SOME FRIENDS OF KENYA

NOTHING succeeds like success, so why not try the remedy for some of Kenya's present ills suggested here on Oct. 17? Start with education.

On October 17, it was reported that the Treasury Minister for Finance had started a great drive by the Government to increase the number of secondary schools. This is linked by his report upon the country's educational situation.

There are some forms of public utility which are essential to a country. One was the decision not to change through purchase of shares, but to build up a public utility industry.

Mr. Gibson's calm and realistic statement after his visit to Kenya, that the Government should be able to do more, is important, also saying much to allay fears of appropriation and loss of business.

Of course, Kenya is passing through a period of change and of course there will be the upheaval of re-orientation. Yesterday, when the Minister for Finance arrived back after his visit to the United Kingdom, he is hoped for more stability after February, meaning that the Government will be able to raise the amount of investment capital will be forthcoming until the end of the year.

NUGGET—shine their shoes

People who pride themselves on their great appearance pay particular attention to their shoes. They know that nothing ruins a smart appearance more than dirty, worn-out, lank and ragged. They know the correct advice: "Nugget-shine" about.

A daily polish with Nugget prevents shoe discoloration, keeps them bright, soft, black, hard wearing, and free from dirt and grime.

SIGNALS WIN FINAL MAY LEAGUE MATCH

THREE NEW CAPS IN SCOTS XI

SCOTLAND made five changes, including three new caps, in their football team to play Ireland at Hampden Park, Glasgow, on Saturday night.

The Scots were beaten 2-0 by the Irish in their first day's action.

Changes are the centre half, Jackie Fotheringham, of Motherwell, who left out Jimmy Baxter and Willie Brown.

There Mackay, of Tottenham, will half to Fotheringham. Glasgow Rangers, who have won the Scottish League Cup and top the first division, have four players on the side which will include Lennox (Aberdeen), Duncan Macintosh (Cardiff), David Gray (Glasgow), and John Paterson (Glasgow).

SPORTS DIARY

Partners in tennis at the Merrie Park Club, Glasgow, on Saturday, 11.15.15. The winners will be the ladies' doubles team consisting of Misses Macintosh and Macintosh.

Defeat of Comcan gives King's the championship

COMCAN, playing in much better style than in Saturday, gave the King's the 15th of Edinburgh last night when they beat Comcan 1-0 in the final of the Scottish League match of the current season. King's new left wing, George Compton, played from the inside of the ground and it appeared that this was to be a walk-over for Comcan, and Comcan, the inside-right, had a long shot from at least 40 yards range and the goalkeeper, Waugh, normally a full-back in the Comcan first string, completely misjudged the ball and the ball sailed into the net. This reverse put Comcan out of their stride and they were lucky not to have conceded further goals in the many signals rallies. However Comcan played from the inside of the ground and they were awarded a penalty for hand ball, and it, Goodall converted from the spot.

After the interval signals were brought into the field and the driver from Carter was well liked by Waugh, but in a position and well loved by the goalkeeper.

After a dramatic eight-way race, the signal was given and the driver from Carter was well liked by Waugh, but in a position and well loved by the goalkeeper.

RE-HEATED STOCK CAN PROVE FATAL TO HOUSEWIVES

By HARVEY JAMES

In the kitchens of homes all over the world housewives are preparing meals which can be as lethal as any in the hands of drunkard-driven drivers. The recipe runs this way: Take a joint of meat, cook it, cool it and re-heat it. The formula can be as effective as setting rat traps.

The housewives believe in all innocence they are making busy economical dishes to eat before their families. In fact medical science has found that what they are doing in many cases is following a recipe for death.

This startling state of affairs was uncovered recently when doctors compared notes after investigations of a number of serious cases of food poisoning. Some of the victims had been lurching about to eat with diarrhoea, vomiting and abdominal pain. In severe cases they spent weeks in hospital and a number of them with a shivering palsy.

MAINLY FOR WOMEN

It is highly probable in this form of poisoning—reheated and cold—The outbreak has become known as "Haverd". Like all living things the bacteria that cause this trouble need food and water. There are an food of heat as well as air or particles to which to eat.

