BRITAIN'S ULTIMATUM TO GERMANY

Following Invasion of Poland By German Forces Yesterday

A LAST WARNING

IF REPLY IS UNFAVOURABLE BRITAIN WILL CARRY OUT HER PLEDGE TO POLAND

BRITAIN HAS ISSUED AN ULTIMATUM TO GERMANY. ITS TERMS ARE IN EFFECT THAT UNLESS GERMANY WITHDRAWS HER FORCES WHICH ENTERED POLAND YESTERDAY MORNING, THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT WILL WITHOUT HESITATION FULFIL HER PLEDGES TO POLAND.

THIS WAS ANNOUNCED IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS LAST NIGHT BY THE PRIME MINISTER AND MR. CHAMBERLAIN. HE ADDED THAT IF THE REPLY TO THIS LAST WARNING WAS UNFAVOURABLE THE BRITISH AMBASSADOR IN BERLIN WOULD BE INSTRUCTED TO ASK FOR HIS PASSPORT.

The development of events yesterday is indicated in the following paragraphs which are given in the order in which they were received.

London, Sept. 1. Germany's proposal for the cessation of the fighting in Poland was announced in Berlin in the Cabinet News agency on Thursday night. The chief secretary of the German Government in the Reichstag immediately held a press conference to announce that a plebiscite be held in each town to decide whether the German Government should be asked to withdraw its forces from the Corridor State or whether it should be asked to withdraw its forces from the Corridor State or whether it should be asked to withdraw its forces from the Corridor State.

A German spokesman in London commented on the proposals and said that the German Government was awaiting a reply from the Polish Government. The attitude of the British Government towards the proposals in Berlin, announced to a general meeting to negotiate but the matter was still open.

After broadcasting the proposals on the German radio, a spokesman said that the Foreign and the Reich Government had received the proposals for the arrival of a Polish representative. In these circumstances, Germany, however, remains for consideration.

It is believed that official British views are required that it would be highly undesirable for the Government to make any proposals to be made in London before the Polish Government had had time to consider them.

Senior's Diplomatic Correspondence also states that the proposals are not a reply to any British proposals. The efforts of the British Government had been directed to seeing whether any proposals could be suggested which would be understood on both sides and which would be understood on both sides and which would be understood on both sides.

NETHERS PROCLAMATION
Early this morning Her Majesty Queen Wilhelmina issued a Proclamation in which she announced that the Netherlands would make no further comment on the ultimatum to the German Government.

Terms Of The Final Warning

PRIME MINISTER'S SPEECH IN COMMONS

London, September 1. Addressing the House of Commons last night, Mr. Chamberlain said that the terms of the ultimatum rather than speech is required. He said that the ultimatum was not a demand for a plebiscite but a demand for a withdrawal of German forces from Poland.

As far as the German terms are concerned, the British Government considered that Poland was fully entitled to demand that Germany should withdraw its forces from Poland.

Germany could have done more to clear the way open for the ultimatum. He said that the German Government had not made any effort to make good its obligations under the Locarno Pact.

THE ULTIMATUM
Mr. Chamberlain read a direct ultimatum to the German Government. Unless the German Government withdrew its forces from Poland by five o'clock on September 1, the British Government would be obliged to carry out its obligations under the Locarno Pact.

THE GERMAN REPLY
The German Government's reply to the ultimatum was received in London at 11.30 p.m. on September 1. It stated that the German Government was unable to accept the ultimatum and that it would continue to occupy Poland.

THE POLISH REPLY
The Polish Government's reply to the ultimatum was received in London at 11.30 p.m. on September 1. It stated that the Polish Government accepted the ultimatum and that it would continue to fight for its independence.

THE BRITISH REPLY
The British Government's reply to the ultimatum was received in London at 11.30 p.m. on September 1. It stated that the British Government would support the Polish Government in its fight for independence.

THE FRENCH REPLY
The French Government's reply to the ultimatum was received in London at 11.30 p.m. on September 1. It stated that the French Government would support the Polish Government in its fight for independence.

THE AMERICAN REPLY
The American Government's reply to the ultimatum was received in London at 11.30 p.m. on September 1. It stated that the American Government would support the Polish Government in its fight for independence.

THE AUSTRALIAN REPLY
The Australian Government's reply to the ultimatum was received in London at 11.30 p.m. on September 1. It stated that the Australian Government would support the Polish Government in its fight for independence.

"Finest I have Seen Anywhere" Says General Dickinson

Ample Food In Kenya: Price Increase Banned

There is plenty of work to be done. He wants the Girl Guides and the Boy Scouts to help him and he has a word for the impatient old soldiers, officers and rankers who want a job to do. "Fill them not to take jobs elsewhere", he said. "I shall want them all."

Points For The Public In A. R. P. Rules

Government and Nairobi Municipality will be pleased to see that the public will be able to see the work of the A. R. P. in action. The A. R. P. is now in the process of forming a public relations department and it is hoped that the public will be able to see the work of the A. R. P. in action.

Acute Shortage Of Labour And Many Essential Materials

According to a Hungarian writer, whose material is drawn from German official and officially approved sources, but whose book was written in Hungary, on German industries, Germany would be tremendously handicapped in the event of a war, by acute shortages, particularly shortage of workmen as everything would have to be produced within Germany.

Its worry that DESTROYS!

If you are always worrying, you are not well. Your nerves are out of condition. To get it plainly, you are being "over worried". It's a common ailment. It is often a sign of a latent or a latent tuberculosis. And although it is a recognized nerve trouble, it is not a "nervous" ailment. It means "worrying" is done to exhausted nerves not being equal to everyday ailments and troubles.

