ADVISERS TO HELP MINERS IN SEARCH FOR URANIUM

ADVICE on materials for atomic energy will be given in an office opened in Salisbury by the Kingston Atomic Energy Authority.

PAINTINGS AND POTTERY IN BUSHMAN CAVE

2,000-year-old find near Bulawayo

ONE of the most important finds for "quite a few years" was the Keeper of Antiquities of the Bulawayo Museum, Mr. Roger Summers, described the recent discovery of a bushman cave near Owanda. Mr. Summers said the find was exceedingly interesting not only from the view of the rock paintings but also from the archaeological content of the cave.

What paintings themselves are are at least three different styles. One is a classical style which we are quite sure. There are certainly two different types of handprints. One was painted in a red ochre and the other in a black pigment. The handprints of the red ochre are probably 1,000 to 2,000 years old. The handprints of the black pigment are probably 500 to 1,000 years old. The paintings have been found in a bushman cave near Owanda. The cave was discovered by Mr. Summers in the bush of the Rose River.

Game Preservation

To the Editor:—E. A. Smeaton's article on game preservation is well written and contains a lot of interesting information. It is a pity that the article is so long and that it contains a lot of repetition. It would be better if the article were shorter and more to the point.

The Government is not doing enough to preserve the game in the country. It is necessary to take steps to protect the game from poachers and to improve the game reserves. The Government should also take steps to improve the game reserves and to protect the game from poachers.

In 1943 a petition was organized in the country to protest against the Government's policy of game preservation. The petition was signed by a large number of people and was presented to the Government. The Government has not yet responded to the petition.

What the soil has lost... the sea still holds!

Due to the high salinity in water evaporation and the absorption of water by the soil, the water content of the soil is reduced. This causes the soil to become dry and hard, and the plants to wither and die. The only way to restore the soil to its natural state is by using a product that can replace the lost water and nutrients. NEPTUNE'S BOUNTY is the only product that can do this. It is a natural product that is safe for the soil and the plants. It is the only product that can restore the soil to its natural state. It is the only product that can make the soil fertile and productive again.

No 'Pools' money for Olympics

THE Football Pools are falling over each other to sponsor the British team for the Melbourne Olympic Games as the Italian Pools have already done in respect of the country's contingent. And it will not cost a penny for the other with several of sporting bodies in addition to the Pools. The various national associations have already agreed upon such overtures.

Will appear meagre

Unhappily the Government has also decided against financial aid and so our contingent will look rather meagre on Queen's Parade Day. However, the Pools will be there to support the team.

M.P.s concerned about Buganda Chiefs

Only one firm tenders for Nairobi car park building

ONLY one tender has been received by the Commissioner of Lands for the construction of a multi-storey car park building on a leasehold plot at the corner of York Street and Stewart Street, Nairobi.

Under the conditions of assignment, tenders had to be deposited by noon yesterday. Nairobi firm was the only one to respond. But even this tender may not be accepted, for the Commissioner has discretionary powers.

The site of the proposed building covers nearly four-fourths of an acre. A small petrol station, service shops for vehicles, administrative offices, and a library are also on the site.

The lease would run for 99 years. The annual rent is £2,000 and the total premium, £2,000.

Locusts cleared in northern district

In the Northern Frontier Province the area to the north of the border has been cleared of locusts with the exception of a few small scattered patches at Takaba and Bahima.

Control operations continue in the vicinity of Wajir and to the north of Marsabit, where scattered herds of locusts have occurred.

Church leaders flying from U.S. for Kenya celebrations

The Church of God, which opened its first mission in Kenya in 1910 and now has three in the Klumung area, is to celebrate its golden jubilee on December 15.

The original mission in Klumung was started by a South African lawyer, Mr. A. W. Baker, who founded about a mission in America for the celebration.

Mr. Baker served at Klumung for 10 years before returning to the celebration in 1961. The Rev. John Ross, pastor of the mission in Boston, U.S.A., looks over the mission.

SAFEGUARD DEMANDED AGAINST INTIMIDATION

BUGANDA Chiefs who are intimidated because of their loyalty to Britain were the subject of questions in the House of Commons. The Colonial Secretary, Lord Lloyn-Loyn, was asked by Mr. Hugh Fraser and Mr. C. A. Lopez (Conservative) what steps were being taken to protect these Chiefs who had loyally accepted the decisions of the Governor and the Government regarding the exile of the Kabakas.

They also asked what further information had reached him regarding a campaign of intimidation in Buganda against people who had given loyal service to the Buganda Government. The Colonial Secretary replied that, according to his information, there had been no further "material intelligence" involving violence since November 1957.

