£400,000,000 MAY BE SPENT FOR DEFENCE

TO COVER A FIVE YEARS PROGRAMME

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE CHANCELLOR

Still an Urgent Task

A PROPOSAL UNPRECEDENTED IN TIMES OF PEACE

Rugby, February 11. To meet the rapidly growing expenditure on the defence programme, the Government is taking power to raise capital, or use Budget surpluses for defence purposes over a period of five years, and to a maximum fixed for the time being at £400,000,000.

This important announcement was made at House of Commons question time by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who recalled that in his last budget he had said that exceptional nature of the defence programme made it inequitable that the whole cost should fall upon revenue on a single five year period.

The general experience of the past twelve months had in no way relieved the urgency of the heavy task, nor lightened the cost of raising the funds to a proper standard of defensive strength. It had only confirmed his earlier judgment.

Early Debate Promised

Chancellor expenditure on defence is growing at a pace which makes it essential to meet it out of capital funds. How much may be available out of current revenue, and in what manner, must be left to the Budget statement. It is, however, the revenue must be supplemented by appropriations from capital it is necessary to add a supplementary statutory authority. The Government, therefore, propose to introduce a Bill which will authorize raising of capital, or alternatively, the use of any realized Budget surpluses for a period of five years.

Flexibility Necessary

Whether the total amount to be raised in the total period over which it must be spread depends on the amount of defence expenditure, and on the rate of saving. Flexibility and adaptation to changing circumstances was the essence of the traditional House of Commons procedure. It is essential that the Bill should be framed in such a way as to give the Government the widest possible scope for raising the funds required to meet the needs of the defence programme. It is essential that the Bill should be framed in such a way as to give the Government the widest possible scope for raising the funds required to meet the needs of the defence programme.

Controlled Estimates

The Chancellor has described the provision for service, and the provision of any capital raised, as being under the control of the House of Commons. The Bill would give the Government the widest possible scope for raising the funds required to meet the needs of the defence programme.

DEBATE ON WEDNESDAY

Rugby, Feb 12. The Bill seeking authority for the Treasury to raise capital to meet the needs of the defence programme, will be introduced in the House of Commons on Wednesday.

At the end of the Chancellor's statement, Mr. Allan the leader of the Opposition called attention to the fact that the Government had not yet announced in their programme...

THE MAYOR OF NAIROBI

Mr. Wood to Remain in Office

LADY DELAMERE'S WISH

The following self-satisfying correspondence has been published in the "East African Standard" by arrangement with Mr. Wood, with a request for publication: To the Editor, "The East African Standard": I have been asked by Lady Delamere to send you for publication the following letter addressed to her by me, which explains the position in regard to the office of Mayor of Nairobi, to which she has been public re-elected recently.

ENJOY LOCAL FORESTS

But No Fires, by Request

The Forest Department has recently made up and improved considerably the roads in these forests. This has been done not only to better internal communication, but also to give the general public the opportunity of enjoying drives and walks in the forests and mountains of Kenya, which are very accessible to Nairobi.

As many permits it is the intention of the Department to open and improve further both paths and tracks, and it is hoped that they will be used by motorists, pedestrians and others with enjoyment. It is, however, necessary to sound a note of warning, states the Department. "The use of fire is a very serious matter, and it is essential that it should be controlled. There are large areas of indigenous woods in these forests, and it is the intention of the Department to preserve them intact as scenic reserves. If, however, fire should enter them, it could easily do so, they would soon be destroyed beyond repair."

All those, therefore, who use the forests are asked not to light any fire whatsoever within them, and to take the greatest care not to do so. It is essential that they should be controlled. There are large areas of indigenous woods in these forests, and it is the intention of the Department to preserve them intact as scenic reserves.

FINAL STRUGGLE FOR MADRID

INSURGENT BID FOR THE VALENCIA ROAD

DESPERATE RESISTANCE BY GOVERNMENT FORCES

Death and Destruction at Malaga

SMALLPOX RAGING IN RUINS OF WAR STRICKEN PORT

Following their success at Malaga the Insurgents have resumed their attacks on Madrid and fierce fighting has developed for possession of the road to Valencia which is Madrid's only remaining direct contact with the sea.

There is an unconfirmed report that the Insurgents have cut the road.

What is certain is that an emergency meeting of the Madrid Defence Council was held on Saturday for the purpose of reporting upon the whole position to the Spanish Government at Valencia.

In Malaga smallpox is raging and many deaths are reported. The damage done in the recent bombardment is placed at £20,000,000.

