors to hold a committee to consider the matter at once a propaganda in favour of the concern.

The Chairman pointed out that the experts were to work at Nakuru and sleep no more than five hours.

The meeting unanimously voted that the experts were to go round the country and find out conditions there and then return to the experts with their findings.

Mr. G. N. Stannard, who was president of the association, called for the immediate formation of a committee to consider the question.

Mr. J. A. Baille pointed out that the members of the association had got those who had dropped out back into the fold and that they should have the benefit of the interests of the now number of farmers in the country.

The chairman said that if the majority of the members had no objection the question should be taken up by the Legislative Council.

The time had come to decide whether maize should be sent out or not.

The board was not prepared to send maize out at all because of the small number of takers.

Mr. Baille suggested that they would have to enter into some arrangement with a large company to do this.

He suggested that they might be able to get 20 million shillings a ton shipped to Mombasa for export.

He said that it was now certain that the freight charges could be reduced, owing to the fact that the company would be compelled to stand by.

Mr. F. W. J. T. Smith, who was only present since the rail strike, had this day to go into the port. But the rail strike had been reduced to two months, the charge should be reduced.

They had a bad deal at present. They had a large body with large debts and were in a difficult position.

Mr. B. J. Hall, one of the directors, who was present, said that the new company would do well if it had good management.

Mr. Tait, who had the word of the Bank of Africa, said that the money had been loaned to him by the Bank and that he had a good record.

He said that what had been borrowed was to be repaid, a certain amount of which was to be reserved for the building of a ship. This was not to be used for the building of a ship.

The Chairman pointed out that the experts were to work at Nakuru and sleep no more than five hours.

Mr. Clarke said that if it was agreed that the experts were to work at Nakuru and sleep no more than five hours, the members of the association should send an appeal to the Legislative Council.

The meeting unanimously voted that the experts were to work at Nakuru and sleep no more than five hours.

Mr. Baille moved that the members of the association should send an appeal to the Legislative Council.

Mr. S. Miller, the chairman, then raised the question of milling and asked for a vote of confidence in the experts on this point.

The question had arisen as to whether the experts should be members of the association.

The time had come to decide whether maize should be sent out or not.

He suggested that they should wait until their own and let them handle their own affairs.

Mr. Baille said that if the experts were to have the power to decide whether they should be members of the association.

Mr. J. A. Baille said that it would be difficult to get the views of the experts on this question.

Mr. G. N. Stannard said that there was a large constituency, with a large number of voters, who wanted to vote.

He suggested that they should not vote.

Mr. B. J. Hall, who had just returned from a visit to London, said that the experts would be very glad to hear their views.

Mr. W. J. T. Smith, who had been to London, said that it would be better if the experts would not vote.

Mr. G. N. Stannard suggested that if the experts were to be members of the association, the members of the association should be members of the experts.

Mr. J. A. Baille said that it was necessary for the experts to be members of the association.

Rift Valley Settlers ASSOCIATING THE LOCAL BODIES

A NEW MOVE.

On Tuesday morning, at the Nairobi Hotel, representatives of the Rift Valley settlers throughout the Rift Valley met to form the Rift Valley Colony Association, whose object was to be the protection of the colony.

Mr. A. D. F. L. Baille, who presided over the meeting, said that among other things there was an intention to form a local body to act as a central authority to deal with all questions affecting the welfare of the settlers.

He said that the local bodies combined action might be agreed upon.

The meeting unanimously elected Mr. E. H. D. Tait, of Nairobi, as president, Mr. W. J. Davis, of Eldoret, as vice-president, and Mr. J. H. Clarke, of Nakuru, as secretary-treasurer.

The Chairman pointed out that the experts were to work at Nakuru and sleep no more than five hours.

B.E.A. Farmers GENERAL MEETING AT NAIROBI.

MAIZE EXPORT.

The general committee of the B.E.A. Farmers Association, Ltd., was held at the Nakuru Hotel on Saturday evening, Mr. T. Tonger presiding over a large number of members.

A considerable amount of valuable business was done with the most important feature of the session being the discussion of the question of the reporting of maize.

Mr. W. J. Duthie, who spoke, said that although he was not personally interested in maize production, he could appreciate what he had said to the wide range of directors to his great satisfaction. He said that on one occasion a propaganda in favor of the export of maize had been directed himself very largely to the broad principle of the export of surplus maize, which gave little cause for their being in the country except exporting would also give them work.

THE PLANTS.

The first thing they must do was to make a definite statement on the matter by the time that they had to submit the motion of initiating the scheme of a maize plan in either the Colony or the Protectorate to help and do the local trade. He said that they had given a great deal of thought to the maize plan in the local trade as well.

Fortunately, he was very hopeful that the best would be found to get those who had dropped out back into the company. He said that it was the main body that should have the power of initiating the maize plan in either the Colony or the Protectorate to help and do the local trade. He said that they had given a great deal of thought to the maize plan in the local trade as well.

In the opinion of the general committee, Col. Parker, that the Company should have the power to take the local maize contracts.

FREIGHT CHARGES.

Mr. W. J. Duthie, who spoke, said that although he had pointed out that higher or similar charges should be allowed to larger production, he had believed that the charges should be reduced to smaller producers. He was informed that it was now proposed to charge a fee of £1.25 per ton with a definite percentage upon each period of six months of the year. He said that it would be reduced, owing to the fact that the company could not do.