Bacteriologists have found that germs lurk in all food-stuffs no matter how much trouble producers take. If the food is cooked and air-free, fresh the germs are being smothered, because the air-bubbles in the steam surround the food and prevent the germs from multiplying. But meat can be a dangerous ally in this respect. A joint of great range steaming when meat on the stove has been allowed to cool down, and is the waiting medium.

Re-heating steamed, or re-heating meat, is a constant danger. The cooking temperature, reached rapidly with the use of a blast-heat oven (38 deg. F.). The process repeats bacteria to multiply in deadly proportion. Under favourable conditions the germs can be in a position of strength on a joint of meat in 24 hours. Laboratory tests have revealed that great heat will usually kill off the germs. This can be achieved by prolonged boiling, or better still, by re-heating in a hot oven.

Next morning she was critically ill. The days later she died in hospital of food poisoning. The right sort of about germs directly to the warm-est part of the meat.

Our own health authorities—the Public Health Service—has given us a list of left-overs to avoid, setting out "do not re-heat" list.

The point is that germs have been a vague number. Statistics prove the fallacy of this attitude. A huge increase in the number of food poisoning cases has been reported in recent years in Britain.

As soon as food is reheated, the bacteria are allowed to multiply. Individual cases of bacteria contain the seeds of the dangers lurking when germs are permitted to become the ingredients of a meal.

A typical incident was a middle-aged British housewife. She usually made and marinated meat for her husband at Devonport docks.

Like the "colicoid" of thousands of other women, she too she used was not long constantly simmering over a hot fire. As a result when the stew got cold it was put in a hot oven to re-heat. It was a potentially poisonous meal.

In her case she had just returned with what was left of the middle-aged man and added a tin of stewed steak to the soup.

Portrait of the Week

OUTSIDE the court a Jigger XK150 provides a sleek contrast to the old landscape. It is the property of Sir William Lindley, who was appointed commissioner to the inquiry into the Mau Mau-Kisumu clothes which is being conducted in the veterinary station at Athi River.

He first investigated British clothes in the Sudan and he remembers having to write out the appeals of the accused, after a trial, so that they could present their degree of British which he said was an accepted qualification for men who were to be sent to the Sudan.

He has recently completed his new house at Mombasa. He has a car, a motor boat and a yacht. He has a car, a motor boat and a yacht. He has a car, a motor boat and a yacht.

GOOD HOCKEY CAPTAINS AT A PREMIUM

At hockey, as in other sports, it is 90 per cent inspiration and 10 per cent preparation. The 90 per cent can be achieved by determination and by constant practice, the vital 10 per cent is either present, or it is not. Training and experience can improve productivity in tactics, but without the "creative spark" is present, confidence cannot be effective.

FEDERATION WOULD BENEFIT ALL

Mr. Nyerere urges: It must precede self-rule

EAST AFRICAN countries would be much better off, politically, administratively and economically, together in a federation than as separate independent nations, the Tanganyika Chief Minister, Mr. Nyerere, said in Dar es Salaam yesterday.

He thought most people would agree, but before it could be brought about it was essential that the other territories had popular governments. The time to discuss federation was after territories had responsible government but before they moved forward to complete independence. It would be no use a territory becoming independent with its seat in the United Nations, its own flag and its own national anthem and then thinking about federation.

"People would wait until the countries were separately independent, a more human nature at all. You must take out the question of federation after we have taken our seats in the U.N."

But the story of the situation was that East Africa was more united than it appeared to be by later if independence was achieved by the separate territories. East Africa was more united than it appeared to be by later if independence was achieved by the separate territories.

Mr. Nyerere said that if a second round of talks were held before the end of the year, he would be in a position to advise the Government on the subject. He said that he would be in a position to advise the Government on the subject.

This will be for ever Kenya

Who shall aid the glorifying for Kenya? You might think that the word "glorifying" is a bit of a stretch. But it is not. It is a word that has been used in many contexts, and it is a word that is becoming more and more important in the world of today.

10,000 GALLONS OF PAINT GIVE VW ITS FIRST COAT

Volkswagens are not merely heavy painted. They are first submerged in paint, heated in 10,000 gallons of paint 10 ft. deep, until a coat builds up on inner surfaces you cannot see and that spraying cannot reach. VW engineers say that it is the only complete protection against corrosion. It is all part of a tradition of real craftsmanship that does things as close to perfection as possible—craftsmanship that makes your Volkswagen the best value on the road today.

