Vice-President flags off the first entrants

Early trouble for Mzee Pembe

A late Safari entry, V.K.'s Mzee Pembe, argues with the starter as his "very special" 1928 Chevrolet waits of the Jamhuri Park starting ramp. Looking on is Aish Jenab, another TV personality. Mzee's trouble with the start was featured in an episode of his popular comedy series last night.

Jamhuri Park start annoys Africans

THE decision to transfer the start of the East African Safari from outside Nairobi City Hall to Jamhuri Park has had to numerous complaints, particularly from Africans who want to watch the event.

The main complaint is that the park is too far for people to travel from African nation and police had to send 100 men to control crowds and traffic in the area.

Jamhuri Park, where the spectators' grievance number one avoided the river of cars crowding and traffic congestion.

African spectators had organized to bring their own transport to the start of the rally. The start of the rally was held at the park.

Apart from the formalities, the East African countries must do all they can to make visitors feel really welcome...

These countries have to be prepared for the return and the consequences of it, but the East African reputation...

Just as much as the official and private agencies promoting tourism, the Government must be prepared to receive the large numbers who are not so well organized...

During the last year, the Kenya Club, in the capital, has been busy in preparing the beginnings of what would be the first fantastic tourist boom in the history of any country...

Malindi still retains its quiet charm, but it is now being developed as a holiday resort...

THE GREAT D ON ILLITERACY

FOUR OUT OF FIVE of Kenya's adults are unable to read and write. As yet no fully comprehensive and successful scheme has been devised to eliminate illiteracy. Efforts in the past have largely been to set up night schools, but these have been largely ineffective, and some important, especially in the rural areas, have been abandoned in Kenya, and the effects are described by this article by ERIC MACHIRINGI.

WHILE Kenya's debating national and international issues, in an important part of Parliament, the National Assembly convenes, the country's illiterate masses are concentrated, closely on letters and symbols in a blackboard — which may occasionally lead them, to greater things.

The Parliamentary workers, Mr. Asahel Suruma, a Deputy Minister, who is the Government's Chief Adviser on Adult Education, has just presented the country's illiteracy situation to the Kenya Government and United Nations, with help from every voluntary organization.

Students, most of whom have had no formal education, are taught to read and write — and then to English or Swahili. Many will go on to advanced courses in the field of better living, with their new asset of literacy.

Four out of every five adults in Kenya are unable to read and write. This is a staggering fact, but a vigorous staff of the campaign opened, in January, in six districts: Nyandarua, Kitale, Machakos, Embu, Kericho, Kericho, Kisumu, Malindi, and Jaji. Each district has about 100,000 people, and each class has 40 students, and each class has 10 teachers. The district were chosen because of their diverse geographical areas, and to provide literacy schools for various groups of people — settlement

MASAILAND SEES BIG CHANGES

By Joseph Nduagu

MASSIVE changes are taking place in Masailand, especially in the Bajajelo district which has been selected as one of the areas for adult literacy projects.

The Masai remain mainly cattleherders and nomads, but modern farms and houses are beginning to appear among the country's Masai and Maasai. The Masai are being taught new techniques of agriculture and technology.

Kisumu's assistant education officer, Mr. G. T. Sakaah, is in charge of adult literacy in the district. With the help of local administrative officers, he has organized adult literacy classes, and assigned teachers to teach in the district.

The days and hours of classes are according to the convenience of the students, and most of whom are Masai.

Getting in the Safari mood

By ROGER HOWE

FASTER and the Safari should inject a bit of life in the TV and radio programmes, which have been rather dreary in the last few weeks.

Last night the General and National Services both gave us the start live a play TV, which we do not see, but there was a previous report in Standard at 2.30 pm, and in English at 6.45 am.

And, of course, Miss Penke has got us in the mood with her programme earlier in the evening on his life for Sifiso Isomona. (Despite the title which will tell you that Miss Penke's snippet was only slightly tangential to what was really one of the pastime, incidents of her father). Apparently she has now more confidently expect to star the country's first Monday show has him at the helm.

Tuesday's Free Eric Cent was new in a different format which featured Mr. Eric Cent and a strong supporting cast. This produced some lively discussions, though it became a little dull at times for most viewers.

Pure corn

Last Saturday's film, Night has got us in the mood with its recording of K. Robinson, which have been made about 1932 by a young woman, which is fairly modest; yet, the mood and melody were as faraway from any of the previous television shows as a man with the different kind of presentation.

At the time it was probably a reminder of how tame and routine choice perhaps.

Having developed an aversion to the typical Bayle's Law, I switched the set of my Sunday evening and the stand listened to Madeline in Remembrance on the General Service.

This programme, pleasantly composed by John Mills, featured medical reminiscences of the Radio Corporation's Merryweather, who turns out to have been a very good English yachtsman, who built a century ship and produced an interesting mixture of material.

