LAND, SEA, AIR FORCES FOR EAST AFRICA

British strategic base in defence system

MEGATON BOMB BEYOND SOON

British reserves of land, sea and air forces would be based in East Africa as given in the Defence White Paper issued last night. The paper said Britain must at all times be ready to defend East Africa and the territories in the Persian Gulf.

Although the defence budget—described as the biggest change in the history of the defence budget—cuts expenditure by £612,000,000, the White Paper reveals that Britain has the megaton bomb, which will soon be tested and manufactured. In addition, atomic bombs are already in steady production and the R.A.F. has a substantial number.

The Government warned the British people there was a present or imminent danger of a surprise attack from a 10-bomb or atom-bomb attack. The paper said that the megaton bomb would be maintained and later replaced by a greater one of 100 megatons.

There would be a revision of the role of naval bases. It was planned to strengthen bases in Cyprus and other areas. The paper also said that the British fleet would be maintained and later replaced by a greater one of 100 ships.

TURKANA TAKE EASILY TO MOP AND BROOM

TURKANA women living on Mr. David Partridge's farm in Turkana are showing a keen interest in domestic appliances which Miss Evelyn Davies, the community development officer for the British District, has brought to them. Miss Davies and Miss Barbara Collins, one of the staff, visit the Partridge farm to teach the Turkana women.

These women are always followed by a discussion in which Miss Davies explains the various technical appliances in the field.

There have been ten visits of advice that the Turkana women have been quick to take. Miss Davies has a magazine that holds their feet. They would like to have a different type of broom, but under the leave of the staff.

ONE-MAN FISHING VENTURE BENEFITS LAKE BARINGO TRIBES

STORY by Redvers Hains PICTURES by Edwin Mullis

DEEP in the heart of Kenya's Rift Valley Province, tucked between low-lying hills of the crescent, playground for hippo, paria and herd, lies the lake and home of the Baringo in Kenya.

Here is perhaps the only fishing industry in the Colony run by one man and his wife. Mr. and Mrs. David Roberts, the industry is a new project which is providing work and a source of revenue for the tribes that live along the shores of the lake and on the larger of the islands that dot its 55 square-mile surface.

The lake, known as Lake Baringo, is 55 square miles in area and is the Government's largest lake in the Rift Valley.

It had David Roberts, one of the first settlers, who came to the lake in 1902. He was the first to see the lake's potential as a source of fish and as a source of revenue for the tribes that live along its shores.

David had no idea that he was the first to see the lake's potential as a source of fish and as a source of revenue for the tribes that live along its shores.

He was the first to see the lake's potential as a source of fish and as a source of revenue for the tribes that live along its shores.

In the past he was working on the small fish factory. Two sturdy children, a boy and a girl, were helping him to run the factory.

A herd of about 100 cattle and 500 sheep were kept on the island. The fish were sold to the tribes and to the Government.

On the island there is a small settlement of about 100 people. The fish are sold to the tribes and to the Government.

limited fish and to make fish for marketing purposes in Kenya.

The Administration was interested and, consequently, accepted the proposal with conditions and has granted a ten-year licence.

The licence stipulates the extent, size of fishing camps at certain specified points around the lake and on the island.

There are two camps on the island. It also requires the licence holder to employ a certain number of fish.

From these African fishing camps, he must fish at least 1,500 fish a day. It is not possible to do this in one day.

POWER with ECONOMY

- POWER—Drawbar H.P. 41.6 and maximum sustained pull of 5,800 lbs. will ensure adequate power for all farm work at any altitude.
- ECONOMY—The R.M.C. Diesel Tractor was the most economical at both ploughing and hauling in the Finnish work efficiency trials and is indeed the most economical anywhere.
- STRENGTH—It's tough! Heavy main frame and rear axle casing to withstand shocks and stresses imposed during the severest working conditions.
- LOW COST PER HORSE POWER—The Nuffield is the cheapest tractor per h.p. despite generous standard equipment, including hood, power steering brakes, low meter, number plates, twin headlights, swinging drawbar and 14 x 30 tyres.
- SIMPLIFIED MAINTENANCE—Years of long service will prove the advantage of unit construction.
  - Completely accessible R.M.C. Diesel Engine with wet cylinder liners, pistons and connecting rods which can be removed through the top of the cylinder block.
  - Clutch can be dismantled without splitting the tractor or disturbing engine or gear box.
  - Final Drive Gears housed in separate unit from gear box for accessibility. Nuffield features which mean cheap maintenance, less idle time and longer life.

Instantaneous Starting — Easily Aligned Belt Pulley — Hydraulic Lift with Mechanical Lock — Two Hydraulic Toppings with Independent Controls — Long Axle Shafts and Sliding Hubs — Complete Driving Ease and Safety with Fingertip Control.

