of what the Northern Rhodesians are thinking. The situation has not been made any better by the fact that Mr. Peltier's comment on the whole affair has been so clear that the choice of Mr. Owen to resign from the Federal Party is a matter of course.

Report dead

Mr. Roy Welby, who was the author of the report, told an audience of 800 at the meeting of the Rhodesian Council of Education in Harare that the report was dead.

NORTHERN RHODESIAN COMMENTARY

Two days later a minority opinion was put forward by the Federal Party. It was a minority opinion, but it was a clear one.

Candidates rejected

When the meeting was asked to endorse Mr. Peltier's resignation, it only declined to do so by a large majority.

Tanga water supply still precarious

SINCE the water shortage occurred here in 1951 and early last year due to breakdowns in the equipment which took months to replace, the Water Supply Authority has worked hard to make the supply more reliable.

If an Adam or a Gosa youth in West Africa wishes to become a school-teacher—and there is a crying need in these communities for teachers—there is ample opportunity. The Nairobi Teachers Training College for Men increases its demand for scholars every year. The college would like to be overcrowded. And to have a waiting list, work goes on then.

And I should be reminded, incidentally—just such a college as, in all parts of Kenya, turns out the teachers who man the schools in British border schools. The college has all Laboratory School and the High School, which also accommodates the Duke of Gloucester School, the City Primary School, and the East African Teachers Training College for Women. The college's college began in 1947 with only 11 students, working in one room. The present building was opened in 1949 and at the moment there are 40 students taking the two-year course. Half of them are in their first year and the other half in their second year.

The present college buildings could accommodate 80 students which would mean an intake of 20 students a year. How is it that the college is not full? Why should there not be a waiting list when the Adam schools are overcrowded? It is believed that the answer lies partly in the great attraction which a commerce law is an over-enthusiastic practical first student leaving college and taking up a teaching post can expect to draw more than £400 a year as a money time and does, it is true, but the college has over 20 have enrolled after having already tried and rejected other work. School Certificate, at any rate, to require the Certificate during his first year. There is a board attached to the college to encourage to "live in" in order to create the proper college atmosphere—the "body corporate".

Here's NEW Triumph performance in the 150 c.c. class
This is the Triumph Terrier's first appearance in East Africa. Down to the last detail it is of completely new design. Its outstanding features are an amazing high-power output from the Triumph 150 c.c. high efficiency OHV, four-stroke engine, a full dry sump lubrication, unit construction engine/gearbox, 4-speed foot-operated gearbox and telescopic fork and spring frame. A full petrol tank of 24 gallons will take you for many, many miles. Notwithstanding the light weight and compactness of the Terrier, all bearing surfaces, valve guide lengths, gears, ball bearings, are of a very substantial size so that, despite the fact that, like all lightweight, it must work harder than a large capacity machine, it is well up to its job and will provide trouble-free service over a very considerable mileage.

Your tractor must be as tough as a boxer

Swinging, jerking, lurching, or your tractor will be a copy. Then set on the highest, often called a 2 or 3 tremendous load, it is to take the load and the tractor has to be in the best condition—like a pugilist in the ring.

WIVES ASK MR. ATTLEE TO HELP IN DISCOVERING HUSBANDS' WAGES

BRITAIN'S housewives have sent an appeal to Mr. Clement Attlee, requesting information about their husbands' earnings.

The Housewife in Britain is a symbol of the modern woman. She is a housewife on a small home scale. Her shops are big, her clothes are fashionable, her wardrobe large, her children receive frequent visits from their mothers, her own visits to the doctor are frequent, her own health is watched, her own income is managed.

She is a woman of many talents. She is a housewife, a mother, a worker, a citizen. She is a woman of many talents. She is a housewife, a mother, a worker, a citizen.

As anyone to seek the "very" ordinary wages to add the man on the bench, the machine boy frequently finds his own money in his pocket. He is not in his desire to lose the money that he has earned. He is not in his desire to lose the money that he has earned.

Increase output

Mr. Attlee has a plan to increase output. He has a plan to increase output. He has a plan to increase output.

THE TRIUMPH OF THE SILK

WORM

By Victoria Chappelle

It is not quite so good but still lovely to look at and quite the least rich. These, as well as being produced in plain, are also frequently preferred in the world to whom synthetic yarns were introduced by the war.

Well to the fore

SURAH is another yarn which has never really gone out of vogue but which has been well to the fore of late years and will be more so next season. The London couturiers have a great affection for it and it is one of the fabrics which the busy woman finds extremely easy to dress for.

It's tough

It is said, more will be woven than before. A silk thread can be stretched to between 20 and 25 per cent of its length before it breaks. However, it combines strength with great elasticity. It is most frequently used to weave it.

Grosgrain

CHOCOLATIN may be distinguished by its bold rib, whereas in fabric the rib is a little fainter, and it is found in the families of all the various silks. It is particularly popular for the making of the heavier silks like tulle, organza, silk and silk crepe. In 1952, they will continue to be used for evening dresses for the most distinguished occasions and also for the making of the lighter silks like tulle, organza, silk and silk crepe.

Crepe

Crepe is a fabric which is made by twisting the threads of the yarn so that they are not straight but are curved. This gives the fabric a characteristic wavy texture. It is particularly popular for the making of the heavier silks like tulle, organza, silk and silk crepe.

ROBINA WRIGHT asks

ARE THERE TOO MANY SPECIALISTS?

AS a world of specialists and experts robbing us of our self-confidence in "everyday matters" in the fashionable reverence for diabolism and dogmatism, are we losing our faith in the supreme qualification of common sense?

"Have they seen anyone about it?" people ask anxiously the moment they hear of some problem or difficulty to solve. To put one's own mind and hands to getting things right is apparently to court disaster.

