CONFIDENCE IN ISLAND
DEFENDERS

The situation in the island of Crete was reviewed in Cairo in a report by a military expert who said the whole situation at the island was satisfactory. The report stated that the position at the island was satisfactory.

A reference to the battle of Crete was made yesterday in Cairo by the Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, who said that the Allied forces were making a holding Crete against the enemy's attacks by sea and air in circumstances never before known.

Repeating Attacks Fail
Meanwhile, the latest news shows that German aircraft still hold the airfield at Malindi and are still dropping bombs on the island by day and night. The enemy has again been seen to land at Malindi, but without success.

At Malindi they are trying to extend their original beachhead and other attempts are being made to land troops on the north coast and at Retimo, further west. The enemy has again been seen to land at Malindi, but without success.

Other parties of air-borne troops have landed on the island and they are continuing to fight. The enemy has again been seen to land at Malindi, but without success.

Landing Attempt Repelled
An earlier message described how a large unit of the Mediterranean Sea Command was repelled by the British Army on Saturday night.

The British naval force attacked the enemy's landing party and was repelled by the British Army on Saturday night.

MUSEUM PIECE
In a report which appeared on Friday last the East African Standard gave an outline of a transformation which is taking place at the Coryndon Memorial Museum. The importance of this movement lies not so much in the value of a more logical and artistic arrangement of museum objects desirable and interesting as they may be, as in the effect the change is designed to have on the attitude of the public—more especially the children of Nairobi and Kenya—towards the local museums. In other words, a welcome opportunity has arisen whereby that

PRELUDE TO ADVENTURE

Stormy Career Of Fugitive General

Cairo, May 27.—The condemnation of the Egyptian Press for the Egyptian "freedom fighter" is manifestly demonstrated by the disclosure of the life and career of this man. Al-Ahram gave an account of his early days in Turkey, his adventures in Tripoli, a conflict with Denzil, his treason in 1912, and his subsequent flight to France. He is said to have been a friend of the King Haakon of Sweden who remained loyal to the organization of his army. Of how a role in his own handwriting was found in his diary saying that Hussein and his son were with him the Redia and that the English would do well to come to an agreement with him, get rid of Hussein and his son and extend the rule of the country to him.

The paper also relates his deportation by the Egyptian authorities to Germany during the last war when he offered his services to the German military authorities, his application to King Faisal for service in Iraq and his refusal owing to his former treachery, his aid in Egypt and quarrels with his relatives; his appointment by Mohamed Mahmoud Pasha in 1924 as Director of the Egyptian Press and his subsequent resignation. He is also mentioned in all the memoirs of the Ministry of Education, King Farouk in England and his subsequent flight to France and his offer to save Egypt was refused by King Farouk. He is also mentioned in the memoirs of the Egyptian Government, in order to gain independence, should come to an agreement with the British regarding the Suez Canal.

He was the only one of his kind with all the official appointments of King Faisal and the latter reported to his father to resign his commission in the Egyptian army. He was in the War Office and his offer to undertake the organization of the Egyptian Press, to appoint him as Director of the Egyptian Press and his subsequent resignation. He is also mentioned in all the memoirs of the Ministry of Education, King Farouk in England and his subsequent flight to France and his offer to save Egypt was refused by King Farouk. He is also mentioned in the memoirs of the Egyptian Government, in order to gain independence, should come to an agreement with the British regarding the Suez Canal.

A Week Of "Flak" Days To Boost Morale

[STANDARD CORRESPONDENT] London.—An Algerian business man, who recently flew to Lisbon from South Africa to see the Government, has reported that the morale of the British forces in Germany is very low and that the soldiers are suffering from a lack of food and clothing. He says that the soldiers are suffering from a lack of food and clothing and that the morale is very low.

WOMAN'S LIFE IN ITALIAN PRISON

Ex-Consul's Secretary

Officers who begged her for protection

[From George Keenan, Our Special Correspondent, with the East Africa Force]

It was at Harar I heard for the first time that the Italian had captured a British woman. The first of those mentioned in the story was a woman named Mrs. [Name] who was a secretary to the British Consul in Harar. She was captured by Italian soldiers and taken to a prison in Addis Ababa. She describes her life in prison, including the conditions, the treatment of the prisoners, and the efforts of the British officers to rescue her.