WHAT BRITAIN IS FIGHTING FOR Governor's Broadcast To Peoples of Kenya

The Prime Minister in his broadcast at 11:45 a.m. yesterday, said: "I am speaking to you from the Cabinet room at 10, Downing Street, looking across the British Embassy in Berlin behind the German Government's final Note which says that unless we withdraw our troops from Poland a state of war would exist between Great Britain and Germany. I have to tell you now that no such undertaking has been received and that consequently this country is at war with Germany."

You can imagine what a bitter blow it is to me that all your struggle for peace has failed. Yet I cannot believe there is anything more or anything different that I could have done and that would have been more successful. Up to the very end it was possible for us to have arranged a peaceful and equitable settlement between Germany and Poland but Hitler would not have it. He had evidently made up his mind to attack Poland whether we had or not.

We have a clear conscience. We have done all that in our country could do to establish peace. A situation in which no word given by the German ruler can be trusted, no people or people are to be trusted, and no peace can be made is a situation that we are resolved to finish. I know you will all play your part with calmness and courage.

At such a moment as this the assurance of support which we have received from the Empire are a source of profound encouragement to us.

Continuing the Prime Minister said that certain announcements would be made on behalf of Governments when he finished speaking. He continued: "In the days of stress and strain this people will need your help. You may be taking your part in many ways, but the most important is that of your own conduct in your own homes."

Now may God bless you all. May He defend the Right, for it is still the Right that is fighting against the forces of evil, oppression and persecution and against them I am certain that the Right will prevail."

No Bombing Of Civilians: Powers Agree

Great Britain, France, Poland and the United States have agreed to refrain from bombing military objectives in Germany.

Herbert Hoover also announced that the United States would not bomb military objectives in Germany. He said that the United States would continue to support the British and French in their efforts to bring about a peace settlement.

His Excellency the Governor of Kenya, Air Chief Marshall Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, attended a marriage to the peoples of Kenya last night in Nairobi.

Calling on every man and woman of every race in the Colony "to help Great Britain by every means to our power, especially by ensuring that we are ready in our own emergency," the Governor said of the war. "It is the struggle between two ideals--on the one hand the ideal of justice, on the other the ideal of might."

Think, he said, are the ideals we have fought for in the past and is there for which we are now called upon to fight today?

No More Air Passengers

The East African Standard is informed that Imperial Airways has decided to suspend its services to Kenya from September 1st.

Warfare has been ordered by the Government of Kenya.

It is the struggle between two ideals--on the one hand the ideal of justice, on the other the ideal of might.

Those who should be able to fight against the forces of evil, oppression and persecution and against them I am certain that the Right will prevail."

No Bombing Of Civilians: Powers Agree

Great Britain, France, Poland and the United States have agreed to refrain from bombing military objectives in Germany.

INTIMIDATION BLAID FOR TANGA STRIKE
Commission Also Told Of "Ousted" Workers

The first evidence given before the Commission of Enquiry into labour troubles at Tanga dealt with wages questions and witnesses' opinions as to the origin of the strike which later developed into rioting.

One witness stated that the Tanga labour would not have struck but for intimidation. Another suggested that the cause of the strike was that many Natives in Tanga were being ousted from their work by men from outside seeking work in the town.

On Saturday, August 26, the Commission of Enquiry into the Tanga strike held their first session at the Government School, Tanga. The enquiry was open to the public. The members appointed to hold the Commission were—Major, W. E. H. Nicholson, M.P.; Mr. E. C. Fisher, D. S. M.; Mr. W. Wilson, M.P.; Mr. T. M. Skinner, M.P.; and Mr. W. Wilson, M.P. as chairman.

Early Moves
The first witness to appear before the East African Lightering and Wharfing Co. gave evidence on wages.

The labourer commenced to strike in the morning. He was told to go to the Native village and to get the men, who were supposed to be the main group of eight or ten men from the strike, to come to the office. The labourer was told to go to the Native village and to get the men, who were supposed to be the main group of eight or ten men from the strike, to come to the office.

Substitute Labour
Mr. Cotterell, Manager of the Tanganyika Landing and Shipping Co., informed the Commission as follows: On Tuesday a meeting had been held at the house of the District Officer with a view to trying to settle matters. On Wednesday, the labourer was told to go to the Native village and to get the men, who were supposed to be the main group of eight or ten men from the strike, to come to the office.

Domestic Strife
On Tuesday a meeting was held at the District Officer's house at 8.30 p.m., and it was learnt that a meeting was likely to be held on Wednesday at 7.30 a.m. Various groups were on the way to the meeting.

Labour Movement
The Commission had been met since the end of Tanga since 1925. From the records of the labour movement, it was found that the Natives could not get their wages. Now it was different. The demand was greater than the wages they received.

Another case
Another case which he wanted placed on record was the behaviour of the Government school children, who were shouting with the Natives. He considered the Natives were a fair wage for their work. He considered the Natives were a fair wage for their work.

Another case
The Commission was also told that the Natives were also to be seen in Mombasa, and the Natives were also to be seen in Mombasa, and the Natives were also to be seen in Mombasa.

Mother And Child Burned To Death
A terrible tragedy occurred in Mombasa during the recent bush burning which took place at this time of the year from a woman and her child who were sleeping at night after a long journey in the bush. They lay on grass matting in an elevated bush built on poles, when the wild bush caught from their bed below until it ignited rubbish which in turn ignited their bed.

BRITISH LINER AND SUNK Mid-Ocean Outrage By German Submarine

WITHOUT WARNING, A GERMAN SUBMARINE YESTERDAY TORPEDOED A BRITISH LINER, CARRYING 1,400 PASSENGERS TO CANADA. THE LINER, 230 MILES WEST OF THE HERBIDES, SANK RAPIDLY, BUT ALL WHO HAD BEEN ABOARD HER, EXCEPT THOSE WHO HAD BEEN KILLED BY THE ACTUAL EXPLOSION OF THE TORPEDO, WERE RESCUED BY BRITISH DESTROYERS AND OTHER VESSELS FROM THE SHIP'S LIFEBOATS.