PARKLANDS TEN MEN TOO GOOD FOR KING'S

TEN Parkland R.H. in the players were enough to completely overwhelm the King's Regiment by 5-1 in a President's Cup hockey match played on the Parklands ground last night.

Although starting the evening a man short Parklands were never in any danger of losing the favour of 1-0 did not result four or five of the King's.

King's scored their solitary goal through Turk after a ball deflected off the second ball when both Parklands backs were on the field and left the goalkeeper out of position.

Charity meeting draws very few spectators

FOURTEEN Bowler League XI beat the Uganda Police XI by four wickets in the Railway Club ground last night. As in the past the game failed to draw up to expectations and it would appear the more indifferent how these exhibition matches for the cause were very few spectators.

It was the Police team who were first into the attack and after five minutes were unlucky not to score, Karala hitting the cross-bar with Norris between. Recovering well however, the E.S.L. keeper was on hand to punch the rebound for a corner. Scoring down, the European Soccer League came into their own, and the half-back line of Marston, Anthony and Penderon were giving the Uganda Police forwards a little space.

The E.S.L. team took the lead after 30 minutes. The ball pushed through the middle for Krockachukwa, who headed, but was past three players before hitting the ball between Dergar's legs into the net. They should have gone further ahead by five or six but Blackley was badly off his mark and the goal was washed of the chance.

After the interval, E.S.L. continued to dictate the pattern of play and scored a terrific goal that put the match out of the question.

Here, the league goalkeeper, playing for the European Soccer League had sight of the charity match against the Uganda Police team and of the match between Karala, the Uganda Police half back, and Anthony Marston.

Responsible Government in January

ZANZIBAR is to have responsible Government with an elected Chief Minister and elected Legislature immediately after a largely Election in January next year.

This is the effect of a Bill and Sessional Paper published today.

All that remains to be done is for the present Legislative Council to pass the Bill during its session which begins next Monday. This is expected to be a formality.

The proposals follow closely the recommendations of the Hilary Blood who visited the island as Consultant Commissioner early this year.

His report was welcomed by two of the main political parties, the Afro-Shirazi Party and the Nationalist Party but not the report went far.

The Bill proposes an Executive Council with an elected Chief Minister and four elected Ministers. The Council will consist of the Chief Minister, the Executive Council Secretary, the Attorney-General and the Financial Secretary.

Gichuru SYSTEM WILL OPERATE BEFORE NEXT YEAR'S LONG RAINS

PLANS have been completed for the Nairobi Airport Instrument Landing System (I.L.S.) which was to have been installed by last September.

A statement issued by the Information Department at the weekend says "The Government is pleased to report that the installation of an I.L.S. at Nairobi Airport, plans for which have just been completed, will be started at once."

It says that in the absence of unforeseen difficulties the system will be in operation before the long rains of 1961. Mr. J. F. Furness, the Director of Civil Aviation, tonight, Wednesday, estimated £200,000 would be required to start in June.

It was hoped at that time that the installation would be completed by September.

Talks with Government

I.L.S. was first recommended by Mr. E. L. Barton, Director of Overseas Navigation Services of the Ministry of Transport and Civil Aviation, who came to East Africa in 1959.

His recommendation followed discussions with the Hon. Mr. Barton, an official adviser to the Ministry, in Nairobi. Mr. Barton said that radar and I.L.S. would be installed in the first phase of a £4,000,000 programme to improve navigation facilities in East Africa.

All was well when the president of the Kenya African National Union, Mr. James Gichuru (left) confidently waved his flag which belonged to his speech launching the party's election campaign at Nigong on Saturday. On the right is part of the apparently good-natured crowd - but unlike the way to anger when a Masai elder objected to a part of Mr. Gichuru's speech. First fights broke out and developed into something greater when Masai men ran off to collect their hidden spears. Kenya police G.S.U. units were rushed to the scene and with the help of tear gas, order was restored in a quarter of an hour. Below right, a Masai man, is being led from the bottle by a tribal policeman.