She describes her life in prison, including the conditions, the treatment of the prisoners, and the efforts of the British officers to rescue her. She mentions that she was held in a cell with other prisoners and that the conditions were very poor. She also mentions that she was treated with kindness by some of the British officers who were trying to help her.

much, soon knew that there was something amiss. The sound of shouting came to their ears. The guards were uneasy. They were afraid of excitement and of a riot. A native girl, Mrs. Mazariani, had been taken to the village. Calmy she told the native to find him and tell him that there were women in the prison camp. And that it had been arranged to be released. Soon they were taken to the prison camp. They were told of the situation of the camp. There were women in the prison camp. They were told of the situation of the camp. They were told of the situation of the camp.

Over the concentration camp another kind of life was being lived. The women were kept in the same quarters, imploring her to look after them. An Italian General passed the door open and walked in looking with curiosity at the women. Always prett. Mrs. Mazariani was looking with curiosity at the women. Always prett. OVERSEAS MARKET REPORT

Review of Prices And Tendencies

The general overseas market report of previous prices and tendencies—published below—has been supplied to Messrs. Charles & Co. Ltd., who received it from the London office of the date April 8.

RUBBER—Since we last wrote about this commodity, the market has been busy due to the fact that the price of writing the notes has standardised at 17 1/2-17 3/4 per lb. which is a new record. Rubber sheets and South Africa (Chopped) £3.10; South Africa (Graded) £3.12; East African (Chopped) £2.17; East African (Graded) £2.18. All per c.i.f. shipment with freight added.

BREWER—Once again we have a report of a new record in a strong market. Barley can be held at 120/- per cwt. for export. Fair quality Buzak at 185/- both as a whole and as a malt. The market for the demand.

COPPER—This market also shows appreciable improvement, and Zambian copper is now at 100/- per cwt. for London, standing today at 100/- per cwt.

CHILLIES—This market also shows appreciable improvement, and Zambian chillies are now at 100/- per cwt. for London, standing today at 100/- per cwt.

MAIZE—Show little or no change in prices. White for April/May shipment is quoted at 28/6, per 40 lb. cwt. for London. Yellow for April/May shipment is quoted at 27/6, per 40 lb. cwt. for London.

WHEAT—During the last few days the United Kingdom Wheat Committee has brought a large bid for Canadian. The price, as it can be seen, has not yet been disclosed, but Mr. J. Northern, Managing Director for the firm of M. J. Shipman & Co., Ltd., Australian New Crop in hand, which has not submitted any serious attention is quoted at 37/6.

SIAM—This market shows a definite improvement in prices. Lengths of 3 feet, it upwards containing 180 lbs. per cwt. is quoted at 28/6, per 40 lb. cwt. for London.

COFFIN—Last month attention was drawn to the action of the Ministry of Supply in assuming control of all imported raw cotton. The result was important other things being equal. The market for cotton cloth, and it will remain so long as the Government continues to assume an important and dominating position in being brought into

Nazi Sentry Shot Him As He Was Sketching

(Special Correspondent)
A young British officer has been shot dead in the trenches in the eastern sector of the front near the village of St. Omer, Belgium, because he was sketching a view across the front which was being used by the enemy to study the dispositions of the British forces. The sketcher was a young officer in the 1st Battalion, the Buffs, who had been sent to the front to study the dispositions of the enemy. He was seen by a sentry who fired at him. He was killed. The sketch was a study of the dispositions of the enemy. It was a study of the dispositions of the enemy. It was a study of the dispositions of the enemy.

R.A.F.'s HAVOC IN GERMANY

Graphic Account Eye-Witness

A first-hand account of the effects of R.A.F. bombing in Germany is given by an American seaman, August Gorman, who was in the Dover Straits on the night of the 24th/25th. He writes: "The first time we saw the bombers was at 11:30 p.m. They were flying in the sky. They were dropping bombs. They were dropping bombs. They were dropping bombs."