CAREFUL SHOPLIFTERS KEEP AIROBI STORES VIGILANT

SHOPLIFTERS walk silently into a shop at lunchtime, when most of the assistants are absent, where items are displayed within easy reach. He or she reaches for an article on sale. Then, like a thief, he or she surreptitiously slips into a shop...

Another form of theft is through children who may have been brought to a shop with their parents and then the father leaves them alone. This kind of theft is common in shops where the goods are displayed on shelves...

A further form of theft which is being met only rarely under the category of shoplifting is usually confined to shops selling household appliances and mechanical articles.

It returns to us as to a customer who is said to be a thief. It is not working for the shop. He has no reason of his own for returning to the shop...

An overall word of sympathy goes heavily on the shopkeeper's good faith. It is not working for the shop. He has no reason of his own for returning to the shop...

The Baptist Church maintains links all over the world. Mrs. Peggy Cunningham, who is in charge of groups in Nairobi, points out one of the Baptist centers to Mrs. Glyn (second from left) and Mrs. Mathias, two church members.

Women who travel many miles to attend church

FAR from the big towns in East Africa, women from isolated villages congregate for weekly meetings in their local Baptist churches. Sometimes they may have spent two or three days on the road before reaching their destinations...

There are 63 women's groups in churches all over the three territories, who elect their own leaders.

These leaders are then visited by the head of the Baptist Women's Union in Kenya Mrs. Joanne Carter, at regular intervals...

The first Baptist women's group was organized in East Africa in 1909 at Kiambu. Women's classes and activities grew from the work of the church...

She has travelled on country roads where the heavy hours were spent with the African natives. She has seen the villages and the people who live there.

Farmers and drivers look for the rain

It would seem that a lot of people in Kenya have been going around their work with their heads in the air—looking for the rain. In fact, it is not the rain that they are either farmers waiting for the onset of the long rains.

Indeed, some people are wondering which weather forecaster was right. "We believe"—they say—"that the rain will come in the next few days. We have seen the clouds and the wind is blowing from the west. It will be a good sign." On the other hand, some people are saying that the rain will not come until the middle of the month. They say that the clouds are not thick enough and the wind is not blowing from the west. They say that the rain will not come until the middle of the month.

In doing so they are ignoring the fact that the Minister for Information and Broadcasting, Mr. Oginga, has said that the rains will come in the next few days.

Mr. Oginga recently warned against the kind of speculation which is being done about the rain. He said that the rain will come in the next few days. He said that the rain will come in the next few days. He said that the rain will come in the next few days.

Mad-up begins at midnight tonight

Standard Staff Report
Dorcas, S. Okin
... for hours in Dorcas Salazar yesterday to obtain... for their workers — people who do not have cards... for questioning after midnight tonight.
This is the deadline for the operation under which those without jobs are to be rounded up and repatriated to their home areas to work on the land.
Diplomatic demands for a postponement by harassed businessmen, the chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Committee, Mr. Songababe, yesterday confirmed that arrangements to remove the city's unemployed yesterday were unworkable. Mr. Kei, the central bank manager, said their home areas, under the terms of the Armistice Declaration, are outside the employment exchange in Tilt Street, run into hundreds, and many people who had waited since early morning were still there at 4 p.m.

Complaints of slowness

Employers or their senior representatives — who are required under the regulations to collect the cards and forward, and the slow process of filling in forms and paying for the cards, which at the moment people clambered on top of one another trying to get service.
During the morning there were complaints that there was only one person dealing with the collection of money, which meant that after completing formalities employees had to wait to be dealt with by the staff. Later in the day several employees were angry over eight labour officers to deal with.

CAIRO HUMS OVER VISIT OF MR. GROMKO

THE Soviet Foreign Minister, Mr. Gromko, had his highest moment yesterday when he visited Egypt's Foreign Minister, Mr. Mahmoud Fikri, as he arrived in secret, continued to surround the purpose of his sudden visit to Cairo, he said. Mr. Gromko's visit in what he said was a friendly mission to official disclosure of any kind shortly after he arrived, he said. He was accompanied by President Nasser's daughter, who was seen in the airport. There was an increasing expectation that the Egyptian ambassador in the Soviet Union, Mr. Ibrahim, would visit Cairo to meet important leaders there. Mr. Gromko's visit was said to be a sign of a new era in the relations between the two countries. The Soviet Union is said to be interested in the Egyptian military and air forces. It is expected that a major trade agreement will be signed between the two countries in the near future.

in 15th EAST AFRICAN SAFARI, 1967

At the Nairobi control, the last check point of the most famous Rally in East Africa, Mr. V. Fabbri, Managing Director of Faba Motors Ltd., distributors in Kenya of Alfa Romeo cars, spoke about their fine performance this year. For the first time in this country, five privately entered Alfa Romeo Giulia Super cars took part in the East African Safari, obtaining quite astonishing results. These cars, with their world-famous engines, gave a tremendous performance. Car No. 41, driven by Collinge and Syrett, maintained quite a good score until they were held up for some time by trees and rocks blocking the road on the Northern Leg but finally finished 5th in Class C and 14th Overall.

