40 DEGREE ROCKY TOP BACK AT GROUND LEVEL. Top-back action at low bucket height results in maximum possible loads every pass for superior travel—bigger production per hour.

NEW DUMP CLUSTER. Handles up under continuous operation. Costs maintenance costs and time two ways. (1) Clutch adjustment, while done, is seldom required. (2) Final replacement is often unnecessary even at engine overhaul.

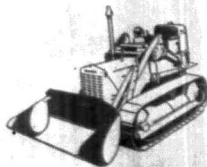

Also helps stop up production by preventing water shifting for operator!

HORNED HYDRAULIC SYSTEM. Independently balanced valve-type pump, tandem delivery of full volume and pressure of oil for thousands of hours. Electrical heating for tank prevent "backflow" penetration against diaphragm and seal. Closed hydraulic system—no vents or breathers—prevents entrance of dirt. Pull-down hydraulic filter prevents mud and water against diaphragm. Permanent oil filter handle located for easy replacement of element.

PLENTY OF POWER. Power is ample to "bury" the bucket and provide fast, biting action and positive dumping under all load conditions.

"RESERVED" CONTROL. Operator sits high, with excellent visibility of all bucket positions. All controls over self-operated to operator—single controls for one-hand operation! Plus—power operated "clutch" control.

PERFECT BALANCE. Weight distribution, engine placement and bucket capacity are balanced so that the full length of the track stays on the ground with a loaded load in the bucket.

A lighthearted but exciting quest in Morocco

By J. HENNINGSEN

HAVING made an attempt to solve the riddle last year's quest in last week's column, I had thought there would be no more to it. I have now had a chance to study the records on the subject and have found that the quest is a most interesting one and well worth reading and solving.

Some of the most interesting records on this subject are those of the late King Mohammed VI and his son, King Hassan II, who were both of the Moroccan royal family.

The late King Mohammed VI was a most interesting character and a most successful ruler. He was a most successful ruler and a most successful ruler.

ARE WE TOO KIND IN KENYA?

You meet it everywhere in Kenya, in the streets, the pubs, and the home. Hospitality as infectious as it is warm. "Stay for supper," "Have a spot"; good things are plentiful. But beware, be careful not to lose your sense of discrimination.

Learn to appreciate the best in a man's world. Try this and that Scotch whisky until you learn that the product of an old Highland concern is the best form which to judge the distillers' art.

Fine Scotch whisky is rare; the output of a small family concern such as Grants is restricted by the long years spent maturing. So Grants is sold only by name, there's not a drop to waste on the man who jovially orders Scotch.

You'll come to appreciate that Scotch whisky means so much more than "Scotch," and that some things can only be valued by the deep satisfaction they impart—take Grants for example.

SAFETY NATURE

BURGLAR FOR NIGHT—AN EASY LIFE IN NAIROBI

RONALD WILKINSON continues the first of two articles, explaining the carelessness of the average citizen which makes the life of the criminal surprisingly simple and the lot of the policeman consequently difficult. This article concentrates on the business areas; the second will deal with residential districts.

IT BECAME a break-thief, office-breaker and burglar under the best possible auspices on Sunday night. During a three-hour patrol, selected buildings at random in the heart of Nairobi, I helped three police officers to break into two buildings. No jemmes, blow-lamps or charges of gelignite were used. Thanks to the carelessness of our Nairobi business people, they were quite unnecessary.

If the managing director of a firm in Sallee Street reads this article he might like to know that two general stores in the same street, and would have made his only haul of a dozen typewriters. The desks there would have been further loaded "pickings" had we been interested in ransacking stocks and bonds.

We entered this building at 11.15. It had been left unoccupied all day and for some time. The door was open and the windows were broken.

In another part of Nairobi, a building which had been left unoccupied all day and for some time. The door was open and the windows were broken.

FEATURING WOMEN

Mr. Harold Arden, the leading London features writer, writes the way to feature in an article in the Women's Page—Page 12.

GUARD ASLEEP

Each night, he says, he is surprised by the absence of the guard and gates at the station. He says he has never seen a guard at the station.

He says he has never seen a guard at the station. He says he has never seen a guard at the station.

which was not "open country" but the "open" was to be seen when the police were on duty. It was a very simple matter to get into the building.

There is no doubt that the police were on duty. It was a very simple matter to get into the building.

It was a very simple matter to get into the building. It was a very simple matter to get into the building.

ROOM ENTRY

A class of looking-glasses is common in the houses of the middle class. There is nothing to be done about it.

There is nothing to be done about it. There is nothing to be done about it.

It is a very simple matter to get into the building. It was a very simple matter to get into the building.

THE ALARMS

The trouble with all these alarms is that they are not really alarms. They are only a nuisance.

They are only a nuisance. They are only a nuisance.

BIG GAME HUNT—IN ARCTIC

By Elizabeth Arden

ARCTIC, as a centre for big game hunting, has a great reputation.

These hunters are not like the ordinary hunters. They are looking for big game.

They are looking for big game. They are looking for big game.

They are looking for big game. They are looking for big game.

A "man line" in England is a very simple matter to get into the building. It was a very simple matter to get into the building.

'Record' mint of money for the British purse

PROMISED in 1919 to be a record for the British purse, the new money is now being minted.

The new money is now being minted. It is a very simple matter to get into the building.

It is a very simple matter to get into the building. It was a very simple matter to get into the building.

It is a very simple matter to get into the building. It was a very simple matter to get into the building.

A 'silent' visits Paris in the Spring

By J. H. HARRISON

Most of us look for the first visit to Paris in the spring, when the sun is shining and the birds are singing. But the first visit to Paris in the spring is not the one we think of. It is the visit of the 'silent' to Paris in the spring.

The 'silent' is a new type of visitor to Paris in the spring. It is a visitor who does not speak and does not make a sound. It is a visitor who is silent and who is in Paris in the spring.