GUARD YOUR BEAUTY

A lively complexion is usually the result of keeping the body free of poisons - of keeping internally clean by daily elimination of fecal wastes.

Common skin troubles, doctors say, are mostly caused by one thing only - sluggish intestines. If you have a bad breath and suffer from a dull, listless, pimply skin and a ruined complexion - then you need a mild and gentle laxative to expel the poisonous fecal waste from the intestines.

strengthen the hold of the British Navy on the Eastern Mediterranean and enables the Royal Air Force to bomb German military targets in Greece from close range. It is also a further step towards the complete isolation of the Balkan Peninsula.

From the point of view of prestige (he says) the struggle for Crete is of almost equal importance to that for all the countries of the Middle East - to say nothing of countries further afield - are watching intently. The British are evidently determined to destroy British aerial defence in the island by intensive bombing and to capture airfields or other fixed stretches of country by means of parachute troops in order that large numbers of air-borne forces may be landed (and then maintained by air-borne supplies) in safety.

After reviewing the opening stages of the attack which included the dropping of large numbers of parachute aviators, whose task was to endeavour to bring and hold landing grounds for the air-borne army to follow, Veritas points out that the limited airfields had been made unusable for operations because of the intense air attacks constantly made from the island and the Royal Air Force is now under the severest strain. Even the German troops operating from distant bases in Crete and Palestine. Because of this twelve hundred German troops are being evacuated to the island and a certain number of Italian aircraft of the same type are also being sent to ferry substantial forces across with much haste.

Veritas says that the German air force is suffering from a shortage of fuel, and that the German air force is suffering from a shortage of fuel, and that the German air force is suffering from a shortage of fuel.

THE MURDER OF LADY EROLI

"Not Guilty" Accused Aronett

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S REVIEW OF EVIDENCE LEADING TO TRAGEDY

Defence References to Lord Eroll's Interest in Fascism

A suggestion that the death of the Earl of Eroll might have had a political motive behind it was advanced by counsel for the accused, Lord Eroll, in his defence address at the trial held at the High Court, London, on December 15, 1939, in the case of the Earl of Eroll, charged with the murder of Lady Eroll, his wife, on the night of January 23, 1939.

The proceedings are before the High Court, London, on December 15, 1939, in the case of the Earl of Eroll, charged with the murder of Lady Eroll, his wife, on the night of January 23, 1939.

The case for the Crown is conducted by Mr. W. C. Clegg, C. S., who appears for the Crown, and Mr. W. C. Clegg, C. S., who appears for the Crown, and Mr. W. C. Clegg, C. S., who appears for the Crown.

Among other things, the accused, Lord Eroll, stated that he had a friendly acquaintance with a woman known as "Mrs. X" who had a black hair and was in the habit of wearing a black hat and a black coat.

"Towards the close of the first day of the trial, the accused, Lord Eroll, stated that he had a friendly acquaintance with a woman known as 'Mrs. X' who had a black hair and was in the habit of wearing a black hat and a black coat."

The accused, Lord Eroll, stated that he had a friendly acquaintance with a woman known as "Mrs. X" who had a black hair and was in the habit of wearing a black hat and a black coat.

At the outset the Chief Justice said he had decided to sit in open court, though it might be necessary for the trial to be held in private.

EDUCATION IN KENYA
 To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"—Sir—I have read with concern recent letters published by you over the signatures of "A Kenya Mother," "J.P.R." and "Another Kenya Mother" and share their anxiety for the future of the education system. It is necessary by the war should be a constructive one. At present the length of time for which this committee can be justified must be reduced, not only because of the military authorities, but these might be advised to return to the civil authorities.

It is not to be forgotten that the time had now arrived when the small number of male teachers on active military service could be returned to their civil work and "reserved." If it is not absolutely possible, could they not be replaced by military law or civil ancillary jobs, who in turn could be substituted by women set free by returned male teachers? This is a very important question through consultation between the Education Department, the Kenya Power and the Military Command, an attempt should be made to be regarded as taking precedence, not over their own, but over mere military convenience.