Progress in the South

Madrid's situation is not so optimistic as it appears. The Insurgent offensive is being carried on with ever increasing violence, artillery and planes participating in an intense bombardment. The attacks have not advanced to any extent of primary strategic importance.

The aerial bombing of Valencia with Madrid is now only 35 miles wide, according to reports from travellers who have arrived from the capital. The Insurgents are exerting great pressure on the road, although later reports indicate that the Government troops are resisting most stubbornly the attempt to close the corridor.

Conflicting Reports

Conflicting reports continue to come in from Madrid but there is no doubt on Saturday morning that the road to Valencia was still intact.

Insurgent correspondents in Madrid reported to Arganda 15 miles along the Valencia road. The Insurgents and its vehicles, backed with heavy transport and troops, while in the vicinity of Arganda and 14 other places they overtook and dropped the Insurgents, the only direct link being on a narrow strip which was held by very sturdy veterans and the Insurgents' planes arrived and the Insurgents were killed.

On Saturday evening an Insurgent station at Caceres had been captured and the road completely cut. If this report is true the Insurgents must have made very important progress from the time General Franco's president visited the town, because then they were still several days away.

On to Almeria

On the Malaga front the Insurgents are pushing home their advantage. They are making a drive towards Almeria, some distance west along the coast and the Government is making a strong effort to check advance of the Insurgents. The Insurgents deny that this Government movement is anything of importance.

Living on Lentils

The Madrid Defence Council met for four hours today and drew up a plan for the situation in Valencia which is to be laid to Government headquarters at Valencia. Insurgents are now becoming active and the staple diet of the people is lentils.

The shortage of food is even more serious and every supply of

ITALY PLEASUED WITH NEW PRINCE

Celebrations Last for Three Days

The Crown Prince

An amnesty for all prisoners serving sentences not exceeding three years, and a four year reduction in the sentence of those serving sentences not exceeding two years has been decreed in honour of the new born son of Prince Umberto and Princess Marie Jose.

Public demonstrations in the streets were not affected as the amnesty and reduction of sentences apply to "condemned" prisoners.

Naval Celebration

To celebrate the 50th anniversary the Navy has decided to present to all Italian boys in his name, the new Prince of Asturias (Principe).

Today, with the Pope's authorization a Cardinal will impart to the Prince Lentils (pastorale) were contained in a gold jar presented to the City of Naples.

Italy is rejoicing at the birth of a male heir. Firelight processions were held during the night to King and soldiers who were held up and illuminated for three days.

12 Killed

The infant Prince has been given 12 names, the first two being Victor Emmanuel, after his grandfather, the present King of Italy, and the title of Prince of Naples. The King of the child changes the Italian succession. Prince Umberto already has a daughter two years old but under the Italian law could never have a claim to the throne. It would have gone to the Duke of Aosta, if Umberto had not had a son. The nation is very happy that the succession has been settled.

GENERAL GOERING

Hitler's Representative at the Coronation

A German newspaper states today that General Goering will visit London and attend the Coronation of King Hitler. Official quarters say that nothing had been settled as yet as to an arrangement was quite possible.

Belgium Concerned Only with Own Security

WILL NOT GO TO THE HELP OF FRANCE IN FUTURE

Reply to New Locarno Proposals

Brussels, Feb. 12. Belgium is unwilling to promise aid for France if Germany attacks France.

This is understood in a reply to the British Locarno Note of the Belgian Ambassador delivered to the Foreign Office in London today. Belgium wishes to have her own security guaranteed.

It appears, however, that Belgium obligations to the League of Nations. It is understood that the League's power to decide the legality of a war will be recognized by Belgium and that the League will defend the aggressor in the event of a war.

The Belgian Note is also understood to suggest the calling of a preparatory conference to bring about a more rapid exchange of views in connection with a "Western Pact".

TOWN LIGHTING IN WAR CONDITIONS

Important Experiments at Bedford

Many experiments were conducted early yesterday in the streets of Bedford in an attempt to establish the minimum amount of light that would be required under war conditions for essential communal traffic to proceed with safety along the streets, and also to observe the effect of the minimum lighting would be readily visible from the air.

The Borough Electricity Department, Police and Fire Brigades co-operated with the Home Office and the Royal Air Force in these trials. The Royal Air Force is being equipped with low power lamps so arranged as not to be seen. Various types presented along the streets in order to test the efficiency of the lighting.

When full data of the aerial and ground observations are available the Home Office will consider the results of the various trials which would be needed to provide a minimum of light which would have to be applied in the case of war—British Official Wireless Service.