A Dangerous Error

Many married people believe that, if they do without making a will, all they possess will automatically pass to their husbands or wives. This is a false idea, but one which is a very real danger. Let them be advised that, if they do not make a will, their property will be divided equally between their surviving spouse and their children. In such a case, the surviving spouse may be left with a very small share of the property. It is only common prudence to make a will. For the important task of executor, you must do better than appoint a husband or wife. D.D.D., One Trustee Department has had many years' experience in this type of work: its staff are of some distinction and reputation and they take a very real and sympathetic interest in the most entrusted to them.

The Manager of your nearest branch will be pleased to give you details of this service. Alternatively, please write to the address given below.

TRANSPORT: UNDERESTIMATED FACTOR BY INDUSTRY

MOVEMENT is a life-sustaining factor. Many a starved man in the light for life largely depends upon his ability to move himself and the products of his efforts, about the earth's surface.

A commercial product, a raw material, a capital, the right place and, because of this, transport is a major factor in the success of any enterprise.

Yet working in commerce and industry is only under-estimated that the movement of goods and a factor in the success of any enterprise.

Like any other factor in commerce, the cost of transport must be covered by the price charged for the goods. It is not a cost which can be ignored.

Regarded as an imposition, the cost of transport, all too often, is regarded as an imposition. It is not a cost which can be ignored.

"Cat Diesel Tractors never seem to wear out..."

There's a cheap price tag to hear when you talk with a Cat Diesel Tractor owner!

We're not surprised that Cat-built products have earned this reputation. They're built to last.

As a matter of fact, many of the Cat Diesel Tractors ever built - more than 20,000 - are still working and giving the power today.

Some in the world might say they've worked for more than 20,000 hours!

Through the years, Caterpillar spare parts are available for these machines at reasonable costs. Factory-trained service men are trained to keep these machines performing at top efficiency. We provide both services to our clients in this area.

The lower expenses - backed by good service and spare parts of original quality and make - these are a few of the many reasons you'll prefer to own a Caterpillar product. Let us prove it.

BRITISH MOVES NOT ENOUGH TO BRING PEACE IN CYPRUS

U.K. sets exports record at Eastleigh

WELCOME BY GREEKS

"Standard" Staff Reporters

ARCHBISHOP MAKARIOS and his two companions, who had been in exile in the Seychelles for more than a year, arrived in Nicosia yesterday on their way to Ashdod.

Members of the Greek community applauded as he stepped from the plane, and pressed forward to shake his hand. Those who were enough for the restoration of the Greek community applauded as he stepped from the plane, and pressed forward to shake his hand. Those who were enough for the restoration of the Greek community applauded as he stepped from the plane, and pressed forward to shake his hand.

Archbishop Makarios and Mr. Karamanlis, the Greek Prime Minister, at the airport yesterday.

He told newspapers, including representatives of several Greek journals. "The slight relaxation of Emergency measures recently announced by the British Government is not sufficient to help the restoration of peace in Cyprus. All the more so, because the death sentences continue to be imposed by special courts."

Plea to end executions

The archbishop said he earnestly hoped that the Government of Cyprus, Sir John Harding, would be moved with further executions. "If despite this hope, executions continue I sincerely believe that the British Government will bar the way towards the pacification of the island."

Asked why he had not yet denounced violence, the archbishop replied that he had appealed for the cessation of operations. At the same time, it was an appeal to the British Government to abolish Emergency measures in Cyprus. "I think those who are enough for the restoration of peace," he stated.

The archbishop said he had been in exile in the Seychelles for more than a year, and that he had been in Nicosia for the first time since his arrival in Cyprus. He said he had been in Nicosia for the first time since his arrival in Cyprus. He said he had been in Nicosia for the first time since his arrival in Cyprus.

CONVINCED OF GREEK BETTER

When he landed through the Customs he had to open up his eyes to the reality of the situation. He said he had been in Nicosia for the first time since his arrival in Cyprus. He said he had been in Nicosia for the first time since his arrival in Cyprus.

WHY BOMB TEST?

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission has announced that it will conduct a series of nuclear tests in the Pacific Ocean. The tests are intended to demonstrate the safety and reliability of nuclear power.

DISMISSAL OF CABINET

King's answer to Red threat in Jordan

The rift between King Hussein of Jordan and his Cabinet of Mr. Sulayman Shalhouh over the King's Communist sympathies has been widened by the dismissal of the former Viceroy.

King Hussein yesterday asked the British High Commissioner in Amman, Sir John Harding, to send a secret of his dislike for Britain and the Government of Jordan. The King's dismissal of the Viceroy was a clear sign of his displeasure with the King's Cabinet.