The question of language is not easy. Owing to the increasing population and the impossibility of sending children to England for their higher education, there are many reasons for accommodation that was formerly the case. Could not the use of Kiswahili at least be fostered in its own birth, and the military command transferred either to the buildings now being used on Lake Naivasha or to other country hotels or clubs? Many parents, for various reasons, are feeling that the present arrangements are not necessary by danger from air warfare, could not be replaced by more constructive plans. On the other hand, I feel that some of the military officers who have been referred to are unfair to the present teachers, especially to the women teachers who have taken on a most difficult and onerous job as a war-time service. They are very highly educated and are deserving of the greatest possible support from the boys and their parents. Many of these ladies are due to the war and the military commandings and the call of duty dictate a most efficient discharge of their duties with a willing cooperation in learning for the future.

In a primary school one expects to find a number of children from those from unprivileged homes, to need orders to be given to ensure that these children are not neglected. It is not only in primary schools but in secondary classes one can usually expect boys and girls to realize that they are in a national institution established in their own interests and that as they progress in their studies they should make a contribution to the welfare of the country as a whole. It is in the nature of things that some of the teachers in these schools are bound to be of that nature of obligation.

There is a certain sense of humiliation at the thought by which many of our parents can perhaps induce them to operate in the manner in which the matter is being handled, but this is not confined to Kenya, but extends to British and all other areas from which male teachers are taken for fighting, which depends on the terms in which the matter is approached. One can, but hope that there are conditions in which one can pass away.

In the meantime let us respect and honour the women on whom this responsibility has fallen.
 Yours etc.,
 E.V.A. de RUSS,
 Late Chief Inspector of Schools,
 Nairobi, Kenya, 25/5/41.

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"—Sir—I am writing to you in this Colony will back up "Kenya Mother" and "Another Kenya Mother" in their anxiety for looking their local members into insisting upon a concrete policy for the future of the post-war education of our children. It is the latter which is causing most anxiety to parents, and the actual working out of the plan is all right as far as it goes. Most ways of carrying a living cost training which covers the post-war education of our children. UNION WITH AFRICA
 To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"—Sir—I have today received (April 26) 1941) South Africa's expression of interest in the Union with Africa. It is a most interesting and important article, and one which I am sure will be read with interest by all those who are interested in the welfare of the African continent. U. S. PRESIDENT'S SPEECH Momentous Pronouncement Expected

FIRST REACTIONS TO RADER'S "THREAT"

It is believed that the most momentous of his speeches will be the one in which he will announce to the world his policy towards Germany. It is expected that this speech will be made in the near future.

There are signs, too, that America is hurrying on defence preparations, with naval and military aid to France as the first essential for democracy.

Mr. Stimson, the President's Secretary, is expected to be the first to announce the President's speech today.

Some Sort of Threat
Mr. Cordell Hull, United States Secretary of State, also commented on the statement made by the President.

Irish Revolt Cracking Up?

GERMANS SAY IT WAS PREMATURE

For Raabli to keep the British busy in Iraq without much German aid is a great mistake.

Germany's "Unsinkable" Battleships Sent To Bottom

After One Of Most Exciting Chases In Naval History BIG LOSS TO NAZIS

THE GREAT GERMAN BATTLESHIP, BISMARCK, HAS BEEN SUNK

This dramatic news was announced today by the Prime Minister and the news was confirmed by an Admiralty communique which simply said: "The German battleship Bismarck has been sunk by our naval forces. The details of the operations will be announced as soon as possible."

French Consular Officials Asked 'To Leave'

It is learned in London that French consular officials in London have been requested to leave the country.

German Plans Destroyed

At Babkrah, north of Baghdad, German plans were destroyed.

Irish Revolt Cracking Up?

It is believed that the most momentous of his speeches will be the one in which he will announce to the world his policy towards Germany.

UNABATED FEROCITY OF FIGHTING IN CRETE

Enemy Suffer Enormous Casualties

BRITISH NAVAL LOSSES Position "Still Fluid"

The situation in Crete is still fluid. The British forces are holding their ground despite heavy enemy attacks.

Useful Suggestions
It is difficult to estimate how many enemy troops have landed in the area from the sea and on the ground.