There were over 300 Americans aboard the vessel, the "Athens", of the Donaldson Atlantic line, out of Glasgow, and an American official statement has emphasized that, as the "Athens" was bound away from the scene of war it was not possible that the ship was carrying any war materials.

Germany signed the London Naval Treaty rules relating to submarine warfare after the outbreak of the Anglo-German Naval Agreement of 1935. They lay down that no merchant ship may be sunk without warning and in no case will any safety of passengers and crew have been secured. British boats have been reported to explode of safety valves they use on land.

The first news of the sinking of the "Athens" came from the British liner, Admire, which was in the area of the Atlantic. The British liner, Admire, which was in the area of the Atlantic, reported the sinking of the "Athens" on August 24. The "Athens" is a vessel of over 13,000 tons, and was bound for the Atlantic. "Not War With People Of Germany"

In a speech in London, Sept. 4, Mr. Chamberlain said that the Government was determined to fight a war against Germany, but not against the German people. He said that the Government was determined to fight a war against Germany, but not against the German people.

At the time of the signing of the London Naval Treaty, Germany was bound to observe the rules relating to submarine warfare. However, it is now reported that Germany has decided to disregard these rules.

The sinking of the "Athens" has caused a great deal of concern in the United States. Many Americans are worried about the safety of their lives and property. The United States Government has expressed its concern and has offered to provide assistance to the survivors of the "Athens".

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF NAIROBI

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT (RATING) ORDINANCE, 1938.

NOTICE is hereby given that the first sitting of the Valuation Court to hear objections to the Fourth Supplemental Valuation Roll of the Nairobi Municipality will be held in the Committee Room, Town Hall, Nairobi, at 10 o'clock on the forenoon of Monday, 19th day of September, 1939.

Noted this 20th day of Aug. 1939. F. S. RICKERSLEY, Town Clerk, Nairobi.

is the way they should behave to show their conscientiousness of the call for national service.

Another aspect of it is to be found at the headquarters of the Kenya Women's Emergency Organisation. There have been registered the names of well over 4,000 women all prepared to get a job to do. The fact is that over 2,000 have been placed but unless conditions become suitably more and there is a need for real war-time requirements, it is not possible to absorb them all. Yet a reserve is required in order to every possible contingency, to relieve tired people who are working hard today and to staff the various services which the country has brought upon itself. But that does not mean that so far as Kenya is concerned the crisis is upon us at its peak. If the Colony is fortunate it may not come in those terms, so many of those people anxious to do war work today should realise that their main and most valuable service is to wait patiently and be ready at all times to do anything when they are really needed.

Soon, and the sooner the better, must in these countries try to adapt ourselves to the new conditions of life and realise that while for many, both in an economic, military and allied occupations will take all their time and energies, there will be a very large number, who, in the great majority of the population, whose essential duty it will be to carry on their normal tasks. The preparations for defence have been well carried out and the country is ready for any emergency that may come suddenly upon it. The principal task of the Government therefore is to plan for the future so that the normal activities of the country can be carried on with the least of retarding development be avoided. This can only be achieved by sound and understanding cooperation, and by a realistic determination on the part of so many of those engaged in special duties to restore for themselves calm and normal frame of mind while ready for all eventualities.

It is of the first importance to the future of these Territories that the Government should be allowed to determine on the part of so many of those engaged in special duties to restore for themselves calm and normal frame of mind while ready for all eventualities.

K. W. E. O. AND POSTS FOR WOMEN

There has been some criticism recently regarding the employment in altered war-time posts of women whose husbands are recipients of their normal salary, and it has been thought desirable that the K. W. E. O. in some way recognise the fact of the matter is that the voluntary work done by one of its important tasks during the war days has been to provide women workers on request from the Man Power Directorate, War Office or Civil Department. These requests have been complied with as far as possible, and it is necessary to ensure that wherever possible the women are not to be considered as a burden on the K. W. E. O. There are, of course, some posts requiring fully qualified people, such as stenographers and typists, which cannot be filled by volunteers, however willing, and it is largely this class of work that salaries are being paid. The East African Standard understands that the K. W. E. O. intend to use its influence in the direction of trying to ensure that wherever possible the women are not to be considered as a burden on the K. W. E. O. The Department of Agriculture has issued a warning to livestock owners that they should examine a sample in the first instance to ensure that they are not obtaining a sample of rice dust which is of a quality inferior to the standards. The reason for this is contained in the following extract from the Department's statement:

"Rice and husks are lustrous, tough, and woody and are heavily changed with silica, have sharp, pointed edges, and are said to be irritating and dangerous to the health of animals. They should therefore never be fed to stock. Yet they are still occasionally used by unscrupulous persons for adulterating stock feeds."

The Department's warning is based on an analysis on two samples of rice dust sent in Kenya, with the following result:

	Light	Dark
Crude protein	11.25	10.00
Crude fat	15.15	15.06
N-free extract	45.85	43.02
Cellulose	5.75	5.85
Moisture	9.15	5.74
Ash	15.85	12.85
Loss on ignition	7.75	8.45
	1.97	1.71

Rice Factory Licenses

It is also pointed out by the Department of Agriculture that under the new legislation no factory for the production of rice dust without a license shall be obtained for the production of rice dust for the purpose of being used in the production of rice dust. The new legislation was enacted in 1938.

THE TANGANYIKA ORDINANCE

K. D. F. SPEEDY ROUND-UP OF GERMANS IN TANGANYIKA

His Excellency On Nazi Mentality

IMPORTANT NEW LAWS

THE DETERMINATION OF ALL COMMUNITIES IN THE COUNTRY TO DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TOWARDS WINNING THE WAR TO A VICTORIOUS END WAS EXPRESSED AT A SPECIAL MEETING OF KENYA LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL YESTERDAY.

