Plea For Development Of Tana River Valley

(By B. J. RATCLIFFE)

Development of this area of amazing fertility

I HAVE not seen the recent correspondence in the Standard from the Tana River, but I am keenly interested in the development of this area of amazing fertility.

The Tana River valley is one of the most fertile in Kenya, and it is a pity that it has been neglected for so long.

The Government should take steps to develop this area, and to improve the lives of the people who live there.

Kenya And International Tea Pact

Concern in the future of the tea industry of Kenya, which was not a colony, is being expressed in a letter which the Kenya Legislative Council has received from the Kenya Tea Producers' Association.

Mr. A. S. Kibuka, Secretary of the Association, writes to the Council in an excellent manner, pointing out the importance of the tea industry to the Colony and the fact that it is the only export which has been able to maintain its position in the world market.

The fact is, and we have tried to explain in the past, that the Indian community by making the tea industry a monopoly, is not only depriving the African community of a valuable source of employment, but is also depriving the Government of a valuable source of revenue.

There had been claims for an extension of the tea industry to other parts of the Colony, but these have been rejected by the Government. The tea industry is now a monopoly of the Indian community, and the Government is unable to do anything to alter this position.

Hard Hitting In Food Commission Debate

It was stated that the question of whether the Commission should be made a permanent body had been raised by a member of the Government who had been asked to give an opinion on the matter. He said that the Commission should be made a permanent body and that it should be given the power to make recommendations to the Government on all matters relating to the food supply.

The Commission was set up in 1942 to investigate the food situation in Kenya and to make recommendations to the Government on how to improve it. It has since held several public hearings and has received many suggestions from the public.

The Commission's report is expected to be published in the near future. It is believed that it will contain some very important recommendations on how to improve the food supply in Kenya.

PEEK FREANS

BRITISH BISCUITS

Many years ago these famous biscuits were introduced into British East Africa and quickly achieved wide popularity by their unsurpassed quality and excellence.

Throughout all this time their high standard of quality has been maintained and their steady record of success has been shared in more recent years by the famous Vite-Vite (Regd.) Crispbread.

Owing to present conditions supplies are no longer available, but we hope it will not be long before you are again able to obtain them in full measure.

HOW BRITISH INFANTRY BROKE THE MARETH LINE

The news from Tunisia is exciting. Afloat that his flank would be turned and that he could be caught in a trap of his own choosing south of the salt lakes and a general retreat southward.

The making of the Mareth line had been a desperate gamble, proved a costly error. A series of frontal assaults covered a point and a half of the Mareth line.

What he really achieved on the west of the attack was to force a break through which a small attacking force attacked the front line.

But while those blows were being dealt from the front, the general Movement was putting pressure on the flanks.

And now the next step, as the British troops advance to the junction of the Eighth Army with the British First Army and the American allies.

Food Case Appeal

PRISON SENTENCE QUASHED

An Indian food manufacturer of Nairobi who was sentenced to prison for a year and a fine of £100 for a case involving the supply of food to the public service has had his conviction quashed on appeal.

The appellant is Jiva Wain, a manager of the Indian Food Manufacturers' Association, who was sentenced to prison for a year and a fine of £100 for a case involving the supply of food to the public service.

The appeal was heard by the High Court in Nairobi on Monday.

The judge, Mr. Justice G. M. M. M., quashed the conviction and ordered that the appellant be released from prison.

The case was brought before the court by the appellant's legal representatives.

The appellant had been sentenced to prison for a year and a fine of £100 for a case involving the supply of food to the public service.

The judge found that the appellant had acted in good faith and that his conviction was unjust.

MOSHI TRADERS PROTEST AGAINST K.F.A. CONTROL

Protest against control of Moshi traders by K.F.A.

Moshi traders have expressed their protest against the control of their trade by the Kenya Farmers' Association (K.F.A.).

The traders claim that the K.F.A. control is unfair and that it hampers their business.

They demand that the K.F.A. should be allowed to trade freely without any restrictions.

The K.F.A. officials have refused to accept the traders' demands.

The traders have threatened to take their case to the courts.

The K.F.A. officials have warned the traders that they will be prosecuted if they do not comply with the control.

The traders have vowed to continue their protest until their demands are met.

The K.F.A. officials have said that they will not back down from their control.
