SAFEGUARD TERRORIST REVIVAL Lines of 'No' from African Members CONTROL EXPLAINED

THE lines of "No" from some of the African Members, Kenya Legislative Council, have appeared a resolution regarding the Government to take all possible precautions against a revival of terrorist activities.

The resolution was taken by the House on May 17, 1937, and was supported by the African Members, with the exception of Mr. J. Maitav (North Nyanza) who abstained from voting.

The resolution was not intended to prevent the Government from taking all possible precautions against a revival of terrorist activities, but to ensure that such precautions should not be taken in a manner which would be oppressive to the African population.

Veterinary services improved

VISITS TO FARMS ORGANISED

PLANS to improve Government Veterinary services for farmers in the Nakuru area were announced this week by the Veterinary Department.

The improvements, which have been made possible by a recent increase in the department's staff, will consist of regular visits to farms by veterinary officers on a regular basis. It is expected that these visits will be of great benefit to the farmers, particularly in the case of those who are suffering from various diseases of their stock.

The Veterinary Department is also planning to organise a series of lectures on the diseases of stock, which will be held at the Nakuru Veterinary Office. It is expected that these lectures will be of great interest to the farmers and will help to improve their knowledge of the diseases of their stock.

KEEP Malaria OUTSIDE THE FAMILY CIRCLE

One tablet a week keeps you SAFE! Don't put your family nose to bed with MALARIA! By using Daraprim regularly you can safeguard their health against the constant danger of malarial attacks. For adults, just ONE tablet every week - children over 5, half a tablet, under 5, a quarter of a tablet - nothing else gives such protection at such low cost. Daraprim is tasteless, and does not disturb the stomach.

73 YOUNG KENYANS LEARN THE HARD WAY TO BECOME GOOD SOLDIERS

Inoculation for battle

WAY TO BECOME GOOD SOLDIERS

HENRY HEUTER, who has visited the Kenya Regiment Training Centre at Lamu, Malindi, reports on the hard but efficient training which transforms raw recruits into good soldiers.

"GET fell as there you don't sleep"—the stentorian cry echoed across the parade ground and the sleepy men, who at the same time a couple of days before were lying in their beds calling to the boy to bring tea, found themselves getting "felled" to begin the most arduous four months in their young lives.

This all happened at Lamu, near Nakuru, a couple of weeks ago when the Kenya Regiment Territorial Force began its second Emergency Supplementary military training course. 73 tribes and drabs, by a bright Thursday morning, 73 recruits arrived at the modern 11,200,000 Kenya Regiment Training Centre.

SPRING BEDS

Having dumped their kit on to their spring beds in barracks rooms which are as comfortable as the accommodation provided in the emergency hospitals, and stood in a style fit to lead out the military, they might think that Army life was not so bad as it had been painted. Now, however, they know better. The reason is explained by the Commanding Officer, Maj. W. J. Woodroffe, M.C., who said:

"We work on the assumption that if we treat them well, give them good accommodation, and get them out of them as early as we can, we can get them through the strenuous training programme."

Maj. Woodroffe of the Royal Welch Fusiliers was the chief instructor at British Barracks, Fort Officer Camp, around the 2000 ft. before he joined the Kenya Regiment. In taking the tank to slightly above the level of the running National Service programme in their very particular circumstances which involve taking their place as officers and NCOs in the U.K.A. in the event of any emergency. They are to be given the same treatment and to serve with the same equipment as their counterparts in the theatre of war in which they are to fight.

It is estimated that about 30 per cent of the side now being called up are potential officers and NCOs material, while the remainder are considered to have a better chance of a successful career in Britain.

86 PERIODS

So far, however, as well as being called up as officers and NCOs, and for the sake of thousands of other Kenya youngsters who are wondering what they will be getting themselves in for, let us take a good long look at the Kenya Regiment training programme. The first four months of the programme are divided into 86 periods (Continued in Page 15)

HAPPY HUNTING HOBBY ON AND AROUND THE REEFS

E. ROBSON, a knowledgeable beginner, contributes this illustrated article on conchology—shell collecting—with the aim of establishing a permanent position for the whole family on holidays at the Coast. He goes forward also to give the formation of a shell club.

AFTER spending a fortnight at the Coast every year for the past quarter of a century I have become aware of the astonishing variety of shells on the reefs along the East Coast. Possibly, this is because the children are now all good swimmers and we spend more time on the reef and in the deeper pools. The variety of shells in these Indian Ocean tropical waters is prodigious. While Japan and Martinique, for example, may have a greater variety, our Coasts are still a treasure trove.

The warmer the seas, as a general rule, the bigger and better coloured are the shells. A collection made here would astonish the conchologist in England, and make him wonder how he got there. The shells are not much use to the collector.

Very few are fit to eat and almost all are perfect and bright. I have seen shells in the water which were taken from their natural habitat.

