in one of a series of leading articles on the question of the food supply, the East African Standard declared: "It is generally recognized that the appropriate authority afforded to the men and women who serve to the 'captive' of their meals is of vital importance. To the Editor, "K.A. Standard"—Sir—No one who has studied the history of this country has not had contact with various forms of distress in the reservoir, can be observed by the food situation in this country, but it is with surprise and astonishment that I have read your columnar observations on the situation which some people appear to believe. Myself, who has lived in hotels here to the problems of the people of the East African Standard might be accused if I were to make the observation that there are those who are not only ignorant of the situation, but also of the facts of the situation. I have seen and heard of the situation in the past, and I have seen and heard of the situation in the past, and I have seen and heard of the situation in the past.

To the Editor, "K.A. Standard"—Sir—May I draw your attention to the fact that the situation in the past, and I have seen and heard of the situation in the past, and I have seen and heard of the situation in the past.

BAD DAY FOR THE CARPET

Some time ago a ripple of chuckles unrolled through the corridors of the civilised capitals at the story of the Tennant proposal. This Professor had projected a process for obtaining carpetable matter from the cream derived from the milk of cows.

Happily we in this favoured corner of the globe are not compelled to live under the unappearing Tennant carpet of the errant and the chemical substitute. Tame Rose's Lime Juice, for example. Rose's is not made from the juice of limes. It is the juice of limes. Pure fresh limes which grow on real live trees, face upturned out by good granite rollers, and rip into bottles—there's the whole mysterious formula.

Now you know why Rose's has such a natural three-quartering taint—why it's good in lunch-drinks—very good in short drinks and glorious in the timely Grog.

Of course Rose's costs you just a little extra. He has to, because it is the real thing. There's nothing extra about Rose's Lime Juice.

DRINK

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—The problem of African drink is a very serious one. It is a problem that has been with us for many years. It is a problem that has caused much suffering and death. It is a problem that we must solve if we are to have any chance of building a better Africa.

THE PRICE OF FREEDOM

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—Many books on the Allied cause have been written. We so expect to read something in our papers and on our radio. It is a price that we must pay for the freedom we desire.

WATER

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—Water is a very precious commodity. It is the lifeblood of our race. It is the element that we cannot live without. It is the element that we must protect and conserve.

ADVERTISING

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—Advertising is a very important part of our economy. It is the link between the producer and the consumer. It is the link that we must strengthen if we are to have any chance of building a better Africa.

THE FUTURE OF EAST AFRICA

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—The future of East Africa is a very uncertain one. It is a future that we must all be concerned about. It is a future that we must shape and mold if we are to have any chance of building a better Africa.

WAGE

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—Wages are a very important part of our economy. They are the incentive that we need to get our workers to work hard and to produce more.

FAITH

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—Faith is a very important part of our lives. It is the strength that we need to overcome our difficulties and to achieve our dreams. It is the strength that we must all have.

QUESTIONS

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—There are many questions that we must ask if we are to have any chance of building a better Africa. We must ask about our economy, our education, our health, and our future.

QUESTIONS

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—There are many questions that we must ask if we are to have any chance of building a better Africa. We must ask about our economy, our education, our health, and our future.

"We have concerted our plans for the destruction of the German forces. We have reached complete agreement as to the scope and time of the operation which will be undertaken from the east, the west and the south."

"No power on earth can prevent our destroying the German armies by land, their U-boats by sea and war plants by air. Our attack will be relentless and irresistible."

Signed at Tehran, December 1, 1943.

LONGER LIFE for ROPES

The expert of Steel Wire Ropes, Steel and Flax Ropes is not permitted to sell essential War purposes and even the best quality of rope are not available. The following hints may therefore help you to get the most out of your existing Ropes last longer—

WIRE ROPES

UNWINDING AND HANDLING.

Wire ropes should be paid out without kinking. It is essential to pay out the rope in the direction of the lay. The rope should be paid out from the top position. A reel should have a slack runner to pay out the rope on a standard to allow it to uncoil under tension.

POOLING

Flax ropes should be soaked. A rope should be soaked in water for 24 hours before use. This will soften the rope and make it more pliable. The soaking should be done in a tank or a large tub. The water should be changed frequently.

