THE EMBARGO ON NEW CAPITAL ISSUES.

Partial Relaxation
Announced.

POSITION OF CONVERSION
LOAN.

Funds Needed for Redemption.

London, August 29.
On his return from Ottawa, Mr. Neville Chamberlain reviewed the position arising from his request to standing borrowers to refrain from borrowing on the £100,000,000 conversion operation in view of the high percentage of holders of the War Loan who have agreed to convert their holdings; the Chancellor has now agreed to a partial relaxation of the embargo on new issues, but the relaxation only comprises the exchange of one class of security for another, without a change of ownership or the issue of new security to replace the security which must be redeemed before December 1.

An announcement regarding the repayment of 44 per cent. War Loan 1920/25, and the 44 per cent. Treasury Bonds 1921/25, will be made to-morrow. By the beginning of October it will be possible to estimate the total amount of cash which the Government must raise for the redemption of the War Loan on December 1. The question of substituting other securities for the existing ones will be reviewed. Reuter.

Refunding Operations
Rugby, August 30.
An official intimation was given to-night respecting the forthcoming repayment of 44 per cent. War Loan 1920/25 and 44 per cent. Treasury 1921/25 in accordance with the understanding of the former to the latter to the tune of £12,900,541 and of £20,000,000 respectively.

Both loans are repayable on three months' notice, and on September 1 the payment, redemption will take place on the date concerning with completion of the unconverted residue of the War Loan.

The announcement of these loans will involve a refunding operation but its form will not necessarily be immediately implemented. In some City quarters it is assumed that a meeting will be held to discuss the funds both for this purpose and for the payment of those holders of 5 per cent. War Loan, who instead of converting their stock elected to ask for a cash refund.

The newspaper magazine that in view of the Treasury decision to repay those loans in addition to providing the amount required to pay non-assented holders of War Loans at the fact that on September 10 the first instalment of French Credits incurred one year ago, the British Treasury is to be paid will justify the continuance in a modified form of restrictions on the capital issues. A CHAIN OF LANDING PLACES.

London, August 26.
Improvements which when completed will give pilot flying over the Tanganyika border and the Transvaal a safe landing place at shorter intervals than it has at present, have been decided by the Beit Trustees who have agreed to improve the air mail route to the Rhodesias.

The project, which was approved last night, will include the construction of new landing places and the improvement of the meteorological services.

The new emergency landing places will be made by clearing away the brush and leveling the ground at points on each side of the existing route. It is considered that the improvements will be financed by the Beit Trustees.

FISHING IN KENYA.

Conditional Rights for Clubs.

An item of interest to anglers appearing in the 1921 report of the Kenya Game Department is as follows: "The principle on which this Department works is as follows: If there are no clubs in a particular area, the Government will grant conditional rights to fish in that area. preference in certain special cases. I am sure that Legislatures will gladly grant to the countries of the Empire, who have requested them, those new preferences which will be particularly helpful in enabling them to promote their trade with the Colonial Empire.

"The United Kingdom and Dominions will prefer legislation giving effect to tariff changes immediately that the Dominion meet. It is therefore most desirable that the changes in the Colonial tariffs should be made as soon as possible, but not before the seeds of the content Agreement have been sown."

"As regards publication, the United Kingdom will probably announce the Colonies matters. The United Kingdom is giving to the public, but it is not desired to publish precise details of tariff changes till they are introduced into the Colonies. "I consider by announcing you only now if I appreciate the actual state and arrangements which are now in force in all Dominions. In our preparation of these negotiations and how great a measure it has been to me personally to consider them in your behalf and to look forward on my return to London to co-operating with the whole Colonial Empire in the future. It is an honor to be in the position which you have taken."

At an emergency meeting of the Tanga Chamber of Commerce held on the 16th instant, the following resolution was unanimously adopted on the motion of Mr. Body, seconded by Mr. Standen: "This Chamber is unable to agree with Mr. Gibbs' statement to the Dar es Salaam Chamber of Commerce, that the Railways and Southern, between Bulker and Moshu runs through more or less exclusive control of the Tanga Chamber of Commerce. This Chamber would record its disappointment that Mr. Gibbs' statement was made to visit the Northern Province, in order to obtain the views of the users of this Railway."

The Capital Considers New Taxation Proposals.

DEPUTATION TO WAIT ON HIS EXCELLENCY.

Three Resolutions Passed.

REASONED ANALYSIS OF SITUATION BY AN ELECTED MEMBER.

A well attended meeting of the Nairobi Association, to which the general public was admitted, was held in the Nairobi Municipal Offices on Friday evening for the purpose of considering the present position of the Colony's finances and the proposals regarding new taxation.

A carefully reasoned speech was made by Captain the Hon H. E. Schwartz, Member of the Legislative Council for Nairobi South, in which he explained the attitude of the Elected Members in regard to the Manifesto issued recently by the Elected Members' Organisation.

He maintained that if the assurance that the country would not be called upon to bear any further burdens until the necessity for such had been clearly demonstrated was refused he would consider that the political trust had been deliberately broken by His Excellency's action and that they would be free to submit constitutional advice which would enable them to be placed in control of the Colony's finances.

Amongst the resolutions passed was one to the effect that a deputation should be appointed to wait on His Excellency the Governor with a view to seeking the assurance desired.

It was also resolved that the Secretary of State should be asked to agree to the widening of the terms of reference of the Expenditure Advisory Committee so that they should embrace every avenue of revenue and expenditure.

Among the speakers was Lord Francis Scott, Chairman of the Elected Members' Organisation, who emphasized that the Government's action was and must remain "a Sound Case."

A well attended meeting of the Nairobi Association in the Municipal Offices on Friday evening considered the questions of the Colony's finances and the position of the deputation and it was agreed that a deputation should be appointed to wait upon His Excellency the Governor.

The decision was made in the following resolutions: (1) That the Association asks for an assurance from Government that no further taxation will be imposed until the Expenditure Advisory Committee have been established, and sufficient time afforded for the country to consider these recommendations, and to satisfy itself that further taxation is, in fact, necessary.

(2) That a deputation be appointed to wait on His Excellency the Governor with a view to seeking the assurance referred to.

His Excellency's speech at the meeting was as a whole most welcome and it had been felt by the people of the Colony that what His Excellency had said was the best that could be said.

An Opportunity
That was the case at the meeting and Mr. Spence Palmer remarked that it was a most interesting evening.

A Reasonable View
The deputation will wait on His Excellency the Governor on Friday evening.

Two Alternatives
The Government are asking the country to bear a very serious burden.

NAIROBI'S VIEWS ON TAXATION

Constitutional views which will enable us to be placed in control of our own affairs. It must be protected for the future from the disregard and mismanagement which may be, and has been, inflicted on it by the will of an autocratic Government and it is only by being placed in a position to control finance that we can have any chance of having a system of taxation which will be a source of benefit rather than a source of oppression.

A Simple Answer
It is a point that the Deputation that attends on His Excellency may be said that Government must wait, whatever the time, until such a time as His Excellency's proposals are shown to be unworkable.

FUTURE OF WHITE SETTLEMENT.

Minister Accepts View of Select Committee.

THE ECONOMIC ASPECT.

Need for Further Investigation Suggested.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies is in agreement with the Joint Select Committee on 'White Settlement' that the figures and arguments submitted to them merit serious consideration before any policy of intensive white settlement is adopted.

Regarding the position of the Chief Native Commissioner the Minister has come to the conclusion that 'while his views and proposals of the Chief Native Commissioner should, as at present, be submitted to the Governor through the Colonial Secretary.'

C.N.C.'s Status.

In a reference to Native Policy in the course of his dispatch to the Government of Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika arising out of the Report of the Joint Select Committee on East Africa, the Secretary of State says:

'The Joint Committee attach the utmost importance to the stability of the Government of Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika, and in making a continuous review of the progress of native policy in these territories.'

There is a complete agreement that the Conference should discuss the land question in the light of the views of the Joint Committee's Report regarding the land question in the Dependencies to which it will refer later.

The Joint Committee, subject to the remarks made in paragraph 51 and 52 and to the general principles laid down in their Report, affirm their belief in the value of white settlement as an important element in the progress of East Africa. I share the Committee's opinion on this matter, but it has been urged that further white settlement for the present not be encouraged on two grounds—

(a) It is held by some quarters that an excessive amount of land has already been alienated for white occupation.

(b) Even if ample land were available, it is held that it would be unwise to encourage white settlement on a large scale until the progress of native policy in the Dependencies has reached a stage at which further progress will be made. The stages in which this policy should be applied will be discussed in a separate report.

The views of the Joint Committee as to the trusteeship accorded on behalf of the native peoples and as to associating the non-native communities with the administration are accepted, and are being carried out in practice.

'It is a matter for satisfaction that the interpretation of the Statistics of paramilitary personnel in paragraph 73 of the Report was unanimously accepted by the Joint Committee and was understood and acceptable to the delegation of the Government of Kenya on behalf of the writer community in Kenya. The Committee in Kenya. The Committee in Kenya. The Committee in Kenya.

CANUTE MAKES "A QUICK GET-AWAY!!"

It was in the air, a spirit of 'joie de vivre' permeated the entire town. Every little whelp in its shell tingled with the honour. The diminutive town of Sluaboy on Sea had been honoured by a visit from His Majesty Canute, who arrived with a series of nerve-shattering explosions in his latest racing throne. The forthwith made for the beach where he passed many happy moments shedding the light of his countenance and the weight of the royal purse upon all those who had survived his progress on the road.

When being interviewed by a representative of the local paper, Canute magnanimously gave his secret to the world: one word—a strange and wonderful word, sweet to the lips

Then—as if the Devil himself had been out-raged by the peace and beauty of this so typical English scene, a great wind arose, lashing the sea to fury, and a monstrous column of water reared its white-capped head.

Immersion for His Majesty seemed inevitable,—but with a knowing wink and a slightly unbecoming gesture of the hand, Canute, by some device unknown, galvanised his throne into instant activity.

With a roar like a million devils, the royal conveyance streaked up the beach, availing the anger of the waves and starting the cult of "a quick get-away."

TEXACO

India as a Market for Kenya Produce.

POTATOES LIKELY TO COMMAND TOP PRICES.

Cheese Prospects.

PROMISING RESULT OF ENQUIRIES BY AN INVESTIGATOR.

There is the likelihood that India will provide a promising market for certain Kenya produce in the future.

As a result of a preliminary investigation there are indications that potatoes grown in the Colony will command a ready sale and fetch top prices on the Bombay market. It is believed that 1,000 tons of Kenya potatoes per month will be required at certain periods.

Cheese has also found a ready sale and it is stated that at the moment the demand for Kenya cheese is greater than can be presented by the Creameries.

Tinned goods were considered of excellent quality but the price was regarded as being too high.

The opinion of Colonel Griffiths, who carried out the investigation, is that a great deal of business can be done in Kenya goods with Bombay, providing producers bear in mind that only the best quality is acceptable.

Best Quality Only.

Colonel Griffiths, General Manager of the Kenya Farmers' Association recently returned from India where he went with the object of exploring the possibilities of new markets for Kenya produce. At the request of the East African Standard he has written the following report of his mission:

The British India Steam Navigation Company have now been established in Bombay from Bombay to London a number of modern vessels having considerable refrigerating space and the use of shippers. The advantage of this route is that it offers the greatest value to the Colony in the marketing of its exportable surplus, as it opens the very considerable Indian markets to us.

I interviewed a number of exporters and dealers in various products and the observations I make with a view to helping our trade with India.

Potatoes.
During the middle of August to December there is a very considerable importation into India of potatoes. In the past, these have been supplied mainly from Italy. Italian potatoes are very firm, round, white potato with fairly deep eyes. They are good looking, holding above the net. These potatoes and the packing, having long legs on the market, well known and of a recognized standard. For some time past small lots of Kenya potatoes have been sold on the Bombay market. They have been in standard packing; have been irregular in shape and have, therefore, sold at a value the price realized for the Italian variety.

I took over sample lots of various types of European grown Kenya potatoes in various packages, and as it is planned to state that these potatoes were better than any being sold on the Bombay market, the packages used were too light, but these have been greatly improved in later shipments.

As a reasonably good standard packing, I am satisfied that Kenya potatoes will command top prices on the Bombay market. The high quality of the potatoes must be maintained and they must be shipped well packed in good condition. There is very reason to hope that our exports will reach 1,000 tons per month at certain periods.

Cheese.
Cheese which has been shipped by the local creameries has long been in ready sale and there is at the moment a demand for more cheese than the Creameries can supply. Cheese of the Cheddar type from this Colony has so far proved popular.

Coffee.
A considerable extension in this market has been supplied from India. The market has been very active and the largest individual seller in Bombay has been an exporter of coffee. At the request of the East African Standard he has written the following report of his mission:

The requirements of the market should result in our selling fairly large quantities.

Coffee.
Coffee in the colony is not now allowed to be sold in India. This restriction has resulted in the Indian Mysore obtaining the market although Kenya is preferred. There is a market for ground coffee in India but at the price suggested I doubt if it would pay manufacturers here to take it up.

Bacon and Ham.
Total shipments of bacon and ham were made some time ago, but the report was not so satisfactory owing, no doubt, to a greater knowledge of the market requirements being necessary. Bacon and ham from England and New Zealand are being sold on the Bombay market and I have no doubt that Kenya can supply the quality of goods required.

Tinned goods from this Colony were considered of excellent quality, but the price was regarded as being too high.

Red Cross Work in Kenya.

DEVELOPMENTS DURING LAST SIX MONTHS.

Blood Transfusion Scheme.

A meeting of the British Red Cross Executive in Kenya was held recently when the following were present:—Colonel Walker, Lady Macmillan, Mr. Logan, Lord Francis Scott, Mr. Wade and Dr. Gregory.

