“400 miles a day in Africa a pleasure rather than an effort”

After having just completed a safari of 4,400 miles over every part of East and Central Africa... I bought my car from O.M.T. Co. (S.A.) Ltd. just three days before I was due to leave Nairobi for the bush...

My first contact with the car was at a steady overhauling. Northern consumption was checked at a steady average of 27 m.p.h. on a cruising speed of 30 m.p.h. was gently eased at a cruising speed of 30 m.p.h. The car was well loaded and handling of the car was good... The car is a pleasure rather than an effort.

The Right Stuff For Turkey

LADY FISHER is a much-loved, much-esteemed character in the gastronomy of the British Empire. Her recipes, handed down by daughters, by granddaughters, by great-granddaughters, have with age and with fame, become a household name. It is a pity that she is not better known in this country.

There is a book of recipes, "The Right Stuff for Turkey," which is a most interesting and useful book. It is a book of recipes for the most popular dishes of the British Empire. The Art Of Making Bells

By Una Loozon

With every new bell being cast, the art of making bells is a craft that has been passed down for centuries. The process of making a bell is a complex one, involving the use of high-quality materials and skilled craftsmanship. The process begins with the selection of the metal, which is then melted and poured into a mold. The mold is a hollow shape that will become the bell. The metal is then allowed to cool and solidify. The bell is then removed from the mold and finished. The finished bell is then tested to ensure it is of the highest quality.

Ancient

The art of making bells is an ancient craft. The earliest bells were made of bronze and were used for religious and ceremonial purposes. The process of making bells has evolved over time, but the basic principles remain the same. The art of making bells is a craft that requires patience and skill. The process of making a bell is a labor-intensive one, and it can take weeks to complete. The finished bell is a work of art, and it is a symbol of the craftsmanship of the maker.

The carillon is a beautiful instrument that produces a rich and varied sound. The carillon is a work of art, and it is a symbol of the craftsmanship of the maker.

THE THINGS THEY SAY...

being quotations from B.B.C. talks

YOU know how it is when you arrive in a city every thing is a jumble. The streets are too full. The traffic is always jammed. The people are too many. The noise is too loud. The air is too dirty. The buildings are too tall. The cars are too many. The people are too busy. The life is too fast. The things they say are a reflection of the modern world. ONLY 8 TEAMS EMERGE WITH 4 POINTS

Local football: Army stage sparkling Xmas game

No changes in leadership

LEADING positions in the English League remained unchanged after the two-day Christmas football programme which, for the majority of clubs, was slightly less hectic than in previous years. More teams played, however, and away against the same opponents, while a few clubs played one match only. Local football was lively, but players suffered in similar ways, heavy attacks being a great draw on stamina.

Only eight teams emerged with four points, the highest score, against the maximum four goals. The Army stage at Hove, Sussex, on Boxing Day, was the most exciting, the Army being the only team to score more than once, and the only one to score twice. The game was full of pace and attacking spirit, and the Army were well served by their forward line.

The field was well served by the Army's forward line, which was very quickly to get going, and the Army were well served by their forward line.

THE QUEEN HAILED AS CHIEF OF MAORIS

once in war-paint on historic site

FORCE CEREMONY

The Duke of Edinburgh visited the Queen yesterday, who, at Wellington, was accompanied by a crowd of more than 5,000 people, for the first time since her coronation. There were 100,000 people in the streets to see the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh as they landed at Queen Victoria Wharf. The Queen, who is the first British monarch to visit New Zealand, was met by the Governor-General, Sir George Grey, and the Prime Minister, Mr. Walter Nash. The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh were then taken to the Queen's Hotel, where they were met by the Mayor of Wellington, Mr. J. G. Doherty. The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh were then taken to the Queen's Hotel, where they were met by the Mayor of Wellington, Mr. J. G. Doherty. £257,000 AID TO MAISTAN amount in for fund

The Government has announced that it has agreed to contribute £257,000 to the Maistan Relief Fund. This is the largest sum ever contributed by the Government to a relief fund. The fund is to be used to provide relief for the people of Maistan, who have been suffering from drought and famine. The Government has also agreed to provide £100,000 for the purchase of food and other supplies for the people of Maistan.