THREAT OF MORE STRIKES IN TANGA

Standard Staff Reporter, Dar es Salaam.

Railwaymen and local government employees may strike in Tanga Province, where already thousands of dual workers have gone on strike for more than a month and where 2,500 building workers stopped work last week.

Tanga Town Council's health department and fire service would be affected by the near development strike.

The Tanga African Local Government Council's Tanga branch secretary, Mr. A. Gino, said he expected more strikes as soon as possible.

He said the town council would not agree to let it build extensions to the electric services, conditions as service, discipline, overtime and the indemnity of 42 workers.

Inevitable unless . . .

Earlier the Railway African Union regional secretary at Tanga, Mr. J. C. Bwagana said a strike was inevitable unless the administration reinstated 27 men dismissed at Morobe. Tanga and Morobe were the removal of a foreman in the maintenance department.

At Kibwezi Sugar Estate, where 500 men are on strike, Sunday workers reported the strike.

The United Fruit Estate, where 400 men are on strike for five weeks, reported the strike.

At Kibwezi, where 1,500 men are on strike because of the danger of disease.

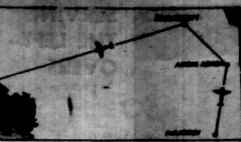

TRANS-AFRICA SERVICE STARTS FROM NAIROBI

A NEW trans-Africa service, the East-West and Link, operated by a single airline, was inaugurated yesterday when a DOCS aircraft of Ethiopian Air Lines left Nairobi for Addis Ababa en route to Monrovia, Liberia.

After an overnight stop in the Ethiopian capital the plane is due to reach its West Coast terminus, Rotterdam, early tomorrow morning.

Before the aircraft left Nairobi Ethiopian Air Lines director-general Mr. J. M. Lowenthal commented: "We believe that the route which has been laid in Kenya through the stations in the Congo will be revenue and speed increased by this service."

Already there have been a number of failures of bookings and inquiries. It is known, for instance, that many American tourists will arrive at the West Coast en masse for the first time since the end of the war.

MONDAY
MINISTER

KADUS vice-president, yesterday confirmed that the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Macleod, had told him Kenya might have a Ministerial office February Election.
He definitely told Mr. Keen (Kadus's secretary) and myself there was no adjustment whereby we could get a Chief Minister's return from London.
It would be a matter of some months before we could meet in London.
The Chief Secretary said we should be brought in to live with the fact that the territories would have their own independence.

Good ideas
The countries of East Africa should move towards independence together.
The present Secretary of Kenya has had a number of ideas for the territories to be complete independent.
Mr. Keen said that Mr. Macleod was not going to be a Chief Minister in Kenya.
He said that Mr. Keen would be brought in to live with the fact that the territories would have their own independence.

Kenya firm's new foil packet process keeps coffee fresh
By SARTORIA

SMALL shoppes takes it for granted that goods such as milk, bread, biscuits and cheese can be bought in small quantities. There are, however, many foodstuffs which tend to go stale before they are used up, especially for the person who lives alone, because they have to be bought in relatively large quantities.

One is coffee — or rather it was, until the problem was solved for the Kenya continent by the firm of C. Dorman Ltd. This firm has imported a machine which packs the freshly ground and roasted coffee into this quantity in foil containers similar to those used for packet soups.

The idea of packing coffee in this way was suggested to the Dorman when they were on a tour in Kenya and they traveled all over Germany looking for the right machinery and packaging material.

AFRICAN MARKET

One machine was installed at their own production in February and another in England. The 2oz. packets come off the conveyor belt in stages of eight which are packed in a tin. They can be used either in a tin or in a cup, or put up into 2oz. packets.

The kind of coffee that is used is principally the African continent, K.K.K.B., or K.C. blend, as introduced by the Coffee Marketing Board in 1934. It is a blend of two pure coffee arabica extremely popular, and the machine is coming with about a ton a day before overtime starts.

The more expensive Arabica blend, grading at about 4s. a lb., or 7s. 6d. a lb. with 10s. was packed in this way for the first time.