Naval Losses
The British Navy has suffered heavy losses in the Mediterranean Sea.

RAF Bombs Hit

Most of them were destroyed on the aerodromes in Malindi and the adjacent districts.

The Staff Head Hotel, Nakuru, was the scene of a most pleasant function on Saturday last, when the Nakuru Caledonian Society gave their annual ball in aid of the funds of their Branch. The ballroom was decorated with lanterns, with the Standard of Scotland dominating the scene, and the Chief-in-Chief of the Branch, Mr. Garside-Hudson, was the guest of honor.

Much enthusiasm was put into the preparations for the evening, which was held at the Standard of Scotland, the Nakuru Club and on the occasion of the annual ball. The committee responsible had drawn up a splendid programme in which the Highland dancing was included.

Forthcoming Concert

A concert of classical music will take place at the Staff Head Hotel on Friday, August 1st, to be arranged by Mr. James Griffin, President of the Nakuru Girl Guild. It will be in aid of the Standard and Building Funds.

Some interesting facts and statistics in connection with Nakuru are given above, but to be found in the Health Officer report for 1934, published in the Nakuru Municipal Yearly Report.

A considerable amount of work has been done during the year with regard to the prevention of Malaria. The following statistics have been obtained from the Health Officer's report for 1934.

ANNUAL MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

The annual election of two members of the Municipal Council of Nakuru, to fill vacancies caused by the expiry of the terms of office of Messrs. G. Griffiths and R. F. Thomas, will be held on Monday, August 1st.

The addition of four new prisoners and the transfer of a large number of prisoners helped render desirable the construction of the new cells, the completion of the building and improvements have been carried out.

A new clinic was erected during the year in the Native Location. It is a well-constructed and well-serviced at a cost of £200. Dr. James Irvine, of the Nakuru Civil Hospital, A native assistant is employed to deal with minor ailments.

THEATRE MANAGERS
 To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"—Sir—I went to see "George and Margaret" last night. When the curtain rose approximately twenty minutes to the first act or eight rows of the orchestra seats were occupied. A steady stream of people then arrived for their seats, the last arrivals having preceded twenty minutes late.

As a large proportion of these late arrivals were "oldies and grandees" most unwilling to attribute their conduct to bad management. Further, none of them would care to supply an alternative explanation.

'Active Service' ASPRO

QUICK CHANGES NEED QUICK ACTION. In these troublesome times there is a necessity for QUICK ACTION in medicine. That's why ASPRO is giving more active service than any other medicine. The times demand quick action in medical service. 'ASPRO' is the tablet that fulfils the need. It dispels pain in a few minutes. Headaches are quickly banished. Nerve pain and irritability are gently soothed away in a short time. The sharp pangs of rheumatism yield to two or three 'ASPRO' tablets. Sleeplessness definitely gives place to peaceful sleep by the aid of 'ASPRO' tablets. A gargle with two 'ASPRO' tablets in a little water banishes sore throat and prevents infection. After ingestion in the system, the internal antiseptic qualities of 'ASPRO' are of great help in epidemic conditions. Its cold and soothing effect both yield to its soothing influence. So the obvious thing to do is

RUDDY: "Q" SERVICES AGAIN BEAT S.A.A.F.

Airmen Miss Several Chances To Turn Tables

Two Rugby football matches, arranged by the United Service Sports Organisation, were played on the Railway ground last Saturday. The R.A.F. Party defeated the "R" team of the South African Air Force by four tries and one goal (17 points) to nil, and in the second match the "Q" Services beat the S.A.A.F. by two goals and one try (15 points) to one goal, two tries (11 points).

The R.A.F. Party were superior all round, to the second string of the Air Force and it was more or less a foregone conclusion that the bigger opposition to come. The Port Corps eventually broke the making of a promising goal, which was well followed by the R.A.F. who kicked in an extra point, whose kicking is an excellent one, and the game was over. The R.A.F. were the better of the two sides, who were the better of the two sides, who were the better of the two sides.