Much of the time of the meeting was taken up with a discussion of Red Cross developments during the last six months and satisfaction was expressed at the progress in various directions. The Blood Transfusion Scheme under the leadership of Mrs. Logan, Mr. Scott, Mr. Wade and Dr. Gregory and at the present time the British Red Cross work had been undertaken by a Sub-Committee composed of Mrs. Logan, Mr. Scott, Mr. Wade and Dr. Gregory and at the present time the British Red Cross work had been undertaken by a Sub-Committee composed of Mrs. Logan, Mr. Scott, Mr. Wade and Dr. Gregory and at the present time the British Red Cross work had been undertaken by a Sub-Committee composed of Mrs. Logan, Mr. Scott, Mr. Wade and Dr. Gregory.

FINAL OF CAPTAIN'S PRIZE.

H. A. Archer Beats H. J. Gibbs.

SUNDAY'S WONDERFUL AND EXCITING MATCH OVER 19 HOLES.

After one of the best fights in the history of the Club probably the Captain's Prize at Muthaiga Golf Club was won last Sunday.

Archer Goes Ahead. Both had poor tee shots at the 18th, where Archer made a five feet putt for the hole.

A Chance Missed. There was only a small gallery of spectators when the afternoon round commenced.

A Tragic Blunder. The golf in the morning was of a better standard than the afternoon.

Lead Changes Hands. Gibbs started off by driving the ball at the first, but a splendid mashie shot afforded him the chance of a half when Archer missed a six feet putt for the hole.

Archer's putting improved in the afternoon, and time and again he ran down long ones which gave his opponent little or no hope.

both, although Archer missed one of something like a couple of feet for the ball. Three putts on the 2nd saw Archer's lead double to two.

Archer again found the cross bunker on the 3rd, but again he played a fine shot on to the green.

Archer was well in the latter stages of the match, but he has shown away which he should never have done. It was certainly a wonderful final.

The first was presented to the winner at the close by Mrs. Moore, wife of the captain of the club.

Estimates of Acreages.

DAMAGE CAUSED BY THE LOCUST INFESTATION.

The first crop report for the 1932-1933 season, which has been issued by the Statistical Branch of the Department of Agriculture, reveals the estimates of acreages under the principal crops and gives a general review of the prospects attending these areas.

Although it is as yet premature to attempt the estimation of the yields which may be expected there are indications that there will be a substantial increase in the volume of agricultural exports in 1933 compared with 1932.

Favourable conditions during the season have been favourable generally for crops. The effect of the locust infestation has been felt in many areas but a large proportion of the crops are now reported as being recovered.

Maize.

The area of maize planted this season is returned by crop correspondents as 1,100,000 acres, shows an increase of 10 per cent over the average harvest of last season. The latter, as disclosed by the Agricultural Census, was 1,000,000 acres, and the same area would indicate a planted area of 1,100,000 acres in the present year. The area planted in 1931 was 1,000,000 acres. The harvest of maize is expected to be better than last year, and the locust infestation has done little damage to the crop. The yield of maize is expected to be better than last year, and the locust infestation has done little damage to the crop.

Wheat.

The area under wheat is estimated to be 1,100,000 acres, a decrease of 10 per cent on the average harvest of last season. The latter, as disclosed by the Agricultural Census, was 1,200,000 acres, and the same area would indicate a planted area of 1,100,000 acres in the present year. Conclusion.

It is not yet practicable to estimate the quantities of produce which will be available for export during the coming season. It is, however, hoped that forecasts of such will be available for publication in the September and subsequent reports. Indications, however, point to a substantial increase in the volume of agricultural exports in 1933 as compared with 1932. The appeal lodged earlier in the season for additional crop correspondents met with a gratifying response, a considerable number of additional names consenting to furnish monthly reports. Consequently the report received by the Department on 15th per cent of the total occurs in the Colony. The thanks of the Department are tendered to correspondents who submitted their monthly reports promptly and accurately.

Experts Near Kilifi.

Continuing the successful series of Farmery Days held in the country centers early in the year, the expert coffee planters' Days in Nairobi, the Department of Agriculture decided to hold an experimental station at Kilifi, for the purpose of offering an opportunity to Coast agriculturists and others interested in the development of the coffee in the work being done at the station.

Road conditions were unfavorable, but notwithstanding about 80 planters and others interested. Among others present were the Director of Agriculture (Mr. Alex. Holm), and the following members of the Coast Advisory Committee: the Provincial Commissioner (Mr. Ford James), Major Murray and Mr. Lillywhite.

Mr. N. Humphrey, Agricultural Officer Coast, and Mr. C. A. Thomson, M.C. were in attendance, and on arrival the station was visited. The station by Mr. Humphrey who explained the experimental work in progress and advised on the lines on which to carry out the work and on the best which is expected to have on the development of the coffee in the native agriculture in the Coast districts.

After lunch papers were read by Mr. Humphrey and Mr. Thomson, entitled "A Review of the Work at the Station" and "Plant Diseases in the Coast Province." The thanks of the meeting were tendered to the Director of Agriculture and the officers of his Department by Major Murray who expressed the appreciation of the Coast planters that their problems were receiving direct attention at the Coast station, and the hope that this valuable work would continue to receive the support from Government which it deserves.

The Director of Agriculture in reply gave a resume of the efforts of his Department to organize coast agricultural services, and referred in appreciative terms to the generosity of Mr. Lillywhite in the gift of the station to the Department for experimental purposes.

VEGETABLE OILS.

Empire Marketing Board's Survey.

The world's consumption of vegetable oils has increased appreciably in the past twenty years, and their production plays such an important part in the economic life of many of the countries of the Empire that the Empire Marketing Board is preparing a series of world surveys dealing with the production of the oil palm, palm kernel, palm kernel oil and palm oil. The first of these surveys has just been published. (H. M. Stationery Office, Kingsway, W.C. 2.) and presents the latest facts and figures concerning the world's production of oil and the Empire's share of the total production. It is of interest to note that more than one-half of the palm kernel and palm oil entering world trade are furnished by the British West African Colonies—Nigeria, Sierra Leone, the Gold Coast, and the Gambia, while on the African side, the United Kingdom is the world's second largest consumer of palm kernel oil and palm oil. The great bulk of these commodities being derived from Empire sources. The products of the oil palm and the prospects of the oil palm in the Empire are discussed in the Empire.

RAPID STRIDES IN RECENT YEARS.

A Survey.

Reports of wool from Kenya have made rapid strides in recent years and now amount to about 1 million lbs. a year. The United Kingdom is virtually the sole importer, but the wool is largely re-exported to France.

These and other facts are revealed in a new Report on the production of, and trade in, wool issued by the Empire Marketing Board "Wool Survey: A Summary of Production and Trade in the Empire and Foreign Countries." H. M. Stationery Office, London, price 2s. 6d. (net). Nearly one-third of the world's raw wool, and over two-thirds of the wool entering world trade at present, is produced in the British Empire. The world's sheep population is estimated as nearly 500 million head, of which about one-third are in the Empire. They produce between 3,500 and 4,000 million lbs. of wool per annum and of this amount about 1,500 million lbs., including 100 million from the United States of America is largely self-sufficing as regards quantities at present available, but imports carpet wools, and imports both the finer wools and wools of the carpet type. Neither of these has been so largely self-sufficing as in the past, and the wool trade is expected to be of increasing importance in the near future as an exporter of raw wool.

Among the other important producing areas, consisting of South America, the United States of America and Russia, only South America is largely self-sufficing, but imports carpet wools, and imports both the finer wools and wools of the carpet type. Neither of these has been so largely self-sufficing as in the past, and the wool trade is expected to be of increasing importance in the near future as an exporter of raw wool.

After reviewing the development of the sheep population, the wool production and the wool trade of the world, the report discusses the wool trade, together with the course of raw wool prices over the past 40 years, and the Survey reaches the following conclusions:

No Overproduction.

There has been no exceptional increase in the present production of the wool production of the world in recent years; indeed, between 1928 and 1930, there appears to have been a slight decrease in wool production, and although the year 1931, according to the partial estimate at present available, was one of the years in which the wool production over 1930. It is not anticipated that the recent level of wool production will be exceeded in the near future. The wool production of the world is expected to be of increasing importance in the near future as an exporter of raw wool.

In the export trade, in which the share of Empire countries is over 80 per cent, the wool trade has been, on the whole, little affected since 1926 in the commitment of raw wool from producing to manufacturing countries, and there would appear to be no abnormally large accumulation of stocks of raw wool in the principal exporting countries. It is estimated that in 1931, when stocks in outlets of the principal producing areas were higher than usual, they still formed only a very small part of the aggregate annual production. No large stocks have been allowed to accumulate, and it is expected to maintain prices and generally to restrict the sale or stabilize the price of raw wool have been accordingly affected.

Most of the wool used in the manufacture of woolen goods is of the type known as "medium" and "fine" wool, and is of the type known as "medium" and "fine" wool, and is of the type known as "medium" and "fine" wool.

The produce between 3,500 and 4,000 million lbs. of wool per annum and of this amount about 1,300 million lbs., including much of the best wool in the world, comes from the British Empire, of Australia, the Union of South Africa and New Zealand.

Among the other important producing areas, consisting of South America, the United States of America, and New Zealand, the United States of America has a surplus for export. The United States of America is largely self-sufficing as regards wool, but due to the fact that it imports finer wools and wools of both the finer wools and wools of the carpet type. Neither of these areas are likely to assume any importance in the near future as an exporter of raw wool.

After reviewing the development of the sheep population, the wool production and the wool trade of each of the principal countries concerned, the Survey reaches the following conclusions:

No Overproduction.

There has been no exceptional increase in the sheep population or the wool production of the world in recent years. The total world production in 1928 and 1930, there appears to have been a small decrease in wool production, and although the year 1929 was a year of abnormal estimates at present available, probably witnessed an increase in production over 1928. It is not anticipated that the record level of 1928 will be appreciably exceeded. British Empire countries have maintained their share of the world's sheep population at about one-third, and their share of the world's production of raw wool at about one-half.

In the export trade, in which the share of Empire countries is over two-thirds of the world total, there has been the whole, little variation since 1920 in the assignment of raw wool from producing to manufacturing countries, and there would appear to be no prospect of any change in the relative importance of the principal producing areas were higher than usual, they still formed only a very small part of world aggregate wool production. No change has been allowed to accumulate through efforts to maintain prices and proposals to restrict the sales of raw wool have been vigorously opposed.

The production of staple fibre and other textile materials, and the wool trade, have been steadily increasing in volume, and the wool trade has been

RESTORATION OF "CHEQUERS" "CHEQUERS"

Work in Progress for Six Years.

(STANDARD CORRESPONDENT.) London, August 9 (By Air Mail).

In the early autumn, when "Chequers"—the official country residence of England's Prime Ministers—will be seen in its most beautiful setting, Mr. Macdonald will be able to resume his work only there. The ravages of dry rot and the deathly beetle made extensive repairs necessary, and for three months the Premier has not stayed at "Chequers," this making the work to go on without interruption. This week the repairs will be completed, and it is expected that the mansion will be ready for occupation again by September.

The reconstituting of the old timber at "Chequers" has been in progress for about six years, the money having been voted by Parliament from time to time. First the beams in the roof were repaired, and then windows and panelling in other parts of the house received attention. The floor of the Green Pavilion, in which receptions are held, was also part of the mansion effort.

Now, after years of work the experts are confident that both the deathly beetle and dry rot have been eliminated. When the workmen leave the mansion this week, the staff at Chequers will begin rehanging the pictures and preparing for the next visit of the Prime Minister. "Chequers," a charming eighteenth century house near Windsor, Bucks, was presented to the nation for the use of its Prime Ministers by Lord Lee of Parkes.

THE CALL FOR ECONOMY.

Departmental and subject of course, in the matter, and some of the Sir J. Langford and Arthur General."

On similar lines, I suggest, Kenya may avoid certain wastes and wasteful expenditures.

Yours etc,
HAROLD CLAY.

Nairobi, August 25, 1922.

Sir—Your secretary's complaint has unfortunately been misunderstood by numerous members of the Club, the majority of whom are a delicate and personal attack to individuals in circumstances thus arising a feeling of hostility against the Government. I have written several members of the Club official versions of the contents of this letter to the members of the Club who should be read, in those of us who have lived in Kenya for some years remember the last 24 days when the incident dominated the whole country. We have seen its evolution, and we can all very well suggest the possibility of its recurrence. At no time in the history of Kenya was there such a possibility for general co-operation towards a solution of our immediate problems. The facts which have to be faced are simple. Our expenditure is greater than our revenue, and this has to be reduced to a point where the implied necessity of abolishing a revenue fund is not a possibility.

The remedy suggested by Government is increased taxation to meet expenditure after taking into account financial savings, as you are, naturally, regarding the efficiency of the administration. The remedy suggested by the non-official body is a drastic reduction in expenditure on our present revenue, which involves reduction in the emoluments of the service and retrenchment on a large scale. These two aspects must not be regarded as irreconcilable, and common-sense statesmanship can be brought to bear on the problem and indicate a via media.

A feeling of insecurity has been created in the ranks of the Civil Service which inevitably impairs efficiency and the feeling must remain until some final decision is arrived at with regard to the terms of service. No man can enter with equanimity his profession, and his salary reduced by a percentage out of his leave deferred and his service valued by irresponsible men without becoming demoralized. Cooperation is indicated and there is no doubt that economies can be made which will in no way affect the country. There are necessary and must be effected by all sections of the community, and we non-officials have to contribute our share as well as the officials.

If the Exchequer would only take Kenya into his confidence and realize that a commission from home is not the only palladium for our distressed country, he can pull us together, and it is up to him to initiate a general movement towards co-operation. All the bickering in the world will not help matters and the mutual recriminations of the "Tribune" and "The Standard" Official merely tend to defer an amicable solution of our financial problems. Yours etc,
J. F. MANLEY.

