FIRING COMMENCES

FRENCH TROOPS IN COLLISION WITH THE GERMANS.

Germany Refuses to Resume Coal Deliveries.

A Second Zone Occupied.

FRENCH MAY RESORT TO REQUISITIONING.

The fact that France has taken on herself to be beat with a stick, and the French troops have been compelled to fire upon German demonstrators.

A second zone has now had to be occupied and a coal tax imposed. The French are threatening requisitioning.

One result of the French advance in Germany is the placing of large foreign orders for coal with Britain.

[THOMAS BURTON'S ARREST.]

During the last hour of shopping on the market, French soldiers, who had been sent to collect taxes outside the French boundaries, were delivered and patriotic songs sang, but there was no noise.

There was a noisy demonstration near the offices of the s.s. "Nairobi" at Malindi, and the police prevented the demonstrators from getting into the building, but by doing so damaged and finally dispersed them without a shot being fired.

C. DENOVAN

Will be sold by Public Auction.

On THURSDAY, 25th JANUARY, 1923,

At Nairobi, Outside the Queen's Hotel, at 3 p.m.

An application has been made for a general or particular grant of land situated at Kibos in the Eastern District of the Colony of Kenya, comprising in the whole One Hundred and Thirty five acres or thereabouts, which is described as being bounded on the N.E. by a public road or path of land or boundary partially defined and described on the plan annexed to an Indenture, dated the 2nd day of January, 1922, No. 20, of Robert Welsh Anderson vs. Wajihullah Khanbali Patel, dated 13th February, 1922, and made between H. Major of the Law and Order and Mr. Mathews & Mathews & McLean from the Ken African Colonial Council.

NEW SETTLERS.

Why travel and waste in travelling all over Kenya, when the MARA DISTRICT is the best mixed farming area in the Colony and we have 4000 acres available at all our purchases. Farms, large or small, from 250 to 10,000 acres, within easy distance of Nairobi. We can supply all your requirements. Dairying or underwooded, fruit, coffee, tea, tobacco, cotton, coffee and maize in stages. Very little capital required. You will find us the best place for the purchase and revenue producing properties for the man, with good regular returns.

We will be pleased to call and see the undersigned, who will affect the fairest particular.

The Produce Exchange.

New Business in Month.

At the Produce Exchange, on Monday, interest was shown in a number of new business opportunities, and a few were made available from the 10th to 15th instant. The following are a few good quality Native Cafes, which have been granted by the Government for the use of the public. They are to be run by the owner and his son, and fair prices were given for their journeys down to the coast.

Our trustee was naturally a somewhat slow one for it is a small business, but the owner had for the exchange.

This new business was accordingly offered to the public.

INDIA PERTURBED BY KENYA EVENTS.

Aga Khan Asks Help of Viceroy.

"SETTLEMENT UNLIKELY FOR SOME TIME."

The Present Hope.

[TRANSACTIONS OF THE AGHORN]

Bombay, January 20.

Reports from Kenya, depicting the possibility of white violence against the Indians, are creating perturbation.

The Aga Khan has telegraphed to the Viceroy requesting timely intervention to prevent counter-resistance by Indians with disastrous effects to the political situation in India.

It is stated in official circles in London that the Colonial Secretary and the Colonial Under-Secretary Mr. H. E. Robert Coryton are still proceeding and a settlement is unlikely for some time; but at present there is reason to hope for a solution satisfactory to all parties.

SMUTS REPLIES TO CRITICS.

Thinks His Government Deserves Credit.

BOLESHIVE NATIVES.

Cape Town, Jan. 25.

General Smuts—the Premier, speaking in reply to the no-confidence debate, said that the Government was entitled to credit for the manner in which it had brought the country through unprecedented depression aggravated by drought and revolution with the national credit unimpaired.

He declared that the Indians were at present studying in the Balfour University at Mowbray and would eventually return to South Africa.

The Premier compared the civilization of Europe to a sleep walker on the edge of a precipice and called attention to the precariousness of South Africa's situation with a handful of Whales born by natural division.

The debate was again adjourned.

A TEMPORARY ABSENCE.

Arrived at the passengers for South Africa by the S.S. "Dundee" is Mr. L. J. Monroes, the well-known lead-turf entrepreneur, who is paying a temporary visit to South Africa in order to purchase a number of race horses for clients in this country. He will return on or about February 20.

FRENCH STEAMERS.

The Management Mortier announces that the S.S. "Dundee" will be in place of the S.S. "Chall" and vice versa. The "Dundee" will now arrive from Mauritius on February 18 and the "Dundee" will leave Mauritius for Mombasa between 18th and 20th March and the "Chall" between 1st and 8th April.

THE COST OF LIVING.