The second match was really good and well maintained the high standard of Rugby that the military teams have produced in Nairobi during the past few weeks, to the full enjoyment of the large crowd of military and civilian spectators. The R.A.F. were the better of the two sides, who were the better of the two sides, who were the better of the two sides.

Service Soccer Fixtures

Fixtures for the Combined Services and Inter-Army Soccer Leagues are given below. Both of the fixtures are to be played on the grounds of the Services canteen, but will be addressed to the following:

Combined Services League:

Plans and Carroll facing the full back only, but a number of good goals were scored. The R.A.F. were the better of the two sides, who were the better of the two sides, who were the better of the two sides.

The first of the Inter-Army League Soccer matches took place on Saturday at the Railway ground between the Royal Air Force and South Africa. The latter won by six goals to one before a large crowd of spectators.

R.A.F. should now have gone ahead when awarded a penalty for a foul by the R.A.F. players. The R.A.F. were the better of the two sides, who were the better of the two sides, who were the better of the two sides.

HOW TO BUY "EDIB" OIL

Edib Oil is sold everywhere in 1-gallon and 5-gallon cans and in bottles containing 20 fluid ounces. Ask your grocer for it.

For years it has been the universal practice to fry foods in lard. Modern experiments' researches have proved that vegetable oil and Edib Oil are consistent and economical mediums for frying. Each week more people are turning over to "Edib" oil because they have tried it and they quickly prefer it to the old "lard" method.

GUARD YOUR BEAUTY

A lovely complexion is usually the result of keeping the body free of poisons of keeping internally clean by daily elimination of food wastes.

Common skin troubles, doctors say, are mostly caused by one thing only—sluggish intestines. If you have a bad breath and suffer from a dull, listless, sallow skin and a ruined complexion—then you need a mild and gentle laxative to expel the poisonous food wastes from the intestines.

You admit the fact of your examination of the preliminary records?

Further questioning Mr. Morris, Inspector Elliott did not agree that he had been confined to hospital in the past.

Two native employees of the Park Grange Dairy gave evidence of having arrived and found a motor-car lying on its side in the morning of January 24th.

Quizzed by Mr. Morris as to how he found the time of his arrival at the car at 3 o'clock, one of the natives said he had a watch with him but he always kept it fast.

On a corporal stationed at the Kenya Police post said that early on the morning of January 24th he received a report that a motorist in the car had fallen off the side of the road.

Cross-examined, witness said the other constables left when the clock struck 3 a.m. and that was correct.

A Demonstration Asst. Inspector A.T. Bowen, who lives in Ekeru, said he was sent to the inn at 11 p.m. to see if he was in the front of the car. Witness saw a man in the car.

It was stated that he asked for either "Players" or "Crows" and that he asked some other police officer when he took "the car" to be asked for "Players".

The Chief Inspector said he did not know that accident had happened there. He did not know that it had happened there.

GREEN'S WINES ARE BEST—

FORGET THE REST, OR, BETTER STILL, JUST MAKE A TEST!

For the convenience of the Trade, reserve stocks of the following are now held in Nairobi and in Mombasa. However, we prefer clients who can import, to draw their supplies direct from our Cape Town Cellars on a direct indent basis so that our local reserve stocks may be maintained for Trade "filling up" orders. For 98 years we have been producing choice WINES and BRANDIES and our labels represent the highest guarantee of quality. We are pleased to give close and friendly attention to the needs of all our clients in East Africa and we emphasize that:

...In taxation it is not simply a question of draining money out of people, but must also be regarded as a matter of inducing them to do so. A friend of mine who is a very successful business man, but who is not a taxpayer, writes to me: "Our fighting forces will be called on to do their part, but the greatest will be that of our statesmen to consider public, private and family interests of the people. This was a two-thirds per cent, economic, and both sides will lose that part and the loss will not be borne by the greatest who direct our affairs and our opinions, but by the common people. HINTS TO FARMERS PART VI

THE PRESERVATION, by controlled fermentation, of fodder in a semi-green state, is termed ensilage, and the resultant dry crop may be turned into silage. Its succulent, well-made silage is the best substitute for natural pasture. It is of utmost value for milk cows and sheep.