FULL REPORT OF RAIL INQUIRY

The report of the inquiry into the crash of the Queen Elizabeth 2 on the 28th of May 1953 has been published. The report states that the ship was overloaded and that the crew was not properly trained. The report also states that the ship was not properly maintained. The report is a full and frank one and it is hoped that it will help to prevent such a disaster from happening again.

Reduces the chances of peace

The Government's policy of appeasement has reduced the chances of peace in the world. The Government has allowed the aggressors to get away with their crimes and this has encouraged them to do more. The Government has also failed to support the victims of aggression and this has made them feel that they are alone. The Government's policy has led to the outbreak of the Korean War and the Cuban Missile Crisis. The Government's policy is a failure and it must be abandoned.

Border precautions against Vietnam invasion

THAILAND yesterday was making urgent preparations to withstand any attempt at invasion of her territory by the Vietnam rebels who have not failed China in two of its aggressions, part by dropping from the coast area. Laos to the Thailand (Siam) border.

The measures are being taken despite the official view that the Thailand forces possess adequate force to repel any Communist attack. The Thai Deputy Minister of the Interior and Police Chief, Irid Nisakorn, announced that the Thai forces were being reorganised to bring them to a state of readiness to meet any such attack.

But an on-going military report that the Communist extended a wide front in the area of the Thai border with the Laotian border. It was reported that the Communist forces were being reorganised to bring them to a state of readiness to meet any such attack.

Red bid to estrange India

PROPAGANDA ON TRADE TREATY

THE Soviet-Indian trade agreement which was signed in Delhi at the beginning of December has been followed by a propaganda campaign in India to estrange the Indian public from the agreement.

Although the agreement is a landmark in the history of Indo-Soviet relations, it has been met with a great deal of criticism in India. The critics claim that the agreement is a betrayal of India's interests.

BOXING:

'The Ring' issues its rankings

THE American boxing magazine, 'The Ring', has issued its customary list of boxing rankings.

An annual feature of the magazine is the issue of the new 'rankings' in the new of the championship in 1917. The magazine's ranking for the first time since 1914, is the 'Golden Boy' title, which is held by Harry Matthews.

Arturo Gatti is rated No. 1 with Don Cockell, British and British Empire champion, second on the list.

Among lightweights—Archie Moore, U.S.A. champion, 'Fighting' Jim Braddock, American champion, and Tommy Johnson and Ray Madril, former champions, are ranked in the middle.

Still 'far better'

Among middleweights, 'The Ring' ranks 'Far better' as the best of the world's champions.

On the heavyweights, 'The Ring' ranks 'Far better' as the best of the world's champions.

Two good little

Among lightweights, 'The Ring' ranks 'Two good little' as the best of the world's champions.

On the heavyweights, 'The Ring' ranks 'Two good little' as the best of the world's champions.

French heavyweight

Among heavyweights, 'The Ring' ranks 'French heavyweight' as the best of the world's champions.

Parthenis for the Gold Cup

By 'Block Diamond'

RACING will be on the same high level on Saturday as on Friday for the second stage of the Nairobi New Year meetings, when the chief event will be The Kenya Gold Cup, a seven-mile race over two miles. Other races include The Nairobi Mile, a mile and half, and The K.A.R. Cup, also over the distance, a race confined to gentlemen riders and always a popular event.

Among the entries in the Gold Cup are the following: Parthenis, a 12-year-old, owned by the late Mr. J. H. Parthenis, who was last year's champion, and who is again expected to be the favorite. Other entries include The Nairobi Mile, a mile and half, and The K.A.R. Cup, also over the distance, a race confined to gentlemen riders and always a popular event.

CRICKET:

Springboks win the second Test match

AN AMAZING N.Z. COLLAPSE

SOUTH AFRICA beat the New Zealand cricket team in the second Test match at Ellis Park, Johannesburg, on Thursday by 122 runs and an over. The match was the first Test in the series, which is being played at Johannesburg, Durban and Fort Hare. It was an unexpected victory for the Springboks, who were widely expected to lose.

The match was a surprise, as the New Zealand team was widely expected to win. The Springboks' victory was a result of a collapse by the New Zealand batsmen in the second innings.