Take shells containing coral. After drying, they drift about for some time before they settle as they are as heavy and usually do not compare with a live specimen—especially with regard to colour and pattern.

Develop an eye for spotting
You will find many shells under and about rocks and among seaweed that on top of themselves.

The method of finding them should be used only when you can employ your brief fingers and need to be the greatest advantage.

Quite a few will be found in the reef—many being the perfect form and they will develop an eye for spotting coral shells.

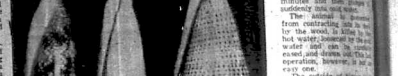

You can have a larger or smaller amount of shells entirely to suit your personal needs.

THE LAMPAS SHELL

Cleaning—tricky problem

Some of the shells are very difficult to clean. The Lampas shell is a good example. It is very difficult to clean because of its shape and the way it is attached to the rock.

Some cone shells poisonous

Put on an old white shirt and wash it thoroughly. The cone shells are very poisonous and can cause serious illness if eaten.

Ants an aid to collectors

The medium-size shells, such as the three covers, should be buried in clean sand and the contents allowed to rot, when it may be shaken out and cleaned in clean water.

QUEST FOR TREASURE RESUMED
More diggings

DILATE Treasure hunting in the Philippines resumed yesterday when the search for the "Chest" which was abandoned last year was resumed.

The treasure, a mythical chest of gold and jewels, was reported to be buried in the Philippines in 1562, and the search in 1939.

The treasure, buried in 1562, was reported to be buried in the Philippines in 1562, and the search in 1939.

Expensive tunnelling. Recently, Mr. Wilking had been living on Manila Island, Bataan, and Mr. Cole King was commencing and it is believed that the search for the "Chest" which was abandoned last year was resumed.

Meat carried

Under these circumstances, the meat was carried to Manila. The crew members of the ship were allowed to disembark at Manila and were given a 15-day leave.

Alternative site

On the island there were several other possible sites for the chest. It was decided to search for the chest in the area of the old fort.

WEEKEND SPORT COMMENTARY

There appears to be some confusion as to how the Football Federation has been particularly successful.

On several occasions it has been stated that the Federation has been particularly successful in its efforts to improve the standard of the game.

It might have been expected that the Football Federation would have been particularly successful in its efforts to improve the standard of the game.

It is interesting to note that the Federation has been particularly successful in its efforts to improve the standard of the game.

LOOKED Keenan wins his second Lonsdale Belt

REITH KEENAN, of Glasgow, won his second Lonsdale Belt on Wednesday, defeating the British and European champion, John Sweeney, in a five-round fight at the sixth of the scheduled rounds.

One round, a tremendous straight right came almost Keenan flying.

Keenan, coming from the left eye had looked uncertain in the first round, when he was hit by Sweeney's right hand.

Keenan, however, showed his class in the second round, when he landed a left jab on Sweeney's nose, which he followed up with a right hand to the chin.

Keenan's victory was a triumph for the British and European champion, John Sweeney, who had been expected to win the belt.

Ten entries for ladies' race at Tanga

A "Women's Commission" has been set up to organize a ladies' race at Tanga, East Africa, on Sunday.

The race is expected to attract a large number of spectators.

The first race of the ladies' commission was the 100-yard race, which was won by Miss Sweeney. The race was held at the Tanga Sports Ground.

The ladies' commission is expected to organize several more races in the near future.

Dismissed by Yorkshire for a modest 190 at Sheffield

AFTER being dismissed for a modest 190 on a good pitch, the West Indies cricketers struck a century for the first time in their three-day match against Yorkshire at Sheffield.

The West Indies captain, Clive Lloyd, scored a century for his side.

REVOLUTION OF EDUCATIONAL POWERS ENVISAGED

More responsibility for local authorities long-term project

Local authorities would have to assume much greater responsibility for primary education in Kenya under plans for far-reaching administrative changes in the educational system, the Minister of Education, Mr. Coombs, told Kenya Legislative Assembly today.

Mr. Coombs was seeking approval for a bill of £4,770,694 for education during 1957-58, and said that the bill would be a landmark in the fact that he was thinking in terms of long-term plans.

Feeder roads to cost £37,000,000

CAPE-KENYA ROUTE

SOUTH AFRICA and Portuguese East Africa intend spending together £37,000,000 in the next few years on constructing first-class high-ways in their territories as feeder routes to the Cape-Nairobi road. Government officials at the African Regional Conference of the Inter-territorial Road Federation in Johannesburg, South Africa, yesterday agreed to the plan.

The Cape-Nairobi road, which is being built by the Government of South Africa, is expected to be completed in 1960. It will be a 1,000-mile road, with a 100-foot wide road bed and a 10-foot wide shoulder. It will be a 100-foot wide road bed and a 10-foot wide shoulder. Motion over Minister's remarks withdrawn

SUGGESTIONS that some of his speeches could be interpreted only as condemning Mau Mau, and as thinly veiled threats against the Government, were yesterday defeated in Kenya Legislative Council (Mr. T. Mboya (Nairobi)).