Machakos, August 25, 1922.

Sir—Much enthusiasm is being shown by your paper as well as by the public about the Government's proposed introduction of income tax in the Colony. The intention of Government is yet unknown who they say, when income tax is introduced, are going to abolish the poll tax and Education cess or let these remain as they are. If poll tax is to go I am sure Government will have to make some other arrangement for the people both among the non-officials and officials who have difficulties in supplying themselves with what are being taken. It is worth noting that the Government is not taking any of the will-to-do class. Those, who have enough to live on, and are not easily affected by such a certain sum for the betterment of their own home, as this Colony is called, and should have no grudge for doing so, but if Government wish the income of income tax to be placed on the heads of the public in addition to the poll tax, the case then is hopeless from every point of view. To tell the truth poll tax is an absolutely bare form of securing revenue. Taxes should be on a sliding scale, the ability of the country should be sufficient to contribute towards the maintenance of the Government machinery according to their ability. There is no justification to force a person of having an income of 100/- or into a month to pay 10/- some amount that is being paid by a man earning 500/- or more a month. It is time that Government cleared the issue. One would like to know if poll tax exists in any country of the world except South Africa and East Africa and in those any country in the world where there is no income tax. This also seems to be a Gossip that the Government expenditure should not exceed its revenue and the Electors members demand under the present circumstances that the Government must expenditure before thinking of further taxation, is perfectly sane and reasonable. Yours etc,

G. M. K.

Nairobi, August 26, 1922.

Sir—I was more than surprised to see Commissioner Lawford's letter in your yesterday's issue. To my mind there is absolutely no question of personal animosity to individuals in the Colony, and should there be I feel sure your columns would not be permitted to be a means for making same public. The present situation is not caused by officials in general, but by the powers that be, and it is a matter of history that a country gets the Government it deserves and unless we assert our rights we will not get them, but will have our burden of taxation added to year by year.

I feel I must also protest against Col. Alibay's letter, where he compares the situation here in Kenya to Ireland, which is ridiculous, as I feel sure it would be difficult to find a more loyal (to the Crown) community than the settlers and business men in this Colony. Yours etc.,
J. HUTSON.

Lamu, August 25, 1922.

Sir, "The shoutings and the tumultuous noise," "The agitation and the Kings' depart." The uproar caused by the Manifesto of the Elected Members, the tender letter of your Editor, the impassioned letters of your correspondents, has died down. Scattered references to editorial symphonies by Major Greger may indicate that the Captain and the Kings still hold a portion of the staff, but it is now quiet enough for the average man to take stock of the position and to estimate exactly how much all this commotion means and what measure of good it is likely to achieve.

When we remember that the present scale of allowances, the Governor's salary, the upkeep of Government House etc. have been agreed to by ourselves through our Elected Members, that our present Government took over the reins of office just when we had been reveling in an orgy of extravagance for which we are in no way responsible, that an economy inquiry is now in progress; can we fail to ask whether our present attitude is fair reasonable or equitable? The words of the Colony are at stake and all we seem able to say is "I told you so." There are many who think that the Government are not doing their best, and that the present position of a few.

To indicate, I think it significant that the agitation against Government extravagance had to wait for a call on our own pockets before it reached boiling point. Government economy should be very difficult, a plank in the platform of our Elected Members, but a permanent plank, not a temporary pop. Far from being pedantic, their greatest attitude is proof only of ineptitude in the past and less done than nothing to further or justify our claim for responsible government.

May I suggest that you inaugurate a new campaign? Dignified commissions are appointed to hydro.

Yours etc,
AMOS.

ROAD TRAFFIC

Sir—What with extra taxation and arbitrary powers given to public bodies, the public are in hotbeds and never know when the sack is about to be put on their backs. Surely it is time as our Members and our Legislators we stood up for our rights of freedom. The latest attack is one from the Nairobi District Council prohibiting the use of their motor car road by our 14 ton lorry when carrying a large extra gallon of milk or other produce and restricting us to the use of the old roads, which in wet weather are impassable. If our roads which were originally made in country districts for the purpose of taking produce to the railway are to be used for light motor cars only, then I maintain that extra taxation should be levied on such vehicles and allocated to the maintenance of roads used for taking farm produce. Further it is scandalous that in those towns where we are asked to produce more in order to increase the revenue of the Colony that restrictions should be placed on transport of this nature.

We had a 4 ton lorry which cost us £400 and were warned not to use the bridge under heavy load. This lorry is therefore, useless to us and is capital lying idle. We then purchased a 14 ton lorry with the result members of our District Councils are going to waste our money in constructing bridges and roads unfit for light traffic, than it is time that some better public body of men took over their job. Yours etc,
JOHN J. KER.

by not participating in the Council for over 18 months? (3) prevention of the entry to the Council of the great party? (4) have we not successfully obstructed the policy of the local Government in showing to the Imperial Government that the Indian Community were reconciled to the principle of the Government roll. Those who have studied the report of the Joint Parliamentary Commission will admit that this object has been fully attained. It is hardly discharged our part of the duty it was up to the Congress to do their part of the job. But what happened? When I as the head of the Institutions met, only advised but requested a special session of the Congress being convened I was not invited. Yes, we agreed to wait until the month of August. Congress was obtained in my opinion. But where is the Congress? The Muslims have asked from the Congress. This takes out the bottom of the institution. But this is not all, the commercial community in which are included both Hindus and Muslims have definitely expressed their opinion to do what was to be done by the Congress. If anybody could ensure me that by remaining out of the Councils we can get the principle of common roll accepted I will not only resign from going to the Councils myself but I will leave an irrevocable mandate and resolutions for my Hindus and grandchildren to see that they observe the policy of non-participation but in the absence of such an assurance I positively decline to accept the suggestion that I was sent and elected merely as a dummy to block the seat. The community trusted us fit and proper persons to block the seats as long as it was necessary to do so but the Community also expected us to discharge our duty by entering the Council if and when it was necessary and I consider myself next to none in discharging the sacred trust. I have therefore no intention of making a voluntary confession of my inability to do the job by resigning my seat.

Yours etc.
ABDUL WAHID.

Naibohi, August 25, 1922.

Sir, I fear that my letter on the above subject has been misunderstood by Mr. Wahid. I did not state that the election of Mr. Wahid and his colleagues were selected by Congress during 1921 have been achieved so far, I believe they have done exactly as they wished. But the question is: How long will the community continue in its policy of non-co-operation, and until when will Mr. Wahid and his colleagues abide by this policy? Judging by Mr. Wahid's references to the unrepresentative character of the Congress, it would appear that he does not consider himself that down to the districts of that body.

I am far from suggesting that the present Elected Indian Members are "democrats" only fit to block the seats. They may be as capable of discharging their duties as any other Indian community members. But my contention is that, when the Congress decided to prevent the co-operating candidates from gaining access to the Legislative Council, it also prevented other candidates of Congress persuasion from contesting their seats, even though the purpose of the latter was the same as that which motivated Mr. Wahid. Originally, those who were seen Congress candidates, but two were asked to withdraw, leaving the present five alone in the field, supported by the overwhelming Congress vote and scores of sundry without any opposition worth the name.

Simply Mr. Wahid does not wish to tell your readers that the community did not propose more than five candidates for the Legislative Council? Nothing does he wish to uphold that co-operating or non-co-operating, it was he and his colleagues that invited the election of those who are in the Congress representation in the Legislative Council.

The 1921 election was conducted for the purpose of the Indian Government, was reported into the belief that the election was only intended to block the seats, and that all the at the same time were asked to withdraw from the field. I would like to know if they had any objection to this arrangement. I would like to know if they had any objection to this arrangement. I would like to know if they had any objection to this arrangement.

PLANT DISEASES IN THE COAST PROVINCE.

Dangers to the Coconut Palm.

IMPROVEMENT OF SOILS NEEDED.

The Use of Sea-Weed for Increasing Organic Matter.

At the Field Day held by the Department of Agriculture recently at the Kibaram Station, near Kilifi, an informative paper on plant diseases in the Coast Province was read by Mr. C. A. Thorold, Mycologist.

Considerable attention is being devoted to diseases which attack coconut palms and an effort is being made to find out causes and to discover remedies.

It is particularly urged that greater attention is needed for the conservation of the soil. Certain mineral salts are lacking and this has a very direct bearing on the problems with which the Department of Agriculture is confronted.

It is suggested that sea weed might be used for the purpose of incorporating organic matter in the soil as it also contains mineral salts of great value to the palm. Another method is to use leguminous green manure crops and cover crops.

FORMATION OF

COFFEE PLANTING AT

FIGURES FOR FIRST HALF OF YEAR.

Its Objects.

[FROM A CORRESPONDENT].
Lord Grey of Fallodon, Chancellor of Oxford University, has recently issued an appeal to the members of the Oxford Society for Africa, to join in forming the Oxford Society. The Prince of Wales has consented to accept the traditional Oxford title of Visitor to the Society, and with it the duties of "Patron" which would be those in these modern days of a General Supervisor.

According to the latest news received from England, applications for membership and offers of help and encouragement are pouring into the offices of the new society by every mail.

The object of the Society is to strengthen the ties between Oxford and its old members and to forge new links between Oxford and the outside world. These aims are in the past when Oxford was content to ignore outside contacts. These times have gone and are giving Oxford a new lease of life. The object of the Society is to keep in touch with the outside world through her sons and daughters, especially those who have gone far further afield. The University is confronted with the many and varied needs and responsibilities of a new age. The governing authorities want to feel that they have at their back when they consider the immense potential strength of the whole body of Oxford men and women. The society wants to take full advantage of the varied experience and the expert criticism and advice of all who have studied at Oxford and dealt with the Colleges and Halls. It is felt that Oxford can count upon founders to help in this work. The society will provide it for the first time with an organisation to express it and an outlet for action.

Out of Touch.
Many thousands of men and women, overseas, in the Colonies and Dominions, and in the U.S.A., are out of touch with Oxford today. Many of them have probably never visited nor heard from their Colleges and Halls. The first step to be taken by the Oxford Society is, therefore, to trace such men and women, and every means in its power, to assure them of the welcome which awaits them at Oxford and to bring them into touch.

The Oxford Society hopes shortly to have a network of correspondents all over the World, so that Oxford, as the Oxford, and its members, returning to England or travelling the world over on business or pleasure, may be able to help if they so desire, with introductions to other Oxford men and women and with information which would be useful to them on their journey; on their arrival in England the Society will assure them of a real welcome from their College and University who will be awaiting them.

The Society proposes also to issue a "Members' guide" yearly for the report of great interest and value. This will survey not only purely University business but also the work of the Oxford Society. The Editorial Committee will cover matters of Social and Athletic interest fully. It will also naturally cover the work of the Oxford Society and its activities.

An Urgent Demand.
Perhaps the most vital of the immediate functions of the Society is to meet the urgent demand on the part of the present generation of Undergraduates for an expert information and help to be given to their courses in other life. These questions cover a very wide range of professional, industrial and commercial life, in every section of which Oxford men and women are to-day holding responsible positions.

It is felt that the Oxford Society should be able to help in this way. The Society has a very large number of members, and it is obviously necessary from the beginning.

Unfortunately it has only been possible to trace about half the address of Oxford men and women who are known to be alive. To those people whose addresses are known, the Society has sent a copy of the Chancellor's appeal and the Applications Form. It is felt that those who are known to be alive should be able to help in this way. The Society has a very large number of members, and it is obviously necessary from the beginning.

Steps to Prevent Diseases.

[FROM A CORRESPONDENT].
Koru, August 26.

Although coffee planters in this area are called upon to compete with their share of pests and diseases, probably one of the chief factors militating against heavy crops on some estates is the tendency to overbar, owing to forcing climatic and soil conditions.

So far that dreaded pest, coffee berry disease, has not appeared, but has nearly bug and local Parasitic Association, are urging the Agricultural Department to take all possible steps to prevent the introduction of this pest. So many forms of vegetation are potential carriers that it may be found necessary to prohibit the importation of all forms of plant life which may harbour the pest. Although this sounds drastic, it is the only way to keep in touch with the outside world through her sons and daughters, especially those who have gone far further afield. The University is confronted with the many and varied needs and responsibilities of a new age. The governing authorities want to feel that they have at their back when they consider the immense potential strength of the whole body of Oxford men and women. The society wants to take full advantage of the varied experience and the expert criticism and advice of all who have studied at Oxford and dealt with the Colleges and Halls. It is felt that Oxford can count upon founders to help in this work. The society will provide it for the first time with an organisation to express it and an outlet for action.

Most farmers and planters in Nyanza have very well stocked gardens and orchards and are growing a wide variety of plants in order to avoid the danger of introducing disease with plants from infected districts.

The University through its Appointments Committee has tried to respond, but admits that today it is unable to do so as it is coping with all the demands upon it. What is required is a systematic system of the work of the University in a variety of ways. It would be an assurance to parents and undergraduates that scientific work as far as possible, be taken to fit the right man to the right career in the right part of the world. It would be a standing attraction, in the University, to men of vigour and ambition.

With this end in view, it is proposed, through a skilled and experienced Secretariat, to group the Members of the Society according to their occupations and to send them to refer to them those requests for technical information, which are made to the Oxford Community, are qualified to satisfy.

It is recognised that the feeling of unity has to be fostered and begun with a loyalty and affection for their Colleges. It should be emphasized that there are no possible conflicts of interest between the Oxford Society and the College spirit—and that in the view of the Society the health and progress of the University depend upon the health and strength of its constituent parts, be they the Colleges. This conception is the very basis of the Oxford Society.