Specialists must be called in, it seems, to attend to our marriages, our children, the way we run our homes and fill our leisure, manage our money, and cultivate our gardens.

WE no longer admire the handy man or woman who can "turn their hands to anything". Foreigners say we have a "split mind" and are surprised by an area of metric rules and trade secrets.

Specialists must live of course, and many have a claim, not to live in the world. But if an over-education, the possession of daily and personal lives is to be regarded as a matter for experts only, we shall become a nation of helplessly dependent and ill-equipped individuals, and very limited line of opportunity for it.

Under such a system, relations increased between us and the ordinary person. Because the doctor and the parent were busy people, folk didn't bother them with common everyday problems and illnesses either night themselves quickly or can be right without any specialisation.

The Wonders of A Kenya Sisal Estate

Several miles outside Nairobi, on the Thika road, is a triangular estate which roads from Nairobi to the coast. The 1,000-acre estate has five Eucalyptus trees, Mr. R. M. Ian...

Pilot plant
MR. ROBERTSON took me to the plantation which was thriving with sisal. He showed me several different types of sisal, some of which were very similar to that of sweet sorghum, but being the product of a small amount of acid and pumped through a press, which forms the liquid latex. It is then cut up into small squares, and finally into a large mass in dry conditions. The sisal is then cut into different pieces, and sent to the Research Laboratory in Nairobi for further study.

Used for jam
Another material that can be obtained from sisal is both fibres, stems and cobs. The fibres are used for making rope, and the stems are used for making paper. The cobs are used for making jam. The jam is made by boiling the cobs in water, and then adding sugar and pectin. The jam is then bottled and sold in the market.

through acres of sisal that were rehabilitated under the plan.

PICKING UP was my first experience with sisal. The sisal is used for making rope, and the stems are used for making paper. The cobs are used for making jam. The jam is made by boiling the cobs in water, and then adding sugar and pectin. The jam is then bottled and sold in the market.

The mountains
On the way to the sisal plantation, we passed through some of the most beautiful scenery in Kenya. The mountains are covered with sisal, and the sisal is used for making rope, and the stems are used for making paper. The cobs are used for making jam. The jam is made by boiling the cobs in water, and then adding sugar and pectin. The jam is then bottled and sold in the market.

Blindness In Africa

TAPPING out his pipe, the Chairman turned his head to meet a questioner. His eyelids flickered slightly, but the expression in the clear eyes remained unchanged. He was blind.

None could know his subject more completely than he. Mr. Wilson, a director, secretary, was doubly qualified to discuss the report of the British Empire Society for the Blind.

Mr. Wilson's history of blindness in East and West Africa, he said in the Kodak Valley in Kenya, known locally as "the valley of the blind".

The Society's field units have been working in Africa for many years. They have been successful in curing many cases of blindness, and have been instrumental in the establishment of many schools for the blind.

Night

So many people like night driving, yet it has become a time when accidents are most frequent. You are more likely to be involved in an accident at night than during the day. This is because of the lack of light, the fact that you are more tired, and the fact that you are more likely to be distracted. You should be especially careful when driving at night. You should use your headlights, and you should avoid driving on roads that are not well lit. You should also avoid drinking alcohol before driving at night. VENICE PRESERVED

By John Cairncross

THE Grand Canal of Venice is the longest, and in the opinion of many, the most beautiful avenue in the world. Along its five miles it is flanked by the finest treasures. At the San Marco looks across the water to the Renaissance church of Santa Maria della Salute. Further up are the most beautiful palaces of varying styles and scenery which nevertheless form a water-front of great beauty.

Gondolas

THE only other bridge is at the same station, where a narrow way across the Grand Canal was built. It is made by wooden planks, and is used by the gondoliers to take their gondolas across the canal. LIFE ON A KENYA SISAL ESTATE

ON Page 22 this week, Angela Howe tells the story of a visit she made to the East African Sisal Estates at Ilmorog and these pictures give a glimpse of the things she saw.

At the time of her visit a herd of giraffe, right, were roaming the savannas. Below, the engineer, whose work she describes, examines the fibres from the decorticator. Centre right, drying the fibres. Bottom right, bleaching and polishing. Bottom left, the pilot plant for producing bionegonin with which experiments are going on in Ilmorog for its value as a cure for ruminant tick pyretic.

Pepsodent really gives whiter teeth!

Teeth cleaned with Pepsodent are whiter, much whiter! That's because they are cleaner! And they are cleaner because Pepsodent is the only toothpaste that contains Irgan[®]. Pepsodent with Irgan cleans away the film which not only dulls teeth, but also harbours the dangerous germs that can cause decay. So for whiter, safer teeth, and a cleansing, radiant smile — use Pepsodent every night and morning!

ASK THE 3-STEP TEST!
Today — look well at your teeth in your mirror. Next — brush them with Pepsodent. Brush them every morning and evening for seven days. Then — smile into your mirror and see the difference! Your teeth will be whiter than you believe!

SPARES MUST BE GOOD

Caterpillar machines operate successfully in difficult terrain and under adverse weather conditions. And because they are designed and built specifically for heavy work they last a long time.

In short, they make profits for their owners.

It means, then, that component parts must be good. Original and replacement parts are made of the same materials, both meet the same rigid inspection. The Caterpillar you buy as a replacement is identical to the original.

When improved parts are designed for existing models, these parts are immediately made available to Caterpillar owners.

That, when you buy a Caterpillar Spare you get proper fit and assurance of highest quality materials, plus the benefits of continuous improvement in metallurgy and design.

Any machine less than GENUINE CATERPILLAR SPARE PARTS—obtainable only from your authorized Caterpillar Dealer.