He suggested that they might have an arrangement with the different companies that they would have to enter into a scheme of reducing the charges.

Col. Parker, who spoke, said that the point of view of a millet, maize, or some other cereal, was very difficult to deal with the financial side of the matter. The time had now come when it was necessary that the farmers should either sell their maize to the Government or to the market.

He suggested that they might have to have a small amount in doing so, but that the market would be open to them. He said that if they would have to pay more than the market price, then they were totally dependent upon the capital they had put into the business.

He suggested that they might have to pay more than the market price, but he did not know if the company would be able to pay the higher charges. He said that the market price would have to be paid by the farmer.

He suggested that the company would be better off if it could not do so. He said that it was the same with all other cereals, because if it was not possible for the company to pay the charges, then they would not be able to do so.

A MAIZE TRADE.

Mr. A. A. Ballis, who spoke, said that during the session he had seen that a definite movement had been made in the maize production.

He said that the farmers would be better off with a small production, than trying to produce too much, because it would not be able to compete with the maize from the rest of Africa.

Rift Valley Settlers ASSOCIATING THE LOCAL BODIES. A NEW MOVE.

On the morning of Saturday, October 21st, the Rift Valley Settlers Association, in the form of a local body, was established.

It has been pointed out the associations system in force throughout the East African Colony, which is shared among almost other things there were no such entities here, until the end of last year. This was to do with the fact that there was no single entity, and that arrangements might be arrived at whereby the use of this plant and some storage and transport of maize could be controlled.

Mr. W. J. Duthie, who spoke, said that although he was not personally interested in maize production, he could appreciate what he had said to the wide range of directors to his great satisfaction. He said that one of the main features of the session was the attempt to bring the local maize traders, and some others, together under one roof at the Nakuru Hotel.

GOURNOCK SUBMISSION OF MEMBER TODD'S
APPLICATION

POWERS OF M.O.H.

A letter from Municipal Council on Tuesday a further letter was read from Mr. J. H. S. Todd and Co. in regard to their application for powers to make bylaws in their Victoria Street premises.

In the course of the letter,

"...to the ordinary business mind it would be evident that the power vested in one individual is allowed to override and govern the affairs of all."

"...It has been our experience, and that of many others that this power is often of great value and should be held in trust for the public welfare, as you are well aware."

The Municipal Officer of Health said for the time being he could not assent to the proposal.

"The question was again discussed. Councilor Utall said that he had received no notice of a motion that he would vote for, nor was he asked whether or not his opinion was needed. He also said that the bylaw committee had not been consulted.

Councilor Utall said that the bylaw committee had been re-called and that they had seen some reasonable effort made to get it passed by the Councilors.

The Western India Tanner Co. had recommended a master of three months' term, but Councilor Utall said that this plan had the same faults as Messrs. Todd's. He said that the Master and mate were to be responsible for the safety of the men employed and that it is not fair to the public to make the master answer for the men.

TOWN CLERK'S VIEWS.

The Town Clerk said that Mr. John Clark was read:

"...that the bylaw was not well prepared and was completely covered by the terms of the Council's bylaw of 1921 relating to the safety of men at work.

"...that the bylaw was not intended to apply to the building of houses, but to the repairing of existing houses.

"...that the bylaw had been modified so that it did not cover the repair of houses, and that it is suggested that the new bylaw should be limited to the repairing of existing houses.

"...that the general question is whether it is right for a Master and Mate to be not really involved in the correspondence at this time. The Committee should be invited to accept their advice."

Car Racing in Denmark

In the road trials held on the beach of Falster Island, Denmark, on June 14, Mr. J. H. S. Todd, who with four starters as well as cooking arrangements, and fire engines, drove the race, and the first car to cross the finish line was a Hispano-Suiza in one of the classes. The race was won by a driver who had been found in time meeting with the M.O.H. that the M.O.H. could not be present to witness the finishing of the building he had just started.

The general question is whether it is right for a Master and Mate to be not really involved in the correspondence at this time. The Committee should be invited to accept their advice."

DISCUSSION.

Councillor Utall and Mr. Utall, who had accepted the advice of Mr. Utall, did not know what to do.

If they did nothing there would be no guarantee on all accounts that the building would be safe.

Mr. Utall said that the bylaw committee had now agreed to have the bylaw submitted to the Government for consideration.

Municipal Notes

The following Councilors were present at Mr. Utall's meeting:

- Mr. Watson, Mayor.
- King, Headwaiter.
- Northam, Glazier.
- Robinson, Glazier.
- Mr. W. D. Lester, the Town Engineer.
- Mr. D. E. Utall, Councillor.
- Mr. L. O. B. Lester.

There was two instances on their part, however, that they did not help the people of the town at all. It was clearly the duty of the town engineer and help people in the town who were unable to go about on an ordinary road.

It was agreed and resolved that the town engineer should give notice of a motion that he would call for an ordinary license could be issued for residential purposes provided that the distance between the house and the nearest water rate is at least 20 feet wide.

At the meeting the councilors were photographed with their cameras and the old photographs. One councilor facetiously remarked that he had never seen such a picture taken of himself and that he had a black nose and black hair.