The Life Subscription of the Society has been fixed at £5 and this may be paid either in one lump sum of £5 or in six yearly instalments of 10/- each. Everyone who has ever contributed to the Oxford Society, whether they took their Degree or not, is eligible. The subscription has been fixed at this very low figure in order to make it possible for everyone to join. If efficiency is to be maintained, a very large number of members is obviously necessary from the beginning.

Unfortunately it has only been possible to trace about half the address of Oxford men and women who are known to be alive. To those people whose addresses are known, the Society has sent a copy of the Chancellor's appeal and the Applications Form. It is felt that those who are known to be alive should be able to help in this way. The Society has a very large number of members, and it is obviously necessary from the beginning.

Large Decrease in Kenya's Exports.

[FROM A CORRESPONDENT].
Nairobi, August 26.

Kenya and Uganda's exports have fallen by over half a million pounds in the period, January-April this year, as compared with the same period last year. Since exports from Uganda show a considerable rise, more than this decrease is shown on Kenya's account.

These facts are revealed in a statement compiled by H. S. Trade Commissioner, from figures supplied by the country of the Hon. the Commissioner of Customs.

The total domestic exports from the two countries this year amounted to £2,454,655, as against £3,026,985 last year. While Uganda's exports were £1,922,135 this year, as compared with £1,929,524 last year, Kenya's exports were only £532,520 this year, against £1,097,461 last year.

From the revenue point of view, the heavy consumption imports of the two countries, tell just as gloomy a tale. The period shown for the two years under comparison is from January to May. During that period this year goods to the value of £1,535,575 were imported, as against £2,190,674 last year.

The import percentages, however, are considerably brighter, since this year the United Kingdom's percentage was 41, as compared with only 35 last year. In the other hand Japan secured 18 per cent, as compared with 16 per cent last year, at the expense of India, with nine per cent compared with 10 per cent, before, of U.S.A. with 10 per cent, compared with 13 per cent, before of Holland, with six per cent, compared with a previous seven per cent, and Germany, with three per cent, as compared with last year's four per cent.

These home consumption figures do not include produce of Tanganyika Territory (1932): £148,980 and 1931: £137,815) imported and mainly intended for re-exportation.

Details of Exports.

The following table shows the relative commodities exported from the two territories in the period January to June in the two years in question, cotton being shown in cents, cigarette and tobacco in pounds, and all other commodities in hundred-weights.—KENYA.

HIS EXCELLENCY'S SAFARI TO GOLBANTI.

Historic Crossing of the Tana River.

THRILLING INCIDENTS.

Visit by River Launch to Isolated Mission Station.

His Excellency the Governor, who returned to Nairobi this week after a stay extending over some weeks at the Coast, has just completed an important safari from Mombasa to Golbanti on the Tana River.

Although conditions did not permit of the extension of the safari to Lamu, as had at first been hoped, His Excellency was successful in carrying out the first crossing of the Tana River. For this an improvised pontoon was used.

During the journey His Excellency was the silent witness of an unusual scene—a struggle between two great Topi bulls which took place only a few feet from his motor car.

The Road to Lamu.

[STANDARD SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

Mombasa, August 29.—One finds difficulty in describing adequately, and with a proper sense of proportion, the safari made by His Excellency the Governor to Golbanti.

Talked, in the many interesting and entertaining details, to the "East African Standard" special correspondent, there is being lost sight of—that of the development of the vast area lying around the Tana River a mere chronicle of events set out in their chronological order, that did not, for example, reveal such a human interest as the story of His Excellency stretched full length on the vault on his back accompanied a heifer, sheath or a cow which he was travelling, or the story of the Governor and his Private Secretary drawing up their motor car, and their two great Topi bulls engaged in mortal combat, would but a poor contribution to a tale of a safari that is destined to make history.

Where is Golbanti?

Perhaps the most appropriate place to begin the story is at the motor camp of Mombasa. One is inclined to ask where, or what, is Golbanti? How many Kenyas people, outside the ranks of the residents, there are apart from those devoted officers of Government whose duties compel them to fight the battles of man against man or brute against brute, and localities that might well doubt the benefit of a special safari, make people apart from those, have ever heard of the place?

Tot them are chosen. There are those, even at this far distant day—who will mourn the loss of two heave lives some fifty years ago when the first motor controlled boat a mission and two devoted missionaries of their lives. Within months of the great Tana River, the latest of their said, is the most recent remains of Mr. and Mrs. Houghton, who, almost fifty years ago, were destined to leave Mombasa engaged in raising the device.

The Golbanti has the claim to fame, apart from the fact that it is now the venue of the new ferry, it is that it is a lovely, peaceful spot that are as famous as they are gorgeous. No one is to after the sun of the lake, and if one would live in comfort, one must needs repair to the safety of the specially constructed wooden pier and remain there while the native servants serve the needs, in the afternoon, of a party of guests.

In writing this, one does not mean that a whole new life is actually being made, but that the old life is carried on the bank, and only the motor camp, made by the Government, Private Secretary in embarking to extend his name from the motor camp, where the two great Topi bulls which suddenly broke apart and bounded off into the dense bush.

Golbanti was en fête when the procession arrived and every man woman and child in the little Pokomo village is in evidence. But the day's work was not over with the arrival of the travellers. The Tana River, the most formidable of all the obstacles on the route to Lamu, had to be crossed. Thus, the party retreated and there, overlooking the ramp, was the ferry constructed by the P.W.D. under conditions that have been appalling. To begin with, there was no money available for the construction of the ferry. Yet, His Excellency's business had insisted the whole of the administrative and other officers concerned with the isolated route, and by dint of hard work and considerable "scouring" of the P.W.D. had procured a million shillings within the limitation of those present.

Crossing the Tana.

The Tana River became a somewhat rapid current as it neared the sea, and at Golbanti it takes a big westward turn. The ferry, which has been constructed at the narrowest part of the river which rises and falls considerably. River, there is no doubt when His Excellency's car was brought to the ramp, and the pontoon was ready to receive the motor car. The great moment had arrived. His Excellency entered the vehicle, the car proceeded slowly to the steep incline and, after a little adjusting of the boards which took the car, it was pushed over the accompaniment of the clicking of screws, was brought to a stop. The first stage of the epoch-making crossing of the Tana River had been accomplished.

Hand over hand the pontoon was pulled across the river until the other side was reached. Then, to the accompaniment of the clicking of screws, Major Wells drove up the steep incline on the Lamu side. The Tana had been conquered at last!

One thrilling incident merited the Governor's attention. As the motor car was being driven on to the pontoon on its initial journey, there was a rush of the boards of the pontoon, and the crossing in some of the water company. For a moment the car seemed as if dangerously and it would overturn. Too many of the unfortunate had ventured on to one side of the pontoon. The weight of those, coupled with that of the natives who were pulling the pontoon, was too much for its stability. For a moment barely hung poised in the air, the great pontoon, of kind of the European, saved the situation, and harsh commands were hurled at the natives, who were ordered to stop. These rushed to the reverse side of the pontoon, the equilibrium of which was restored.

Throughout the incident, His Excellency remained in the motor car, his perfect composure, apparently taking little account of the fact that might well have ended in tragedy.

Building Dock.

Following the impressive incident of the first crossing by one of the Tana River, the party continued down the bank of the river. It was on a small island, the boat was constructed, and the boat was launched. The boat was a small, simple structure, built of local materials, and was designed to carry a few passengers and cargo. It was a simple, but effective, solution to the problem of crossing the river.

nothing else to do. The occupation was to that.

With the coming of the morning, the boat was pulled to the bank. How many people in Kenya are aware that, so far as this mission, or anywhere else in the world, the Tana River, was most travel by boat? And how many are aware that on the Tana river, it is only here that the Government in its administrative service?

R.M.S. "Tana."

Much interest was evinced in this somewhat antiquated contrivance, which, with its upper and lower decks, rejoins in the name of H.M.R.L. "Tana"—which, incidentally, means His Majesty's Steam Launch "Tana." It was a small, but sturdy, vessel, always ready and swift in current, one cannot fail to observe the deep draught, with its two masts and rigging. The Tana, as is well known, overflows the banks at regular intervals and deposits on the surrounding country a great mass of rich productive soil, carried for hundreds of miles from the Highlands. Hence it is not great success of this office to develop the district. The richness of the soil is almost beyond compare, and the fact that the Tana is not a sea, as it is not a sea, could be given. One sees plainly from the docks of the "Tana," the thick layers of the soil.

Incidentally, the natives of the district, almost entirely Wapokomo, who, in the number of about 17,000—return to the area in the flooded areas, during the rains, and live there. They do not seem to mind the regular flooding of their homes which are, for the most part, built on stilts. It is said, the only living things that seem to take exception to the floods are the animals that live in the flooded areas. Arrived at the Ngus Mission, the party were met by the local population. The entire white population (German) of three turned out to meet the party. His Excellency was presented among other things, with offerings of a goat and a large bunch of sheep, and with the gift of his own, of modern and nervousness. The travellers then listened to a song of welcome sung, possibly by a gathering of native youths.

Tribal Ceremonies.

These ceremonies were followed at the various Pokomo and Galla chief.

Following the ceremonies in the banks of the Tana, the party repaired to the beautiful mission house overlooking the great river. The mission, which was founded by the Missionaries, extended the utmost hospitality to the visitors, and a excellent lunch was provided. The hungry travellers found it ample justice. It is interesting to note that the mission, which was founded in 1892 and is still doing useful work among the primitive and backward people who inhabit the district.

In due course, back to the Tana were further conversations with the natives, who were presented with two native cows. These, according to the natives, were given by the Governor, who then ceremoniously handed them back to the donors amid long and prolonged thanks.

Aboard the "Tana" again. Down the middle river, a rift opened suddenly from the bank, and a long, oily, sludge oozed into the turbid water of the stream. Only a few minutes later, the stream was filled with the sludge.

And so back to Golbanti and to the night, with the moonlight and the stars shining brightly in the sky. The day had been a most successful one, and the party returned to Mombasa with a wealth of experiences and memories.

RESULTS OF RECENT TRIALS.

Comparisons with Manila.

ECONOMY SURVEY OF INDUSTRY ADVOCATED.

[STANDARD SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

The London September 7.—The Imperial Economic Committee has issued a report on hemp fibres. The possibility of using hemp fibres for man-made goods is being discussed. The Admiralty trials show that good East African wool, No. 1 grade, is capable of producing the same quality of goods as the best Manilla. But it is found that it absorbs more water, thus shrinking more easily and swelling more readily than Manilla. It does not return to its normal size when dry. The Admiralty is now holding larger trials.

Conclusion.

The following conclusions have been arrived at: East African wool is of a high quality and its durability and its inferiority to Manilla wool is not so great as is generally supposed. Its use in the manufacture of goods is being widely adopted, and the importance attached to its use is increasing.

Research Work Needed.

Within the limits permitted by the financial stringency of the Government, it is suggested that there is a great field for economical improvement, and the East African Government is recommended to consider a special economic survey of the wool industry and particularly the immediate establishment of standardised grades. The Committee foresees the narrowing of the market for hinder wool, and the immediate establishment of standardised grades. THE DISCOVERY OF BUCKFAST ABBEY.

Fifty Year Old Dream Fulfilled.

London, August 31.—Rising over the ruins of the Abbey appeared during the excavation, the remains of the church, which was founded by Cardinal Bourne, as Pape Leo. This fulfils the dream of fifty years ago, when the late French Benedictine monks were expelled from Burgundy, and the ruins of the Abbey were left to decay. The monks had been expelled from Burgundy, and the ruins of the Abbey were left to decay. The monks had been expelled from Burgundy, and the ruins of the Abbey were left to decay.

The location of the new position is being discussed, and it is probable that it will be situated in the East African region.

change and immediately following the election it is certain that the possibility of approaching civil war would result from the aggressive move of the Nazis and the extension of their empire.

The drastic action taken by the Government to restore order and to make its will felt before it was too late in having a sobering effect, and despite the inevitable criticisms of the two extreme parties, there is little doubt that the proposals made by the Government will be the cornerstone of the economic reconstruction of the country for the next two years. The fear is that the standard of life of the working classes may be reduced temporarily in a number of ways, but it is difficult to see that the President has anticipated that he will only be prepared to resign to the pressure of the interests of the working people and safeguarded. The von Papen Government is in the nature of a trial experiment but it is very bold, may assure it of success. One of the greatest tasks must be the maintenance of law and order and there is evidence to suggest that the terrorism which a few weeks ago seemed such ugly proportions is being subdued. One of the most encouraging signs and one indicative of the promise of the rehabilitation plan is the reaction of the stock exchange. The world is certain that it has seen the interest of the world's states during the next few months, and the economic recovery of Germany and the rest of Europe will be a permanent benefit throughout the world.

The Coast.

