What Start-Rite Shoes do

Start-Rite shoes and shoes for children prevent fever, tinea in ankles and filter insects. They keep the bones of the little feet in position till the bones are strong enough to stay in their position. They develop strong insteps—strong and beautiful feet.

Call and let us explain the ingenious way in which Start-Rite shoes and shoes are built. We can recommend shoes with the utmost confidence. In addition to preventing flat feet they give excellent wear, and they are especially comfortable the very first day.

VOI-TAVETA RAILWAY.

True Solution of Economic Situation.

RAIL MOTOR SERVICE.

I have been consulted with reference to the proposed motor service between Voi and Taveta, and have the honor to advise you that the same is a most desirable one, and that it should be carried out as soon as possible.

Money Will Spent.

If the Government could be persuaded to spend a few lakhs of rupees on the construction of a road between Voi and Taveta, it would be a most desirable one, and that it should be carried out as soon as possible.

OUR WOMEN'S PAGE

Our Paris Letter

(From FABIENNE CHOUSSIER.)

A champagne colored lace and gorgonite frack was a most desirable possession and it was duty for such well-dressed occasions as restaurant dinners and small dances. It could be worn over various fashions; cream, champagne, black or pale colors, and might even do you credit on quite exorbitant occasions over a gold or silver brocade underdress.

SLENDER SILHOUETTES.

Although the picturesque, full-skirted frack is by no means ignored by the smart women, the slim straight silhouette is more often seen in soft transparent fabrics. A loose wrap gorgonite bodice, only a little lower than the natural waistline, may have a lace skirt of the same color draped in various ways, the side, or front, or back generally being longer than the foundation. Three or four lace flowers, two very pretty and may be arranged straight round or sloping from left

PICTURESQUE POSIES.

If you prefer a picturesque style, there are fashions embroidered with little bunches of flowers. They lend themselves admirably for a frack with a tight fitting bodice that may button down the front or the back and may have a square or V shaped décolletage and short puff sleeves. The skirt should be full and may open in front over a faded rose pink lining, or almond green silk petticoat.

LACE RENOVATIONS.

A straight piece of lace, about a yard wide and two yards long, makes a charmingly graceful shawl drapey and sleeves. It is put fast across the back and shoulders and the ends are fastened into the side seams of the bodice. Lace is invaluable for refreshing and remodeling a frack that has already seen a season. The shawl drapey would add a new charm to

Telling Your Character

By Month.

(By FLORENCE MERRILL.)

No feature of the face is more interesting than the mouth, and not one reveals more of the character of its possessor.

We have all seen and disliked people who, like Miss Murdock in "Madam," David Copperfield," Al have mouths "like traps." Al most equally noticeable are those whose mouths hang open, denoting a lack of character and want of will-power.

It is generally known that extremely thin lips show a hard and unscrupulous disposition; on the other hand, the owner of a mouth which is over thick-lipped mouth will most likely be in the opposite direction.

Very full and protruding lips show sensuality, love of luxury, and, generally, a somewhat selfish and self-indulgent disposition.

A long, smiling mouth, curving upwards at the corners, indicates wit, one which is moderately full-lipped indicates generally, kindness, and a love of appreciation.

A curled upper-lip indicates scorn and pride; a protruding lower-lip shows dominance. A frequently closed mouth is the sign of conceit and pride. Lips that are full and protruding, but not overdone, indicate a generous and kind nature.

An upper lip which is thin and curved upwards, and a lower lip which is thin and curved downwards, indicate a cold and calculating nature.

The mouth which is thin and curved upwards, and a lower lip which is thin and curved downwards, indicate a cold and calculating nature.

It is a bad sign when the mouth is thin and curved upwards, and a lower lip which is thin and curved downwards, indicate a cold and calculating nature.

Very large lips, which are full and protruding, indicate a generous and kind nature.

Some charming lingerie sets are created from checked and plain lace or linen. The bodice of a nightgown, for instance, is in checked material, while the skirt, of plain white linen, boasts a checked hem.

outlined with a tiny rose design in embroidery.

Another simple set had rows of tiny roses running vertically down the whole length of the garment, caught in at the waist by a whole modulation and at the neck by a half.

CHECKED LINEN.

There are some charming things made of check and plain lawn or linen. The check is used for the bodice of the nightgown and the hem of the linens and the plain for the rest. Ribbon shoulder straps are made to fasten with the tiniest flexible buttons and loops so that they can be taken off and washed separately.

SWEETS FOR THE CONNOISSEUR.

Moonshine is as delectable as its name, and is simple to make. Dissolve an ounce of gelatine in a little cold water. Add one pint of boiling water, 1 lb. sugar, and the grated rind of two lemons. Boil for a quarter of an hour. Strain, and add the juice of two lemons.

When nearly cold, whisk well, and it will become snow white. Set, till the next day, in a wetted mould.

ROY CECIL is another sweet that the connoisseur will appreciate. Dissolve 3 oz. powdered gelatine in a pint of boiling water. Add 6 oz. sugar, 1 teaspoonful vanilla essence, 3 tablespoonful chopped nuts, and 1 1/2 pint whipped cream. Stir until it begins to set. Pour into a hot mould and turn out when set. The vanilla cream can be substituted for five to seven persons.

Immediately picturesque in effect is this little gown of black tulle, embroidered with tiny flowers. The tight-fitting bodice has a square décolletage and short puff sleeves, and the full, ankle-length skirt opens in front over an old rose pleated petticoat.

to right. Then there is the lace chemise frack with an embroidered corsage, this is for the slim only and for then it is a charming fashion.

NEW EMBROIDERIES.

There are some really lovely things in evening embroidery on silk or satin, not embroidered by Parisian and Egyptian artists and done, they are used for chemises, negligees, and even for dresses. A gown is shown in horizontal lines and a chemise in vertical lines, and a gown is shown in horizontal lines and a chemise in vertical lines, and a gown is shown in horizontal lines and a chemise in vertical lines.

latter case you would, of course, cut the back panel longer than the front. The front panel could be allowed to hang straight down, just being caught in here and there, or it could be draped into the left side and there fastened with one of those large tie fasteners that are so much liked at the moment.

ROSETTE TRIMMINGS.

Very amusing nothings can be made of silk flowers with a chiffon knit mount when, to imitate the fast used with the stiff paper frill that was so popular with the ladies in the thirties and thereafter. The ladies of today are very active in their evening, they prefer to fasten it somewhere on their charming person and the hip is the most suitable place.

A LINGERIE NOTE.

Lace edging on wraps de chine underclothes is coming back into favour; it is used sparingly and only on lace is encouraged.

QUAINT EMBROIDERIES.

Birds and insects and animals are underclothes or applied in procession upon the neck of plain silk nightgowns, or the hem of linens. None of all new silk or linen underclothes with the exquisite little designs in hemstitching and English embroidery, for which Paris has no rival.

One of the very prettiest sets of underclothes was noted with a narrow margin lining put on with a tiny heading. On the nightgown there were three modulations of brown shirring that looked like the old lace and on the same fashion the bodice was worked in the most of the exquisite new silk or linen. The bodice was