WAR MINISTER'S WARNING TO THE BRITISH PEOPLE

CATASTROPHE THE OUTCOME OF MILITARY SPIRIT ABROAD

Ministerial Speeches

Several members of the British Cabinet spoke during the week-end on the new defence proposals.

The most striking speech was that by the Minister for War who said that in the open defence of the military spirit among powerful nations in Europe there was every sign of approaching catastrophe and the people of Britain were living in imminent peril.

Other speakers were Sir Thomas Inskip, Defence Co-ordination Minister and Mr. Horre Belsham, Minister for Transport, both of whom dealt with defence requirements in relation to industry.

A debate on the Government's proposals will take place this week in the House of Commons.

Debate This Week

Mr. Dudley Young, the Minister for War, addressed a gathering in Bedford on Friday night when he appealed to employers to do their utmost in securing recruits for the Army.

He spoke of the position in Europe and said that in a so-called neutral country, the Government would not be able to do more than to see that the war effort was carried on with the minimum of disturbance to the normal life of the country.

Referring to home building, which continues particularly active, he said "I think that the Government will do its utmost to see that the war effort is carried on with the minimum of disturbance to the normal life of the country."

VALENCIA BOMBARDED BY INSURGENT CRUISER

FOURTEEN PEOPLE KILLED IN FIVE MINUTES

Child Victims

INDIVIDUAL FIGHTING FOR THE MAIN ROAD TO MADRID

An insurgent cruiser appeared off Valencia, headquarters of the Spanish Government, on Sunday night and shelled the town for five minutes.

Among the 14 people killed were six children.

Heavy fighting is proceeding for the Madrid-Valencia road, but latest reports seem to suggest that the insurgents have not yet succeeded in cutting it.

A Town in Ruins

Shelling continued that it was done by an Italian vessel.

Heavy Fighting

The insurgent forces are still attacking the main road between Madrid and Valencia. The fighting is very heavy and the town of Valencia is in ruins. The Spanish Government has ordered the evacuation of the town.

Defence Committee's Report

The Madrid Defence Committee has reported to the Government that the situation in Valencia is very serious. The committee has recommended that the Government should take immediate action to relieve the town.

BRITISH WARSHIPS BOMBED

The British destroyers "Havoc" and "Opportunity" were yesterday bombed by a large number of aircraft. The ships were damaged but no serious harm was done.

Six bombs were dropped with effect.

Reports have been received from the British Admiralty that six bombs were dropped on the destroyers "Havoc" and "Opportunity" by a large number of aircraft. The bombs were dropped from a height of about 10,000 feet.

Five Minutes Bombardment

The city of Valencia was heavily bombed for five minutes on Sunday night. The bombs were dropped from a height of about 10,000 feet.

YOUNG PLAYERS' CRICKET MATCH

DRAWN GAME AT WEEK-END ON CIVIL SERVICE GROUND

Kenya Born vs. The Rest

INTERESTING ENCOUNTER IN WHICH EXCITEMENT IS MAINTAINED TO END

An interesting and exciting affair was witnessed on Sunday afternoon in the Young Players' representative cricket match, played at the Civil Service ground near the Victoria Park Race Course.

A good stand by Jarrett and Kenyon marked the first innings, while Dood played a masterly innings for the Rest.

Kenya Born All Out. Six wickets were taken for 50 runs, and that the reaction was very good really. However, Jarrett and Dood took the total to 110 runs, but the latter was out in attempting a short run. Two wickets were lost in the second innings, but the latter was out in attempting a short run.

A Good Partnership. Jarrett was then joined by Kenyon, and runs came slowly for a time, both batsmen exchanging runs. Once they got started, however, the rate of scoring increased, their running between the wickets being noticeable. Kenyon's captaincy was followed shortly afterwards by Jarrett, who was out being down for 147, at which point A. V. Hopcraft declared, leaving the Rest with an hour and a half to get the 140 runs required for victory.

It was not an easy task by any means, but by no means impossible. Thus, the captaincy was followed by Jarrett, who was out being down for 147, at which point A. V. Hopcraft declared, leaving the Rest with an hour and a half to get the 140 runs required for victory.

KENYA'S NEW INCOME TAX BILL The New Scale

LOWER RATES AND LARGER ALLOWANCES SPECIAL PROVISION TO MEET POSITION OF FARMERS

The Company Tax NEW RELIEF MEASURE IN RESPECT OF MAINTENANCE OF DEPENDENTS

Assessed on 1936 Income

In the "Official Gazette" published yesterday... The Bill provides for the imposition of Income Tax as from January 1 last and the assessment for the current year will affect the year 1936.