There will probably never be any really continuing explanation of the strange areas in the coastal belt of Kenya have so long remained practically dormant. Speculative questions have shown little real interest in a vast area which in one time was the most prosperous part of East Africa, and which the natives are but an important export trade. The decline set in with the abolition of slavery and there is no doubt that the drastic change in age-old conditions which followed the freeing of the slaves led to an apathy on the part of cultivators which so far has resisted all the inadequate efforts to overcome it. The whole economic structure of the littoral was altered. Native economies to depend entirely on their wealthy Arab masters for everything on the land found themselves bewildered by a new order of things, and they did nothing to improve their lot; while the masters, also unable to adapt themselves to such radically changed circumstances, lost interest. The inevitable result was a process of decay which only in very recent times has there been any attempt to overcome. His Excellency the Governor is to be commended on the steps he has given to the movement designed to give the Coast once again the important position in the economic life of the country which it is in. By setting a practical tour under conditions of some difficulty Sir Joseph Byrne has been able to judge for himself the prospects of development and the scope of work which might with advantage be initiated in the area. There is no doubt that the Governor's example will stimulate interest in a region of very great potential value in the Colony as a whole when it is recalled that every acre of unimproved production should be increased fully. There are of course great practical difficulties in the way of development. One of the biggest perhaps is lack of money and in that connection the possibility of receiving a grant from the Colonial Development Fund might be investigated. The poor population condition of the natives, returns to a recent estimate, show that this disability can be to a large extent overcome. It is a fact that many of the undernourished of a very poor class, but the long night work has been accomplished by practical methods and the the economic development of the land in their sphere of influence and of other States have shown gratifying increases by voting funds for the purpose of the soil cultivation in a modern method. A serious drawback which is the way of being overcome is the lack of whole communication. The road which His Excellency the Governor recently pioneered is little better than a rough track and it will be some time before it is possible to carry anything in the way of an all-weather road. Last week's rain, however, has demonstrated what it is most possible to do in the weather to do it by our own means to the Tana River and that in itself is a step of the beginning of an era of improved communication, with all that they can mean to the economic production. It is well known that the basin of the Tana is wonderfully fertile and that it offers almost unlimited scope for cultivation. It is a grown success of rice into Kenya which is not there is every prospect that the cultivation could be increased in such an extent as to render the importation of rice into Kenya unnecessary. Any comprehensive system of irrigation would probably be too costly to be undertaken by Government at this stage, but the possibility of its being carried out by private enterprise is well worth consideration. Big stretches of country provide conditions favorable, as to topography and there is reason to believe that the crop will be an important addition to the future export trade. Not only has the littoral a wealth of soil, it is rich in historical associations. Knowledge of the early history of such towns as Malindi and Lamu is as yet imperfect while nobody yet has solved satisfactorily the origin of the mysterious "Jambesi" of the opening up of coast communications will lead in time to the creation of tourist traffic, while the attraction of the country from the big game hunter's point of view does not require elaborate explanation. It is abundant because that attention paid to the Coast will be amply repaid in all sorts of ways.

SOUTH AFRICAN REPRESENTATIVE.

Representation of Native Interests.

TO BE INCREASED IN THE KENYA LEGISLATURE.

White Settlement.

NO FURTHER ALIENATION OF LAND PENDING COMMISSIONER'S REPORT.

I do not propose that any change should be made in the present arrangement which secures an official majority in the Legislative Council. This sentence occurs in the recent despatch addressed by the Secretary of State for the Colonies to the Governor of Kenya.

When the Minister agrees that the time is not ripe for Africans to sit on the Kenya Legislative Council he is in agreement with the Governor that the representation of native interests should not be restricted to Christian Missionaries. The representation of native interests will be increased by the addition of a nominated member.

Pending the decisions of the land enquiry no further alienations of land for white settlement will be made without the prior sanction of the Secretary of State.

The Language Question.

a reference to the Legislature despatch to the Governor of Kenya out of the Report of the Joint Committee on the Union the Secretary of State...

tion of the Secretary of State. In his communication the suggestion and on paragraphs 90-91 of the Report, relating to white settlement, the Governor of Kenya suggests that cretatives should be made in the case of individual farms situated within already settled areas where the establishments of inland native communities would be a requisite mistake. I consider however that pending the land inquiry, no alienations should be made without the prior sanction of the Committee as to the general principles and the category of farms referred to, it will be for the Governor of Kenya, before making any recommendation for alienation to satisfy himself in each case, and when making his recommendation to report to the Secretary of State that the following conditions are fulfilled and justify the case being regarded as exceptional—

- (1) That it is indubitably clear that no possible native land rights are involved.
- (2) That it can be shown that the land in question can be alienated without prejudice to possible requirements for native purposes when the proposed inquiry has been held.

Miscellaneous Matters.

In paragraph 105 (11) of the Report the Joint Committee urgently and emphatically considered by the Kenya Government of native representations on various points in relation to the following questions, viz., the Registration Ordinance and the utilization of native labour, etc. I am concerned in connection with the utilization of native labour of the but and post has been covered by the terms of Lord Moyne's inquiry and it is only one of the problems arising from the use of cattle as a commodity must, I think, be regarded that little is to be gained by a mere recommendation that the satisfactory solution of these problems can only be reached gradually and in the course of social and economic development. The development of educational, agricultural, and veterinary services in the reserves is, in present circumstances, being advanced by financial considerations. That Lord Moyne's recommendation for the creation of a Native Beterment Fund will enable a definite program of native education is available for native service.

Purged Labour.

It may, I think, be assumed from the Government's statement in the House of Commons following the forced labour that the Joint Committee had particularly in mind the abolition of such labour as defined in Article 7 of the Constitution. "Purged labour" as defined in that Article does not include any work or services actually or essentially of an emergency or essential character connected with the maintenance of the State.

native reserves, which the Committee specifically mention, not covered by the exemption in Article 7 (c), and subject to the stipulation in the Convention that, in, they are to be abolished within the shortest possible period and in the meantime are to be subject to the Convention laid down in the Convention.

The Language Question.

While not overlooking the reasons which led the Governor of Uganda in paragraph 13 of his despatch of 11st January to record dissent from the Joint Committee's view, I feel that looking at the matter from the interests of East Africa as a whole, it is difficult to ignore the feasibility of encouraging a gradual change from Kiswahili to English. It is, however, I think generally admitted, and the Joint Committee themselves appreciate the desirability of the same practical needs of the situation will require the extensive use of Kiswahili as the lingua franca.

Administrative Staff.

The replies to my despatches of the 12th and 15th ult. have revealed substantial agreement with the view of the Committee as to the importance of retaining administrative officers as long as possible in the administrative staff, and I concur in this recommendation provided that such retention does not operate as a bar to promotion. In accordance with the recommendations of the Committee in paragraph 106 of their Report represent the policy which is already being followed by the Government in the case of officers who have the complete concurrence of the Secretary of State.

In noting and agreeing with the Committee's view as to the supreme importance to the State as a whole of efficient administration on the native side, I am glad to see the opportunity afforded by the Committee in the appreciation of the work of administrative officers to which expression a given in the last sentence of their Report.

I desire to conclude this despatch by expressing my satisfaction with and appreciation of the full and sympathetic consideration which the members of the Committee have afforded to the recommendations of the Joint Committee. The reception accorded them by the Governors of the East African Dependencies is well known, and I trust that the realization of the Committee's hope, with which I have already associated myself, that the result of their labours will lead to a greater unity of the Empire whatever may be the changes of Government at home.

MORE TREASURE FROM THE "EGYPT."

Another Consignment at Plymouth.

Rugby, August 30. The Italian salvage vessel "Artiglio" arrived at Plymouth to-day with another consignment of treasure which was salvaged from the P. and O. liner "Egypt." This is the "Artiglio's" third trip to Plymouth. It is estimated that the total amount of bullion recovered from the "Egypt" up to the present is approximately £300,000 about half of the treasure which was in the liner when she sank off the north-west coast of France. The "Artiglio" will probably return this afternoon to the scene of operations.—British Official Wireless Service.

A curious old photograph of a woman in London Docks is reproduced in "The P.L.A. Monthly" for August. It shows a stout, middle-aged woman, who is said to have been in London for nearly forty years ago, £200 built in all. The man, a stout, middle-aged man, was approximately the same size, and was approximately £200 built in all. The woman is said to have been in London for nearly forty years ago, £200 built in all.

Three Women in a Car.

INTERESTING JOURNEY FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

Four Months' Trip.

An interesting and enterprising journey has recently been completed by the arrival of three ladies who have travelled by themselves from South Africa to London by sea and land. No attempt was made to hurry over the journey and every opportunity was taken to see all possible sights on the way. A small distance of some 5,000 miles has been covered.

The lengthy journey has been taken for pleasure purposes by Mrs. Mosher, Miss Toner and Miss Thrusfield, all of whom are normally resident in England but who are on a visit to Africa from overseas. After touring in South Africa they decided to attempt the journey from Africa in order to see as much as possible of the Continent. Miss Toner and Miss Thrusfield joined Mrs. Mosher at Harare and the trip officially started from Entocour on April 28.

An ordinary camping car was used on the way camp was pitched and wherever the travellers felt inclined to stop. The sleeping arrangements were simple. Two chairs were placed on the front seat being removable and the third member of the party slept in a leather bag.

The Great North Road was followed except for the many deviations which were made to places of interest. And for the most part the road was found to be in remarkably good condition. Very few troubles were encountered although minor mishaps included broken springs and punctures.

The animals which were met on the party in the midst of game country and more than one lion were heard in the vicinity of the car during the night whilst traces of sport were found close at hand on the following morning. All kinds of game were seen, even elephant and rhino, the last of these being near Many Ashi in the Transvaal. The excursions of the beaten track was one to the Victoria Falls and another to the Kalunga Falls, near Abercorn.

It was particularly interesting at the latter place to see the Marabou stocks nesting.

Lake Tanganyika.

An interesting experience was that when the party camped on the shores of Lake Tanganyika, with over-cast skies and a dense fog. Later they sailed across the lake to Lake Tanganyika in a boat made dug-out canoe with a Marabou skin pick.

During the trip many interesting photographs were taken and these will form an interesting record of their journey. The party met with the "East African Standard" yesterday Mrs. Mosher said that they were very impressed with Nairobi and the surroundings and they were very pleased with the arrangements in Sixth Avenue had made a great impression and she expressed the belief that Nairobi had solved a problem which is confounding many towns to-day.

It is the intention of the party to visit Uganda next and after that they may return to Kenya, with the object of seeing more of the country before going back to South Africa. It is probable that the journey back to the Cape will be made by boat after the car has been disposed of in Nairobi.

Throughout the entire trip they have met with great kindness wherever they have been and everyone has been anxious to show them in every way.

German Army Claims.

IMPORTANT NOTE TO FARNCE.

Quality in Armaments.

NEWS OF DESPATCH LEAKS OUT PREMATURELY.

Paris, August 31. An important note from the French Ambassador in Berlin, which it is understood commensurates the German Government's views on the recognition of the German Army has been received at the Quai D'Orsay, and has been despatched to M. Herriot at Cherbourg.

The Foreign Office is silent in regard to its contents, but it is assumed to be an advance of Germany's claims to equality in armaments. It is understood that the British Government has already been approached verbally on the matter by the Wilhelmstrasse. M. Herriot is due to reach Paris to-morrow for a Cabinet meeting, which will consider the matter.

Meanwhile a message from Berlin states that German official reports, handed to the British new remarks in connection with the recognition of Germany's defences are somewhat illudent that the news has been allowed to slip out before it was known to the French Premier.—(Reuters.)

Premier Informed.

Rugby, September 1. On arrival at Cherbourg M. Herriot was informed of the contents of the German Aide Memoire, handed yesterday to the French Ambassador in Berlin proposing that negotiations on the subject of equal rights regarding armaments should be opened between the French and German Governments. In accordance with the terms of the consultative pact the British Government have been kept informed of developments on this subject.—British Official Wireless Service.

ARMY PROMOTIONS.

Two Field Marshals to be Appointed.

London, September 1. The "Daily Express" states that it is expected that the two senior Generals of the British Army, Sir Alexander Godley and Sir Philip Chetwode will be created Field Marshals.—(Reuters.)

Germany and Disarmament Conference.

BRITISH MEMORANDUM ON EQUALITY CLAIM.

Press Comment.

WITHDRAWAL FROM GENOVA CONDEMNED.

Germany's withdrawal from the Disarmament Conference is emphatically condemned in an official memorandum that has been issued by Great Britain. This statement has been well received by the British Press.

The memorandum outlines the British view of the nature of the final agreement to be reached at Geneva. It is suggested that each State would agree for itself a limitation, self-imposed and freely entered into. This freely negotiated agreement would replace the imposed obligation of the Treaty.

It is believed that Italy and Russia may suggest a postponement of the conference pending a settlement with Germany and it is not known, therefore whether the Bureau of the Disarmament Conference, which meets on Wednesday, will continue at the present.

French Suggestion.

Genève, Sept. 15. The text is published of a letter from Herr von Nostitz to the President of the Disarmament Conference. Germany's inability to participate at the Conference still remains the chief obstacle to the Disarmament Conference. The German Government will however follow the Conference with interest and will cooperate in the further activities by the course of the Conference.

Welsh Negotiations.
Berlin, Sept. 15. Germany had not intended replying to the French proposals on equality in armaments but observing that further reduction in armaments was a subject upon which the French Government had taken the initiative, she has returned the offer in Germany to the French.

British Delegation.
Highly, September 17. In Arthur Henderson, the 2nd. of the World Disarmament Conference, will leave for Geneva tomorrow. Henderson is expected to arrive in London next week of the Disarmament Conference.

John Simon, who will lead the British Delegation to the Disarmament Conference at Geneva, will leave for Geneva on Wednesday.

LORD FRANCIS SCOTT AT NAIVASHA

LORD FRANCIS SCOTT AT NAIVASHA

The Present Financial Situation.

ECONOMY CAN AND MUST BE CARRIED OUT.

Civil Service Memorandum.

SPEAKER'S REGRET AT A "SOMEWHAT PEEVISH ATTITUDE."

Lord Francis Scott addressed a well-attended meeting at Naivasha on Saturday when during the course of a review of the present financial situation in Kenya, he replied to the statements made by His Excellency to the recent deputation sponsored by the Nairobi Association.

He expressed his appreciation of the promise by His Excellency not to force further taxation if the country's Budget could be balanced, but he disapproved nothing short of a miracle could save the country from further taxation. Lord Francis Scott said it was not so pessimistic, and believed that the budget could be balanced without resorting to a miracle.

Lord Francis Scott also referred to the memorandum sent by the Civil Service Association, which he said showed a somewhat peevish attitude which could not do any good.

Reply to His Excellency.

