THE EAST AFRICAN STANDARD

Mombasa Times & Uganda Argus
FRIDAY, SEPT. 21, 1923.
MR. MOREL AND KENYA.

of which is undoubted. Another suggestion made by Mr. Morel was that the natives were unduly taxed. A careful calculation recently accomplished by a study of the returns of public revenue in this Colony reveals that every European is taxed £82 per head while the native population pays from 1/6 to 5/ per head, taking the entire population in both cases. A great deal of thought may be extracted from these figures. For instance, on a national standpoint each European citizen in this Colony means £20 more, by the Treasury per annum, while each increase in native population means a decrease of £82 per annum. But one may ask, where does the average European get his money from?
His taxes? Undoubtedly—though we stand subject to corporation-tax in other words, it is the European settler that provides himself with money from his taxes with some free employment, mostly European employment. In other words, it is the European settler that provides himself or indirectly—the review of Government. A broad view of the situation here then shows that there was no European settler in Kenya Colony who would have the trade and revenue loss to-day? Take the history of the Colony with its century and more of trade that it has known with the volume of trade that is Kenya Colony at this date, harvesting the fruits and the fruits of the past. Of course as a policy of protection with Kenya trade would have been permitted under West African conditions we study the result. And it may be noted that the trade of the Colony is almost wholly due to European initiative and is not imposed on the natives with its import. If the West Coast Highlands like Kenya possess what would have been the expected history of the region?
"hardly question," this instance Another instance that is provided

In the same article Mr. Morel stated that the natives he invested in improved methods to cultivate crops suitable for the locality they live in. To this gentleman advocate the lands reserved for the natives are such characteristics as to forbid any livelihood by agriculture. To our readers in Kenya it was surprising to consider, for falsehood. One visualizes the square miles of rich coffee land in the possession of the natives at Kikuyu covered in weeds and undergrowth, with sheep-pen patches standing on islands and there are Port Hall and Nyeri.
The rich Kikuyu plants. On the country, the day must come for these valuable lands, now lying idle with their scattered herds of game, little sport, significant companion, to be converted into orderly and valuable homesteads for settlement, supplying their natives for their own better material benefit and for the economic expansion of Kenya.
The Indian papers containing representations how all the valuable land is now being occupied by the European settler. Either it is grazed, or ignored, the fact that upon the advent of the European regions almost the entire agricultural region was simply a long stretch of Masai pasture where the Kikuyu and Kavirondo would appear at their past. Almost the whole of this country was unexplored and given over to certain masses of the Masai to live on as they please, with no control, nor a boundary set and and never a sign in sight. This policy of Masai land to the house of Government, an indeed country of a glorious waste of occupied rich country, now the of thousands of British homesteads.
The very first settlement, the of the other prominent, that the Masai and the Masai to the including the resident native from his own land, the only reasons to where was a policy of relief in desert and waste lands.

Thus we are reminded in England that in Kenya, who had grain and beer it; while Mr. Ormsby Gore himself emphasizes for his knowledge of the past and the of Kenya; but will seek the Government?

MONEY. Money is like a fluid, that in one direction a run of last month, leaves the vain effort to control exchange. It is quite evident that the practical disappearance of the mark in the shape of real money has diverted the German trade into other channels foreign to the country. When the bottom fell out of the mark, exchange values along in Germany started off their goods in dollar, sterling or Swiss francs, and their equivalents in the market, as the exchange might have been at the time of dealing. But the mark then had some minutes value; today a powerful international force would be required to discover the gold value of a mark, or a million or so of new marks to the amount or proportion of the tokens of exchange value is being through other mediums of international value. The German must change or manufacture now sell his goods in sterling, or dollars, or francs, as the case may be. He can then with these coins of known value exchange them for as many marks as he likes. How labor is paid in Germany history does not relate. One way in America says that there is a race in Germany between the production of printing machines and the output of money.

Germany's fast disappearing token value means as flowing elsewhere, and that elsewhere in the shape of gold. Germany. We need of Her Bismarck going to Russia seeking agricultural machinery. He must be an exchange item. The German sold that marks. The German thought little in now remaining in the shape of gold. Her Bismarck returns driven from freight and passenger traffic is necessarily payable in foreign coin. The German manufacturer is sending his catalogue all over the world; but his prices are in denmarks, gold, Germany. The value of the foreign mark has no special significance in his today. How the internal trade in Germany is now conducted is a puzzle difficult to guess. The bank of coin must be produced; the more a country's supply of its products or manufactures the more it is able to pay for the goods. One of the greatest effects of the war was production directed

Vacuum Packed

Difference between tea in a round vacuum tin and tea in an hermetically sealed container is that vacuum keeps contents as fresh as when packed, whereas the other bottles up the mairchieff.

There you have the reason why we only use vacuum packing. The Brooke Bond round Vacuum tin with red label (1st quality) and green label (2nd quality) keep their contents perfect.

P.S.—Our round quality, packed in the "Green Label" round vacuum tin, is Delicious and fine. It is not just the "Old Label", but stronger.

Judging by the tone of various articles in anti-western newspapers in India, the Karyas declare seem likely to be the rock on which the tentative measures of self-government that Mr. Montagu, while Secretary of State, initiated will founder and fall and in so doing bring a return to the former and more sane method of governing a country that has too obviously to be governed itself as much by reason of necessity as the growing respect for "Swarnajayanti."

MEMORANDUM

One of the disadvantages laboring under by Crown Colonies, especially such as advanced Ceylon, is that it is a common practice in the colonial administration to appoint officials to positions in the colonial administration...

We do not know the circumstances which led to this appointment, but we protest against the practice on a matter of principle.

The feature in both cases is the tendency simply done not to give it. We are no believers in the sacred law of seniority that is so often quoted by the higher echelons. But other things being equal length of service and experience should have priority consideration.

MANAGEMENT REVIEWS. According to Mr. J. H. Duffin, the managing of the Indian Congress in letters of the Indian Congress was confined by 600 in favor and 231 against. One member has accordingly this motion may be adopted. Will a resolution be taken up for the Indian Congress to purchase the goods from Germany, or Turkey, or Italy?

THERE IS A REASON

The local price of Imported flour has been going down, yet the sales of Unga Ltd. flour are steadily going up. The average sales during the last six months have all previous months in the Company's history out of sight, and each month shows an advance on the previous month. What is the reason? We offer no price for correct answer because it is too obvious. It is "QUALITY."

Unga Ltd., Njoro.

NATIVE PRODUCTION.

It has been impressed upon us from all sides that the high economic destiny of this country lies towards a big domestic production industry. His Excellency the Governor has adopted this line from the first day he took over the reins of Government after leaving Uganda. No reasonable person will dispute his wisdom in this respect. It is our duty to try to do our utmost to support in any way we can this policy. It is our duty to do our utmost to support in any way we can this policy. It is our duty to do our utmost to support in any way we can this policy.

On the other hand, nothing can be said against increasing the production of those natives who are today leading the lives and putting their weight into the general life of the country, yielding income to the Treasury and providing a larger amount of revenue. A large number of those natives who are today leading the lives and putting their weight into the general life of the country, yielding income to the Treasury and providing a larger amount of revenue.