In addition to the resignation of one Chakr to whom he had referred in a reply two weeks ago, His Majesty's Chiefs had no resignations.

Asked if Lloyn-Loyn would be paid to Chiefs who had to resign, Mr. Lloyn-Loyn said he was watching the matter, with the greatest care.

London talks

It might be claimed to be a trifle of Buganda and, in this kind of matters, it is hard to say anything, and that of a large number of people, will in future years largely turn.

There may not have been a breach of the regulations, but it is well satisfied that certain things have happened which are in accordance with the spirit and the intention of the regulations that excluded at the end of the London talks led to the return of the Kabakas (Aberdeen).

Church leaders flying from U.S. for Kenya celebrations

There are now three missions in the Klumung area, at Kakamega, Yala and Kisumu. They serve five parishes—the Bunyoro, Kakamega, Yala and Kisumu.

There are now 23 missionaries in Kenya for the celebration. The original mission in Klumung was started by a South African lawyer, Mr. A. W. Baker, who founded about a mission in America for the celebration.

Mr. Baker served at Klumung for 10 years before returning to the celebration in 1961. The Rev. John Ross, pastor of the mission in Boston, U.S.A., looks over the mission.

An Experiment To Destock Scrub Cattle In Kenya

WHERE Kenya takes a plunge from the fertile highlands in the east of Mount Kenya down to the parched, wasteland wastes of the northern Provinces, a small pioneer settlement in the livestock industry is not only helping to restore the balance between livestock and land in Samburu district, but also yielding valuable high protein food for other areas where cattle run free and dietetic value common.

Scrub Cattle In Kenya

By ALASTAIR MATHESON

Samburu with a female and his herds, near Arber's Post, Samburu.

Idea
LIKE their Masai cousins in the south, cattle are valued in the economy of the Samburu — tall, thin, warrior people. The Kenya Government, in its efforts to restore the grazing lands to good condition, was faced with the problem of disposing of vast areas of scrub cattle. It was decided to try a small pioneer settlement at Arber's Post. The house would have fenced next to

Wastful
WITH ALMOST 500,000 head of scrub cattle in the north, the Government is faced with the problem of disposing of vast areas of scrub cattle. It was decided to try a small pioneer settlement at Arber's Post. The house would have fenced next to the scrub, and the cattle would be kept in a small enclosure.

There is good grazing in the north, but it is so small that it is not worth fencing. The house would have fenced next to the scrub, and the cattle would be kept in a small enclosure. The house would have fenced next to the scrub, and the cattle would be kept in a small enclosure.

It works

Recent building in the district. The importance of the altitude to the Samburu is plain enough. But it does not end there. More recently cattle have come in from the north, and the altitude is a large percentage of the fight up to the Ethiopian border. When the supply of low-grade cattle from Samburu began to fall off, the altitude turned to credit for the new market. Gradually the number of cattle has been built up to the extent of 300 low-grade cattle a month. Arber's Post handles about 300 cows, coming from as far away as Waji, Moyale and Mandera. The cattle fat derived from the camp's supply is

Nothing wasted
THROUGHOUT the operation, Arber's Post has had a high record for efficiency. Virtually nothing is wasted, even the cattle bones and cartilage are made into meat sold to the surrounding area. The milk is sold to the surrounding area. The milk is sold to the surrounding area. The milk is sold to the surrounding area.

Following suit
WITH the success of the Arber's experiment, other areas are following suit. The house would have fenced next to the scrub, and the cattle would be kept in a small enclosure. The house would have fenced next to the scrub, and the cattle would be kept in a small enclosure.

Four years
IN the four years since it started operations up to the end of June this year, Arber's Post has turned into a small settlement. I had two extra weeks in the life of a LONDON

A holiday in Britain last year was cut short by a bout of influenza. I had to return to London. But when I got back I found I had two extra weeks in the life of a Londoner. This was due to the fact that I had used the 'Furber' cream. It had kept my skin in perfect condition throughout the winter. I had no colds, no flu, and no other ailments. HOW TO STOP PAIN

Why Phenics is better than aspirin

ALL THE TIME, scientific research is going on with the problem of pain—what it is, and how it can be controlled.

The intensity of pain, for instance, can now be measured, and the effectiveness of various pain-killers can be tested.

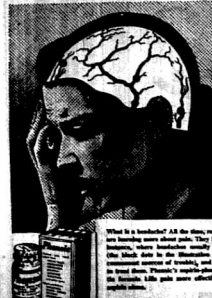

The backbone of this research is aspirin. Aspirin is a very effective way to relieve pain.

There is something better than aspirin—that is a solution of aspirin and phenics in balanced proportions. Such mixtures work more effectively, and for longer than either one alone!