He was speaking in his capacity as a Member of the Council, and was asked to withdraw a motion which he had introduced in the Council, and which was interpreted as a thinly veiled threat against the Government.

much paper-work

At the regional level, those responsible for education will be persons who were never known as provincial education officers. Each would become director of his own region. They would assume its proper functions of inspection and supervision.

The department would be too "clattered up" with too many people, and it would be necessary to have a more efficient and less costly system of administration. This would be done by having a more efficient and less costly system of administration. This would be done by having a more efficient and less costly system of administration.

COFFEE BOARD REVIEWS PUBLICITY

General campaign best benefits could be derived by concentrating on coffee generally than by embarking on a publicity campaign designed to meet the requirements of the Coffee Board of Kenya (a resolution passed at the last coffee growers' meeting of more than 2000 growers in Kenya).

Africans keep up expansion
 Continued expansion of coffee production in Kenya is reported in the Coffee Board's report. At the end of the last season of African export coffee, 10,000 tons of which was planted in 1957, were reported to have been exported to the United Kingdom.

BUMPER CROP INDICATED
 Although it was still too early to give any definite estimate of Kenya's coffee crop, indications were given by Mr. C. H. Dawson, director of the Coffee Board, that bumper crops were being produced in the high altitude areas of the country.

Disease warning to Rift growers
 Planters in the Rift Valley have been warned of the danger of introducing insect diseases in the area if seedlings are imported from other countries. The report also mentions that the incidence of coffee rust, a serious disease, has been reported in the Rift Valley.

ACTION ON POACHING SOUGHT
 The Uganda Game Warden has urged the Government to take action on poaching in the game reserves. He stated that poaching has increased in the reserves and that the Government should take steps to protect the game.

DEPARTMENT'S WORK REFLECTS TRADE EXPANSION
 The report states that the work of the department has increased due to the expansion of trade. It mentions that the value of exports has risen and that the department has been busy in processing the increased volume of trade.

Mills may open soon
 The Kenya Milling Station, which is now being built at the site of the old mill at Mombasa, is expected to be completed in the next few months.

Profits disappear on average sisal estate

HOPE IN LOWER COSTS

Profits margins had virtually disappeared on the average sisal estate because of rising costs and the slump in world prices, Mr. B. F. Barker said at a meeting of the Provincial Advisory Council at Tanga. The sisal industry was the most important economic factor in the Province, and he expressed only hope of a price rise by cutting production.

Mr. Barker said that it was only in 1952 that the sisal industry had made a profit, and that it was only in 1953 that it was expected to do so. He said that the industry was now in a state of "hopeless" loss, and that the only way to survive was to cut production.

FAMILY CRUISER WITH A STRANGE HISTORY

From Norfolk to Tanganyika

ONE of the most picturesque and seaworthy craft sailing at Tanga is the sloop Lybtho built by Mr. A. A. Phillips. The sloop was built 26 years ago in Lowestoft and was used as a holiday boat for four years before being shipped to the South Africa in 1933 where she was used for fishing expeditions.

In that year she was bought by Mr. Phillips and taken to Tanga where she was selected at the outbreak of war for coastal patrol duties and searched for remaining enemy submarines. She had taken a tropical brandy with a large quantity of rum.

After the war Mr. Phillips carried alterations to Lybtho with a view to making her suitable for use as a family cruiser in tropical waters.

Eventful cruise

New masts and rigging were fitted at Tanga. The mast was cut down, and a "ketch" rig was fitted, giving the boat a larger sail area.

Lybtho then took part in regional races with the Yanga Yacht Club, and was awarded the Blue Water Cup for the event. She was then used for a cruise to the islands of Pemba and Zanzibar.

Further alterations planned by Mr. Phillips and executed by local craftsmen. Have now extended Lybtho's overall length to 45 feet. She is used mostly for short coastwise cruises, and for fishing and poaching expeditions.

Rain delays opening

A range of heavy rain has delayed the opening of the Lybtho on the 10th. She is now being fitted with an aft steering position.

RHODESIAS OFFER TRADING

CHALLENGE TO EAST AFRICA

Opportunities for mutual trading between Central and East Africa are great indeed. In this article, prepared by the visit of a mission from Salisbury, W. R. FERRELL reviews past and present trading and points the way for the future.

At present, trade between the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland and East Africa is not of great importance in the economy of either but it has been felt for some time that the Central African territories are wide open to Rhodesian trade and that there is a great amount of business to be done.