REPLY TO CANADIAN PROTEST

U.S. sympathy on America's suicide

Canada has received a strong protest from the U.S. State Department over the Canadian Ambassador's reply to Mr. Herbert Morrison's speech in the U.S. Senate last week. The U.S. State Department has expressed its sympathy for the Canadian position.

The Canadian Ambassador, Mr. James Macpherson, had replied to Mr. Morrison's speech by stating that the Canadian Government was not in a position to take any action against the U.S. Government.

KENYA GOVERNMENT OF RIGHT LINES

Development plan good

MEMBERS of Kenya's national assembly stressed that the Kenya Government was on the right lines in the Member for Mombasa, said in the Legislative Council. The Government's plan of development was good, but it had been made in haste. It was not a long-term plan, but it was a plan for the future. It was a plan for the future, and it was a plan for the future. It was a plan for the future, and it was a plan for the future.

SHOESTRING FINANCE, MONEY ON TREES AND SISAL JUBILEE

Sisal jubilee
SATURDAY, APRIL 4, 1936

THE main points from the Standard's dinner the past week are given below:

Money on trees
WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2, 1936

CLEVELAND proper entrepreneur would, there is considerable prospect of developing a similar industry in Kenya. Within the next two or three years, New Zealand's Kerepe trees and their young ones are being planted without a ceasing. The food from early plantation will be cultivated.

The foundation of a stable industry is a sound policy and that is what the White Paper seeks to provide. It is a programme and adaptation to present-day conditions.

The 1941 Development Report's prediction has been somewhat delayed because of a radical change of opinion with the Kenya Government on the population in regard to the White Paper challenge. The Royal Commission's preference for direct labour, irrespective of land from population source, had paid a sufficient tribute to meet their living requirements.

No development in agriculture in Kenya is possible unless the Government provides a well-organized scheme, also of the policy in the Legislative Council. It is the duty of the Government to see that the best land is not left idle and that the best land is not left idle and that the best land is not left idle.

Shoestring finance

THURSDAY APRIL 3, 1936

THE Kenya Government is increasing on a part that for the constitution of small-term finance the commission administering the Nairobi Freeport of a Constitutional Clause, should be forced into the point of curtailing the scope of its operations.

Originally, the need for retirement in the very popularity of the facilities these classes offer. The number of students has risen so rapidly in recent months that their weight is proving the shoestring financial operation a very heavy burden. It can with some truth, be said that the Government's financial foundations on which the classes are based cannot be so large as they are. They must suggest that the difficulty of increasing the fees of students with great reserves could well be corrected by employers naming a man who, after all, demonstrates his worth by his attempt to better his own record.

Thousands of miles...

... in a thick cloud of dust

A Vanguard Estate Car was driven by Lt.-Col. W. Mather in the 1936 Geneva-Bangkok Rally—4,500 miles of mostly rough going. Mather was "very hot", uncomfortable with many jolts... continuously overcast and sometimes extremely heavy... immeasurable relief of river bank. Thousands of miles in a thick cloud of dust.

It did not affect the Vanguard Estate Car. Lt.-Col. Mather writes: "The Standard Vanguard Estate Car finished as brilliantly as it had finished throughout... the body is almost as new and perfectly clean."

PRINCE PHILIP is in for a stiff polo job, that is, a heavy one, sponsored by the British Government and active in England from late part to all the afternoon.

The last time he had been seen in polo was in 1933 when he was 15 years old. He was then a member of the 1933 polo team which was captained by Lord Strathmore.

Having the MCC bar of South Africa, the British Government, and the British polo players, who were invited to play in the polo field in the County of Devon, England, in the summer of 1933.

It is only a little before 11 o'clock that he will be seen in a number of positions in the ring. He will be seen in a number of positions in the ring. He will be seen in a number of positions in the ring.

TITLE FEAR ON RULE CHANGE

THE Wimbledon championship has been the subject of much speculation since the British Government announced that it would be active in England from late part to all the afternoon.

Champion who never had a lesson—but packs a real punch

He won't have a lesson in the ring, but he will have a lesson in the ring. He won't have a lesson in the ring, but he will have a lesson in the ring.

CUTS IN PRIVATE TAXATION PROPOSED

50 cents on company rate envisaged by commission

Sir Eric Coster, Chairman

Redistribution of the burden of taxation, with companies paying more and individuals less, is the main theme of the report of the Commission on Income Tax in East Africa, which is published today.

The commissioners propose that company tax be increased by 50 cents in the £ and that the extra yield be used to relieve what they regard as the excessive burden borne by private taxpayers.