This is the secret of the Phenics Formula. Because Phenics is particularly balanced solution of aspirin and phenics, plus caffeine in other ingredients, plus caffeine in other ingredients, plus caffeine in other ingredients.

When you suffer from headache, or any other kind of nerve pain, headache, rheumatic or rheumatic pain, you'll find Phenics a great help. Always keep Phenics with you.

PERSONALITIES OF THE KENYA STAGE
 By Lesley Clay

ONE of Kenya's best-known stage personalities, Ken Louis, the Town Clerk of Nakuru, has been dropped in the theatrical tradition since he was a baby for he was born in theatrical "digs" of a mother who, with most of her family, was in the profession, and with a grandfather who was for many years the doorman at St. James's Theatre. It seems inevitable, therefore, that Ken should have followed in his family's footsteps.

His mother appeared in many of George Bernard Shaw and later, Robert Coulterson's, productions at the Glyndebourne, the Coventry Old, The Cuckoo's Nest, The Town of the Duchesse de Beaulieu, and other names known to theatre-goers of a past generation. His mother, who was a soprano, and his father, who was a tenor, and the others, including his father, Ken produced his first play in 1924 at the age of 16. It was that favorite of amateur actors, The Trench, and it showed every sign of being ghastly. However, his such came home between tours of Felix—popular to The Shoppers Opera—and took the production in hand to such good effect that the show eventually went very well.

In 1927 he started an amateur concert party, shamelessly "travelling" from the Co-Operative. The show was called The Ocellina, and it ran for seven years, giving Ken his first experience in professional theatre. During this time he met some of the most famous names in the Western Regional profession. In 1930, he was asked to illustrate the programme of a concert party called Pureed Potatoes, also playing Messiah Knapp in Kaituma. After the war he returned to Britain but came back again to Kenya in 1947 to take up his present appointment.

In 1949 the Hon. Mr. P. J. P. ... (text partially obscured)

THIS FARMER CAN LAUGH AT DROUGHT

A FARMER who can afford to laugh at prolonged drought is Mr. J. R. Fell, who farms 240 acres at Cranio-Panels near Daungling in County Durham, England. He is a farmer who uses water to get at least four cuts of best succulent grass from his fields every season. These past months Mr. Fell's paddocks have been more or less constantly irrigated, giving him a regular and regular supply of water. This "rain-making" has become a regular sight in the farm district, which in a wet season, of course, does not need the irrigation. Mr. Fell has never been a grass grower. He has a grass-growing plan, the grass goes into the drier, and the drier is converted in the form of silage.

This year Mr. Fell is satisfied his irrigation plan has bred his grass output.

One consequence has been a stream of visitors to Cranio-Panels and soon how it is done. Farmers have come from all over the county to see and learn what it costs. It is not the ordinary system of overhead irrigation where water is pumped from the nearest river or stream. Actually many stress and assume there was no lack of grass at all. Moreover, there was good grass right through the season. Mr. Fell reckons that without irrigation he would have got only one good cut, followed by an indifferent one later in the season. Instead he gets four cuts all first-class 1 1/2 tons that require no silage. Some of it is cut as early as 20 days after the grass goes into the drier. It is not as if he is to produce more than 100 tons of water as soon as possible.

set POWER free here

Use all the power you can get!

Does your engine obey you instantly? Does it give you everything it's got? It should do. If you run on Shell with LCA it will do.

Shell motor spirit puts extraordinary power at the call of your foot. This is due firstly to Shell quality and balanced blending - and then to Shell's exclusive additive LCA which overcomes power losses caused by engine deposits... losses which cannot be checked by running the SPARK PLUG FAILURE and PRE-IGNITION which they cause. In this way Shell gives you not only a motor spirit with the most power but the means to use, and keep, that power to the full.

SWEDEN MAY SIT IN SECURITY COUNCIL

Successor to Turkey sought

THE United Nations General Assembly tried again late yesterday to break the deadlock over the vacant seat in the Security Council. A record 82 ballots so far has failed to find a successor to Turkey, whose two-year term of office ends on December 31. Yesterday's balloting was the last item of business before the present session adjourned.

Sweden has emerged as a possible compromise for the remaining vacancy. An alternative, Italy, was admitted to the World Organisation on Wednesday — it understood to be willing to become a candidate.

The deadlock has centred on the Philippines, backed by the United States, and Yugoslavia, supported by the United States and the Soviet Union.

There is now believed to be a hope of agreement between the three on Sweden's conditions. Sweden is understood to be prepared to accept the Security Council vacancy at the same time as to be ready to meet the conditions.