His Excellency in a brief address referred to the righteousness of the Empire's cause and spoke of the Germans attack on a British passenger vessel as typical of the Nazi outlook.

Two important bills—one providing for compulsory military and other service and the other prohibiting trading with the enemy—were passed through all their stages.

An extraordinary session of the Kenya Legislative Council was held on Monday yesterday under the supervision of Commanding Officer and two important bills were introduced to provide for Compulsory Military and other service and the other prohibiting trading with the enemy.

All elected and nominated members of the Council were present. Mr. Wright, Mr. Nicol and Mr. P. J. O'Connell were absent. Mr. P. J. O'Connell was absent on account of illness.

The sitting was completed in under an hour. The House and members were adjourned to meet again on Monday next.

His Excellency opened by saying that there was no need for him to "regulate" the extraordinary session of the Council.

"The first news we were given of this morning that a British passenger vessel had been torpedoed off the coast of West Africa."

"If any further proof were needed of the rightness of our cause, here it is: it was further through the end of the war to survive, we have it."

"I don't believe that this action is being taken by the British Government through they have to be of the opinion that the great majority of the British people are in favour of it."

"Two Bills"—The "Inhabitants of the Colony Bill" and the "Prohibition of Trading with the Enemy Bill."

"The House of Commons has passed the Bill in the House of Commons."

"The House of Commons has passed the Bill in the House of Commons."

were fighting and realized that they were their cause. His Excellency said that the British people were playing their part bravely in doing everything they could do in helping to win the war.

Major Gordon said the present was the best time to put on the record that he had seen this Colony as far as he knew, was the most important of his own initiative.

The Bills Explained
The Compulsory Military and other service Bill, which will place of obligation on the military and other service of the Colony by the Government.

Women And Children Not Being Interned

Immediately on receipt of the news that war had been declared on Germany, the Tanganyika authorities began the rounding up of the many German men in the Territory for detention in the internment camp.

The Governor issued a message expressing confidence that all concerned would do what was required of them.

A special meeting of the Legislative Council was held on Sunday evening.

There were the usual news items, but the main item was the report of the Tanganyika authorities on the rounding up of the many German men in the Territory for detention in the internment camp.

SETTLERS STILL ON THE INCREASE

Kenya Association Activities

In spite of the tension in the national situation during the month states the August report of the Kenya Association, it is satisfactory that there has again been an increase in the number of new settlers taking up land in the Colony of which the sense of railway construction augurs a reliable index.

On the 11th and 12th of the month the Chairman of the Association, Major Cavendish Bennett, gave the second of the series of talks over the wireless on Settlement. He described how the present sense of government sided settlement had come into being with the fact that a quarter of a million pounds had been set aside for the purpose, and how it was hoped to attract to the Colony the right type of settler, particularly the younger sons of farming families in the United Kingdom. It was stated that the Government had been in communication with the Railway Authority in regard to an extension of those already in force and to the Training Farm and School which it was proposed to establish. He also emphasized the relationship between Chease Settlement and the provision of adequate water supplies, suggestions regarding which had been made by the Settlement Committee in their Report.

During the course of his second talk he made the very important point that the very fact of the Secretary of State signifying his approval of the recommendations of the Committee constituted a complete reversal of what has appeared to be the Colonial Office policy during the last fifteen years or more, and an admission from the authorities in England that while settlement in this country has got a future, and that we have every right and justification in increasing our European population.

New Guinea Expedition
Under the heading "Australia in New Guinea" a recent issue of The Times contained the following: "A report from Canberra lately describes the exploration of a large portion of unexplored New Guinea. Twenty thousand square miles were surveyed, much of which was a continuation of the area discovered in 1931. The leader of the adventurous party was Mr. Taylor, Assistant District Commissioner, and he proposes that in time, and he allows it will be a long time—adventures beyond will have New Guinea into a second Kenya."

Those of us who have lived many years in the Colony are perhaps apt to be somewhat sceptical of references to Kenya in the Press, overseas, and the question rises to the mind, "What quality has the news by which whatever way the prophecy is true, almost any publicity is better than no publicity at all."

The sense of John O'Leman for July 7 contained a story by C. T. Stoneham entitled "The Widened Lens". The outline is on the

STORY OF ATHENA SURVIVORS

Submarine Watches Strugglers In Sea

THE LINER ATHENA WAS TORPEDOED BY A SUBMARINE WHICH DID NOT BREAK THE SURFACE UNTIL THE MISERABLE MAD STRUGGLE, AND WHICH STOOD BY WHILE THE LINER'S PASSENGERS AND CREW, SOME OF THEM BADLY INJURED, WERE ROWED ABOUT IN OVERLOADED AND WATERLOGGED LIFEBOATS, WITH SOME PASSENGERS CLINGING TO THE SIDES.

This is the story that emerges from the statements made by survivors of the outrage, who reached land yesterday, Lord Stanhope, speaking in the House of Lords referred to a German suggestion that the disaster was caused by a mine as 'ridiculous and absurd'.

Sept. 5. (Athens)—The survivors of the Athenian liner have now landed, several hundred in all, on the Greek coast, and a great number of casualties. The story of how the liner was sunk by the German submarine, and how the survivors were rescued, is being told in the Greek papers. The survivors are being treated in the best manner, and the bodies of those who were killed are being buried. Many passengers were injured, and some were drowned. German Denial It is officially denied in Berlin that the German Government is responsible for the sinking of the Athenian liner. It is suggested that the Athenian liner was sunk by a mine. not enter into the argument. But what is important is the manner of the filling of these requirements and the manner in which the ultimate responsibility for the control of the expenditure. We need not remind those who remember the last war of the extravagance which took place in the name of a national emergency and who should have thought at that time that there were people who with that experience would know how to prevent its recurrence.

