COWDREY HAS EYE TROUBLE

COLIN COWDREY, who captained England's innings on Friday, could not field because of a recurrence of eye trouble on the third day of the fifth Test at Sydney yesterday.

Cowdrey's right eye was swollen and sore and he had to be taken off the field for a few minutes. He was replaced by Ian Duff.

It is still uncertain whether the trouble will recur. The weather was very bright and hot, and the pitch was very fast.

The Australian team were not in any danger of losing the match. They were leading by 100 runs at the close of play.

NOTHER CONFERENCE

Many points still to be discussed

KENYA had no alternative but to hold another constitutional conference before independence, an official spokesman said in Nairobi yesterday.

He was commenting on a report and related articles in yesterday's East African Standard which referred to such a meeting during a Press conference at Government House.

"It is quite clear that there will have to be a number of points which still have to be discussed before independence," the spokesman said. There were formal alterations during the period of 18 months following the Governor's resignation responsible for Africanisation of Kenya.

"These functions will be devolved from the Governor and vested elsewhere. It is not the intention that the Law Officers should be an interim constitution, but they will have to be changed to internal self-government and independence, but the two are not identical and evolutionary steps are necessary."

Differences between parties

Differences between and within the individual parties were noted by the Hon. Mr. J. M. Oginga Odinga, Minister of Education and the Hon. Mr. M. N. Nyumba, Minister of Health.

"I think it is important that the Government and the Opposition should be able to work together and to discuss the points which are still to be discussed."

ELECTION DATE 'IF POSSIBLE'

THE Commonwealth and Colonial Secretary, Mr. Kenneth Robinson, said that Kenya's elections would be held on a date to be announced by the Secretary of State, London.

Speaking during a Press conference at Government House, Mr. Robinson said:

"I am sure that the Government and the Opposition will be able to reach an agreement on a date for the elections."

BEHIND THE SCENES AT JAN SMUTS AIRPORT, JOHANNESBURG

Read how these men and their 1,400 colleagues contribute to your comfort and our reliability.

When South African Airways enters the air in 1960 a complete revolution took place at Jan Smuts Airport. A new Boeing jetliner was built, the largest in the Southern Hemisphere. A new jet engine overhaul workshop came on line, temperature-controlled, air-conditioned, clean-free. (These aircraft components are constructed to withstand such a change in temperature could affect it as a consequence that the highest standard is maintained at all times.)

ON INSPECTION:

Constant inspection is the secret of efficient flying. The Boeing is inspected every 50 flight hours for maintenance. In addition, at every 270 hours, there is a scheduled check, which includes the replacement of any components requiring attention.

THE MEN ON THE JOB:

Over and above all these inspections are those carried out by a completely independent group of inspectors who have the right to check anything on any aircraft at any time.

INTERNATIONAL CO-OPERATION:

The majority of operators of Boeing aircraft throughout the world are members of the Boeing Super Fleet Organization. South African Airways are responsible for this fleet in Johannesburg and Nairobi... and will be Chairman of the Pool from October, 1962 to March, 1963.

South African Airways are also responsible for the maintenance of the United States Air Force aircraft employed on a lease trading route in Southern Africa.

South African Airways offer you high flying in the biggest aircraft on the market.

Ask your Travel Agent for your nearest South African Airways office for details of services and for particulars of the many facilities you can make in Europe or Africa or on any other air.

LOOKING BACK ON KENYA'S 1962-63 RACING SEASON

Report by CHARLES HESRY

FINGS ARE NEARLY WOT THEY USTER BE'

Facts Figures

DEALING with the 1962-63 Kenya racing season statistically is an interesting exercise. It is one that indicates that the sophisticated cry of "they ain't got no more" is in actual fact, hardly a half-truth.

In the past, and South Africa with unusual eyes, but the picture there is not all rosy.

At least one Kenya horse, the only one to be trained with high hopes, has returned to his home country, in the Colony.