Soldier Settlement: A South African Scheme

Many who have spent a couple of decades or more in East Africa—in particular, Kenya Colony—will recall with interest the Soldier Settlement schemes of the past. The schemes began with promise and ended in disappointment. Many factors contributed to the failure, including lack of experience, falling world markets, insufficient capital, and the Government's inability to provide the necessary support.

The Government should be able to do this. It is only to be expected that the Government should be able to do this. It is only to be expected that the Government should be able to do this.

NURSES
From time to time, and particularly in recent months, the Maltese authorities in Kenya have appealed to all women with nursing experience to return to the profession if their qualifications and experience still enable them usefully to do so. But it does not seem as if these appeals have been very successful. The problems facing nurses have been comprehensively discussed in our correspondence columns and today they are restated in a letter which presents the question in a challenging form. It is not clear if these business it is to take the steps necessary to solve the difficulty.

The East African Government has been asked with plenty of authority, to do almost anything they like with the citizen and his property. There can be no question that if necessary these powers can be invoked and by the Maltese authorities. Anybody can be ordered to do whatever he likes. He considers best in the interests of the protection of the war and the maintenance of the services essential to the well-being of the community. The East African Government have been mainly content to allow these drastic emergency powers to remain untested. That there has been no attempt by these means to alleviate the shortage of nurses suggests either that the problem is not a serious one or the public has been lulled by the Government is satisfied that the problem is not a serious one or the public has been lulled by the Government is satisfied that the problem is not a serious one.

A virtual letter of no confidence is at present being raised in the United Kingdom. It is a pity that the British Government is not taking more effective steps to deal with the situation.

British Intelligence "Star" Dead

MYSTERY MAN WHO DUPED AFRIKA KORPS

(By Henry Peters)
 He was a military intelligence star. He was a mystery man who duped the Afrika Korps. He was a brilliant dissembler who was a masterpiece of camouflage. He had a year of danger or injury. He was a man who had the distinction of being the Intelligence Agent on whom the War Office had placed the heavy veil of secrecy in this war.

Mystery "Arab"
 John Henderson, the mysterious "Arab" who had tricked through 100 miles of desert to get direct to the Afrika Colonel Geoffrey Kemp and his Command for the attack on Benghazi's headquarters. Then he was back in the desert again, through the double-barreled eyes of the Afrika Korps. He was awarded a bar to his Military Cross and the coveted Victoria Cross. He was a mystery figure who defied the Afrika and the Afrika's most advanced and most powerful of its eyes.

"Now a really nice quiet job. He is rather an amusing fellow and is generally held in a somewhat low opinion by those who have seen him. He is a very nice fellow and a member was not so much surprised as he is. He has not got the habit of putting the camera flash to the side of my trousers, or alternatively putting those feet of his in one leg."

Seen and Unrecognized
 John, who was born in Egypt, had a third identity. In the Middle East, and set out against his language and looks. When he joined the Army it was natural that he should go into the Intelligence Corps.

After the normal expedition in which Colonel Kemp, who was on the Command of the Afrika Korps, came to Benghazi and the Afrika Korps, he was seen by the Afrika Korps. He was seen by the Afrika Korps. He was seen by the Afrika Korps.

"On the half desert people in Britain who know him was Major-General "Plucky" Lambert, who was in the Intelligence Corps. He was in the Intelligence Corps. He was in the Intelligence Corps.

"The man who was in the Intelligence Corps. He was in the Intelligence Corps. He was in the Intelligence Corps.

There are now four schools in these camps in East Africa and Northern Rhodesia, so that of whom are children. Nearly all the children are women. The children go to school (each camp runs its own) with help of the Government and make their own clothes and shoes. The women farm the land and make the bricks and build the houses. They also run business and teach in the schools. So the looking after of these camps is for the whole camp.

Washing Laundry
 As though this was not enough for the women, they have to do their own washing. This is the dirtiest and most laborious work of the camp. The women have to wash their clothes in hand-washed water. They have to wash their clothes in hand-washed water. They have to wash their clothes in hand-washed water.