The greater part of Lord Francis Scott's address at Naivasha on Saturday was devoted to his remarks on points in His Excellency's speech which he considered worthy of comment. He pointed out that the memorandum sponsored by Nairobi Association.

His Excellency had said that the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries. Officials who came out here came out on a definite agreement with the Colonial Office, and they were told what their scale of remuneration would be. It was not a question of subject to any alteration. It was subject to any alteration which the Colonial Office might see fit to make. Lord Francis Scott said that he was not in a position to say whether the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries. He said that he was not in a position to say whether the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries.

He said that he was not in a position to say whether the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries. He said that he was not in a position to say whether the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries. He said that he was not in a position to say whether the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries.

officials would be prepared to make further sacrifices, but they would not be prepared to make further sacrifices should any further sacrifice be demanded. He said that he was not in a position to say whether the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries.

A MEMORANDUM. "Somewhat Peevish Attitude."

Lord Francis Scott then drew attention to the memorandum sent by the Civil Service Association. He said that he was not in a position to say whether the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries.

The Levy on Salaries.

Then His Excellency said that the levy on salaries was a question of the Government's policy. He said that he was not in a position to say whether the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries.

one form or another. There were two methods by which that could be done. One was by the levying of a tax on the salaries of officials. The other was by the levying of a tax on the salaries of officials.

He said that he was not in a position to say whether the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries. He said that he was not in a position to say whether the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries.

The Outlets Problem.

Another point which His Excellency mentioned was the outlets problem. He said that he was not in a position to say whether the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries.

not forget the statement made by His Excellency that the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries. He said that he was not in a position to say whether the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries.

The Financial Position.

What they had got to deal with was the general position. He said that he was not in a position to say whether the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries.

Income Tax.

As income tax with regard to Kenya, Lord Francis said that everyone agreed that the best thing for Kenya to do was to get expenditure reduced. He said that he was not in a position to say whether the Government's policy was to reduce basic salaries.

Preparation and Marketing of Hemp Fibres.

REPORT BY THE IMPERIAL ECONOMIC COMMITTEE.

The Industry in East Africa.

LONG AND SHORT RANGE RESEARCH WORK EMPHATICALLY RECOMMENDED.

The Report of the Imperial Economic Committee on the preparation and marketing of hemp fibres contains much that is of interest to East Africa. Not only are the various Empire fields surveyed but the prospects for extending the use of hemp fibres for the making of ropes, strings and cords is discussed.

East Africa is now the greatest center of hemp production in the Empire but the Committee considers that there is still much to be done in these countries in regard to research work, both long and short range. It suggested that there is a great field for economical improvement in machinery as well as in agricultural processes.

A large general cordage market is open to East Africa and has been proved and the Governments of these countries are therefore recommended to consider a special economic survey of the industry. Of even greater importance is the need for the immediate establishment of standardized grades.

Standardized Grades. The Committee considers that the present cordage market open to East Africa is not only a large one but also a profitable one. It is estimated that the value of the cordage produced in the Empire is about £1,000,000 per annum. NAIROBI RACE MEETING.

JOCKEY CLUB'S EXPERIMENT PROVES FULLY JUSTIFIED.

Mackroy and Moore Share Honours.

MR. USSHER'S CLEVER VICTORY ON PASSE PARTOUT.

Excellent racing was seen at the Nairobi race meeting on Saturday. Fields were on the small side, although fifteen runners came under the starter's orders for the last race of the day. There was no denying the accuracy of the equipment of the Jockey Club in respect of arranging this special meeting for September, following an close upon the heels of the Nairobi Club's fixture. Several fine finishes were seen, particularly in the fourth race of the day, where Mackroy brought Symphony victory after being second last in a good part of the way. Mackroy also entered Daylight having to win in front of the favourite, but when Division Four, Moon had a couple of good wins for Major Baynes, both winners starting second favourites. It was very good indeed on the part in the Open Handicap by Passe Partout, which was a wonderful effort by Mr. Visher, who matched the lead and victory by the shortest of heads right on the post.

The day was one of the best in which Hanlin brought Mr. Deskin's 'Gumbel' home—divided, the first three horses past the judge's box. It was a popular win.

The going was not so hard as might have been expected. It was rather muddy, but for the conditions. Rain fell in the late afternoon, and made matters rather unpleasant and the going for the last race proved rather heavy. In the chase Mr. Visher took a long walk when Mackroy occurred in the water in the same race. Mr. Dumbpale was one of two jumps from home, and owing to his injuries was not allowed to ride in any of the races during the remainder of the afternoon.

First Race.

The following are the results: THREE YEAR OLD MAIDEN HANDICAP, 6 furlongs. Capt. Gooch and Major Guild's 'Gumbel' 3. Play, Telegrapher, and Wise Child, 3 yrs., 10.0. Major Guild 4. Mrs. J. LADIES' FASHIONS

A Letter from Paris.

GREY THE FAVOURITE COLOUR FOR FROCKS.

The older days, but it is usually bright blue, or, in some instances, dark blue, so, as to come from dark blue to grey.

Quite simple frocks in shades of grey with satin or crepe de chine are worn with matching ties. They are not with a slight touch of blue, rather low round neck, with a collar to match above, and a buttoned front in front and sides, and a row of buttons at the back of the waist.

Shoes are of low length on many occasions. They are often long on occasions that are worn over long-sleeved frocks, or they are, with length to show just the feet.

Not given regular opportunities for selection. Nature never allows us to play tricks with the material of our frocks, but a particularly interesting one is the fact that the average woman, especially the one whose job is sewing at home and bringing up a family, the necessity for change and variety is not so much a matter of choice as it is of necessity.

A point too often forgotten is that a holiday does not necessarily mean going away from home, but it is a big dream on a slender purse. Though a change of air and some are irremediable help, change of occupation and thought is even better. For the frock which is a relief to the mind can be made to be a relief to the body.

Food On The.

It is easy to eat an unpalatable meal. But it is not so easy to eat a palatable one. The secret of a palatable meal is not in the food, but in the way it is prepared. The secret of a palatable meal is not in the food, but in the way it is prepared.

With these people who boast about how strong they never need a holiday. Perhaps they may appear so. Certain individuals do start life with a large margin of strength, but they gradually lose it, and they are constantly calling upon this reserve, and it is not long before they are "broken down." In such a position, it will inevitably arrive at the physical and physical faculties are

The slender fitted dress worn of black with fringe has a beautiful herbage and long sleeves of thin colored lace.

For several months it is very hard to struggle from their line to the table. The way in which the white frock is really remarkable and a central study of the modern frock. It is not so much a matter of choice as it is of necessity.

White frocks in four rows. The way in which the white frock is really remarkable and a central study of the modern frock. It is not so much a matter of choice as it is of necessity.

NOTES FOR THE MOTORIST.

THE NEW MORRIS "TEN" MODEL.

Latest Addition to Already Popular Range of Cars.

PATENT "SAFETY FIRST" DEVICE.

Details of Projected Production.

(By the Managing Editor.)

THE man of the modern motorist wants. Mass production has undoubtedly paved the way to that, but each car must be a masterpiece of engineering, built with the highest quality of materials, and with the latest methods of construction. It is this that British motor-makers have done for the past twenty years, and it is this that has made their cars the most popular in the world.

By the laws of physics, and the nature of the motor, it is the sliding piston type. Cooling is effected by air drawn through the radiator. Transmission from motor to rear axle is by means of a shaft which is in a propeller shaft with fabric disc universal joints and centrifugal governor. The front wheels are driven by the steering wheel. The front suspension is by means of a coil spring. The rear suspension is by means of a coil spring. The front suspension is by means of a coil spring. The rear suspension is by means of a coil spring.

CARS WITHOUT REAR LIGHTS.

Common Practice.

(By the Managing Editor.)

THE fact that the rear of most cars has been the subject of much discussion in the past few months, is a sign that the motorist is becoming more and more interested in the safety of his car. It is a pity that the law is so lax in this respect, and that the motorist is not more fully protected.

INCOME TAX.

But—There appears to be a good deal of misunderstanding as to the incidence of Income Tax, and the letter from "Citizen" in your issue of September 10 is a very good illustration. He says: "Farmers imagine that because their income from the land barely covers maintenance and they should be exempted. Not so, however, since their lands, houses, crops, stock, etc., will be valued and assessed for income tax. The only profit is made or not. Thus, they may contest the tax in Court, but the inconveniences and expense, year by year, will be heavy."

I do not know upon what basis he makes that statement. Without knowing the terms of the Ordinance governing an Income Tax, it is, I suggest, impossible to make such a statement. But as an expert in being seconded from London to advise the East African Government, it does not seem to me to be necessary that, if any Ordinance is introduced here, it would be based on the English Income Tax Acts.

The English Income Tax under Schedule B is a tax on means of taxing the income of farmers. It is a tax in respect of the occupation of land. The income arising from the occupation or cultivation of these lands is taken to be one-tenth of the Annual Value, but where the owner can show that the net of the year has profits during the year fall short of this one-tenth of the annual value, his income is taken at the actual amount of the profits (Finance Act, 1927, Section 27). If owing to drought, locusts, low prices or other causes, there have been no profits, then no tax would be payable.

"Citizen" goes on to say: "In Great Britain, lands and houses are being sold almost daily at any old price because owners are unable to find the money to pay their taxes." If he will examine the situation a little more closely, I think he will find that the position is not quite so simple. There are a number of contributory factors, but speaking generally, some of the difficulties to which he refers are:—(1) The burden of taxation on land duties. Perhaps the latter has been a more important factor. Reduced incomes due to heavy local and imperial taxation, have necessitated people giving up large establishments and taking smaller ones. But the necessity from time to time of finding large sums for death duties has undoubtedly aggravated the position. There again the present problem has also had something to do with the giving up of these large houses. There are the properties that are being sold as he says "at any old price." But I question very much whether that can be said generally.

Yours etc.
GEORGE A. TYSON
 Nairobi,
 September 12, 1920.

But—May I put forward a few points in regard to Income Tax and its effects from the point of view of a retired Army Officer.

1. A considerable proportion of this capital, both that of large companies and of private individuals, which has been put into the development of this Colony, came here for the following two reasons: (a) The high income tax in Home, (b) The absence of income tax here. Income tax is now put on here at anything like the figure which is mentioned. It is obvious, to the Colony for the reasons (a) and (b) above.

2. A considerable proportion of the men who have come here to develop the Colony for the following two reasons:—(a) The high income tax at Home. (b) The absence of income tax here.

If income tax is now put on here at anything like the figure which is mentioned, it is obvious that no more settlers can come here for the reasons (a) and (b) above.

3. The imposition of Income Tax will make it quite impossible for the retired officer to settle here. If he has a family, and it will drive away those who are already settled here, as living here will become a real expense—once in leaving the other places where he retained offices settle in order to avoid paying the English Income Tax. Owing to the high freight and duties and the high prices of articles produced in this country, the price of stores here is 25 to 100 per cent higher here than at the same time in Home. One of the items which imported articles are a necessity pays some 20 per cent of the money spent in this country on this difference in the price of the goods.

No retired Officer on pension can afford to pay income tax here on the basis of the other places where he held his offices. Passages here to be deducted for by the officer settled here, while this is not a heavy tax.

4. There has been a considerable agitation recently to try and induce retired Indian Officers to come to the Colonies. One of the main inducements offered was the absence of income tax. It is to be hoped that if income tax is introduced here, the officers who are settling here will be informed that living here is more expensive than in Home.

It appears to me that the imposition of income tax at anything like the mentioned figure in a Colony which has obtained a considerable proportion of its capital and settlers owing to the absence of income tax can only result in a reduction in the number of settlers. As it is the officers who did most of the money to run the Colony, the result of further taxation will be a further reduction in revenue. In such a practical situation the question of naturally arising is this:—(a) It appears to me that the only persons to benefit from a reduction in the number of settlers are those members of the Government to whom the settler is anathema and who think that the country would be a more pleasant place to administer if there were no settlers. These again are the Government who are going to put on the tax. It gives one to think seriously.

Yours etc.
W. P. BRYAN
 Lieutenant Colonel Indian Medical Service (Retired).
 Nairobi,
 September 12, 1920.

But—All thinking people are becoming increasingly disturbed by the present trend of events in the Colony, and I feel it might be an attitude to Major Gregan's constant reiteration of so-called facts, if you could induce some of the men-in-the-street, who after all pay the piper, to give their views of the situation.

The points of the controversy, to which I should like to draw attention are:—

(1) The great need of the moment is a sense of proportion, and much as I admire Major Gregan, in my opinion he has lost all sense of proportion in the present crisis. Great Britain secured the administration of the whole world at the end of last year, by the magnificent courage and shrewdness with which the population endured the almost unbearable burdens and privations that were necessary to balance the "debt" which she had when we ask for a further share in the government of this country, that in the time of the Colony's direst need, we shirked the burden and we shirked the cheap magnificence of passive resistance and non-operation? (2) The attitude and manner in which the Government of Great Britain is to be accused, but no mention is ever made by Major Gregan of the immense reductions in expenditure that have already been secured at great sacrifice to those concerned. Hundreds of people have already been retrograded both from the Railway and the Civil Service. Major Gregan's contribution to this sacrifice is further retrogradation, further reductions in salaries, and no further taxation for Major Gregan. The wholesale dismissal of Civil Servants or the reduction of their salaries to the 1914 level would do far more permanent harm to the Colony than the present financial crisis. If we who know Kenya are not sufficient courage and faith to believe in Kenya's power of recovery here we can expect the rest of the world to believe in us?