But South Africa has returned to the continent, and the results of the season have been disappointing. The only horse to have returned to the continent is the only one to have returned to the continent.

It was an individual year for the racing season in Kenya. It was a year when the racing season was not all rosy.

NDALAT SETTLERS HARD AT WORK

By Doris Watkins

BASED on an economy of milk cream, butterfat and protein, a Settlement Board settlement for Ndalat, near Kibaha, is showing every sign of success after eight months of operation. Six Settlement Board officers on the site.

Some 250 Ndalat have already been installed on 25-acre plots and the 1,000-acre settlement area should have its full complement of 300 new settlers in the next few months. It is hoped to extend the work to 10,000 acres by the end of the year.

They are farming two types of livestock—predominantly cows and goats—and produce quantities of dairy cattle on the ratio of one cow and a half goat.

Co-operative plan

Mr. Peter Nettle, the Settlement Board Area Controller for West Kenya, said this week: "I have known all my life and I am sure that all those who work at Ndalat, have a building there, but, having no money to buy the land, they are working on a co-operative plan."

Three European-owned farms were bought and merged for the project and Mr. Nettle is confident that the original milk quota of some 200 tons will be maintained by the new settlers. The aim is to become a self-sufficient community every day.

A co-operative in the form of a Milk Producers' Association is being registered, pointed out the department official. This will be a first for the settlement.

"Co-operative farming itself is a new thing, but it is important in the very early stages of settlement. It is a means of getting the settlers to work together and to help each other."

To illustrate the work, Mr. Nettle said that the settlers have been working on a co-operative basis for some time. They have been working on a co-operative basis for some time. They have been working on a co-operative basis for some time.

THINGS ARE LOOKING UP

SCORES of a flight, but progress has been made in Kenya's economic recovery, according to Dr. Kioko in a post-inauguration speech to the U.N. Economic Commission for Africa.

Dr. Kioko, who was accompanied by his wife and two children, arrived in Nairobi on the morning of the 17th. He was met at the airport by the Kenya Air Force Commander, Air Commodore J. M. Njiru, and the Kenya Air Force Band. Dr. Kioko then addressed the Economic Commission for Africa, which is holding its annual session in Nairobi from February 17 to 21.

Dr. Kioko's speech was a significant one, as it was the first time that a Kenyan Minister of State had addressed the Commission. He spoke for 45 minutes, during which he outlined the government's economic policy and the progress made in the past year.

He said that the government had achieved a number of important milestones in the past year, including the implementation of a new economic policy, the establishment of a new Ministry of Finance, and the introduction of a new tax system.

Dr. Kioko also mentioned the government's efforts to improve the country's infrastructure, particularly in the areas of roads, ports, and telecommunications. He said that the government had invested a large amount of money in these areas, and that this investment had resulted in significant improvements in the country's infrastructure.

Finally, Dr. Kioko expressed his confidence in the future of Kenya. He said that the government was committed to the principles of democracy and good government, and that it was confident that these principles would lead to a bright future for the country.

DRIVERS TEST OF BRUTALITY

DRIVERS who were subjected to a test of brutality in the form of a road race, held at the Kenya Sports Ground, Nairobi, on the 17th, were told that the race was a test of their ability to withstand the rigors of a long and arduous journey.

The race, which was held over a distance of 100 miles, was won by a team of drivers from the Kenya Air Force. The team, which consisted of four drivers, completed the race in a time of 10 hours and 30 minutes.

The race was a significant one, as it was the first time that a road race had been held in Kenya. It was organized by the Kenya Sports Council, and it was held to raise money for the construction of a new sports ground in Nairobi.

The race was a tough one, and it was a testament to the endurance and determination of the drivers. The weather was hot and the roads were dusty, but the drivers persevered and completed the race successfully.

The Kenya Air Force team was congratulated for their achievement, and they were awarded a trophy and a cash prize. The race was a success, and it was a significant milestone in the history of Kenyan sports.