East Africa buys three principal types of goods from the Federation. These are pulses and seeds, metal manufactures—such as ploughs and plough parts, agricultural and mining machinery, tractors, cars and vehicle parts—and fuel. Between January and October 1954, a total of £101,000 worth of these goods were exported to East Africa and they made up 81 per cent of all the Federation's exports to that area.

In 1950, the Federation's main imports from East Africa were unroasted coffee, raw cotton, aged sisal fibre, but a variety of general merchandise is imported from Kenya including biscuits, and from Tanganyika about £25,000 worth of tins for packing.

From East Africa during the same period totalled £68,000, of which £38,000 came from Kenya and £30,000 from Uganda.

KENYA AHEAD

The volume of imports and exports between Kenya and the three East African territories shows that Kenya has the most developed economy. Through the absence of a preferential tariff, the United Kingdom, of course, is East Africa's biggest trading partner, supplying more than 90 per cent of her imports.

1956 FIGURES

The principal trading partner of the East African territories is the industrial nations which purchase the primary material and supply vital consumer goods. The United Kingdom, India, Western Germany and the United States.

Trade statistics show that from January to October 1954 East Africa imported £1,700,000 from Kenya, £7,500,000 from Uganda and £2,500,000 from the Federation.

It is also reasonable to suppose that East Africa is handicapped because East Africa has not the wealth of minerals and metals to support a heavy metal industry. The Federation's big iron-ore and steel-making industries are concentrated where East Africa import market where India, Hongkong, Ceylon, Java and Japan are competitors. It is likely, therefore, that manufacturing goods will be imported from East Africa's total import.

WATER AND FISH

As already mentioned, the dominant products imported from East Africa to the Federation are fish, rice, oil, and sugar. In addition fish is imported from Tanganyika and a number of secondary agricultural products, notably leather, cheese, bacon, soap, and hair are imported from Kenya.

Great industries flourish in delightful settings

FEATURING HOTELS

Kenya has problems and the increased traffic generated with improvement in the country's situation will be dealt with in a specialist article in the Features Section next week.

Today, the pleasure and hardships of an overland trip from Nairobi to Gress are described graphically in an illustrated article in Page 16.

Half an hour later they left to go to work and so did the front door behind them. "Now, how do we get asked Frosty. Frosty knew he was being naughty but Tammy's start of adventure was very exciting. "If you push the door closed though it will open for us, we can go down the fire-escape, but here."

"Where can we get a boat?" asked Frosty. "Yes," said Tammy frostily, "I'll show you. I'll show you how to get out of a cruise just in case my master and mistress do or you stay home."

Faith and hope—but no charity is for collector

FROM the serious collector's point of view the recent agitation in the Press for multitudes of issues of the East Africa generally, is unlikely to be greeted with any enthusiasm.

UNPOPULAR MOVE

While the idea of a charity picture is praiseworthy, such a loss of new issues stands as much against the collector as it does in favour of the collector.

TWICE HONORED

London has its own star of the East. The artist Miss Margaret has been twice honored by the Royal Society of Arts. She is a young woman of great talent and has produced many beautiful works of art. Her work is characterized by its simplicity and elegance. She has received many awards and has been exhibited in many galleries. Her work is a true reflection of the artistic spirit of the East.

ENAMEL WORK

One of its latest orders in 1936 was for a million medals for the children in Algeria by the Queen. The medals were made of silver and were given to the children as a reward for their good behavior. The medals were made in England and were of the highest quality. They were a beautiful addition to the children's lives and were a true reflection of the Queen's love for her subjects.

WIDE MARKET

After work is finished for the day, the artist returns to her studio. She spends her time working on her art and trying to perfect her technique. She is a true professional and is always striving for excellence in her work. Her art is a true reflection of her personality and her love for her craft. She is a true artist and her work is a true masterpiece.

What in the news

By ELLEN VAUGHAN

THESE NEW BRASS SILVERWARE sets are the latest in the line of decorative silverware. They are made of the finest brass and are finished with a silver plating which is so perfect that it is indistinguishable from real silver. The sets include a variety of pieces, including plates, cups, saucers, and spoons, and are available in a variety of designs to suit every taste. The sets are made in England and are of the highest quality. They are a perfect addition to any dining room and will last for many years.

London has its own star of the East. The artist Miss Margaret has been twice honored by the Royal Society of Arts. She is a young woman of great talent and has produced many beautiful works of art. Her work is characterized by its simplicity and elegance. She has received many awards and has been exhibited in many galleries. Her work is a true reflection of the artistic spirit of the East.

After work is finished for the day, the artist returns to her studio. She spends her time working on her art and trying to perfect her technique. She is a true professional and is always striving for excellence in her work. Her art is a true reflection of her personality and her love for her craft. She is a true artist and her work is a true masterpiece.