(3) I dislike income tax as much as anyone in the country, but it is an undoubted fact that there are many people in this country who contribute practically nothing in proportion to their means, either to Kenya or Great Britain. What I agree that it is not a very valuable tax for the farming community, it has the one saving grace that it is graded according to our means. The grain farmers, for example, have been so hard hit by locusts and world prices that probably some of them has a taxable income, but that is no reason why others who are more fortunate in their farming ventures, and those who earn large incomes out of law, patent, rents, etc., should not contribute in the present crisis so helpfully.

Many of us who have given some thought to the subject, but not being endowed with Major Gregan's wonderful gift of strategy, find it difficult adequately to place our views before the country, are of opinion that income tax will be far fairer method of taxation than our present system under which those who earn large incomes in the country, and those who come to Kenya to avoid the payment of income tax in Great Britain, contribute very little more to the Colony in revenue than the smallest wage earners. When the Income Tax Bill is published, it is up to the Government, and to all of us, to see that it is so worded that it cannot possibly increase the burden on those who are making a pliant struggle for survival against almost impossible odds. If this is done, as I am confident it will be, will income tax be a blessing to the country as a whole, even if it entails some slight hardship on Major Gregan?

(4) I am convinced that the Committee that is enquiring into the further economies that can be effected, is perfectly capable of performing the task entrusted to it, but that we can do nothing but harm by pre-judging the issue.

Finally I agree wholeheartedly with Lord Francis Scott's thesis raising the population to Emery on the most possible way to help the Colony over the crisis, and I would appeal to Major Gregan and to all sections of the community to encourage the people in the Old Country by cheerfully shouldering the burden that is inevitable if we are to pull the country through to prosperity.

Yours etc.

Prevention of Damage by Vermin to Crops.

PROVED METHODS OF DEALING WITH PESTS.

Effective Use of Poisons.

COMBATING MONKEYS, BARBOONS, BUSH PIGS AND PORCUPINES.

A considerable amount of damage to crops, both European and Native, is done every year by the depredations of monkeys, hyenas, bush pig and porcupine while in some places even all birds have caused trouble.

Considerable attention has been devoted to this matter, not only in Kenya but elsewhere. In the following article the Acting Game Warden outlines the latest proposals for dealing with these pests.

Although in many cases it has been found that poisons are the most effective way of ridding a shamba or plantation of vermin, the type of poison used should be varied according to the animal with which it is concerned. In dealing with monkeys, for instance, the use of the poisons is otherwise the objects of a campaign may be defeated.

The Need for Care.

Frequent requests are received by the Kenya Game Department from settlers and natives for advice as to means of dealing with damage done to crops by such pests as monkeys, bush pig, wild cats, baboons, hyenas and porcupines. In many cases the settlers have abandoned cultivation, while natives have been driven to migrate to new districts. Monkeys, bush pig, baboons, hyenas and porcupines are, among the worst offenders.

A representative of the "East African Standard" has obtained from the Game Department advice on the most useful methods of dealing with these pests, which are as follows:—
Under cover of the night, hence the name, the porcupine is a voracious destroyer of crops, and often it is necessary to shoot it before it can do any damage to the crops. It is necessary to shoot it before it can do any damage to the crops. It is necessary to shoot it before it can do any damage to the crops.

For instance, it is essential that all attacks of this pest should be met by a poisoning campaign being undertaken. The most effective poison is strychnine, which should be used in the form of a bait. The bait should be made of a mixture of sugar and strychnine, and should be placed in a place where the monkey is likely to be seen. The bait should be placed in a place where the monkey is likely to be seen.

Danger to Dogs.
Again where domesticated dogs are present, it is essential that the dogs should be kept on a leash and should be kept away from the bait. The bait should be placed in a place where the monkey is likely to be seen.

there, he may escape by vomiting.

In a few cases it may be found that hyenas refuse to take most poisons in these customary ways. They have probably become wary through using previous poisons. In such cases the use of a poison of a different kind should be tried.

Baboons and Monkeys.

Baboons and monkeys are difficult to deal with. They are very wary and will not take most poisons. In such cases the use of a poison of a different kind should be tried.

Once they become accustomed to a certain poison, they will not take it. In such cases the use of a poison of a different kind should be tried.

Hyenas.

These unpleasant creatures, which are the worst of the pests, are difficult to deal with. They are very wary and will not take most poisons. In such cases the use of a poison of a different kind should be tried.

Porcupines.

Porcupines are another pest which is difficult to deal with. They are very wary and will not take most poisons. In such cases the use of a poison of a different kind should be tried.

Bush Pigs.

The following notes on the subject of dealing with pigs were made by the Secretary of the Kenya Game Department.

The most effective method of dealing with pigs is by poisoning. The bait should be made of a mixture of sugar and strychnine, and should be placed in a place where the pig is likely to be seen.

the delegates to have which has been and is being done with a view to advertising Kenya in the best possible way, so that new settlers may be attracted and the claims of the country may be made known to tourists. From a pathfinding representative practically the whole of the settled areas it should be possible for the recently formed Kenya Association to glean some useful suggestions for the promotion of the important work on which it has embarked.

FRIDAY, SEPT 28 1951.

Kenya Agriculture in 1951.

In a country whose primary and practically only source of wealth is agriculture the annual report of the Department of Agriculture is necessarily followed with considerable interest. Extensive pricing notes of the main figures for the year 1951 have already been published and it will have been observed that whilst the country suffered considerably from the big slump in the prices of main crops, the position on the whole was not so bad as it could not have been. It was clear that despite the added discouragement of the locust infestation, the industry is still far from the lowest ebb. It is certainly a noteworthy fact that the value of agricultural exports last year was over a million pounds less than that of 1950. That was due, not so much to a falling off in production which indeed cost only 12.5 per cent. less than that of the record created the previous year, as to the unprecedented depression in values. The brighter side of the picture is provided by the indication that steady progress was made in the coffee industry; the output of steel fish suffered a smaller reduction than might have been anticipated having regard to marketing conditions; there was a substantial increase in the production of tea, and, numerically at least, the livestock industry made progress. In all the circumstances a review of the position justifies the cautious optimism expressed by the Director when he says in the course of the Report: "Having regard to the prevailing conditions, the figures do not provide ground for undue pessimism and the situation is not without some encouraging features. . . . Among the more favourable aspects disclosed by the Report it is especially to be noted that the number of occupiers has not diminished, whereas the statistics in average area per occupier is by no means necessarily a retrogressive movement." Through the Report there is the suggestion that conditions might have been worse; that there is no reason to justify faith in the country's recuperative powers; and that Kenya is likely to respond quickly to any definite movement away from the world depression. The country has much reason to be grateful for the creative and comprehensive work being performed by the Department of Agriculture, but it is especially of unprecedented difficulty the Department has been of the greatest help to farmers who have been in need of all the assistance that could be given. It is impossible to read the annual report without being greatly impressed by the enormous field of work covered by the Department and the manner in which problems are being tackled and overcome. One thing that does emerge is the happy balance which is maintained between scientific and research work on the one hand and technical work as represented by field services. One of the most important developments of the year under review was the appointment of an Agricultural Economist to the Department whose work is (to quote from the Report): "of increasing economic significance in regard to the ways and the directions in which productive effort are applied." There is no doubt that the work will have a repayable value and that its benefits will be realized by farmers generally. There is ample evidence of the close and helpful co-operation between the Department and the farming community. There is no sense of aloofness; in the contrary much which suggests a sympathetic understanding of the difficulties and the need to find solutions. In this

NATIVE STOCK ON FARMS

Committee of Enquiry Not Yet Appointed.

In submitting his report of action to Thurston's secretary the Convention of Association at the Memorial Hall, Nairobi, the Secretary (Major C. E. Gaitstall) stated that the question of formal and native-owned stock on farms had been discussed with His Excellency the Governor, who had agreed to extend the terms of reference of the Committee appointed to consider the Resident Native Labour Ordinance, to cover that question.

Owing to pressure of work in the Attorney General's Department it had been impossible to date to arrange for any meeting of the Committee.

The Hon. Conway Harvey, M.L.C. (Loko), who attended the meeting, said it was necessary for them to know the personnel of the Committee.

The Chairman (Mr. C. E. Archer) replied that the Committee had not yet been appointed, but the Chief Native Commissioner, on behalf of Government, had accepted Convention's four nominations to the Committee.

direction invaluable assistance has been given by the continued issue of pamphlets dealing with specific branches of agriculture. Considerable attention has been paid to the possibility of developing new industries and of extending the present production of already proved crops. It speaks well for the staying powers of the farming community that despite the most difficult period in the agricultural history of the Colony, farmers have demonstrated such qualities of endurance and courage that, notwithstanding financial stress, the majority have been able to persevere. Evidently there are indications that there will be no increase in the tonnage of agricultural produce for export during the coming season. If that promise is borne out, it is bound to have an early and favourable reaction, even if there is no increase in market prices; since it will mean more money coming into the Colony and an inevitable improvement in the country's general trade position.

Need for Further Funds for Kenya Land Bank.

URGED BY CONVENTION OF ASSOCIATIONS. Suggested Means for Raising Capital.

RESTORATION OF THE COLONY'S FINANCIAL STABILITY. At Friday's session of the Convention of Associations a resolution was unanimously adopted urging upon Government the need for providing adequate funds as soon as possible for the Kenya Land Bank.

It was stated during the debate that the Land Bank could obtain sufficient funds on the open market for the purpose of meeting all applications for loans.

A further suggestion was submitted that monies derived from the sale of land by Government and all land rents, should be placed at the disposal of the Land Bank and not treated as general revenue.

Certain speakers suggested that the reason for the refusal to grant further funds for Land Bank purposes was to force settlers to agree against their wills to certain forms of taxation.

A Threat to Settlers. The following motion by the agents of the Convention of Associations relating to the Land Bank was adopted: "That the committee moved by Mr. Robert Shaw (U.K. Settlers Association)...

ECONOMY REGARDED AS FIRST ESSENTIAL

Unanimous Resolution by Convention.

NO IMMEDIATE NEW TAXATION.

Future Action Left in the Hands of Executive.

The whole of the opening sitting of the Convention was taken up by a discussion on the demand for economy in the Government services.

A resolution was adopted unanimously to the effect that the people of the Colony would oppose with determination any further measures of immediate taxation, and that their attitude towards any proposals for such measures would be dependent upon the economies proposed by Government.

A further resolution was adopted leaving future action in the hands of the Convention Executive in collaboration with the Elected Members.

In the event of Government proposals for such measures, it was suggested that the presentation of a petition to His Majesty the King might be considered.

A Petition to the King?

The first resolution moved at the Convention of Association at Nairobi last week was the following:

"That this Convention is in agreement with the terms of the Civil Service Bill as passed by the Elected Members, and offers its support to Government in the carrying out of the provisions of the Bill as a condition to any further taxation which may be imposed."

It was proposed on behalf of the Convention that Mr. Robert Shaw (the Settlers' Association) should be asked to prepare a memorandum on the subject of the Bill, and to submit it to the Executive Committee of the Convention.

Mr. Robert Shaw said that he had prepared a memorandum on the subject of the Bill, and that he would submit it to the Executive Committee of the Convention.

Discharged on a Technicality.

ALLEGED CONTEMPT OF COURT'S ORDER.

Judge's Ruling.

NO DOUBT THAT THERE WAS A TECHNICAL DEFICIENCY.

Mr. Justice Louis Smith, in the Supreme Court, at Nairobi, on Monday, said he had no objection to the fact that Mr. Bondfield at the time she removed the two children from the custody of Mr. P. Bondfield, and from the jurisdiction of the court, had full knowledge of the contents of the order made on June 20.

This type of contempt, he said, was criminal, and therefore the very greatest care must be taken to ensure that the proceedings laid down had been meticulously followed. "It would appear that although there may be no doubt that the respondent, Mrs. Bondfield, had fully and lawfully obeyed the Court's order on the legal technicality of the order, she is entitled to be discharged. It is therefore made the necessary order by the discharge, but in view of the circumstances of the case made to the court, the order is made on the following terms:—

The decision of Mr. Justice Louis Smith was followed by the hearing of an application by Mr. Bondfield for the return of the children to his custody. Mr. Bondfield's application was refused by the court, and the children were returned to the custody of Mrs. Bondfield.

A MODEL VILLAGE AT ELDORET.

NATIVE LOCATION SCHEME SUCCESS.

Changed Conditions.

CATERING FOR THE WELFARE OF AFRICANS.

At Eldoret a model village has grown up in which the African employees of the town and neighborhood are well catered for. Not only is there excellent accommodation at rents far below that which would be charged, but the premises have and a running and athletic track is in course of preparation.

This Native Location scheme has been undertaken by the Eldoret Municipal Board and the annual report shows it has just been issued. In a comprehensive review of the activities of this important body it is clearly shown that the scheme has proved an unqualified success ever since its inception.

The appreciation of the Africans for the undertaking is demonstrated by the fact that when the first three blocks of buildings were opened every room was occupied within twenty-four hours. Since that time the premises have been extended. At the close of the year there was an excess of revenue over expenditure.

Social Amenities.

The first annual report of the Eldoret Municipal Board, issued in 1931, is an important undertaking of the Eldoret Municipal Board, and makes interesting and interesting reading. It shows that the welfare of the natives are a frequent subject of the notice of the public. The report is divided into eleven sections, comprising origin, education, religion, occupation and organization, and health.

Dr. Cavonius regarding the constitution outlined by Mr. Ornam as one at which the colored voters are not satisfied. Mr. O'Shea, and was the time occupied in trying to find a better arrangement. It was the speaker, held drawing nice some people, and people liked drawing constitutions. Dr. O'Shea declined the appeal to be made in his motion, though he knew it would be defeated. In the end he was quite unhappy because of his anti-Indian policy which he up held in his support.

That in view of the Mandate recently issued by the League of Nations the time has come when the Government should consider whether it should not frame a Constitution for the Government of this Colony which should be in accordance with the Mandate.