It is interesting to note, too, that the silage is not lost by weather conditions as is the case with other crops. Handling may be carried out under any conditions of rain or dew, for the resulting fodder is a permanent crop. It does not flow like other crops, and it is not so liable to rot. The silage is the best substitute for natural pasture. It is of utmost value for milk cows and sheep.

THE FODDER WORTH MUCH MORE THAN THE COST OF PRODUCING IT—AND THE FARMER'S MOST VALUABLE STANDBY.

Under the conditions of the present day, the farmer's most valuable standby is his own silage. It is of utmost value for milk cows and sheep. KENNEL NOTES
Margaret Collyer

My Colley, Gipsy, by whom correspondence is conducted, has been very kind to send me a copy of a letter which she has written to me. It is quite horridly, yet amusingly true!

On my walk to the station, I saw a dog which I had never seen before. It was a small, black and white dog, and it was very friendly. I gave it a piece of bread, and it was very grateful. I saw it again on my next walk, and it was still as friendly. I gave it another piece of bread, and it was very grateful.

I have had a report from my friend, Mr. J. H. Smith, that he has been very successful in his business. He has been very busy, and he has been very successful. He has been very busy, and he has been very successful. He has been very busy, and he has been very successful.

Improving Kenya's Water Supplies

Improving Kenya's water supplies is a task of the first importance. It is essential to note, too, that the silage is not lost by weather conditions as is the case with other crops. Handling may be carried out under any conditions of rain or dew, for the resulting fodder is a permanent crop. It does not flow like other crops, and it is not so liable to rot. The silage is the best substitute for natural pasture. It is of utmost value for milk cows and sheep.

Mc Cormick - Deering Disc Harrows
When you buy a McCormick-Deering Disc Harrow you are getting a lot more than an ordinary disc harrow. The reason is because McCormick-Deering uses only irrispondent, non-wear-out discs. The irrispondent discs are of strong reinforcement or shock absorber for the disc at the centre—the point of greatest strain. The irrispondent, being flat, permits the use of spading spades which are set at an angle to the spading spades and the disc, preventing looseness and breakage after a few seasons of use.

IT SEEMS years ago when I heard that a film version was to be made of "Gone with the Wind." It is indeed, a remarkable story, and many glowing reports have been made of it. I can say without reserve that it is the most satisfactory film I have ever seen. It is a brilliant and brilliant performance, and it is a real triumph for the film industry. It is a story that has been told in many ways, but never so well as in this. It is a story that has been told in many ways, but never so well as in this.

There are no nearly anyone who has not known already that famous tale of the great Southern mix and fight with the men and shocks in the days of the Civil War. It is a story that has been told in many ways, but never so well as in this. It is a story that has been told in many ways, but never so well as in this.

One dose settles ACID STOMACH. When your stomach feels heavy and sour through excessive acidity, take a dose of Maclean's Acid Stomach Powder. It is surprising how quickly this famous remedy neutralizes excess acid, restores the proper balance of the stomach and puts it all to normal. You can never tell the difference between a sudden indigestion and a stomach pain that is a sure sign of Maclean's Acid Stomach Powder always on hand.

By Horace Thorogood

I HAVE now read four books, three by women, recounting the life of the late Mrs. J. Edgar Hoover. The first was by Mrs. J. Edgar Hoover, the second by Mrs. J. Edgar Hoover, the third by Mrs. J. Edgar Hoover, and the fourth by Mrs. J. Edgar Hoover. It seems to be more a man's job than a woman's. One expects from it an objective picture of what the writer saw going on. The trouble with these three women is that they won't get themselves out of the way of the picture.

From Miss Bloom we get a great deal of not very kindly criticism of her father-in-law in the country. Miss Jacob raised the subject in her general observations without telling us too much. And here is Miss Hilditch's story, a real and true story of what she saw going on. The trouble with these three women is that they won't get themselves out of the way of the picture.

Another book about the bombing of London is "Bombier's Moon" by Maxey Fagan (Collins, 8s. 6d.). Here is one of his drawings by Tom Purvis.

Mr. Woom on the other front, set out to describe what he saw going on in the first fortnight (September 2nd) of the heavy bombing, and he sticks to that. Result, a most exciting, interesting story.