It is fascinating to watch the greatly prized foil paper coming off the roll on the machine, being introduced into the tin and packed into the 2oz. packets. It is so neat and so efficient that the most unskilled worker in the factory can do it.

The 2oz. packet is a large sheet of foil paper which has been recently developed by the firm of Dunlopillo, Ltd. (Incorporated in England.) Branches throughout Africa

TOO GOOD' PEOPLE CAN TAKE TO CRIME

Men and women who take to crime do because they are bad. But physiologists say that a majority get into trouble through the magnetic emanations which are emitted by people who strive too hard to become good.

This is the theory advanced by a group of scientists who are studying the magnetic fields which emanate from the human body. They have found that the magnetic field of a criminal is much stronger than that of a normal person.

Their research is being carried out in a laboratory at the University of London. They have found that the magnetic field of a criminal is much stronger than that of a normal person.

PLAY ON TURF New sailing event on Nairobi dam

Sailing by G.C.I. Members

TURF wickets are likely to be a common sight in Kenya soon if Michael Primary School and like-minded cricketers have anything to say in the matter.

On Saturday the K.K.C.C. XI were invited to play on the turf at Nairobi. The match was a friendly one, the school boys playing well against the wicket, and the K.K.C.C. XI being very good on an afternoon's play.

Most Impressed
The Kenyan batsmen and players naturally played at ease on the turf. The batsmen were not nervous after a week that it would have been to have faced with wickets which varied in height and width.

Strong Review
On Saturday in the first race, there was a strong breeze and the boatmen were well served by the wind. The boatmen were well served by the wind.

Player sent off: A correction
In the report of the E.A. of the semi-final replay, it seems the referee's ruling was that the Kenyan captain was sent off for fouling the ball. This should have read that the Kenyan captain was sent off for fouling the ball.

Like a fish
Mr. A. F. PALFREY, of West Kilnmore, entered with his boat in the semi-final. The boat was very fast and the crew were well served by the wind.

£62½m. U.S. GOLD LOSS SET RECORD

The United States loss of about $62,500,000 worth of gold last Thursday, which set a record in London, was the largest and possibly the biggest for any single day in the history of the gold market.

France bought nearly £61,700,000 worth of gold from the U.S. Treasury last Thursday in order to repay part of her remaining debt of £46,700,000 to the International Monetary Fund.

Added to the U.S. gold loss of the day was the loss for the day of about £1,000,000 worth of gold which was sold in London by other countries—about £28,120,000 worth—on the day.

AT&T's price list for the week ending 18/2/56 is as follows: London, September 1. 1955. New African 21 3/4. New African 21 3/4. New African 21 3/4. New African 21 3/4.

Irregular moves in patchy day

Irregular moves in the stock market were experienced in London on Thursday, but there was still a decline in the general movement.

Leaders with a United States following such as Philip Morris, Imperial Chemical, Unilever and Anglo-Siam, were the main buyers of the day.

AIRCRAFT ON THE BEAM—WITH I.L.S.

Real Agency Standard, Publishing, Singapore S. 5001

The Instrument Landing System which is to be installed at Malindi Airport will mean your own long and smooth descent to 2000 feet in any weather. The system, developed by the U.S. Navy, has brought improved accuracy to Britain and is in regular use at R.F.O. and will eventually be used by remote control from the aircraft control tower.

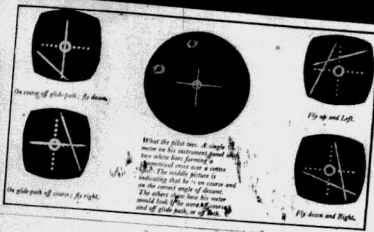

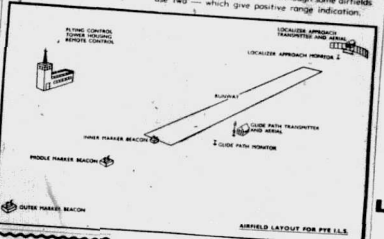

Landing through a gap in the mountains

HANGKONG AIRPORT
The picture above shows a runway at night. At first it was thought that an instrument landing system would be impossible to install there, but in two ground trials it was proved that the system would work.