But the general impression gained by the public in Kenya, as Nairobi does not contend that the reasons have been kept quiet, at least some of which must have foundation, of weaknesses in the control of public money spent on military needs, and of the manner of the acquisition of supplies. It appears to us in such a case that the larger profits than have been required had they themselves been entrusted with the task of being to protect the country against unnecessarily generous prices being paid. Too many people today outside Kenya are authorised to spend public money on supplies of all kinds and economy is not always being applied either to the employment of paid personnel.

INTERRED GERMAN
To the Editor, "E.A. Standard."
Sir—As the British and French Governments have not intervened, we have no quarrel with the German Government.
Here in East Africa, in view of the Government's views, I have no hope that they will do all in their power to alleviate the discomforts and indignities of interred prisoners. I have, however, been somewhat surprised to find amongst some of the British and French soldiers who are in the hands of the Germans, that they are not being treated as prisoners of war.

Many People Were Killed On Athena TORPEDOED AND SHELLED British Warships Sink Two German Vessels: Crews Saved

It is now believed that about 10 persons lost their lives when the British liner Athena was sunk by a German submarine in mid-Atlantic. The statement of the Athena's captain shows that, after the vessel had been struck by the torpedo, the submarine fired a shell apparently aimed at the wireless room.

Another British vessel, a 2,600 tons cargo boat, was shelled and torpedoed by U-boat in the Atlantic, and one man was killed. British warships destroyed two German vessels, after ensuring the safety of the crews, and the captain and crew of one of the German ships have voluntarily undertaken not to take any further part in the war. The captain declared that he was well satisfied with the treatment given to his ship and the crew.

It is known that several German submarines have been attacked, but it is pointed out that it is not always desirable to publish news of the destruction of enemy submarines.

FIRST ATTEMPT TO BOMB BRITAIN FAILS Anti-Aircraft Defences Win

GERMAN HOBBING AIRPLANES ATTEMPTED TO RAID SOUTH EAST ENGLAND YESTERDAY MORNING, BUT THE ANTI-AIRCRAFT BATTERIES AND INTERCEPTOR FIGHTERS PROVED TOO MUCH FOR THE RAIDERS, WHO WERE DRIVEN OFF WITHOUT DROPPING BOMBS.

LONDON'S PEOPLE ON THEIR WAY TO BUSINESS TOOK SHELTER FROM 6-40 UNTIL TWO MINUTES AFTER MIDNIGHT. THERE WAS NO PANIC, AND THE CHIEF TOWER OF THE STEEL-REINFORCED POLICE WAS TO PERSUADE PEOPLE WHO WANTED TO SEE WHAT WAS HAPPENING IN THE SKY, TO GO BACK TO THE SHELTERS.

ACTUALLY NOTHING WAS VISIBLE OVER LONDON, BUT FROM THE MESSY DISTRICT THE BURSTING OF ANTI-AIRCRAFT SHELLS WAS VISIBLE, AND THE SOUND OF MACHINE GUNS COULD BE HEARD.

Heavy artillery kept up violent firing throughout Monday and Tuesday nights in the Messia area of Germany's western frontier, according to correspondents in Luxembourg, and in a French war zone yesterday. It was stated that the French troops had made contact with the Messia and the Rhine frontier. It is pointed out that there are permanent fortifications on both sides.

In Poland, there is heavy fighting 60 miles from Warsaw, and the Polish central Government has left the capital. German reports claim severe advances.

The first attempt to bomb Britain was made on Monday night. The raid was unsuccessful. The anti-aircraft defences proved too much for the raiders.

Women Are Ready In Britain

Women experts in business and the professions are awaiting the opportunity to step into a day of emergency work in the event of a national crisis.
"We have already 3,000 women on our register," Mrs. Owen Stracey, secretary of the Women's Auxiliary Fire Service, which is a voluntary organization, which is compiling an emergency register, told the Daily Mirror on August 28. "These women, who are in various positions in business and the professions, are ready to take up Government work or to replace men of similar qualifications called away on active service."
"If our country is threatened or preparation to take the place of a man," Mrs. Stracey said, "we are ready to do it."

Calmness In Uganda

Uganda received the declaration of war calmly. All departments acted with the utmost promptitude. The sending up of all mobile ambulances by the police in Kampala was completed early on Sunday evening and similar steps were taken in the out districts. The regulations controlling process, and furnishing the sale of certain commodities are the same in Kenya and as a consequence business is at its normal level. The public is calm and it is expected that the restrictions will be partially lifted in a day or two. The population generally realizes the necessity for the control for the first few days and is accepting the position calmly.

Outward trains are crowded with all ranks proceeding to their out-districts. The Uganda public of all ranks is determined to assist the Empire to the utmost capacity.

CONTROL OF WAR EXPENDITURE
 And the Use of Man Power
 There was widespread approval yesterday of the criticism which the East African Standard voiced on behalf of the people of Kenya regarding the uncontrolled expenditure of money which is going on for war-time emergency requirements. Many examples have been quoted to the East African Standard of uncontrolled expenditure of money of all kinds from large new cars bought to run about the small island of Mombasa to expensive imported foodstuffs required in Nairobi and stored away in some godown or other.

TEA PRICES TO RISE?
Restriction of Imports

It is believed, says the Devonport Chronicle, that the present 10 per cent tea quota for 1938 will again be being supplied and demand into a favourable position. The market is therefore expected to remain normal (average conditions) in looking for some further increase in tea prices but it is not likely that the tea quota of 1937 will again be reached. Reference to year-to-year records shows that in 1937 they were 100,000 tons, and in 1938 they were 100,000 tons, and it can be seen that the quota is being exceeded. It is expected that the tea trade will have some similar features. With our proportionately stronger tea prices we hardly seem likely to be in quite so disadvantageous a position as we were in 1937-1938.