Substantial reduction in prices of "Uplands" lard and sausages are announced in the advertisement columns. The latter are guaranteed to contain 100 per cent meat though a small quantity pork drawn from the best dairy farms in the Colony and regular deliveries are made to Nairobi within 3 hours of manufacture.

WHILE YOU WAIT.

The well-known firm of M. S. Elliot & Co., have again demonstrated their ability to keep their rates up-to-date. Their latest acquisition is an electric coffee mill which will shortly be working in their window. Lovers of a good cup of coffee will now be assured that their favorite American-breakfast ground coffee—for Elliot's are making a point of grinding each order while you wait.

THE NAKURU MEETING.

Two Vital Points to be Considered and Enforced.

INTERVIEW WITH H.E. TO-DAY.

The following is a detailed report of the meeting at Nakuru this week on the Indian question, the resolution passed being as follows:—

"That the members of the Convention—persons who had pledged themselves to give the native races of this country security and justice and on this point by what right should they share this responsibility with any Asiatics? In conclusion, no head committee, the majority of whom was however a determined meeting and a unanimous one, and everyone left with the determination to do all in their power.

Mr. T. Thackrah was unanimously elected to the chair. In a few words he opened the meeting which was adjourned to meet again at short notice in order to take action in the Nairobi Province. Continuing, Mr. Thackrah stated that the despatch had not yet been made public but he assured the meeting that the situation was serious. He earnestly asked the meeting to consider the question in a more reasonable light than in the way it had been presented by the Colonial Office.

Mr. J. Breston in proposing the resolutions (already reported in the E.A. Standard), asked the meeting unanimously to support them as only by unanimity could they be effective in their cause.

The Convention of Associations and the Legislative Council required the whole-hearted backing of the white community he said and he hoped second was that they were told to consider the Imperial point of view. With regard to this the English nation had done its duty in sending its troops—persons who had pledged themselves to give the native races of this country security and justice and on this point by what right should they share this responsibility with any Asiatics? In conclusion, no head committee, the majority of whom was however a determined meeting and a unanimous one, and everyone left with the determination to do all in their power.

The meeting was then thrown open for discussion. Major Macdonald, referred to his visit to India last year. He had heard Indians speak in the Delhi Legislative Council but had not done so to convey his feeling of that meeting to the settlers of this Colony. He assured the meeting that there were up against the whole of India.

It was difficult he said to see why such sorcery had been necessary and silence asked for an order not to prejudice this question from the Europeans. Finally, he said, if they were up against the black officials and if they went back on their word, continued Major Macdonald, "we have been betrayed by men of our own race." During the silence the Indians had been working with money at their back wall up against the Europeans. Col. W. G. Smith, who had been required to remove some British officials, they should have appealed to other Colonies to assist them.

The chairman replied that at this stage they could not say what policy it would be necessary to adopt but it was the idea to get a committee who would sit with Native leaders and work out what steps they thought necessary.

Capt. Fagan asked if there was not a risk that while the meetings of associations were taking place they should not be sold again. He said he would like an assurance that before the settlers were asked to bind themselves to wait for one month, no steps would be taken by the Colonial and India Offices to enforce the Bill.

Lord Delamere replied that as presumably the Colonial Office had agreed to these conversations, it was unlikely they would commit such a breach of faith and that in any case, in the event of a constitutional would have to be embodied in a Bill which would come before Legislative Council, that that meant no action in the Gazette and that the only way that a Bill could be rushed through was by a notice of emergency signed by H.E. the Governor and the suspension of normal procedure and that it was understood that such action would be taken while negotiations were actually proceeding.

The chairman explained that the whole object of the meeting was to show the Government what would happen if the Bill was forced through and that the Colonists would take whatever steps necessary that they did not necessary after constitutional means had been exhausted. In opposing this they must risk all. Mr. Thackrah then put the resolutions to the meeting and they were passed unanimously.

A question was asked if everyone was on the roll and available if necessary. Mr. Breston replied that this was being done and that each district had been asked to appoint a group leader.

The following resolution was also put to the meeting: "That the Convention of Associations and the Associated Chambers of Commerce be requested to pass a resolution expressing opposition against the recent appointment of Mr. Ormsby-Gore as Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies in view of the position of the Committee expressed by him in the House of Commons on July 4, 1922 and that he be requested to pay a visit to this country to see for himself the conditions and that a copy of his speech be sent to H. E. the Governor and the Colonial Secretary." This resolution was passed unanimously.

and that he had not intended coming to the meeting as he was in the difficult position of being on the Executive Council. Consequently he stated he agreed with all the resolutions put forward. Certain people who have interested themselves in the matter were to meet the Governor on Saturday when he hoped the despatch in question from the Colonial Office would be made public.