New African demands for development

Dr. Kioko's speech to the Economic Commission for Africa was a clear statement of the new African demands for development. He said that the African people were no longer content with the status quo, and that they were demanding a more active role in their own development.

STUDENTS NEED MORE THAN MORAL SUPPORT

Students need more than moral support. They need financial aid, they need practical training, they need a curriculum that is relevant to the needs of the country. The Government must take steps to ensure that the education system is able to produce graduates who are equipped to meet the challenges of the future.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir,
I am writing to express my concerns regarding the current state of the education system. It is essential that the Government addresses the financial challenges facing students and ensures that the curriculum is updated to reflect the needs of the modern world.

Furthermore, it is crucial that students receive practical training alongside their theoretical studies. This will help them to develop the skills and experience necessary for the workforce. I urge the Government to take immediate action to address these issues.

Yours faithfully,

More Government

The Government has announced a series of measures aimed at improving the education system. These include increasing the number of teachers, providing more financial aid to students, and introducing new courses that are more relevant to the needs of the country.

These measures are a positive step towards addressing the challenges facing the education system. However, it is essential that the Government continues to work on these issues to ensure that all students have access to a quality education.

The Government's commitment to education is a key part of its development strategy. By investing in education, the Government is ensuring that the country has the human capital necessary for long-term growth and prosperity.

It is hoped that these measures will lead to a more equitable and high-quality education system for all students. The Government must continue to listen to the needs of students and parents and take action to address their concerns.

Yours faithfully,

Women bring gifts for hospital

A group of women from the North City Council have presented a collection of gifts to the staff of the Maternity Hospital. The gifts, which included books, stationery, and other items, were presented as a token of appreciation for the staff's hard work and dedication.

The collection was presented to the hospital's matron, who expressed her gratitude for the women's generosity. She noted that the gifts were much appreciated and would be distributed to the staff. The women also visited the hospital and spoke to the staff about their work.

The women's initiative is a testament to their commitment to the community and their support for the hospital. It is hoped that other groups will follow their example and bring gifts to other hospitals in the area.

ARBITRATOR NAMES ISSUES IN CIVIL SERVICE DISPUTE

The arbitrator has named the issues in the civil service dispute. The issues include pay, conditions of service, and the right to strike. The arbitrator has stated that the Government must address these issues in order to resolve the dispute and return the civil service to normal.

The arbitrator's findings are a significant development in the dispute. They provide a clear framework for the Government to follow in order to reach a settlement. It is hoped that the Government will take these findings into account and work towards a fair and equitable resolution.

The arbitrator's role is to ensure that the dispute is resolved in a fair and impartial manner. It is essential that both sides of the dispute work with the arbitrator to reach a mutually acceptable solution. The Government has a duty to address the concerns of the civil service staff and to ensure that they are treated fairly.

LONDON G.C.E. EXAMS

The British Tutorial College is offering support to students who are preparing for the exams. The college provides tuition, resources, and other services to help students to achieve their best results. For more information, contact the college at [Address].

pyrethrum natural synthetic insecticides?

The pyrethrum industry in Kenya is a small but growing one. It is a natural product of the chrysanthemum plant, which is cultivated in the highlands of Kenya. The industry is currently producing about 100 tons of pyrethrum annually, which is used in the manufacture of insecticides. The industry is expected to grow further in the future as the demand for insecticides increases.

The industry is currently producing about 100 tons of pyrethrum annually, which is used in the manufacture of insecticides. The industry is expected to grow further in the future as the demand for insecticides increases.

Three factors

There are three main factors which make pyrethrum insecticides so effective. These are: (1) the natural toxicity of the pyrethrum plant, (2) the high concentration of pyrethrum in the plant, and (3) the ease with which the pyrethrum can be extracted from the plant.

Pyrethrum pickers at work in the Kenya Highlands. Kenya produces more than 80 per cent of the world's pyrethrum needs.