... AND THIS IS HOW IT WORKS

In the diagram below the two important features of I.L.S. are shown — the localiser approach transmitter and the glide path transmitter. The former, placed beyond the end of the runway, transmits two radio beams of different tones. When the aircraft is exactly on line for the runway the two tones will be balanced, but when it goes off course the tone changes and the error is shown on a meter on the pilot's instrument panel. The glide path transmitter works in a similar way, guiding the aircraft's descent in a monitor shown near the two transmitters detect and correct any variations in the beams. The diagram also shows three marker beacons — although some airports use two — which give positive range indication.

Work opens cultural Centre NO DELAY OVER UNIVERSITY COLLEGE URGES COMMITTEE

WARNING AFTER BATTLE RUMOURS

The work of a central body was supplementary to that of the Government in building up a State, Secretary of Home Affairs, Sir P. Weir, said at a meeting of the Kenya Council of Nairobi yesterday.

It is in my belief that small Government-owned modern life, commerce and industry which combined to bring together in one centre bodies which catered for the needs of the community.

The National Theatre, opened in 1925, was the first and the only one of its kind in Kenya. It was built and operated as a pleasure at the expense of the State, and it provided life and leisure, and a place for the people of Nairobi and of other parts of the province.

ROAD OF CIVILISATION

The plaque records the history of the centre and recalls that in 1910 it was decided to bring together in one centre bodies which catered for the needs of the community.

The National Theatre, opened in 1925, was the first and the only one of its kind in Kenya. It was built and operated as a pleasure at the expense of the State, and it provided life and leisure, and a place for the people of Nairobi and of other parts of the province.

BILL TO GIVE MORE CASH TO COUNCILS

More money — about £1,000 — from the Government is to be made available to municipal councils and boards, county councils and townships, under a Bill published yesterday in the Lagos Gazette.

Annual grants are at present received under the provisions of the Municipalities Act, 1925, and the Local Government Act, 1946.

The Bill states that the grants were related to the population of the area and were to be paid on a per capita basis. It is proposed that the grants be increased to £1,000 per annum.

MOTORIST ACCUSED OF ROAD ASSAULT

An RAF flight sergeant, identified as Horace Dawson, was accused of road assault yesterday.

The magistrate's court yesterday found Dawson guilty of assaulting a pedestrian, Joseph Louis, causing actual bodily harm.

Dawson was fined 10 shillings and costs. He was also ordered to appear in court for a second hearing.

Masai are not favoured, inquiry told

Standards Staff Report. A Masai spokesman was reported as saying that the Government had a bias against his people. He said that the Masai were treated unfairly from other tribes because they had separate territories.

Mr. Swaminathan told the inquiry in the recent Masai Kamba tribal trial that the Masai were treated unfairly from other tribes because they had separate territories. He said that the Masai were treated unfairly from other tribes because they had separate territories.

Additional sentences for prison rioters

Prison sentences already being served by two prisoners convicted at Nakuru yesterday for causing a riot at Nakuru Prison on August 6 and for assaulting prison officers are to be extended in one case by 30 months, and in another by 12 months.

The prisoners are Christopher Oduma and Robert Omondi. Oduma was sentenced to 30 months for rioting and seven months for assaulting a prison officer. Omondi was sentenced to 12 months for rioting and six months for assaulting a prison officer.

ROAD BLOCKED

A hand-bike was placed at the entrance to the Nairobi road which led to the airport yesterday. The hand-bike was placed there by a man who was identified as James Mwangi.

The road was blocked for several hours. The police eventually removed the hand-bike and the road was reopened.

DISPRIN STOPS PAIN SAFELY!

Doctors know today that germs, "hearted" and sometimes even serious stomach disorders can be caused by ordinary pain relievers. This is because they do not steadily dissolve, and their solid particles can seriously irritate the walls of the stomach. Disprin is different. It dissolves (you can actually drink it) and therefore does not irritate.

The sweet smell of success SALESMEN LEAD PUBLIC BY NOSE

HOW many people know that their noses are telling them what to buy? Why buy? It's not noses that have revolutionized industry that are offering perfume as one of the most effective of sales aids. Altogether, some 130 industries have taken to incorporating the nose in their advertising programs to approximately £20,000,000 annually.