And it therefore remains to the Executive the task of drawing up in collaboration with the Elected Members, a constitution which it can submit to the country for consideration, and final voting on by a session of Convention called specially for that purpose.

They could not, he argued, ask for effective control of the country until they were prepared to accept responsibility of the Government of the country. He urged Members to do this by passing some of the Official Members during the interval of a Council session? But his reminder of Convention of the independence of Elected Members on economic issues.

Constitutional Advance Considered Overdue.

CONVENTION CALLS FOR AN UNOFFICIAL MAJORITY.

An Acceptable Basis.

TO BE SOUGHT BY EXECUTIVE AND ELECTED MEMBERS.

There was a long debate in the Convention of Associations on Friday on the subject of European representation in the Kenya Legislative Council. A resolution was carried in favor of the fact that the time had arrived when a constitutional advance was overdue and urging His Majesty's Government that it was necessary for the constitution to be altered so as to provide for an unofficial majority in the Legislature.

It was agreed that the Executive of the Convention should work out details in conjunction with the Elected Members of a suitable scheme of unofficial representation and that this should be referred back to a special session of the Convention.

A subsequent motion to the effect that the Convention should consider whether the time had not come when it should frame a Constitution for the government of the Colony, was negatived by a large majority.

Special Session to be Held.

An unofficial majority on the Legislature Council was asked for by Elected Members at a special session of the Convention of Associations. Mr. G. J. Glasford, one of the Executive of the Convention, has been asked to call a special session of the Convention to be held at Nairobi on the 15th inst.

CLOSE OF THE CONVENTION.

SESSION ENDS ON SATURDAY.

Kenya Convention of Associations through the session to end just before noon on Saturday. Commenting on Thursday, a full day and on Friday delegates on from 8.30 a.m. until after 7 p.m., with the usual luncheon adjournment and a short break for tea. Even then the agenda could not be finished, although a few motions were withdrawn, and the Board of Agriculture a number of members being present to make up a quorum that the Sunday morning sitting could be arranged.

The session was called primarily for the purpose of coordinating the many resolutions passed throughout the country under the recent Manifesto of the Elected Members and stating that there should be further taxation until the report of the Executive Advisory Committee was available and had been considered. The opportunity was also taken to present against increased taxation, and income tax in particular, but to express the view that the time was ripe for a further constitutional advance in the government of the country.

Another important subject of debate was the necessity for getting the Land Bank further capital to enable it to perform the purp for which it was brought into being, namely assistance to agriculture. Motions in this and other directions passed, with one exception, which will probably submit to the Board of Agriculture a memorandum suggesting the issue by the bank of currency notes as legal tender.

M. C. K. Amber presided over the session and he was able to do so as far as possible and yet not fallow.

GENERAL MANAGER'S VIEWS.

Service Sold at Figure Which Only Pays Haulage Costs.

During the recent session of the Convention of Associations considerable interest attached to a discussion on railway rates on matters affecting the Kenya and Uganda Railways and Harbours outside the present position which had necessitated a revision of the existing arrangements.

It was necessary, he said, to organise the maize industry so as to make the best use of the facilities the Railway could offer. A compromise had been arrived at, but he could hold out no hope of an alteration to that compromise.

A resolution was passed that the Convention viewed with alarm the possible extinction of the maize industry owing largely to the increase in railway rates, and requesting the Government to take steps to prevent this occurring.

The Health Officer Welles Ombia is successfully carrying out a most important part of the scheme. A two-room house in the marriage hall has been allotted to the health officer representative and his wife, and taken full advantage of by the residents in the locality.

The capital cost of the entire scheme, as already stated, is £14,500, and of this sum the Board is faced with a commitment for interest and redemption of the loan of £2,000. This loan was granted to the Board by Government for a period of thirty years repayable in half-yearly instalments together with interest; the latter at the rate of 6 per cent. In addition to this amount of £200 per annum is set aside for the maintenance and repairs. The revenue in 1931 amounted to £1,245 and after all expenses had been met provision made for interest and repayment of the instalment of £2,000 to the Housing Repairs Equipment Fund, the resulting balance shows an excess revenue over expenditure for the year of £145.

A MILESTONE IN EAST AFRICAN HISTORY

First Newspaper Rotary in E. Africa.

Installation of the First Newspaper Rotary Press

AN EAST AFRICAN STANDARD DEVELOPMENT.

Interesting Ceremony.

DEMONSTRATION OF FAITH IN THE COLONY.

People representative of almost every phase of public and commercial life in East Africa were present on Sunday evening as guests of the "East African Standard" to witness the official inauguration of the first newspaper rotary press in East Africa.

In the course of an interesting ceremony, Mr. E. F. Mayer, Chairman of the East African Standard Board of Directors tracing the history of the newspaper from its modest beginning in Mombasa to the present day when its greatly increasing circulation had made the latest development necessary. He declared that the enterprise was a sign of faith in the future of Kenya.

Fascinating History.

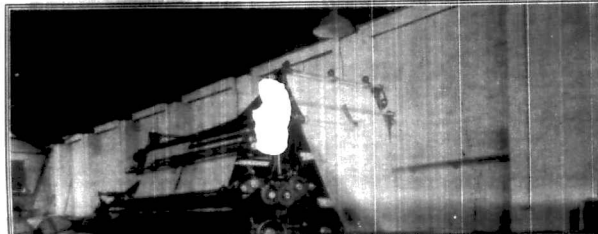

A new lead-line in East African history was cast on Monday night when the East African Standard was presented with the first newspaper rotary printing building near the corner of the National Bank in Nairobi. Mr. Mayer said that the Standard was growing up with the country.

The change-over, Mr. Mayer said, would not have been possible except for the splendid help given by the Institution of Mechanical Engineers. It was difficult to find a more loyal staff than the East African Standard possessed at present. The machine was not only easy to operate but also easy for African operators, but he maintained, in spite of their apprehensions, that they had not a job to do in the country, in any of the conditions in which they were working, they would not have spent $40,000 in erecting the machine.

Optimism Justified.

"Our optimism from the day we started, Mr. Mayer said, has justified itself and I think it will justify itself once more" (loud cheer). When paper comes in the morning you may find it in the morning with a leading article every day, and the other weeklies, however, first of all the news has to be gathered, not only from the country, but also by radio from all over the world. News in a short form was coming through daily by air and by the post. Mr. Mayer said that the East African Standard was not only a newspaper but a news service. It was not only a newspaper but a news service. It was not only a newspaper but a news service.

The New Machine.

Speaking of the machine itself, Mr. Mayer said that it was a great piece of machinery. It was not only a newspaper but a news service. It was not only a newspaper but a news service. It was not only a newspaper but a news service.

THE UNOFFICIAL CONFERENCE.

Sir—In view of the assembly of the Intercolonial Official Conference on the 29th inst. I would like to voice the desire that the several States represented there should try to bring a close alliance with our friends to the South, in the Union of South Africa, the Rhodesia and Nyasaland. I feel strongly that constructive work should be done at that same time. We will be linked up in some possible loose form of federation, within the Empire, extending from Cape Province to the Cape. The best wish with it is to be pushed into a corner, as we were by the Hon. the Hon. the Hon. Secretary of State for the Colonies, my dear Sir, in the House of Commons, by Sir George Harcourt, Sir Alan Buxton and others, which caused Lord Curzon to come down from his high horse, when he had quite rightly given up by others and lay face in adversity. (While dealing with a powerful and influential Director, who has been in the past when they often give a concession which is a little revenue, but which is when delayed, rejected or dismissed, it is a good deal better to appear direct and not circled through the local business houses, but the purpose of the meeting was to help and credit all of which relate to the general interest as well as on the revenue.)

"NATIVE DEPENDENCY." It is not the very good way of moving to the Native generally. Dependence is the best way of moving to the native and employers him out of the "Native village" and also have looking the suggestion—Editor.

(G.) We cannot agree that what you suggest is in the mood of the present, but we do not intend to be served by public villages, and also have looking the suggestion—Editor.

Largely as the result of departmental propaganda and experiment in past years its marketing arrangements with recommendations thereon, considerable importations of seed by private growers are now taking place.

Beginning with trials at the Scott Agricultural Laboratories and followed by multiplication in Native Council seed farms, a considerable series of seed potatoes of improved varieties are now being raised in quantity. It is intended that these varieties should be distributed to the growers in the native reserves, some of which are susceptible to various diseases.

With Agricultural, Economist and the Agricultural Officer (Mr. Bailey) have been responsible for the work done in this connection.

Exports of potatoes rose slightly from the revenue of 1929, as shown in the following table:

Soldier M.P. to Visit East Africa.

UNDER AUSPICES OF COLONIAL OFFICE.

Sir Aylmer Hunter-Watson.

TO UNDERSTAND THE POINT OF VIEW OF THE MAN ON THE SPOT.

STANDARD CORRESPONDENT.

London, September 14. Lieutenant General Sir Aylmer Hunter-Watson, K.C.M.G., D.S.O., M.P., accompanied by Lady Hunter-Watson, is visiting East Africa during the coming winter.

The general Winton is journeying to East Africa under the auspices of the Colonial Office, for the purpose of gathering first-hand information for his book, "The Chief Officer of his home as much as he can if conditions, political, industrial, and social, in East Africa, in order to be able to understand, and to get others to understand, the point of view of the man on the spot in the various matters which are the subject of his Government's Department.

The Kenya Tour.

As a result of a recent Mission of Enquiry to the Kenya Territory, the Government have decided to send a mission to the Kenya Territory to investigate the conditions of the country and to report on the results of their mission.

Miscellaneous Crops.

A useful guidance has been made in the production of essential oils for export, and the reports during the year 1931 reached a total value of £8,501, as compared with £12,700 in the preceding year. The notable feature of the return is the appearance of the U.K. States as a customer for the main portion of the supplies exported.

Animal Industry.

The Division of Animal Industry embraces the administration of the Diseases of Animals Ordinance, the Veterinary Services, Veterinary Research and Animal Husbandry, and the purely veterinary services, dealing with diseases-investigations and control-which are related to the generally agricultural industry. It covers swine, mutton, chicken, guinea fow, and other animals, and may lead to important developments in the future.

Prison Not Recognized.

So will be Harris regarding the "recognition" of the Prison of Wales and his brother that the war turned away by the official on duty at the station, because he was not in evening dress when the London correspondent of the "Standard" the Prisoner landed at the station. The Prisoner's name was Mr. J. H. Jones, who was after his first of April, when he was only 18 years of age, he was treated the same as other prisoners.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF COTTON GROWING.

EXPORT PREMIUM PROVIDED BY PORTUGAL.

Propaganda Campaign.

(Of considerable interest to residents in areas available for cotton growing is a Decree published in Lisbon on the 10th inst. by the Government in Lisbon.)

It provides that an export premium on raw cotton produced in the Portuguese Colonies and possessions in the East Indies for a period of two years. It further provides that any balance of the premium made available for the payment of premiums, after all demands upon it have been met, shall be set aside as a reserve development fund.

The Decree is divided into five parts, the first relating to the creation and management of the export premium and the second dealing with the development of cotton-growing.

The export premium is payable on cotton harvested in the Portuguese colonies and shipped to the Republic of Portugal. The Office has taken no part in exhibitions this autumn and clearly the staff cannot get the full benefit of the scheme, as they are facing a big renewal in a short space of time.

I understand that the East African works with which the present scheme is concerned will be a transition of the cotton in un-employment. The Office has taken no part in exhibitions this autumn and clearly the staff cannot get the full benefit of the scheme, as they are facing a big renewal in a short space of time.

The premium of the difference between eight centes and the average quotation of the market for the purpose of the London committee's exchange of the New York market.

Mode of Application.

Applications for payment of premium will be made through the Government's cotton agents, who will be accompanied by a certificate of origin authenticated by the Chief of the Government's cotton agents, who will be accompanied by a certificate of origin authenticated by the Chief of the Government's cotton agents.

Uganda Visit.

At Entebbe they have been invited to stay with the Governor, Sir Bernard Bourdillon, with Lady Bourdillon.

Crop Prospects for This Season.

LITTLE CHANGE REPORTED SINCE PREVIOUS MONTH. Favourable Climatic Conditions.

GOOD YIELDS ANTICIPATED EXCEPT FOR LOCUST DAMAGE. The second crop report, that for August, issued by the Statistics branch of the Kenya Department of Agriculture, gives promise of good yields in most districts except where damage has been caused by the locust infestation.

In the Trans Nzoia district the maize planted shows an increase of six and a half per cent. over the area harvested last season, whilst in the Uasin Gishu the increase is 30 per cent. Although no definite estimate of yields is yet attempted it is hoped that in the September report it will be found possible to make a forecast. But from the reports of Crop Correspondents it appears that the prospects are good.

Increased Acreages. The following Crop Report for the month of August has been compiled by the Statistics branch of the Department of Agriculture: Crop Correspondents' reports for the month of August show little change as compared with the preceding month.

Climatic conditions during the month were good in most districts, and where damage by locusts had not been severe, good yields are anticipated.

Maize. The area under maize is reported to have increased to 177,225 acres, an increase of 10,441 acres or 6.0 per cent. The area planted in 1931 was estimated at 165,884 acres and there is a thin surplus of 11,341 acres over the area planted in 1930.

Wheat. The area under wheat is reported to have increased to 100,000 acres, an increase of 5,000 acres or 5.0 per cent. The area planted in 1931 was estimated at 95,000 acres and there is a surplus of 5,000 acres over the area planted in 1930.

Other crops. The area under other crops is reported to have increased to 100,000 acres, an increase of 5,000 acres or 5.0 per cent. The area planted in 1931 was estimated at 95,000 acres and there is a surplus of 5,000 acres over the area planted in 1930.