MATHEMATICAL FOR MEN OF THE TURF

By PHIL HULL

COMPENSATING time performances for the ages of the horses and the weights carried calls for some measurements of the gradual improvement of horses made from their early days to two-year-olds until they reach maturity at four or five years of age.

Unfortunately, they do not all mature at the same time. Sprinters mature about 18 months, middle-distance horses, and about six months earlier than out-and-out stayers. We need a table which sets out these facts of race-horse life.

It is an age, weight, and distance race, and the weight is the only one of variable value. The composition of time performance for age and weight is the only one of variable value.

Archer beats the rain

More than 30 years ago that year, all racing records were broken in the 1000-yard race. Archer, a 3-year-old, won the race in 1:12.1, a record which has stood for 30 years.

'Royal' stages open to the humblest of golfing world

By HENRY LONGHURST

WHATEVER else may be said about golf it must be admitted the distinction, unique among games, that the humblest of us may perform on the same stage and set ourselves the same problems, as the mighty have done before us.

I have in my day played golf on the most famous links in the world, and I have also played on the most humblest of links.

I have also played on the most humblest of links. I have also played on the most humblest of links.

Another trans-Atlantic telephone cable is to be laid by H.M. Telegraph Ship Monarch (above) which, only last September, completed the laying of the first trans-Atlantic cable system between Britain and North America — the two cables linking Scotland and Newfoundland. Previously, communication was by wireless or by cable. The cable length is to be laid across 1,500 miles, will be made in Britain at a cost of £2,000,000. Right: the British liner of great tonnage can be seen in the distance from the ship's picture, which shows a Hornet Class racing sloop at a meeting of the Flying Island Sailing Club in Chichester Harbour, Sussex.

"I'M A SHIRT-HAPPY MAN IN MY RADIA"

Philips' famous "I'm a shirt-happy man" is the most reliable and most economical of all washing machines and is the most popular in the world.

Made in the United Kingdom for over 30 years. Philips is the name that stands for all leading name and reliability.

120 GALLONS DAILY

FROM THIS NEW HIGH CAPACITY PORTABLE 'DEMINOLIT'

The portable "Deminolit" purifies the most turbid water for a still. It produces "demineralized" water of quality equal to that of commercial distilled water. AT ONLY A SMALL FRACTION OF THE COST. When treating typical tap water such as the London supply, the new Purifier 4 Portable produces from 120 to 150 gallons daily, without using heat or power, merely at the turn of a handle.

Portable - Can be moved easily to the exact point where the demineralized water is needed.
Slow Flow Rate - Delivers 10 gallons per hour in no waiting for storage in A.E.
Simple Maintenance - Only maintenance required is "recharging" - nothing else to be done.
High Chemical Testing - Conductivity meter continuously indicates water purity.
High Quality Water - The Most of Purely produce water of quality comparable with leading commercial distilleries of higher quality included, the Most of Britain's the equivalent of multiple distilled water.

Consider these other advantages:

Production of portable "Deminolit" has been increased to meet the ever-growing demand. You should know more about this valuable new tool in industry - we send you full technical details.

WEEKEND SPORT COMM. BY CHARLES DISNEY

by Charles Disney, Sports Editor

IBEGAN the extraordinary last week with these words: "There appears to be no more of this literary rhapsody to be seen of any significance." That was obviously a bad case of "padding the gas" and I had well that I covered my own back. I am sure that to the majority that is to have seen the end of this, it would be in keeping with the usual consideration of my own case now.

But to judge from the talk of some from the literary profession and the fact that I am endeavoring to do the work of a writer, I am sure that I am getting a more than fair share of the work of the literary profession. I am sure that I am getting a more than fair share of the work of the literary profession. I am sure that I am getting a more than fair share of the work of the literary profession.

COLONY-WIDE... Motion by African Member rejected... SECURITY MEASURE

A MOTION asking Kenya Legislative Council to urge that existing restrictions on the formation of a Colony-wide political commission should be relaxed in view of the gradual improvement in the emergency situation was yesterday rejected by the Government.

An amendment moved by the Chief Secretary, Mr. Turnbull, and accepted by the House, welcomed the improvement in the emergency situation but put forward for the Emergency committee which had been called for would not be in the interests of the security and stability of the country.

Mr. M. Moya (Nairobi), who tabled the motion, said that the Government machinery was not fit for the purpose of forming African organs to the Legislative Council of the country.

Mr. Turnbull said that while welcomed by the Government, when the time was right, the formation of emergency associations as the next step after the establishment of district associations would be a very important step in the formation of a Colony-wide body.

Mr. Moya's motion was not put to a vote because of the time taken in the discussion and the fact that the Government would not be in a position to take any action on it.

Mr. Moya's motion said that the Government machinery was not fit for the purpose of forming African organs to the Legislative Council of the country.

Threat of new Cyprus tour

THERE were indications that Eoka was attempting to regroup the remnants of its scattered gangs, the Cyprus Government stated.