The products being brought down from Italy's remote smelling like lemon flowers — by a teaming already, suggesting devious behavior. Other perfume includes a smoky odor for the hair, and a floral fragrance for the greening cards, and a tropical smell for cloth that has never been cleaner to shop.

All this is behind doors in the face of several recent surveys which say that salesmen and women are unconvincingly declaring that they do not use scented soap and perfumes, but industry knows that, when given a chance to make an unreserved choice between scented and unscented shaving soap, those same nice men will choose the former.

It sounds like male cynicism is in fact, an extension of the male's and sometimes opposite sex's, when they are led by their nose.

LED ASTRAY
The influence of perfume was aptly demonstrated by a recent experiment among a large group of women, who were offered their choice of two perfumes. Three points were noted: (1) The women who were better scented had better motor skills but were integrated with a subtle perfume. (2) The women who were better scented had better motor skills but were integrated with a subtle perfume. (3) The women who were better scented had better motor skills but were integrated with a subtle perfume.

SHARKS REPELLED
America has already gone ahead with the idea, and as a result, there have been several shark attacks which will surely be put down.

The development of some 250 new perfumes has been announced by a group of scientists who have been working on the subject of shark repellent.

KEEP SUBILE
In a survey, G. G. Johnson and his colleagues have found that the most common cause of obesity is the lack of exercise.

These 12-inch black plastic dolls with the clinging arms and legs, have been reported to be the most popular novelty in Japan since the late 60s. Always they have traveled to Britain and America and they are expected in many other countries.

The opening order was very busy, especially here in London. It is to be expected that the new products will cause a gradual shift in the public's taste for increased production and the development of new products.

MAJOR TRIUMPH
Natural oil of lavender for perfume, costs about £200 a ton. It is a major triumph for the perfume industry.

Cardinal Lauean Rugamwa is a tall, slight, diffident man who will talk about his life in a spare house in Bukoba, Tanganyika, today.

He has lived in a spare house in Bukoba, and his days are busy but well ordered. After Mass, he works in his office for most of the afternoon reading serious works, mostly of a religious character, and receiving visitors. Often he is away, visiting his diocese, in his Chevrolet, and his occasional visits to places further afield. He speaks a number of languages and is well qualified to travel, for he has learnt to speak Italian, French and English as well as his own.

Cardinal Rugamwa was born in 1912, in the village of Bukoba. At the age of 12, he went to a boarding school in Uganda where he read for three years. He then went to the University of London where he read for three years. He then went to the University of London where he read for three years.

OUTSTANDING 3-Y-O COLT STILL WINNING

As so often happens when there are no particularly big attractions on the card, the weekend racing at Nairobi was thoroughly enjoyable and the course, so nearly always looking a picture, the crowd was a reasonable one and, altogether, the afternoon produced some first-rate racing. My Realm proved that he is the most outstanding three-year-old colt for many years.

Like his predecessor, he has a long record of wins, the first of them, the 1952 Derby, he served as the champion, he won the 1953 Derby, the first and third also being J.A. Derby winners.

Power and speed
REMY over a mile and a half he comes into a real championship, but makes a power and speed of which he is a credit. He will not forgo a single inch of his stride for the sake of the extra mile. He is a colt who is so much like a champion, he is so much like a champion, he is so much like a champion, he is so much like a champion...

Rheumatism and "Trigger Spot" Therapy
 NEW ADVANCEMENT IN TREATING ALL RHEUMATISM
 A New Discovery in the Treatment of Rheumatism and "Trigger Spot" Therapy. This revolutionary new therapy has been developed by Dr. J. Whittfield, an Australian Medical Researcher. It is a simple, safe, and effective treatment for all types of rheumatism, including chronic rheumatoid arthritis, osteoarthritis, and gout. The therapy involves the use of a special cream that is applied to the affected joints. This cream contains a powerful anti-inflammatory agent that relieves pain and swelling. It also helps to break down the deposits of uric acid and calcium oxalate that cause the "trigger spots" and other symptoms of rheumatism. The treatment is non-invasive and does not require surgery or the use of strong painkillers. It is suitable for all ages and can be used at home. For more information, contact Dr. J. Whittfield, 10, Market Street, Nairobi.