BIMBI

How sweet! How perfectly sweet," Bimbi, the monkey, nudged his chin forward, darted on to the wheel of the barrel organ, made a grimace which was extraordinarily human and scratched himself. The two ladies in fur coats produced silver coins for Adolpho's tin mug and passed on. Adolpho's blessing followed them while Bimbi scrambled to the top of the box and peered forward at the darkening street for more customers.

In another hour they would be going home; it was a short day during which the couple enjoyed the sight and sound of the busy streets and the admiration of everyone who passed. He could have wished that Adolpho spent more time in producing his monotonous music. Adolpho was too much content with the silver harvest resulting from only a few hours daily work.

The people smiled, laughed, and loved Bimbi, and he knew it. He had more intelligence than they thought. He knew almost everything that was said, particularly "Isn't he sweet?"

Women always said that. Sometimes they spoke to Adolpho but only of Bimbi. Adolpho had no claim or personality himself. He was too dirty, too untidy, too glib and glibly ready to attract the pretty ladies as Bimbi could. Who, having never experienced the scintillating blast of Adolpho's gaily utterances, could have him and say that he was "sweet?"

It was a long time since Adolpho pushed the barrel home. He had done it. He could sing and play a tune, but he had no more vigour and blined his eyes. He was tired. He had no more people loved him so much—bought his tin mug and silver after every performance.

Adolpho turned the barrel home. He had done it. He could sing and play a tune, but he had no more vigour and blined his eyes. He was tired. He had no more people loved him so much—bought his tin mug and silver after every performance.

Short Story BY JOHN TALLAND

Adolpho had fastened it himself. The train was free. At greater liberty, Bimbi explored the room, ignoring the sleeping figure on the bed. The chain trailed over the floor, the number link familiar. Bimbi could scarcely remember what it was like to be with out it, but still with chain, but it was a faint memory of green trees and of ever carried along their shattering thought, to his next night.

THE PRIVATE

To call a soldier "private" is altogether wrong. For a private soldier's privacy is not very strong. Whose privacy is it, his own or the army's? "No, Sir."

Private Thomas Atkins is brutal and licentious. Should he thank for himself, he's thought to be pretentious.

He may be a Wrangler; or again, he may be not. If he's a "private" soldier, he's a nitwit (or a snit).

Private Thomas Atkins, the world is in a whirl. May be a working Titmouse, or else a bell-cur. But being just a private he cannot be a gent.

So, for the best, plus soldier, be an officer if treated.

For, to you that get respect, till the war is won. Girdle on the sword, my lad; abjure the horrid gun. Officers are chosen with every Tom, Dick and Harry. Since I am a private, my coppers-Boe I've bought.

legs in the air like a dead man, reversed, its rugged front end had become the little open end.

But presently, as he turned over, life came in, and it was not the little open end that was left with fright, the breath blown over the top of the head. He jumped up and saw that the little open end was pursued by his glittering teeth. He closed his eyes, and the next instant he found the end of his chain, was found the end of his chain, was found the end of his chain.

Up to now there are four of five teams waiting but a greater number including a civilian team of two.

EMPIRE DAY

SATURDAY, MAY 24, 1941

In a speech in New York last week the Prime Minister of Australia, Mr. R. G. Menzies said that it was because Australia realised that the free life of the common man was in danger...

In a recent radio broadcast the Prime Minister of Canada, Mr. Mackenzie King declared that Canada was going all out in its war effort...

Following formations would be sent overseas for the next six months: the Third Division with its complement of corps troops...

Canada will also contribute to the commonwealth war effort in the United States. In connection with the campaign now going on...

Similar sentiments have been expressed in New Zealand where a very short time, the wreny would make a tremendous effort to destroy the British Commonwealth by a series of smashing blows of unprecedented severity.

gratitude of the magnificent way in which they have been operated in the East African campaign.

Once again, we celebrate Empire Day. It is a day on which we should all endeavour to remember the big tasks which have been called upon to carry out in East Africa since last Empire Day we have been threatened by a powerful enemy on our borders...