Probably Britain would be able to cope with whatever warlike move might be made, but it is not likely to be able to do so as well as it has done in the past. It is not likely that the tea trade will be able to do so as well as it has done in the past. It is not likely that the tea trade will be able to do so as well as it has done in the past.

GERMAN LINE BROKEN ON WESTERN FRONT French Advancing On Saarbrucken

French communiqué issued last night announced that the French troops had advanced over the German frontier, the air force was working with the land troops and transport and the disposition of units was being carried out normally.

Correspondents in Luxembourg declare that French troops supported by tanks have broken the German line and are advancing in the direction of Saarbrucken. This morning's French communiqué states that there has been marked activity on both sides.

The Paris Press says that fighting continues along the entire line between the Rhine and the Moselle. In order to enable the French to consolidate the advances already made, the heavy artillery bombardment is continuing.

Action is stated, is mainly taking place in the 'no-man's-land' between the French and German fortifications, where the French have 'mopped up' a number of German machine gun posts.

A Brussels message states that German newspapers are publishing nothing about activities on the western front, but have jubilant accounts of the progress of the German troops in Poland.

Mr. Chamberlain made the first statement in the House of Commons on the course of the war this morning. He pointed out that there were a number of matters to which he would like to refer, but would give himself a momentary summary of the position.

In the west, France had mobilized with complete efficiency, and the French and German forces were in contact with the enemy. No serious decision had been reached.

Mr. Chamberlain announced that the British Treasury estimates are making a start today in Poland of eight and a half million pounds in additional credit.

Sinking Of 'Bosnia' MORE PEACEFUL 'BOMBING'

GERMANS ALLOW CREW TO LEAVE. London, September 7. Thirty-two members of the crew and one passenger from the British steamer Bosnia, which was sunk off Lisbon yesterday and are now on their way home.

The captain stated that the Bosnia was first fired at, and the crew were permitted to leave in the lifeboats, but could take nothing with them. The submarine then launched a torpedo and sank the Bosnia.

The only casualty was a woman who was trapped in a coal room, and was missing after the torpedo had struck. The survivors were later rescued by a German ship. Germany has apologized to the Chief Charge d'Affaires in Berlin for the loss of a German cargo steamer which struck a mine. It did not seem that she was doing up her own policy.

BETTER THAN If You See A 'Plane Crash IN 1914

Paris, Sept. 7. An official statement says that Great Britain will be able to give France more aid than it could have done in 1914. Then France wondered whether it was better to see the British military machine, or the British machine in the hands of the enemy. It is pointed out, say great industrialists, that it is better to see the British machine in the hands of the enemy.

"THE VERY FIRST NOVEL" I FOR ONE...

THE VERY FIRST NOVEL that I ever wrote remained, and I hope will for ever remain, unpublished.

It was written in the days when the dream of every school-girl was to be a Wild Irish Collector—the Rebel of the School—and, with this distressing ideal in mind, I called it "From Erin." I remember very little about it except that the heroine was named Blarney "on account of her huge, Heaven-colored curls. I think also that she probably died young—and when I say young, I mean at the age of about seventeen.

(I was between twelve and fourteen myself in those days, and remained in connection with anybody over twenty was inexcusable.)

Yet oddly enough, it was at much the same period, and whilst I was writing the outrageous sonnet that contained the story of Blarney, that the idea first came to me that the book that, nearly ten years later, took shape as my real "first novel"—"Zella See Horner!"

It may be as well, at this point, to explain that "Zella See Horner" is a psychological study of a young girl, between the age of thirteen and eighteen, who—reading to some extent her own life—combats with a certain heredity, half French and half English, and with the influence of a constant upbringing, Protestant, upon an English and Protestant home-life.

When I first thought about Zella, in my London school-room, it was on terms of gas psychology, and that same gas, that "gas" which is so mysterious, and that she was essentially a French girl, and that at last, but not more than that, she was a French girl.

I know, more or less distinctly, that the character of Zella, the heroine of the novel, was allowed to read very little, and that she was a French girl, and that she was a French girl, and that she was a French girl, and that she was a French girl.

There was no chance—I write them knowing in front of a table that they were the same as the first, and went on to each my own.

The manuscript is to be kept in a safe, and I do not remember, very, that it contained several single verses, and only one or two of them were written.

I have lived to find otherwise, and I have lived to find otherwise, and I have lived to find otherwise, and I have lived to find otherwise.

My auto-biography was my sister's, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's.

With excellent judgment, she was my sister's, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's.

Animated, grateful, and still after her death, I am my sister's, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's.

As it was written, the untimely death of my sister, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's.

"Zella See Horner" was named from Mr. Hennessey's, who, I believe, was my sister's, and it was my sister's.

The book came out in March 1917, and for a first novel, did very well, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's.

Mr. Hennessey was a kind man, and he was my sister's, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's.

Could any grateful reader have had a better introduction to the world of my sister's, and it was my sister's.

On re-reading "Zella See Horner" I am of the first, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's.

The weakness of the book, as I have said, was in its lack of certain points, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's.

You'll say an ordinary lady will see a young man, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's.

For perfect color harmony, use Tangee Blue Lipstick, and it was my sister's, and it was my sister's.

On the Declaration of WAR

I AM WRITING THIS on Sunday, September 3—the evening of the day that we were declared war. Years later it will only be another date in a history book, I suppose, but now each one of us feels it in an intensely personal way, and before the impressions and thoughts of this time become blurred in that day-to-day atmosphere that war-time implies, I feel somehow that I want to record them.

It is a British day in Nairobi, and the only printing works which were open long ago now—was very busy, and I remember, very, that it contained several single verses, and only one or two of them were written.