Exemptions

Exemptions from Income Tax include the salary of the Governor, the member of the Executive Council, the member of a local authority, who has been elected from a trade or business.

Dependent Relatives

A deduction is permitted of the amount of the maintenance of dependent relatives up to the limit of £100. This includes the cost of education, medical expenses, and other charges.

A COMPARISON WITH THE ORIGINAL BILL

The rates of tax on chargeable income that is to say the income after deducting all allowances are as follows: For every £2 of £100 net shifting. For next £200 net shifting and fifty cents. For next £1,000 net shifting. For remainder two shillings and fifty cents.

Articles

A special section deals with agriculture. An allowance is made in respect of immature areas where the crop is not in bearing at the year which expenditure has been incurred.

Cases

Where a club or society carries on a trade and receives from its members a sum of money which is not to be deemed to be a business transaction, the members are exempt from tax on the profits of the club.

Insurance and Shipping

Special provisions are included in the Bill in respect of insurance and shipping. The Commissioner is empowered to make a loan on the profits of insurance companies and of shipping companies.

THE NEW SCALE

1. Personal allowance for residents of £100. 2. Allowance for non-residents £150. 3. For children under 16 or over that age receiving full time education £250 for first child and £50 for each other child with a maximum of £250. 4. Life insurance deduction in respect of one-half of assessable income with maximum of £100. 5. Allowance for dependent relatives with maximum of £100.

Appeals

A section of the Bill provides for appeals from the assessment. The Commissioner may appeal from his decision to the Governor.

Assessment

The Commissioner is empowered to make a loan on the profits of insurance companies and of shipping companies. The Commissioner is also empowered to make a loan on the profits of any business.

Penalties

Penalties are provided for failure to file a return or for failure to pay tax. The Commissioner may also impose penalties for failure to comply with the provisions of the Bill.

ANOTHER ASSURANCE ON MANDATES

TRANSFER HAS NOT BEEN AND IS NOT BEING CONSIDERED A Satisfied House

Mr. Vyvyan Adams (Conservative, W. Leeds) asked the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in the House of Commons to-day whether in order to dispel ill-founded rumours...

In addition to the present contents of the Memorial Hall, including the Commissioner for the Colonies and the Secretary of State, the E.A.W.L. and the E.A.S. will be invited to maintain their tenancy, the Kenya Association (1937), the European Electrical Merchants Organisation and the Convention of Associations will occupy suites in the lower office blocks. In addition an office will be provided for His Excellency the Governor for his confidential departmental sittings of Legislative Council members for the purpose of their sittings of Legislative Council.

Non-Intervention. The patience and persistence of the British Government in the pursuit of an agreed international policy of non-intervention in Spain are receiving their belated reward. The Sub-Committee of the Non-Intervention Committee has at length reached an agreement in principle on the terms which will be recommended to the League of Nations for the purpose of imposing a ban on volunteers for Spain. It is now probable that as soon as the main Committee agrees, which is likely to be so soon as a meeting can be called, the ban will become effective, as a policy. February 15 is the date now proposed. But there is a difference between agreement on a policy and its application. The suggestion now before the Committee is that a ban on arms sales, provided by the principal European Powers, should be established on March 6 to ensure the freedom of Spain so as to prevent the movement of arms and volunteers. At present Portugal is the only country occupying a key position in any effective policy of supervision, inasmuch as it is the only country in Portugal to exercise actual authority in Portuguese and which maintains contact with the Spanish Government. It is particularly in respect of the attitude of Portugal in France which has an important bearing towards the League of Nations, and it is not a matter of least difficulty towards the League of Nations. Nor is it likely that any suggestion of providing a ban on arms sales to be maintained by a separate nation, will gain general support for the very obvious reason that none of the parties to a Non-Intervention Agreement will trust the League of Nations to exercise effective control over the movement of arms and materials to Spain. It is estimated that there are probably 100,000 volunteers taking part in the Spanish conflict. It is estimated that there are nearly equally between both sides, and the suggestion that they should be withdrawn, and will then all political agents and agents, was so impracticable that it is unlikely to be proposed. It is unlikely to be proposed. It is unlikely to be proposed. It is unlikely to be proposed.

NAIROBI WELCOMES AGA KHAN AND BEGUM

BIG CROWD TO GREET THEM AT THE AERODROME

A Brilliant Scene

FOLLOWERS FROM ALL PARTS OF EAST AFRICA IN CAFTAL

Out of the evening sky a graceful aeroplane dropped lightly down. Across the dusty surface of the aerodrome it taxied, drew gently to a standstill. . . A door swung open, and His Highness Sir Sultan Mohamed Shah, Aga Khan, with his consort the Begum, landed at Nairobi to be welcomed by a huge crowd, not only of other followers, who had come from all parts of East Africa to greet their spiritual ruler, but also including representatives of Indian, European, Arab and other communities.

