Indian Question

(We received the editorial letter on the subject of the Indian Question from the Convention of Associations in the middle of January, but subsequently we indicated that the President desired its publication held.

We have now ascertained that it is the desire of the President and Executive of the Convention of Associations that this letter should be published. Before doing so we want to inform Major Grogan by his comment. Major Grogan expressed himself as in agreement with the contents of the letter, particularly as it emphasizes a point, the importance of which, in his opinion, is not to be exaggerated. He referred to the necessity for a definite and adequate to be established in London to see a channel of communication and to speak for the Colonists of Kenya in the United Kingdom)

To the Editor "E.A. Standard." Sir,—It is to be regretted that the old question of "credentials," which it was hoped had long ago been laid to rest, should have been resurrected in its name of "the Indian Question" as it imposes on the Executive of the Convention the task of refuting case against the criticisms which your newspaper has brought, as we believe, to a point. It is not, however, a point, as you mistakenly assume the Convention is in this direction. We are inclined to think, from statements which appear in your article under the heading of "credentials," that Mr. Northrup McMillan has mistaken as to the nature and extent of the authority conferred on the Colony's representatives in London. It is quite understandable that this should be the case, as we know that our representatives had many miles on them and were often out of London. In consequence it is difficult for communication from the Convention to reach them all. This impression is given in particular by three paragraphs in your article which read as follows:—

"The three elected members of the Legislative Council, finding it July that action was being recommended to the Public of Kenya's desire for 'credentials' to act as delegates representatives of the European community in the area of the Country's fate which, they believed, had been reached in London. These 'credentials' were delayed and the authority of Major Grogan, Mr. Northrup McMillan and Mr. Rowland with the Colonial Office suffered accordingly."

Again (2) "All through they were playing a fine hand. They were thereby lost the great fighting power and authority that a vote of confidence by the Convention here would have lent them."

"It is a matter for consideration here for the great of the mandate from the Kenya Europeans respectively. That is to say, the mandate would have affected their position in relation to the Convention." "That is to say the Standing Committee of both Houses of Parliament in India affairs."

(It should be pointed out in this connection that the fact that the Convention had had an opportunity of taking action—Editor "E.A.S.")

"The Indian Question" was being sprung upon the European community by the Convention and by its acceptance of information regarding the activities of the Indian community in London contained in some Press Reports and not on the result of a warning from the Colony's representatives at Home.

Special mention of the Convention was held in the last was the one of dealing with the impending danger, the communication, up to the intervention of Lord Curzon and Major Grogan—an intervention for which we are indebted to the Proceedings of the Joint Standing Committee was sent to the Convention, but of the refusal of that Committee to call the Secretary of the Convention to Mr. Rowland as witness. In fact, the Convention was unaware of the existence of the Joint Standing Committee of that it would deal with East Africa with the intervention of Lord Curzon and Major Grogan.

"Uganda" district, following Rowland, McMillan, Churchill, Parliamentary Committee, Deacons Promises, Press reports, "Manchester Guardian," "Manchester Express" and "The Times" all contain and throw on Colonial Secretary's responsibility all communications and discussion. European Convention, Indian policy must embrace first, second, third, fourth and fifth, and prohibited under legislative representation two nominated and elected representatives, and should discuss commercial value, profitable, fourth, or situation had.

... being to bear on those responsible for the present situation of the country and will give a great insight into your own country in Kenya. I must make it quite clear that the Miller paper outlined in the Third Standard. I need not say that I am not saying anything on my behalf which will not be the final acceptance of anything less than this policy. Both Major Grogan and Major Rowland replied to the above letter and neither expressed any dissatisfaction as to the way in which the Miller paper was in any way coming out of the hands of the Government. I am sure you are all well and I feel sure that you will be able to do so.

Big Sinn Fein Raid on Ulster Border
Consequences of Misunderstanding
The Sinn Fein raid on the border between the Free State and Northern Ireland has caused a great deal of confusion and misunderstanding. The raid was carried out by a party of Sinn Fein men who were accompanied by a number of British soldiers. The Sinn Fein men were armed and the British soldiers were also armed. The raid was carried out in the early hours of the morning and the Sinn Fein men were seen to be carrying off a large amount of property. The British soldiers were seen to be firing at the Sinn Fein men and the Sinn Fein men were seen to be running away. The raid was a surprise and the British authorities were not expecting it. Produce Exchange
The Case Against Establishment
MR. MOUTON'S CRITICISM
In his speech at St. Patrick's Church on Thursday night, Mr. Mouton, the member for the constituency of the Produce Exchange, has made a strong case against the establishment of a Produce Exchange in this country. He has pointed out that the Produce Exchange is a monopoly and that it is a source of great profit to a few men. He has also pointed out that the Produce Exchange is a source of great trouble to the people of this country. He has called for the abolition of the Produce Exchange and for the establishment of a free market in produce.