I have lived to find otherwise, and I have lived to find otherwise, and I have lived to find otherwise, and I have lived to find otherwise.

"It's a cozy little cottage at the foot of the blue, misty mountains that divide our world from the Land of Nowhere, which is the home of the Fairy Folks, there lived a farmer and his wife. They had three larks; the two eldest were clever and hard-working, but the youngest was an idle, dreamy youth who spent his days wandering in the woods and fields. When the eldest son decided to marry two rich and beautiful girls from the nearest town, the farmer said to his wife, 'What a blessing it is that we have two such sensible boys; they almost make up for my silly Stephen.'

"Where are you going my boy?" he asked. "I'm going to seek my fortune," replied Stephen, and I'll bring you back some beautiful jewels and velvet gowns."

"His mother was sad at the thought of losing her eldest son, but she only said, 'But the day of the wedding arrived and all his friends and neighbours came to the feast. "How fortunate the good farmer is," said one. "Do you know, his eldest son is marrying the daughter of a goldsmith, and she has more jewels than she can count."

"Yes," said another, "and the second son's wife has a house and lands of her own. What a pity she is that Stephen will never get his wife to marry him. He is such a mimic."

PERFUMED LATHER THAT LEAVES A LASTING FRAGRANCE

ONE of the most attractive features of Lux Toilet Soap is its world-famous perfume—distinctive, fascinating, odour, suggestive of fresh flowers—which is freely released in the soft, creamy lather. It is delightful to wash with this lovely soap, for the smooth lather of which it is enhanced by the lasting fragrance which it imparts to the skin.

Princes and Princes

King Alexander and Louis Barthou

ALEXANDER, first King of Yugoslavia, was a superb man. His superstitious nature is strange that he should have disembarked at Marsailles on a Tuesday, the day which has ever been a symbol of misfortune to the Orthodox; ever since the Turks took Constantinople upon a Friday, Tuesday in 1453 and upon a systematic oppression of the Balkan peoples.

But possibly he was too busy with the care of State to worry about superstitions as the Royal yacht brought him alongside the quays of Belgrade that October day, five years ago. The King landed in French soil to clasp the outstretched hands of Louis Barthou, Foreign Minister of France and General Georges, sent by Marshal Pétain to meet him.

Remember that Jugoslavia is a country which contains the Serbs, Croats, Slovenes, Macedonians, Montenegrins, Bosnians and Dalmatians in its constituent body, and that the Croats and the Macedonians form two of the most obstinate political minorities in the world.

The Kingdom of Yugoslavia was created by the Peace-Treaties of 1919 (Treaty of Versailles, Treaty of St. Germain, and the Treaty of Trianon).

In common with most of that great state's aims, its creation was a matter of policy, not of sentiment.

The Serbs soon established their hegemony over the other minorities, their capital, became the seat of the Government.

Before the war the Croats, a Slav people, had been a part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

But they were reborn on the ruins of the Hungarian Empire.

With Macedonia it was quite another matter. It was never possessed a title in the Jugoslav Republic.

It was never reborn on the ruins of the Hungarian Empire.

It was never reborn on the ruins of the Hungarian Empire.

It was never reborn on the ruins of the Hungarian Empire.

It was never reborn on the ruins of the Hungarian Empire.

It was never reborn on the ruins of the Hungarian Empire.

Herr Von Papen... THE LUCKIEST DIPLOMAT IN EUROPE

BY—John Appleyard

ALL Europe was astonished by the announcement of the Russo-German agreement. Diplomats were almost silent. Dismissals were made in a whimper. Perhaps there was only one man who could unravel the mystery. He is a 60-year-old Westphalian aristocrat with a grey hair and bushy eyebrows.

Some weeks ago this gentleman left Constantinople on the ocean liner "Von Papen". He took the airplane for Berlin. But German newspapers never reported his arrival. Some reports state that he flew not to Berlin but to Moscow.

This gentleman's name is Herr von Papen, and the reports state that he was the man behind the agreement.

Herr von Papen, the Luckiest Diplomat in Europe, has been getting himself into scrapes since he left Berlin for Moscow.

Some days after he left Berlin for Moscow, he was arrested by the British.

Two weeks later Herr von Papen had the chance to retrieve his reputation.

It was not an auspicious start to diplomatic career. He was not even aware of the fact that he was in Berlin.

It was on the morning of May 11, 1932, that Germany signed the Locarno Pact.

GERMAN FOREIGN POLICY AND THE POLISH NATIONALITY DESIRE

BY FRANCOIS DE TESSAN

COULD Kikuyu's diplomatic program in Germany and Italy have given rise to various suppositions as to the intentions of Berlin and Rome?

It is certain that a considerable effort is at present being made to bring Hungary into line with the policy of the Third Reich.

The manoeuvres have three objectives. The continuation of a policy of non-interference by Count Teletki does not provide sufficient guarantees.

THESE MEN COST £5000 EACH

BY VICTOR RICKETTS

For the British Government, £5,000 to train an A.F. pilot.

That amount is spent on his pay—a comparatively small figure—of his instruction and the men who help his plane in the air, the upsurge of his own powers and of dangers to be met, and, perhaps in very many cases, the upsurge of his own life, the vigilance he finds. They vary from little 80-horsepower trainers to 1,500-horsepower fighters costing £40,000 a time.

He is just eighteen and a half—size of a basket of pink-chickens, round of face, and eyes in very deep blue. His training is at the R.A.F. Flying Training School after fifty hours' preliminary training at a civil school.

First, plenty of ground work and study. Then, for the first time, the machine is used. He is not to be taken lightly. He is not to be taken lightly. He is not to be taken lightly. He is not to be taken lightly.