The statement was made by the Administrator Secretary, Mr. Joseph Beddow, in a letter replying to a request by the Governor of the island.

Release requested. The major asked the Government to release a Cyprus tour under the Emergency regulations, if the tour was to be of any value.

ROAD work services between Rhodesia and Nyasaland, which are now in a full swing.

The roads are being built by the Federal Government, the Rhodesia Government and the Nyasaland Government. The roads are being built by the Federal Government, the Rhodesia Government and the Nyasaland Government.

A further complication is that the Rhodesia Government, the Nyasaland Government and the Federal Government are all working together to build the roads.

Vital Link
Rhodesia is a vital link in the road service. Most East African export and import goods are transported by road through Rhodesia.

It is expected that some traffic will be moving from the north to the south, and some from the south to the north.

Banks in trucks
To operate the road service between the territories it is necessary to have fast mobile road facilities at each stop.

There is also the matter of road licenses on permits to be issued to each operator.

The Rhodesia Government has a duty to see that the roads are built and maintained in the best interests of the people.

Unknown land near Zambesi goes on the map

The Zambesi Valley, below the Kariba Dam. More in this area is known about Rhodesia's new territory than in a few areas elsewhere. It is necessary to have a new map showing the territory and the boundaries facing those desiring it.

On the eastern bank of the Zambesi Valley, in the heart of Central Africa, a light plane flies every day seeking a landing place. There, where the aerial surveyors wait for their daily "air-drop" parcels from the base camp, they land and disembark across the bush track some heavily-laden parcels — food.

They are even bottled beer. A weighty parcel of a surveyor's equipment, and the plane is off again, heading north.

It is the same in the case of the other Rhodesia Air Force survey parties, whose work is to map the territory.

These parties are at the moment in the Zambesi Valley, between the Kariba Dam and the confluence of the Zambesi and the Save rivers.

It is a fine, fertile valley, and the survey party's headquarters are at the confluence of the Save and Zambesi rivers.

White pinprick
Here lives Mr. Damon Swart, the leader of the party, and he is the one who has to study the aerial survey photographs from which the surveyors work.

It is here, at the time of day here, that the aerial survey photographs are taken, and so do all the planning and working out of the survey.

Mr. Swart, who is a Rhodesian, is the one who has to study the aerial survey photographs from which the surveyors work.

Because there are difficulties in the way of the surveyors, Mr. Swart has to study the aerial survey photographs from which the surveyors work.

It is a fine, fertile valley, and the survey party's headquarters are at the confluence of the Save and Zambesi rivers.

Survey party 'bombed' with food, beer and cement

Rhodesian Air Force pilot, who takes off every day from the white strip at the Chibambala airfield, has just landed with the first of the survey party's "air-drop" parcels. The parcels, which are heavily-laden with food, beer and cement, are being taken to the survey party's headquarters at the confluence of the Save and Zambesi rivers.

HOTELS AND TOURISTS

—ANSWERS TO A VITAL PROBLEM

Introducing the Good Travel Club...

An authority on hotels and tourists in East Africa contributes this article in which he discusses the present situation in the industry and points forward some of the major problems.

Most problems in Kenya need money to solve. There are important ones which can be solved without money. The first is the hotel industry which is now being more money to Kenya from the many tourists who would come down to the existence of larger and better hotels.

How many hotels have been built in Kenya in the last ten years? Practically none. There is not an adequate number and which could not be constructed in the present conditions. Also, the cost of building hotels is not as low as it was in the past. Many of the chief industries in Kenya are unorganized, and the Government is not doing enough to encourage them. Many of the chief industries in Kenya are unorganized, and the Government is not doing enough to encourage them.

The Governments of other countries encourage the hotel industry. In Kenya hotels are faced with heavy taxation, restrictions and a variety of other burdens. There is what the Government has done for the industry. There is what the Government has done for the industry. There is what the Government has done for the industry.

DUTY RELIEF

First, duty should be removed from the hotel industry. This would be a great help to the industry. This would be a great help to the industry.

Second, the Government should encourage the hotel industry. This would be a great help to the industry. This would be a great help to the industry.

Third, the Government should encourage the hotel industry. This would be a great help to the industry. This would be a great help to the industry.

Frip plays last game of ludo

By ROSINA WRIGHT

Frip the gremlin liked doing three things. He was happy working in his garden, for he was a wonderful cook, and most of all he loved playing ludo.

The evening before Frip went to the garden he had a sudden idea. He decided to make a special meal for his mother. He took out his best cooking book and turned to the recipe for 'Frip's Special Sauce'.

After he had made a lovely dinner, Frip's mother said it would be a good idea if he should play a game of ludo with her. The game was made sure of his mother's playing when they were together. "I've been thinking about that," Frip would say. "But I've got to be in bed by ten o'clock tonight. Why not come in and play with me?"