The Convention had laid down that the only power was to be exercised except direct action and under the circumstances he hoped every step should be taken to find a way out before direct action was taken. There might be a small chance of coming to an agreement and that it was found necessary to take extreme steps it would be only after the whole country had been consulted.

The meeting was called with two chief objects. First to warn people not to take isolated action which could only damage us. And second to find out the backing that those dealing with the question had.

Continuing, he stated that it was not necessary to go into the Indian question, but we could not submit to any dilution of our rights by the Colonial Office unless the dilution was as small as it was today and was safeguarded by law. Mr. Churchill had always promised us a white government country and that was the standard he had set up.

"It is this fact that we must stick to in order to prevent the overloading of the country," said Lord Delamere. The people who had to say yes to the Government "we can't accept these things" must have a solid backing and in fact have the support of the Colony at their back. Col. W. G. Smith said if there was not the law, force must at least appeal to the other Dominions to assist.

TRANS Nzoia AS WELL.

Ex-Service Men to Resist Asiatic Claims.

THEIR POSITION AS SETTLERS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Kisumu, Jan. 26.

The following resolution was passed by a meeting of settlers of the Trans Nzoia held at Kisumu to consider the Indian position:

"Resolved that, we, the settlers of the Trans Nzoia, consisting chiefly of ex-service men sent out by the Colonial Office in 1915 under a soldier-settlement scheme which preceded Kitchener, and which remained in existence until 1920, consider that this country is to become a European British Colony, and granted land here as a reward for service rendered in the war, cannot in face of these facts believe that it is the intention of the Home Government to impose such terms upon us with relation to the Indian question, and will therefore insist that the Indian be given up entirely as will become a European British Colony and we hereby expand our war aims and consider and unite our determination to resist the granting of the undivided and unjustifiable claim by the Asiatic in our power and, if forced to, will as loyal subjects in maintaining the integrity of the Empire."

THE EXTREME PENALTY.

Two natives were executed in Nairobi yesterday morning. The first was convicted at Nairobi for the murder and robbery of a Somali at Ngong in October last, and was captured by the police at Arusha. The second was convicted at Nairobi recently for the murder and robbery of another native at Eldama Ravine. The second was sentenced to death by the Magistrate yesterday. Death was instantaneous.

DELIVERY BOYS.

The danger of giving billets boys a handful of letters to deliver to various offices in town was exemplified yesterday when a magistrate charged with their theft. It appears according to the charge that he absconded with the office of a certain man named James in a room in the town, with a bundle of letters to be delivered and was waiting to be attended to when he was discovered to be in possession of a small article which was displayed on a shelf. He was detained, however, and was handed over to the police. After evidence had been taken, the accused was remanded.

A Motor correspondent has just mentioned, or put out a sum written to me a very interesting letter about our motor insurance. As you know we have a Pay Insurance Company a certain amount of which is paid by us, so we are covered against third-party damage. His accident, total disablement.

Now I suppose many of you have had similar experiences, and at the end of 9 months, say 10, he got £2000, a new car, and so on. The average price today is £1000, so our Painswick distinctly underpaid him. I am sure the insurance companies can only afford to replace the damage and not the car with another one.

White to play and make in three moves.

The fascinating feature of both these problems is that, while the Black King is already mated, he is not in check, and, in that unique position, the White King is mated.

Both these problems were composed by T. Doley, and, in the opinion of many, nearly equal the composer.

For the solution of the first, take note of the unusual strategy for the avoidance of mate in three moves.

SOLUTIONS.

Puzzle No. 472 (Continued). By Godfrey Mathews. The pieces are all easily arranged to "Parson's Mate," and, as far as the last move was concerned, there is no legal series of moves which would give the Black King a winning placement as to what will occur if the player who is to move at one time or another makes the suggested last move of the puzzle. The Black King has no more than two or three legal moves left, and it is not difficult to see that either of them will result in a draw.

This we add to the KID—KID, which means the Black King has been captured, and, as such, we suppose Black has changed his mind of "Correct."

In view of the conjectured form of the solution, we can hardly suppose that with the same "problem" solvers have been led to believe that there must be some other combination, but I must note that the Black King is mated in three moves, though a person as reasonable as Dr. T. Doley says in the "Chess Doctor," "problems of this type are not to be found in the literature similar to the imagination."

With regard to the second puzzle, we have five options. If then the Black King has been promoted to the Rook, he can only mate in three moves, and that is the case.

If the Black King has been promoted to the Queen, he can only mate in three moves, and that is the case.

If the Black King has been promoted to the Bishop, he can only mate in three moves, and that is the case.

If the Black King has been promoted to the Knight, he can only mate in three moves, and that is the case.

With regard to the third puzzle, we have six options. If then the Black King has been promoted to the Rook, he can only mate in three moves, and that is the case.