It is estimated that acceptance of the proposals would add nearly £1,000,000 a year to the tax collected by the East African Government. Of this sum, about £400,000 would meet the cost of stopping on personal allowances, while about £200,000 would allow a reduction of tax rates.

Members of the Commission were Sir Eric Coster, chairman, Mr. E. R. Brooke and Mr. A. D. Kooze. They have since advised all major sections of East Africa from July 20 to September 19 last year.

More than 300 memoranda and their respective 300 written reports, in their 212-page report, which costs 17/6, they made 73 specific recommendations.

Mombasa maintains progress in house building

1956 PORT TRAFFIC INCREASES

Despite the construction of the new port, the Port Trust reported a 10% increase in house building in Mombasa last year. The increase was due to the fact that the port handled more cargo than in any previous year. The Port Trust also reported that the number of ships calling at the port increased by 15%.

COMMISSION REVENUE TAX VEXED QUESTION

Personal allowance up to £100 recommended

Many individual taxpayers could look forward to receiving a measure of relief if the Commission's proposals for the assessment of the Commission's proposals for the assessment of the present method of taxation, which is regarded as unfair, unreasoned, and unjust, are accepted. The Commission proposes the abolition of a simple fixed allowance, which is regarded as unfair, unreasoned, and unjust, and its replacement by a personal allowance up to £100. This allowance would be available to all taxpayers, whether they are married or single, and would be available to all taxpayers, whether they are married or single.

Mr. H. S. Morrison

Under the "old" system of taxation, the first £100 of a taxpayer's income is exempt from tax. This exemption is known as the "personal allowance." The Commission proposes to increase this allowance to £100, and to allow it to be claimed by all taxpayers, whether they are married or single. This proposal is regarded as a significant improvement on the present system, which is regarded as unfair, unreasoned, and unjust.

MAKURU TRADERS MAKE STRONG PROTEST

Kenyanah competition 'unfair'

MAKURU traders have protested to the police because of the unfairness of the competition to their business. They allege that the competition is unfair because the traders have very small stocks and are unable to compete with the large stocks of the other traders. The competition is held every year at the Makuru market and is a major event in the town. The traders who have protested are the Makuru traders who are based in the town of Makuru. They have been protesting for several years and have been unsuccessful in their efforts to stop the competition. The police have been asked to take action against the competition but have been unable to do so. The traders are now planning to take further action against the competition.

SAILING THROUGH THE CENTURIES TO THE SHORES OF EAST AFRICA

By CHARLES SEYMOUR

HARBOURS have their own special attraction. There is something fascinating about the ships that cross the highroads of the seas, coming alongside for a while to off-load passengers and cargo, then on their way again, bound for yet another distant port.

There are the hulks of docklands, the commercial thrum and activity, the strange cargoes that bring with them the breath of another world. There are the modern ships, fast, safe, luxurious, to which modernized, these inland-rattling water-borne highways.

There are the old, the venerable, the ancient, the ships that have sailed the world's highroads for centuries, the ships that have seen the world's highroads for centuries, the ships that have seen the world's highroads for centuries.

MOONSOON DAYS

It is said they have been sailing for 3,000 years. They have sailed with fish on the belly and with the wind in the sails. They have sailed with the wind in the sails.

There were a time when the ships were treated as the state ships, coming in Africa to load their human cargo.

Now they are treated as the ships of the sea, the ships of the sea, the ships of the sea.

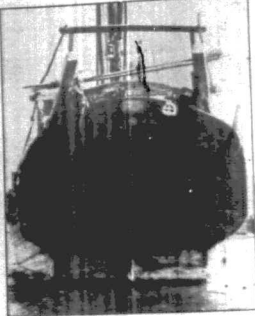

They are treated as the ships of the sea, the ships of the sea, the ships of the sea.

FAIR GAME—WITH GOLF CLUBS OR BLUNDERBUSS

By HENRY LONGFORD

FEATURING SPORT

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT SPORT?

A WEEKLY test of sports knowledge—do you think you know more about the game than the average sports fan? Do you know more about the game than the average sports fan? Do you know more about the game than the average sports fan?

There's more to golf than meets the eye. It's not just a game of clubs and balls. It's a game of strategy and psychology. The thought comes to mind that the average sports fan knows more about the game than the average sports fan.

At golf you have to be a diplomat and a strategist. You have to know when to talk and when to be silent. It's a game of inches and nerves.

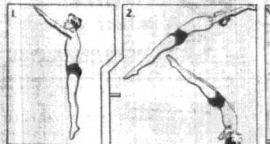

I usually on this point I'm recalling an occasion when I found myself standing in the middle of the ball.

Do you know more about the game than the average sports fan? Do you know more about the game than the average sports fan? Do you know more about the game than the average sports fan?