EGYPTIAN CAMPAIGN TO WIN BACK CONFIDENCE

Parliamentary independence by an established fact and resolve the Government to ask Ibrahim and Khatib immediately to announce their recognition of an Independent Sudan.

A free-man Government to assume the powers of Governor-General, taking over from the retiring representative of the King, one the Government, one the Opposition and two will be nominated.

Setting up a Constituent Assembly to draw up a Constitution for an Independent Sudan.

The Sudanese Government has announced its intention to bring before the Sudanese Parliament today for its approval and its acceptance, before Egypt's claims to independence terminate, the Premier, Mr. Ismail Haniyeh, is making a statement on his plan—announced on Thursday—and the development is seen as a sign of improved relations with Cairo.

Mr. Haniyeh favoured the return to Khartoum of a Government which would be elected by the Sudanese people, and the development is seen as a sign of improved relations with Cairo.

Blizzards raging through Northern Europe

LONDON AIRPORT CO-FOUBD

NORTHERN Europe's big freeze is claiming more victims as winter snow blizzards continue to rage through the continent, with the heaviest snow falling in the north. A Swedish postman, carrying a bag filled with Christmas presents perished in a blizzard when he tried to reach his rounds near Tomteville, South Sweden. He was still clinging to the post-bag when he was blown away by a gust of wind.

Children DO Have A Dress Sense

says Betty Wilson

IT'S a sign of the times that three schoolgirls, chosen from places as far apart as Glasgow, Derbyshire in Yorkshire and Bristol, should be able to express very definite and constructive views about the clothes which British manufacturers are designing for children. Highly or wrong, by many children long to look somehow in line with their elders.

Designers say that even two- to three-year-olds have quite definite ideas about colour. Undoubtedly the Queen's children—practical, responsible and perfectly well-taught—tend to be influenced by mothers and grandmothers. In fact, mothers and grandmothers have high hopes, on British children generally, from toddlers to teenagers.

These more vibrant colours are replacing the old nondescript pastels. The reds, blues and purples are being introduced into the picture too. Mothers who once would have scolded their plump children into a kind of Mother Hubbard garments are now being gently taught that there are certain things that are good for displaying plump fat on one's shoulders and over-plump elbows.

For the five- to fourteen-year-olds, the trend is towards simple, smart, almost overnight, "the boyish" look. The boys' clothes are being made absolutely unobtrusive (two excellent examples are obtained here). In both these instances the designers have given the extra thought that youngsters appreciate today. In one case the pale blue and white sports jacket, fitting which is made in a size 10½ (We growings like to white look in the night and when they shouldn't, fair children!). In the other, it is the new putting frog pockets on one side of the straight, very light line which covers up a multitude of figure faults, femininity and only one on the other.

The wonderful dress, top left, has the long loose line to give it the modern look that designers want. Even of the three young "moderators" mentioned by Betty Wilson (captioned on the next page), when she has the approved two-piece suit. Centre left is a very little jacket and skirt suit, and, bottom right, we have the anti-sweater suit. The two-piece suit, bottom right, has the suppression of a fine woolen lining by hand to fasten the top. Separates SEPARATES seem to be an admirable answer to figure problems. Most designers specializing in children's and teenage wear are giving too children's attire adjustable waistlines—important since a too tight waistband makes even the best cut skirt lose its line. Others are making it possible to present on all white bodies, so that they can be

New Schemes Turning Swaziland Into Boom Country SWAZILAND, one of the poorest countries in Africa which the Union Government wants to develop, is being revived by a new wealth-creating programme of agricultural and industrial development.
 Large sums of money have been invested in the country in the past few years by the Government and the private sector. The Second World War has led to the development of a new agricultural programme on British Parliamentary grants and made it well known to the world.
 It is now the most progressive and promising of the African countries.
 Economic recovery is being achieved by the British Protectorate Administration in Swaziland and the Government of Swaziland is now taking steps to develop the country.

Children of Play
To the Editor: "A. A. Bennett" writes in your issue of December 10, 1934, that it is most regrettable to see how many "children" have been kidnapped, young boys and girls, and how many have been kidnapped from their homes by their parents. This is a very serious matter and one that should be given the most careful attention.

German champion forced to retire with split nose

BONNY NEUENEUZEIN, world champion of British boxing, kept his unbeaten record in his fight with the German world champion, Heinrich, who retired with a damaged nose at the end of the eighth round of their ten-round bout at Manchester on Monday.

Heinrich, despite having been hit by two of the most vicious left punches ever seen, refused to quit and showed a remarkable amount of courage.

Neueneuzein, however, continued to have straight the better of the contest, for most forward continuously and though Heinrich was a good boxer, he was not a good enough to win.