"The Laboratory of Modern Air Warfare"

MR. W. H. RINGS-KELL is a Swiss Journalist, who was a war correspondent throughout the Spanish Civil War. He was recently granted exceptional facilities to study the facts and figures of the air campaign. The greater part of the information contained in this, and in two following articles, has never previously been published.

THE German air weapon is the strongest in the world, said General Fockelmann "Chief of the German Air Force Day." Was he speaking as a politician or as a soldier? Should these words be regarded as mere propaganda, or as the dispassionate statement of a fact generally accepted and admitted?

In France and England, there has been a tendency to exaggerate the value of the German air force. This has led to sharp criticism in the air quarters with regard to the German armament. These two countries are in each other's hands? Is it true that the German air force is really the most powerful in the world and years in advance of the British and the French?

AGRICULTURE IN WAR TIME

AN ESSAY COMPETITION

'Why a Country Needs Fertilisers'

A LITTLE while ago the Kenya Agricultural Society arranged an essay competition for the people of the Government Indian and African Settlements. The subject of the essay was 'Why a Country Needs Fertilisers'.

The competition has brought in many interesting entries from the Government Indian and African Settlements. The prize was won by a student from the Government Indian Settlement.

The general opinion is that the Kenya Agricultural Society has done a very good job in organizing the competition. The entries were of a high standard and showed a deep interest in agriculture.

The prize essay in the African Settlements was written by a student from the Government Indian Settlement. The essay was well written and clearly presented the importance of fertilisers in agriculture.

Another one said that fertilisers are the lifeblood of agriculture. Without fertilisers, the soil would become exhausted and the crops would fail.

There are many reasons why a country needs fertilisers. One of the main reasons is that fertilisers help to increase the yield of crops and to improve the quality of the soil.

There is also a need for fertilisers to maintain the fertility of the soil. Without fertilisers, the soil would become depleted of its nutrients and would be unable to support crops.

Fertilisers also help to improve the health of the soil. They help to break down the soil particles and to make the soil more porous, which allows air and water to reach the roots of the plants.

In conclusion, it is clear that fertilisers are essential for the production of food and for the improvement of the soil. It is therefore necessary for a country to have a sufficient supply of fertilisers.

Improvement of Carcass Quality in Pigs

C. P. MUMFORD, Massey Agricultural College, New Zealand, and JOHN HARMOND, School of Agriculture, Cambridge, In 'The Journal of the Ministry of Agriculture'

There is an old saying that 'Half the breed you get is what you put in' and perhaps an answer of 'fat on the carcass' would not be far from the mark. To test this the pigs were made to grow on different diets.

At each, each litter was divided into two halves. One half was given a diet of low protein and high energy, while the other half was given a diet of high protein and low energy.

The pigs were then weighed at regular intervals to determine their growth rate. The results showed that the pigs on the high protein diet grew faster and heavier than those on the low protein diet.

The carcasses were then weighed and the results showed that the pigs on the high protein diet had a higher carcass weight and a lower percentage of fat than those on the low protein diet.

These results show that the quality of the carcass is directly related to the quality of the feed. It is therefore important for pig breeders to provide their pigs with a high quality diet.

Percentage Composition

Table showing the percentage composition of carcasses for different pig breeds and diets. Columns include Breed, Fat, and Carcass Weight.

The carcasses of the 100 per cent of the carcass were made up of 10 per cent fat, 10 per cent bone, and 80 per cent lean meat.

By growing the pigs well in the early stages, good development of the carcass was obtained. The pigs on the high protein diet had a higher carcass weight and a lower percentage of fat.

The results of this experiment show that the quality of the carcass is directly related to the quality of the feed. It is therefore important for pig breeders to provide their pigs with a high quality diet.

These results show that the quality of the carcass is directly related to the quality of the feed. It is therefore important for pig breeders to provide their pigs with a high quality diet.

WHY TO LOOK AFTER THEIR PIGS

But all their thoughts may be put to rest. They may well be surprised to find that the pig is a very intelligent animal and that it is capable of learning a great deal.

The pig is a very intelligent animal and it is capable of learning a great deal. It is able to recognize its owner and to respond to his commands.

The pig is also a very hardworking animal. It is able to dig up the earth and to find its own food. It is also a very clean animal and it keeps its surroundings tidy.

It is therefore important for pig breeders to look after their pigs properly. They should provide them with a high quality diet and a clean, healthy environment.

These results show that the quality of the carcass is directly related to the quality of the feed. It is therefore important for pig breeders to provide their pigs with a high quality diet.

THOUGHTS FROM A FARMER'S FRESIDE

Willie, the internationalist, is a man who is always ready to give his opinion on any subject. He is a man who is always ready to give his opinion on any subject.

POULTRY

Probably most farmers' thoughts are made up of much that is of a practical nature. They are always thinking of ways to improve their farms and to increase their yields.

The farmer is always thinking of ways to improve his farm. He is always looking for new ideas and new methods to increase his productivity.

The farmer is also a very hardworking man. He is always working hard to improve his farm and to increase his yields. He is always looking for new ideas and new methods to increase his productivity.

These results show that the quality of the carcass is directly related to the quality of the feed. It is therefore important for pig breeders to provide their pigs with a high quality diet.

Let us take an analogy. Suppose you have a large number of pigs and you want to increase their productivity. You should provide them with a high quality diet and a clean, healthy environment.

The results of this experiment show that the quality of the carcass is directly related to the quality of the feed. It is therefore important for pig breeders to provide their pigs with a high quality diet.

BRITISH LINER TORPEDOED

Mid-Ocean Outrage

By German Submarine

The first great news of the war was that a British liner had been torpedoed in the mid-ocean. The liner was the RMS Lusitania, which was sunk on May 7, 1915, by a German submarine. The sinking of the Lusitania was a major event in the early stages of the war, and it led to the United States entering the war on the side of the Allies.