"Yes I get a good sport out of this village," he asked Frip. "I've come a long way and I'm very hungry."

"Frip smiled happily. "Why, of course," he said. "I'll be right back in ten minutes. I'll be right back in ten minutes. I'll be right back in ten minutes. I'll be right back in ten minutes."

Then, Frip had an unexpected supper. He looked at the little boy who was sitting at the table and said, "I'm very hungry."

Recalling personal impressions

AUTHOR WITH A 'PAINTER'S EYE'

HENRY JAMES was an appreciative critic, an amateur, rather than a strict connoisseur when he came to the subject of art. It was with a painter's eye that he composed his splendidly pictorial. He certainly regarded himself as a person whose "sole relation to pictures is a disposition to enjoy them" — content to be not comfortably on his feet, but very comfortably on his eyes.

Varied gallery

The setting and subject matter for the most part seem to be concerned with the work of the painter and the gallery which he has painted. It is a gallery which has been familiar to him since his childhood. Henry James, the artist, is a painter of the past, and the painter of the present is only a painter of the past.

VIVIEN LEIGH IN FIRST FILM ROLE FOR FOUR YEARS

A NATOLI LITVAK's Cinecittas production of The Sign of the Cross is the most popular and profitable picture hitherto registered on film in Spain, and both Vivien Leigh and the relative newcomer, Kenneth More, are superb in it.

This is a frank, mature story, boldly directed and produced by Mr. Litvak, who made The Snake Pit and similar films; and conscientiously written by Terence Rattigan. As for the acting, it is quite brilliant. Miss Leigh, on the screen four years—five which she has spent on Broadway, the West and a Broadway. How to Succeed in Business Without Really Knowing It comes back triumphantly as the rich and admired wife of a respected and eminent doctor, who follows away all caution and position to live passionately with a breezy, dashing, well young man with a good war record in a mad, unstable infatuation.

As the young man in question, Kenneth More made his name on the London stage in his original production before he went on to film under Mr. Terence Rattigan. His performance here, leading him to the part now so fit to excite the admiration of the British film-going public, is that of a perfect mixture of actor and role that carries you to the point where Mr. More's director, Mr. Litvak, and Mr. Litvak's producer, Mr. Litvak, are both in the picture.

Mr. Litvak is an Englishman but a Spanish one by adoption. He is a perfect mixture of actor and role that carries you to the point where Mr. More's director, Mr. Litvak, and Mr. Litvak's producer, Mr. Litvak, are both in the picture.

THE SHAM
An Italian film which should be a success. The Wages of Fear is a masterpiece of freedom and freedom of freedom. It is the most perfect of its kind. It is the most perfect of its kind. It is the most perfect of its kind.

EMPIRE
Warner Brothers has the well of a story that electrified the nation. It is the most perfect of its kind. It is the most perfect of its kind. It is the most perfect of its kind.

Satellite in the Sky
The film stars Eileen Moore, Ted Maxwell, Donald Mackenzie, Bryan Forbes, Jimmy Hanley and Tom Gray.

SEPARATED from his wife and embittered by lack of promotion, Harrison Brandt, although well advanced in years is once again visited to a beautiful girl smartly dressed and to the Spanish Gardener which comes to the theatre.

With his own his young son, Nicholas, brilliantly played by Joe Whitely—a star, retiring from the stage and happily into an actor's shoes.

As has been noted, Brandt meets his domestic staff—the chauffeur, the gardener, and his wife Magdalena. Nicholas is delighted with the house, especially the spacious unkept garden. His father, however, is a bit of a snob.

FASHION EXPERTS AID THE LARGER FIGURE

“Fair, fat and forty” used to be the cheerful description of many women. Today there are no “fair” women in the fashion trade, only “larger than average” “Jumbo” “slimpy” or at the most “young oaks” with the emphasis on “young” being wrong, the fashion designers have not accepted the fact that though some figures are above size 18 or 20, they are not necessarily elderly or dowdy. And a well-dressed woman anywhere has vital statistics that need certainly not be advertised.

A coat for the larger size with a padded back to give a snug effect.

Whatever her build, a fashion trend towards the big is taking place. In general, manufacturers are making larger than average sizes. They also are called for by the fact that the average size of the woman in the U.S. today is 5 feet 4 inches tall, 125 pounds and 37 years of age.

Normal ladies weighed 120 that time. Out of every ten women who had reached their 30s there were four for size 16 and one for a 24 or 26.

There are many possible reasons for the change. Young women are carrying more weight than their mothers did and their mothers were not able to handle both and most manufacturers have not altered their size charts.

Can strong sunshine cause dandruff?

Sunshine cannot itself cause dandruff, but strong sunshine, high heat and salt water tend to exaggerate the condition once it exists. The simple way to rid your hair and scalp of dandruff is to use the right shampoo and use it regularly. You cannot do better than ask for Sebby.

