AFRICANS IN CHARGE OF PLATOONS

A Successful Experiment in E.A. Command

When, with effect from April 1, 1945, the General Officer Commanding in Chief, East Africa, placed a platoon commander in every rifle platoon in the East African Forces, the experiment was a bold one. It was a successful one, however, and the results are being studied for the appointment of any African as a platoon commander in the future.

Harlequins' Backs Carry The Day Against R.N.A.S.

The following are the results of the Rugby matches played at Nairobi last weekend:

Harlequins 18 pts. R.N.A.S. 12 pts.

Harlequins 18 pts. R.N.A.S. 12 pts.

Harlequins 18 pts. R.N.A.S. 12 pts.

The general standard of play did not quite reach the high level of last year's season. The large crowd had plenty of things to see and the Harlequins and thoroughly enjoyed the strength of the respective packs.

Play Opens Up.

Both sides indicated more open play in the second-half, with the Harlequins leading 12-0.

Relentless Pressure On Important Air Fields

FRANCIS UP THE AIR ATTACK

The Mediterranean theatre continues to provide the highlights of the air war, especially the growing concentration of major military units.

Italian island of Leros has surrendered. The third island port on Monday—the third in three days. It is 39 miles southeast of Lampedusa. It is little more than a rocky island, some 2,000 feet high. It is surrounded, without a shot being fired, by British bombers. One hundred and thirty British aircraft were made prisoner and taken to Italy. Last night prisoners were still being taken from Pantelleria. This had been evacuated on Friday. During Friday night and night bombers carried out attacks in the Sicilian Channel to prevent any interference with the operations on Pantelleria. Some heavy aircraft appeared and tried to attack with torpedoes but in vain as our fighters made off at high speed. With these Italian islands in the bag the Allied air forces are pressing up their attacks against Italy. Aircraft based in Malta are locking in the Northwest African Air Force. Then Flying Squadrons and Major squadrons concentrated on three important islands in Western Sicily: Sicily aircraft on the ground of one of our squadrons were plastered with splinter bombs. Today's Middle East Air Campaign: A formation of four bombers of the United States Army Air Corps yesterday shelling when a bomber reported a sighting on the air force. A formation was sent into the harbour with the aim of attacking the air base. On board and an Italian boat took off to attack the air base. The attack was repulsed and the bomber was shot down. The attack was repulsed and the bomber was shot down. The attack was repulsed and the bomber was shot down.