Car No. 29, Woods and Keist, also gave quite a performance. Then Car No. 80, McConnell and Stewart, finished in perfect condition. Car No. 90, Malik and Malik, although one of the best to start managed quite brilliantly to bring their car back to Nairobi control. Out of the five private entries three returned to Nairobi in perfect condition and proved quite clearly that these very fast and very tough Alfa Romeo cars are built to contend with the roughest and toughest roads in the world.

Faba Motors Ltd., together with Mr. Battistini, Chief tester, competitions manager and Africa Technical Inspector of Alfa Romeo, who came to Kenya to witness this extremely important test for Alfa Romeo cars, wish to congratulate and thank the five very experienced drivers and their co-drivers for the wonderful performance and the very satisfactory results with their privately entered Alfa Romeos.

HOUSING

Housing schemes will make town a home as well as a job

A typical house (above) in the Langata aided self-help housing scheme sponsored by the Central National Housing Board. The scheme is planned to reflect the national mass-up of Kenyan and residents are carefully selected to maintain an equitable racial balance.

When a few years ago, a few of the more progressive of some overseas firms were looking for ways to help Kenya in the housing of its population. The housing of its population is a major problem in Kenya.

One way to do this, and it is a way which the board is exploring, is to give the public a wide choice of housing schemes, both of the low-cost and the high-cost type. One of the low-cost schemes is the self-help housing scheme, which is a joint venture between the Government and the private sector. It is a scheme which is designed to help the low-income population to build their own homes.

The board is also exploring the possibility of building houses for the middle-income population. This is a scheme which is designed to help the middle-income population to build their own homes. The board is also exploring the possibility of building houses for the high-income population. This is a scheme which is designed to help the high-income population to build their own homes.

Return of Dr. Finlay

GOOD news for Keena viewers in the next quarter is assured in the next few weeks, but will come in the form of a new program — the Dr. Finlay Show which will be broadcast by the host of viewers who have watched the series on K.H.B.C. I understand Finlay returns at the beginning of May, and that shows which follow.

By BOBBI HOWES

When they have no more to say, the members of the Keena Show will be back on the air. As they say, it will be back with a bang and they will be back with a bang. It will be back with a bang and they will be back with a bang.

In past years, many of the Keena Show viewers have been disappointed in the return of the show. However, the return of the show is now assured. The show will be back with a bang and they will be back with a bang.

Dr. Finlay and his cast members are seen in a promotional photograph for the show's return.

MORE GRASSHOPPED OUT OF THE BEST NUMBER OF SAFARI FINISHERS SINCE 1958

The East African Safari proved once again that this event is the toughest and one of the best organized rallies in the world. Competitors from 15 different countries were full of praise for the Safari which was the dustiest on record. It was particularly pleasing that the good results were confirmed without any protest and that competitors had such excellent opportunities.

On a major road, the Peugeot 404 was the only car to be caught by a water main that had burst in the night.

TORQUE, the Standard's Motor Sports Correspondent, looks back on the 1964 East African Safari — after the dust has settled.

The performance of the 200 machines was very impressive. Not only did these 200 cars take the first 40 hours in the class, but two of them—Jack Howell and Bob Gerrish—made many easy runs with good fuel economy and few breakdowns. It is significant that 10 of the Peugeot 404s were first in class in the first 100 miles, and 10 of the Peugeot 404s were first in class in the first 200 miles.

Of which one is to prevail, the race starts through dense forest, and it is surprising that the 200 machines were driven evenly. In fact, the Standard's Peugeot 404 was in an average class, and the Peugeot 404 was the standard of the class.

It must be remembered that I have never seen a Peugeot 404 in the Standard's Peugeot 404 class. There has been no Peugeot 404 in the Standard's Peugeot 404 class. There has been no Peugeot 404 in the Standard's Peugeot 404 class.

Biggest problem
I have two reasons, with the 100 machines, to mention the biggest problem. The biggest problem was the 100 machines.

WHAT IS THE DIE-HARD PROCESS ?

Over a period of years VACU-LUG TRACTION TYRES LTD. have developed an extremely good method of top capping truck tyres known as the Die-Hard method vulcanised in vulcanising chamber. The great advantage of Die-Hard is that tyres can be reconditioned more times than by any remoulding method, the tread life exceeds remoulds by a very appreciable margin; and any size of tyre from a 700 x 16 to 1600 x 20 tyres can be reconditioned by this method.