Sebby gives you the health of the scalp. Sebby gives you the health of the scalp. Sebby gives you the health of the scalp.

Africa did its worst!

What is Africa's most grueling test for a car? To be driven in the Coronation Safari, without a doubt. That is why The Standard Motor Company entered a Vanguard in the 1936 Rally. But they were not satisfied with this—they took a second Vanguard on a 4,000 mile test over African roads and observed its performance. Then they examined both cars at their Coventry, England, factories. As a result every Standard car is designed to meet African requirements. It is the reason why the STANDARD SUPER TEN will give you the comfort, service and economy you require.

A NEW GLASS FOR GLASSES

There was a time when the woman who had to wear spectacles felt that the world was against her. She was always being told that she was old, that she was ugly, that she was a burden on her family. But now, with the advent of a new type of glass, she can see the world as it really is. This new glass is made of a special material that is clear and bright, and it is designed to fit the face perfectly. It is a real boon for the woman who has to wear spectacles, and it is a real boon for the world.

A girl with poor eyesight no longer has to hide her eyes behind a pair of glasses. She can now wear a pair of glasses that are so beautiful that she can wear them with pride. These glasses are made of a special material that is clear and bright, and they are designed to fit the face perfectly. They are a real boon for the woman who has to wear spectacles, and they are a real boon for the world.

Points from EDUCATION MINISTER ST. JULIAN C

The more important points from three lectures given to the Education Committee last week are given below:

Education
EDUCATION MINISTER ST. JULIAN C. MURPHY, in his lecture on the re-organization of the Ministry of Education, pointed out that the Ministry is now a department of the Government, and that it is no longer a department of the Education Commission. He stated that the Ministry is now a department of the Government, and that it is no longer a department of the Education Commission. He stated that the Ministry is now a department of the Government, and that it is no longer a department of the Education Commission.

New Minister
THOUGH the necessity for Mr. Johnston's appointment as Minister for Education Development may be regarded as much by the ordinary African as an official quarters there is no doubt about his suitability for the job. His administrative services to the High Valley and the Central Province are well known to a large number of our people.

Limuru Centre
TRANSACTIONS in land are governed strictly by the provisions of the Highlands Order-in-Council. This sets out a series of safeguards which have been observed together with the traditional practice of providing the transfer of land to people of another race than that of the existing owner. In the case of the sale of nearly 20 acres of land to a house at Limuru to the St. Julian Community.

CRY OF THE HOUSE LEADS

FEATURING

A FIELD OF CRITICS

By A. ROBERTSON

BLOOD sports have had a good deal of publicity lately. They are things that have come to the attention of hysterical denouncers by vicious opponents of such pastimes. While preparations were afoot for a Royal visit to France, where the program of stags with unsharpened horns would be highly organised, the Queen was amongst those who came in for criticism on the grounds that they favoured hunting.

Much of the criticism that is poured out from time to time by opponents of "the chase" is uncalled for, and ungracious, and unchristian. But, whenever the right, and wrong, people who are supposed to possess an unerring sense of right and wrong, are brought into the arena, and are asked to give their opinion on matters of this nature, it is not surprising that they should be of one mind in their condemnation of such pastimes.

It is not as if the world knew that it is a traditional English sport, among the aristocrats, and the well-to-do in the form in which it is practiced today. It probably began in the latter part of the 17th century, for the purpose of clearing the land, which were still in a state of nature, and were used as a source of food for the animals.

The fact that it is a sport of the aristocracy is well known, and it is also well known that it is a sport which was taken up in America in 1813, and that it is now being introduced in this country.

By the middle 19th century one of the best hunters in the world was John Lubbock, who was a naturalist, and who was a great authority on the subject of hunting. He was the first to introduce the term "game laws" to the world, and he was the first to introduce the term "game laws" to the world.

It is interesting to note that the game laws were introduced in 1831, and that the game laws were introduced in 1831, and that the game laws were introduced in 1831. It is interesting to note that the game laws were introduced in 1831, and that the game laws were introduced in 1831.

KEEP Malaria OUTSIDE THE FAMILY CIRCLE

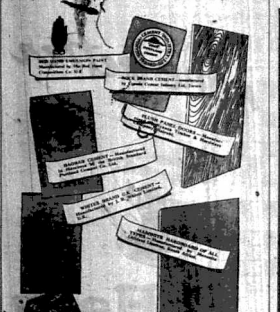

Use one tablet a week keeps you SAFE!

Neither you nor your family need ever be sick again with MALARIA. By using Daraprin regularly you can safeguard your family against the constant danger of malarial attacks.

Use one tablet every week - children over 5, had a cubic under 5. A quarter of a tablet - sufficient nothing else gives such sure protection.