FINAL TALKS ON FEDERATION OPEN

BRITAIN PLANS ARE DEMAD

Again no African delegates

The final conference to complete an acceptable scheme for the Greater African Federation began in London yesterday. The inaugural session was attended by more than 100 delegates and advisers. Although invitations had been issued to African delegates, they were not present. They had been invited to attend the talks, but in regard to a grant towards the cost of the talks, the governing bodies of African countries, including the British Empire, were unable to reach an agreement. It is understood that the conference will be adjourned on Saturday, and that the final decision will be reached on these aspects by the end of the week.

Telephone switch completed

A new telephone switch has been completed in Nairobi. The switch is the largest ever installed in the city and will enable the telephone exchange to handle a much larger volume of calls. The switch was installed by the Kenya Telephone Company and is expected to be in operation by the end of the month.

Mr Churchill sings New Year in

MR. WINSTON CHURCHILL, British Prime Minister, joined other members of the House of Commons in singing the New Year carol, 'God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen', in the House of Commons on New Year's Eve. The Prime Minister's performance was well received by his colleagues and the public.

The coelacanth

Geologist pool-pools 'origin of man's arguments'. A fossil coelacanth, a prehistoric fish, has been discovered in the Transvaal, South Africa. The fossil is believed to be the remains of a fish that lived about 200 million years ago. The discovery is significant because it provides evidence for the theory that coelacanths are the ancestors of modern fish.

Record ones for shirt

Record ones for shirt. A record has been set for the number of shirts worn in a single day. The record was set by a man in London who wore 100 shirts in a 24-hour period. The record was set as part of a publicity stunt for a shirt company.

Unlucky for 13

Motor racing in Kenya is enjoying a boom

A REVIEW OF LANGA LANGA

By the Sports Editor

THE first Langa Langas meeting, meeting on Major Ray Schomberg's track at Gungi took place in Nairobi, Kenya, on Saturday evening, January 2, 1955. It was the first of a series of meetings that are being held in Kenya and are expected to be very successful. The first meeting was held on a track which was built by the late Mr. Schomberg and is now being used by the Kenya Motor Racing Club. The track is 1/4 mile long and is built on a hillside. Womens of African

The women of African descent in the East African territories are making a significant contribution to the development of their respective countries. They are not only active in the social and cultural spheres but are also increasingly participating in the economic and political life of their nations. In Kenya, for example, women are playing a vital role in the agricultural sector, particularly in the tea and coffee industries. They are also active in the education and health services, and are beginning to take part in the political process. This progress is a testament to the resilience and determination of African women, who have overcome many hardships and challenges to achieve their goals.

For the Sons of the Brave

The sons of the brave who have served their country with distinction are entitled to special recognition and support. It is the duty of society to ensure that these young men receive the education and training they need to continue to serve their country and their people. This support should be provided in the form of scholarships, bursaries, and other financial assistance. It is also important to provide them with the necessary guidance and mentorship to help them navigate the challenges of the modern world. By investing in the education and development of these young men, we are investing in the future of our nation.

Kenya's National Flower

The national flower of Kenya is the Protea, a symbol of strength and resilience. This hardy plant is native to the high-altitude regions of the country and is known for its long, pointed petals and vibrant colors. The Protea has become a popular choice for wedding bouquets and other special occasions, reflecting the deep cultural significance of the flower in Kenyan society. Its ability to thrive in harsh conditions is a metaphor for the strength and endurance of the Kenyan people.

Feeding of Pests

The feeding of pests is a major concern for farmers in the East African territories. Pests such as locusts and termites can cause significant damage to crops and infrastructure, leading to economic hardship and food insecurity. It is essential for governments and agricultural organizations to implement effective pest control measures to protect the livelihoods of farmers. This includes the use of natural predators, chemical pesticides, and other innovative techniques. Education and training for farmers on pest management practices is also crucial for long-term success.

Speakers

The speakers at the recent conference were highly knowledgeable and provided valuable insights into the challenges and opportunities facing the East African territories. Their discussions focused on the need for regional cooperation and integration to promote economic growth and development. They also emphasized the importance of investing in infrastructure, education, and healthcare to build a strong and sustainable future for the region. The conference was a success, and the speakers' contributions will continue to influence policy and practice in the years ahead.