CONTROVERSY RAGES ABOUT CLAIM AGAINST PESTICIDES

THE danger of the world's insecticides is being debated by many scientists, politicians, and consumers. The debate is centered around the use of synthetic pesticides, which are widely used in agriculture and industry. Some scientists claim that these pesticides are harmful to the environment and to human health, while others argue that they are essential for increasing food production and controlling pests.

EARLY UHURU FOR ZANZIBAR

Mr. Sandys promises no delay

PLANS to introduce full internal self-government and hold a General Election in Zanzibar with the minimum delay were discussed yesterday by the Commonwealth and Colonial Secretary, Mr. Sandys, at the end of a three-day visit to the Protectorate.

To announce the election he said he had called for the services of impartial supervising requirements. He held a Press conference before flying to the Sultanate. There was no need for a very long time for internal self-government in Zanzibar, said the Secretary. The British Government would see Zanzibar as soon as possible take her place and she would have a single day longer than the other territories.

An aide to the Governor of Zanzibar, who was asked to tell the U.K. of Zanzibar, when the selection of the Government and the date of the election would be announced, said that the Government would be announced in the next few days.

Voting difficulties

The new constitution for Zanzibar, which was introduced last week, has caused some difficulties in the Protectorate. The British Government has been asked to provide a more detailed explanation of the voting system. The British Government has been asked to provide a more detailed explanation of the voting system. New Zealand tumbled out for 89 runs

By LESLIE SMITH, New Zealand Special Correspondent

WELLINGTON news by teletype to the press in the first Test against New Zealand at Auckland yesterday. New Zealand were all out in their second innings for 89 runs, the lowest total by any country against England since South Africa's 73 in Durban in 1916.

David Lester (4-28) and Roy Hingston (4-31) topped the bowling with five wickets for 131 and 117 respectively in New Zealand's first innings. Lester's 4-28 was the best bowling by any New Zealand bowler in any Test match.

Bob Blair chosen for second Test

Only Blair, the Wellington batsman, was named in the New Zealand squad for the second Test against England at Christchurch. Blair is the only New Zealand batsman to have played in both Tests of the series.

Blair has played for New Zealand in the 1956 series against England. He has scored 113 runs in 13 innings, with a highest score of 47 in his first-class career.

HODGSON HOLDS OFF VICTORIAN'S BID

New Zealand captain Ian McGilchrist's Victorian challenge was won yesterday as Victorians defeated New Zealand by 100 runs at 27, at which time New Zealand were 122-100.

The match was a one-day affair, with the first innings starting at 10.30 a.m. and the second at 2.30 p.m. New Zealand were 122-100 at the end of the day.

COLLEGE VICTORY

A second-ball out by their captain, J. Kenna, gave the victory over Kenya. But as the Kenyan batsman had a 50-run lead, the game had to go on.

Broken bow

ALL-ROUNDER Dick Mills, who has been the mainstay of New Zealand's batting since he was 17, broke a leg in a fall from a tree in the second Test against England at Christchurch.

Mills was hit on the leg by a ball from England's Alan Knott. The injury is serious and will probably keep him out of the next Test against South Africa at Durban.

STIRLING MOSS UNDECIDED ON FUTURE

Stirling Moss, the British racing driver who has been active in the cricket as well as in motor racing, has decided not to play in the 1956 Test against South Africa at Durban.

ANTAO RIVAL UNINJURED

The Australian ace batsman, Gary Brenchley, who has been the mainstay of Australia's batting since he was 17, is uninjured and will play in the 1956 Test against New Zealand at Auckland.

FAR EAST KEY TO PROSPERITY Russia denies jamming Peking Radio

Kenya's rate of growth and improvement in standard of living will continue to depend to a great extent on development in the industrial sector which must, therefore, be accorded the highest priority in the allocation of resources, both financial and technical, in the overall programme of development.

