The Roman Catholic Procession in London.

British Liberty and Hospitality.

Sept. 14.—Archbishop Bourne an-nonneed at a crowded Eucharist meetings in the Albert Hall that in deference to Mr. Asquith's repre-sentations all elements of Ecclesias. tical Ceremonial were to be elimitical Ceremonial were to be entire nated from Sunday's procession in which it was originally intended to arry the Host.

The announcement was received with indignation.

Sept. 15.-The Roman Catholic procession in London in a modified form passed off quietly. Some bitter and persistent "booing" being over-whelmed by the Catholic cheers. There were no serious disturbances.

At the conclusion of the ceremonial in the Cathedral Vannutelli appeared on the Balcony where an alter had been erected flanked by the Papal flag and the Union Jack, and, duak was most impressive.

A communication, believed to be inspired by the Vatican is published in Rome to the effect that when the procession appreciates the interface procession appreciates the liberty and respect surrounding the Congress which remains a górious souvenit to British liberty and hospitality.

Sad News for Holland.

Sept. 11 .- It is announced at the Hague that Queen Wilhelmin's health though not causing anxiety is far from favourable. She is weak and has been confined to her bed for several days.

A later telegram announces that Queen Wilhelmina had a miscarriage n Saturday and her condition is

The Pioneer Colonists of 'Our Newson

having heard of the need of a School for European Children st Nairobi has decided to open such a School, Day and Board, as soon as possible. She hopes to surive in Nairobi at the end of colony, or more correctly perhaps the present day Colonisis, if taken as a Body are of a very good stamp, the majority keep, well bred—breeding always plays an important parts in colonizing efforts—and speaking generally, lowers of the country of their adoption. For the purposes of description they may be divided into five classes. Farmers, Planters, Traders, Missionaries and Civil G.

The Farming class include the Highland Settlers; and the Planter class the Coast and Lowland Settlers.

The Highland Settler has many branch of agriculture open to him. He may take up mixed Farming, Grain or Pulse Farming, Ostrich Farming, Wool or Mohair Growing, Cattle ranching and prove successful in one or all of these branches. The Lowland Settler can select Rubber Cultivation or Settler can satest Rubber Cultivation or Coconnit Farming as a staple industry, utilizing Maize, Cotton, Unines Corn, Sim, Ground-guts and allied products as Catch Crops. Pineaples, and other Fruits equally suitable for engining, also afford an opportunity to the Planter. Mohar growing.

To the Farmer with his capital ranging from £350 to £600 mixed farming will naturally appeal, for in this branch, or variety of other industry, close personal overseeing is in elf capital.

There are many parts of the Colony There are many parts of the Colony suitable for Mixed Farming but at present Kikuyuland is the ideal. On the slopes of the Kikuyu secarpment are deep rich red soils, elothed here and there with verdant woods and where valley follows valley in which rivulets and perennial streams of sweet water invite the careful hand of the irrigator. The Rainfall here as elsewhere is divided into two seasons, a heavy fall and a lighter fall, both equally suitable for the cultivators' purposes. The annual average rain fall is from 45 to