Compliment to the Mayores

Long before the aeroplane bearing His Highness from Mecca was due to arrive, the road to the aerodrome had been strewn with garlands, motorcycles, bicycles and pedestrians, and not even the traffic officers of that rugged and dusty highway could stamp their authority. . . There were uniformed police, many of the police guard of Kenia and the many other police who were marshalling the crowds, but also there were many of the people of the district.

BRITISH WARSHIPS IN COLLISION

Three British destroyers, the "Havock," "Hood" and "Antelope," were involved in a collision in the Mediterranean Sea today. It is estimated that only thirty destroyers have been seen and the vessel "Havock" is reported to have been sunk. . . The "Havock" was on a mission to escort a convoy of merchant ships.

The "Havock" was on a mission to escort a convoy of merchant ships. The "Hood" was on a mission to escort a convoy of merchant ships. The "Antelope" was on a mission to escort a convoy of merchant ships.

Neither His Highness nor the Begum appeared at all fatigued by their journey. They were accompanied by a large number of followers and a large number of attendants.

House Of Commons Debate On Defence Plans

Even £1,500,000,000 May Not Be Found Sufficient

ALL DEPENDS ON DEVELOPMENT OF INTERNATIONAL SITUATION

The Necessity of Futility

CHANCELLOR ON DISGUST AND SHAME AT TREND OF CIVILISATION

A warning that unless the international outlook improves the £1,500,000,000 which it is proposed to spend on defence during the next five years may not be sufficient, was given by the Chancellor of the Exchequer during the debate which began in the House of Commons on Wednesday.

Mr. Chamberlain again emphasised that the Government's defence plans were essential to maintain peace. The fact that Britain was becoming stronger week by week was the greatest bulwark for peace in the world today.

No one, said the Chancellor, could see the growing accumulation of burdens which armaments imposed without a feeling of disgust and shame that civilisation was preying to break it in order to bring about a new era of progress in such a way as to bring prosperity and contentment to mankind.

Britain the Bulwark of Peace

(Newspaper and British Official Wireless Service)

London, Feb. 17. (AP) The £1,500,000,000 estimate for the next five years was not sufficient, said the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, who insisted that when the Government had to spend the sum of £1,500,000,000 during the next five years for the purpose of expenditure on a defence programme, Mr. Chamberlain said that the Government had to spend the sum of £1,500,000,000 during the next five years for the purpose of expenditure on a defence programme, Mr. Chamberlain said that the Government had to spend the sum of £1,500,000,000 during the next five years for the purpose of expenditure on a defence programme.

Today's debate on defence in the House of Commons was opened by Mr. Neville Chamberlain, who insisted that when the Government had to spend the sum of £1,500,000,000 during the next five years for the purpose of expenditure on a defence programme, Mr. Chamberlain said that the Government had to spend the sum of £1,500,000,000 during the next five years for the purpose of expenditure on a defence programme.

Not Final Figure The £1,500,000,000 given in the White Paper on Home Defence, which was published last week, is not a final figure, said the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, during the debate on defence in the House of Commons on Wednesday.

Mr. Chamberlain said that the Government had to spend the sum of £1,500,000,000 during the next five years for the purpose of expenditure on a defence programme, Mr. Chamberlain said that the Government had to spend the sum of £1,500,000,000 during the next five years for the purpose of expenditure on a defence programme.

Instead of trying to settle the differences by give and take, and having to resort to politics which might bring prosperity and contentment to it, but for the time being at least they could only wish their world and government were not established. These political arguments, Mr. Chamberlain said, were not obtainable. The only way in which the British could feel secure was to spend their money on defence. He said that the Government had to spend the sum of £1,500,000,000 during the next five years for the purpose of expenditure on a defence programme.

The Chancellor continuing said the Treasury would raise the money either by raising taxes or by borrowing, either with or without raising rates.

OUR LONDON CORRESPONDENT writes about

The Week's Sport

LONDON, February 14.

Two great victories by Third Division Clubs—Arsenal played magnificently. The weather perplexes the "pools"—No win away from home—Bradman's leadership is manifestly improving—Neusel is too strong for Petersen—Two actors would make a better looking fight—Miss N. E. Lumb wins the Squash Rackets Championship—Alvarado falls at Haydock but wins by 10 lengths.

Seccer