This method of reconditioning is ideal for metallic and X type of tyres and indeed the Michelin Tyre Company of France recommend 'Die Hard' to their distributors in various parts of the world as being the best method of reconditioning a Michelin X type of tyre.

Technically this is the most satisfactory method of processing a casing, and has many virtues by comparison with normal method of remoulding.

1. Every size and type of road and truck tyre can be processed.
2. Maximum toughness of tread rubber.
3. Casing distortion is impossible.
4. A variety of tread designs may be offered.
5. ALL DIE-HARD PROCESSED TRUCK TYRES CARRY A GUARANTEE OF 20,000 MILES.

TEN SAFARIS BEHIND THIS CAR

Flashback to Friday, July 22, 1966: On that day, Ecta (Kenya) Limited handed over a standard production model B.M.W. 1800 for use as the official road survey car for the 15th East African Safari Rally. Since then Jack Howell, Competitions Manager of the Automobile Association, has completed around 30,000 miles in East Africa — the equivalent of ten Safaris, 30,000 miles of dust, mud, corrugations, potholes and all the other hazards of safari motoring. And she's still going strong. Naturally. For she's a B.M.W. The car with race-bred power and rally proved handling and stamina. Test drive the unbeatable B.M.W.

NOW... New!

Which of the Beetles is this one?

There are three models. Different looking. Different prices. Different power units. The lowest priced Beetle has single bumper bars, less chrome trimmings than the others and a 1.2 litre engine. Like them all, it goes and goes and goes. The 1300 has a more powerful engine (1.3 litre), more trim and costs a bit more than the 1300A. Then there's the most powerful Beetle of all. The VW 1600, the one that's in the picture, has a 1.6 litre engine (goes from 0-50 in 13 seconds), disc brakes in the front, an equalizer spring on the rear axle plus a wider rear wheel spacing.

This is what you get at the Coast: VW 1300A, £675, VW 1300 £735, VW 1500 £780. So don't let the little chrome trimmings fool you. Beetle's exterior beats an air-cooled engine. It won't boil over and ruin your piston rings. It's got a better oil pump for better lubrication in mud and sand. It will give you a lot of miles for a gallon of petrol and more miles than most other cars to a set of new tyres. Beetles are built that way.

A NEW LIFE UP-COUNTRY

By CYNTHIA HUNTER

When I was a child, I used to dream of living in a house like the one in the picture above. I would have a garden, a big tree, and a view of the mountains. I would have a peaceful life, away from the noise and pollution of the city. I would have a life that was truly up-country.

The children's eyes brightened at the thought of a life like this. They had heard of the "New Life" and they were all excited. They had heard that it was a life of peace and harmony, a life of freedom and joy. They had heard that it was a life that was truly up-country.

John Okello's short-lived hour of glory

By ERIC MARSDEN
REVOLUTION IN ZANZIBAR, by John Okello
(East African Publishing House, 8s.)

NEW stranger stories have been produced in Africa's post-war years. One of the best is John Okello's, the heroism from Lamu, Uganda, who led the fighting in Zanzibar, which ended centuries of Arab rule in Zanzibar, but was promptly controlled and made a province of the United Kingdom. Okello's story is highly readable and has been translated into many languages.

It is a short novel for the author and his publishers in Zanzibar, but it is a masterpiece of personal account of a revolution. The author's own account of the revolution is highly readable and has been translated into many languages. THE £35 STATUE THAT CAN TRIPLE FILM PROFITS

THE ACADEMY AWARDS
By Paul Michael (George Allen and Unwin, 6s.)

A TEN-CENT statue made of gold plate over brass can be worth millions. A low-budget film like On the Beach, starring Sydney Poitier, tripled its profits after the Oscar.

The book is a pictorial survey of the awards since they were introduced by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences in 1929.

Copier received no award for his performance last year. He was to claim the Oscar 13 years later in the title role of Ben-Hur.

In the ensuing years the Oscar went to some fine films and some actors. Paul Robeson made his fatalistic bid for the statuette that went behind the scenes.

David Selznick's Rebecca had great film and performance but went unmentioned. The statuette went to Gaslight.

This is evident in the greater number of films from the United States than from other countries.

It is unfortunate that such a high standard of artistry is completely ignored in the award.

Let yourself go on a BOAC VC10

From NAIROBI, NON STOP TO ROME, FRANKFURT, or ZURICH, then on to London. And listen. There's no uncomfortable jet noise. Why? Because VC10 engines up by the tail let you hear yourself think. The seat's pretty comfortable too. An armchair of a seat. Sink into it. Wiggle. You can fly in our VC10 Europe for the same fare as ordinary jetliners. That's extraordinary value.