The first conclusion reached by the Economic Survey Mission which was sent to Kenya in 1961 by the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development at the request of the British and Kenya Governments is to make recommendations on development planning up to 1967.

The mission's report states that while the agricultural development programme for the most favourable conditions is the lines of the Development Plan, it should give more emphasis to a programme devoted mainly to land reclamation, reclamation and the development of fish-ponds throughout African areas.

The Chinese Communist Party yesterday denounced its opponents as 'imperialist agents' in a broadcast from Peking. The broadcast accused the United States of 'jamming' foreign broadcasts and 'sabotaging' the Chinese Revolution. It also accused the United States of 'sabotaging' the Chinese economy and 'sabotaging' the Chinese people's struggle for independence.

The broadcast also mentioned the 'Peking Radio' and its role in spreading the Chinese Communist Party's message. It stated that the Peking Radio was being jammed by imperialist forces, and that the Chinese Communist Party would continue to broadcast its message despite these attempts.

REPORT APPLIES KENYA POLITICS

The report states that the Government should give more emphasis to the development of the industrial sector. It also recommends that the Government should increase its investment in infrastructure and social services. The report also notes that the Government should continue to support the agricultural sector, but with a focus on land reclamation and fish-pond development.

Fall in output forecast

Current development expenditure is nearly £14,000,000 this amount is expected to be cut to £12,000,000 in 1967. The report also states that the Government should consider a reduction in the rate of growth of the economy to 4.5% in 1967, down from 5.5% in 1966. This is due to a projected fall in output and a reduction in the rate of investment.

UNIONS WILL NOT SPONSOR PARTY CANDIDATES

Mr. John Kuma of the Kenya Federation of Labour will not perform the role of endorsing party candidates. He stated that the Federation would continue to support its members and workers, but would not become involved in party politics.

The end column

The end column is a section that provides news and information from various sources. It includes news about local events, sports, and community activities. It also features a section for letters to the editor and a section for notices.

Gen. Bourne may not head board

Gen. Bourne is expected to head the board of directors for the Kenya National Bank. However, it is noted that he may not be the final choice, as the board will also include representatives from other sectors of the economy.

PREMIER SEES Mr. SANDYS

Standard Star Reporter.

The Commonwealth Secretary, Mr. Sandys, visited Kenya last week to discuss the progress made in the implementation of the program. He met with the Prime Minister and other government officials to discuss the state of the economy and the progress of various projects.

Resolutions on future policy

The Kenya Federation of Labour has passed resolutions on its future policy. The resolutions call for the Federation to continue to support its members and workers, and to work for the improvement of their conditions. They also call for the Federation to remain independent of any political party.

TEACHERS MAY NOT HELP IN ELECTION

The Government has issued a warning to teachers that they should not help in any way in the upcoming general election. Teachers are reminded that their primary duty is to their students, and that they should not become involved in party politics.

Strong case

The report on the economy provides a strong case for the need to increase investment in infrastructure and social services. It notes that the current rate of investment is insufficient to support the desired rate of growth, and that more resources must be directed towards these areas.

Who's denied

The Kenya Federation of Labour has denied reports that it was planning to endorse party candidates. The Federation stated that it would continue to support its members and workers, but would not become involved in party politics.

Tea workers threaten to strike

Tea workers in Kenya are threatening to go on strike over their demands for higher wages and better working conditions. The workers are demanding a 10% increase in wages and an end to the long hours they are required to work.

New investment

The Government is encouraging new investment in the industrial sector. It is offering incentives and support to investors who are looking to establish new businesses or expand existing ones. This is part of the Government's strategy to promote economic growth and create jobs.

Now recognised

The Kenya Federation of Labour is now recognised by the Government as the official representative of its members. This recognition is a significant milestone for the Federation, as it allows it to negotiate on behalf of its members and to represent them in various forums.

This is due to a combination of factors, including a decline in supply and an increase in demand. The Board is expected to announce further measures to stabilize the market.
