Ford VALUE.

Of the 450,000 Cars and Trucks made by the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., up to 1925, 91 per cent are still in use. More convincing proof of their built-in worth could hardly be given.

This long life means low depreciation value, satisfactory performance from your Ford while you continue to drive it, and a measurable resale value when you want to dispose of it.

It means that the Ford gives you unusual value for your investment, not only this year, but for a long term of years to follow—means that when you select the Ford you obtain approved security for the money you invest.

The most useful type of Car for use in Kenya for both passenger and light goods transport.

WORKING OF THE FORD IGNITION SYSTEM.

The Function of the Coils.

USE OF A LOW TENSION MAGNETO.

Transforming the Current from Low to High Tension.

Basically speaking, only two operations of ignition are used on the modern automobile—the high-tension magneto and battery coil. The former is by far the most popular in most countries, as it is a self-independent of any other component.

The first function is to supply at the present time, inasmuch as a low-tension magneto is used, the necessary amount of low-tension current to the battery system, except that the work of the present system instead of being placed on the magneto, which is a low-tension battery ignition, with a coil breaker incorporated in the distributor.

WHAT THE DISTRIBUTOR DOES

An essential part of every ignition system is the distributor. This fulfills the function of leading on to the contact, as it were, to each cylinder in turn, as the engine runs. A distributor arrangement, known as a contact breaker, is used in the case of a carbon brush or brush on which the coil is mounted in the distributor. The low-tension current which supplies has been mentioned in the preceding article, and the distributor is provided with a contact breaker which is the contact-breaker point.

As the contact-breaker points are in contact with the contact breaker, when the breaker makes a point, which transfers some of the low-tension current to the coil. The distributor is provided with a contact breaker which is the contact-breaker point.

SUCCESSFULLY EXTERMINATES MEALYBUG

Report by an Expert on E. A. Agriculture.

"The experiments recently conducted with Vermikol, though not extensive, have proved satisfactory. These were chiefly on the lines of soil fumigation. The best results were obtained before or some time after the rains, when the soil was not wet and had a temperature of from 65 to 85 degrees Fahrenheit. The mealybug soil was levelled round the base of the tree and 2 1/2 oz. of Vermikol (fully grown coffee tree) was sprinkled round in a continuous band about two inches wide with the inner margin about 4 inches from the bark of the tree; the Vermikol was then covered with soil to the depth of 4 inches and packed well down. This killed the mealybug on the stem below ground and in some cases kept off the ants completely."