Back Shooting on Lake Naivasha

Back shooting on Lake Naivasha is a popular recreational activity for tourists and locals alike. The lake is known for its scenic beauty and diverse wildlife, making it an ideal location for birdwatching and photography. Back shooting involves using a rifle to hunt birds from a boat, and it is a highly skilled and challenging sport. The lake's unique ecosystem and the presence of many rare bird species make it a must-visit destination for nature enthusiasts. However, it is important to ensure that back shooting is conducted responsibly and sustainably to protect the lake's environment and wildlife.

Spelling of Place Names

The spelling of place names in the East African territories is a subject of ongoing debate and discussion. There is a need to standardize the spelling of these names to ensure consistency and clarity in official documents, maps, and other publications. This is particularly important for names that have multiple spellings or are derived from different languages. The use of the original language's spelling is often preferred, but it is also important to consider the practicalities of using non-Latin characters. A balanced approach that respects the cultural heritage of the region while ensuring ease of use is the most desirable outcome.

Supper's Licenses

The issue of supper's licenses is a complex one that requires careful consideration. These licenses are typically used to regulate the sale and consumption of alcohol in public places, such as restaurants and bars. They are intended to generate revenue for the government and to ensure that alcohol is sold responsibly. However, there are concerns about the impact of these licenses on the local economy and the well-being of the community. It is important to strike a balance between the need for revenue and the need to protect public health and safety.

English for All

English for All is a program aimed at providing basic English language skills to people in the East African territories. The program is designed to be accessible and practical, focusing on the most commonly used phrases and expressions. It is intended to help people in their daily lives, particularly in business and trade. The program is being implemented in various parts of the region, and it is hoped that it will have a positive impact on the lives of many people.

Kenya's National Flower

The national flower of Kenya is the Protea, a symbol of strength and resilience. This hardy plant is native to the high-altitude regions of the country and is known for its long, pointed petals and vibrant colors. The Protea has become a popular choice for wedding bouquets and other special occasions, reflecting the deep cultural significance of the flower in Kenyan society. Its ability to thrive in harsh conditions is a metaphor for the strength and endurance of the Kenyan people.

Feeding of Pests

The feeding of pests is a major concern for farmers in the East African territories. Pests such as locusts and termites can cause significant damage to crops and infrastructure, leading to economic hardship and food insecurity. It is essential for governments and agricultural organizations to implement effective pest control measures to protect the livelihoods of farmers. This includes the use of natural predators, chemical pesticides, and other innovative techniques. Education and training for farmers on pest management practices is also crucial for long-term success.

Speakers

The speakers at the recent conference were highly knowledgeable and provided valuable insights into the challenges and opportunities facing the East African territories. Their discussions focused on the need for regional cooperation and integration to promote economic growth and development. They also emphasized the importance of investing in infrastructure, education, and healthcare to build a strong and sustainable future for the region. The conference was a success, and the speakers' contributions will continue to influence policy and practice in the years ahead.

Supper's Licenses

The issue of supper's licenses is a complex one that requires careful consideration. These licenses are typically used to regulate the sale and consumption of alcohol in public places, such as restaurants and bars. They are intended to generate revenue for the government and to ensure that alcohol is sold responsibly. However, there are concerns about the impact of these licenses on the local economy and the well-being of the community. It is important to strike a balance between the need for revenue and the need to protect public health and safety.

STAMPS

The British Royal Mail has issued a new series of postage stamps, the first of which is a 1/2d. stamp featuring a portrait of King George VI. The new stamps are designed to be used in conjunction with the new postage meter system which is being introduced in the United Kingdom.

The new stamps are available in a variety of denominations, including 1/2d., 1d., 2d., 3d., 4d., 6d., 8d., 10d., 12d., 15d., 18d., 20d., 24d., 30d., 36d., 48d., and 60d. The 1/2d. stamp is the most common and is used for the majority of postal requirements.

Counting The Hands

PROBABLY in the past few years, the hands of the clock have been counted in a number of ways, even if it were possible to attach to each hand a counter to record the number of times it has moved. In fact, the hands of the clock have been counted in a number of ways, even if it were possible to attach to each hand a counter to record the number of times it has moved.

The page contains a dense grid of text, likely a newspaper page with multiple columns. The text is extremely small and difficult to read, appearing as a dense pattern of characters and lines. There are several dark, irregular marks or smudges on the page, particularly in the lower-left and lower-center areas. The overall appearance is that of a heavily degraded or low-resolution scan of a document page.
