Masai have probably lost thousands' after K.A.G. failure

—Standard's Agricultural Columnist

MR. MILTON FLETCHER insisted his debate at the Stockholders' Conference at Nakuru on Saturday last, on the position regarding vaccines produced by E.A.V.S.O. which had led to trouble, probably the recent outbreak of rinderpest. He suggested that the situation was grave enough to call for a court of inquiry into the whole position.

Mr. Fletcher contended that instances of failure which he said, had occurred after the use of vaccines in diseases which included horse sickness, pyramus, blue-tongue, blackquater, anthrax, pleuro-pneumonia and rinderpest.

Questioning the results of the tests, he said that the results of the tests, he said, had been obtained from the Masai, who he said, were not to be trusted.

An East African layman looks at the groundnuts scheme

WITH REALISM, HE SAYS, IT CAN BECOME 'A BRAVE NEW WORLD'

FROM the air Kongwa, two years ago was just a minor trading settlement in the African bush, now looks like a large military base with its rows of tents, its Romney and Nissan huts and its temporary buildings. And after you have landed at the air strip and are making your way along the badly cut track to the "town," this impression is reinforced by the directing signposts and the Jeep and Land Rovers which keep leading to and fro.

There is little one can say of Kongwa "town." Its more privileged inhabitants live on the hill in "Millionaires Row" — pleasant, high-floored, detached cottages.

Lower down are individual dwellings for families — some well-furnished and equipped with other features and improvements. The quarters grouped in three and shown as "villas." Less some the hachelers and grass widowers are accommodated in tents, many of which, however, are spacious and have showers and electric lighting. In my opinion, to the sparse wooden houses are "villas." They have been constructed by the Government.

Shanty towns

The shanty are as present all in the African bush. The African labourer is not ready to live in shanty towns, but he is not ready to live in shanty towns. The shanty towns are not ready to live in shanty towns. The shanty towns are not ready to live in shanty towns.

Experiments

It is a matter of fact that the shanty towns are not ready to live in shanty towns. The shanty towns are not ready to live in shanty towns. The shanty towns are not ready to live in shanty towns.

Assets created

The groundnuts scheme is a failure regarded from the point of view of the shanty towns. The shanty towns are not ready to live in shanty towns. The shanty towns are not ready to live in shanty towns.

THE ODD ANTICS OF SOME ANIMALS

By the Warbler, Marsabit National Reserve G. H. DALTON

WHETHER she was just a buffoon, or whether she was a really bad tempered young cow, I don't know, but recently I was treated to an amazing display of antics by an elephant at the foot of the Matthes Range.

I had been taking some photographs of a herd of elephants and the wind being right and a few minutes later, when the elephants were made with out being observed, and with no disturbance to the elephant.

Now I am sure that this behaviour was a display of the elephant's intelligence. I have always been under the impression that the elephant is a very intelligent animal. I have always been under the impression that the elephant is a very intelligent animal.

PORTSMOUTH ALMOST SURE OF THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Huddersfield give Manchester U. a shock

There were some surprising football results in England on Wednesday.

Portsmouth made the championship almost certain today, having defeated Newcastle United's hopes, while Manchester United, Huddersfield Town practically paid to Manchester United's aspirations.

Manchester also sustained defeat, only their third of the season.

While Portsmouth's defeat of Newcastle United was a surprise, Huddersfield's victory over Manchester United was a surprise, as the latter had been regarded as a sure winner of the championship.

Perth City had been regarded as a sure winner of the championship, but they were defeated by Huddersfield.

Almost out of it

The other clubs are practically out of the running for the championship now.

Manchester United, Huddersfield, and Newcastle United are all out of the running.

Finalists in jeopardy

West Bromwich, with two goals behind their Hampshire rivals, could be knocked out of the championship.

BUILDING COSTS... Constitute a permanent foremost in the minds of many at the present time. By concentrating on building in certain areas only, we have attracted this problem with considerable success.

The Nyeri Nanyuki District is one of the areas in which we are building and we are pleased to receive enquiries from people who intend to build in this locality.

Summary of the world news

WORLD news event of the week was the signing of the North Atlantic Pact by the 12 Foreign Ministers in Washington on Monday—Atlantic Pact Day. The linking of 22 million people in this Pact was expected by most of the people of the world by a radio broadcast which went out the news and descriptions of the ceremony in about 50 languages.

In the audience of the U.S. State Department, the Pact was signed in the presence of about 3,000 people by the Foreign Ministers of the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, Canada, Italy, Portugal, Denmark and Iceland.

President Truman commended the Pact to the Congress. He said that the Pact was signed by the leaders of the free world in order to bring about a new era of peace and harmony and peace. Moscow does to decline to grant a privilege especially now.

But across the Atlantic another great people, traditionally isolated and traditionally peace-loving, saw and understood the significance of the signing of the pact. They are now in the vanguard of leadership and the opportunity of history. They have not been afraid to take their own part in the world, and they are now in the vanguard of leadership and the opportunity of history.

GOVERNMENT REPLIES

Why the E.A.P.&L. was refused

THE following was received this week from the Secretary in reply to a request from the East Africa Standard for a statement of the reasons for the refusal to grant the E.A.P. and L. an import licence for oil engines from America.

The application from the East African Power and Lighting Company Limited, for an import licence for oil engines from America, was received in December 1947. It was refused on the grounds that the economic conditions of the country at that time did not justify the grant of such a licence.

The Government, therefore, having given the matter the most careful consideration, decided that the licence could not be granted. It is regrettable that the licence has not been granted, but it is necessary to take into account the economic conditions of the country at that time.

YOUNG FARMERS MEET AT NJORO Rift Valley group a 'spearhead'

'Standard' Nakuru Correspondent KENYA'S pioneer junior agricultural organization the Rift Valley Young Farmers Club opened its annual meeting at NJORO this week.

Starting in a small way among the sons and daughters of farmers in the rural districts, the club has explained how those clubs had grown and expanded and eventually become one of the most important organizations of the country.

In England

Each country in England has its own set of circumstances, and it is to be seen that lectures on all matters of interest to the young agriculturists are given at regular intervals on farms or at agricultural centres during the summer months.

That gap

Mr Ward thought that one fact stood out with startling clarity from Kenya, and that was the very wide gap between the young agriculturists in this country and those in England.

TUG OF WAR BETWEEN GROUNDNUT SCHEME AND LOCAL AGRICULTURE

Competing employers scramble for labour in Mikindani area

From a Correspondent

THE problem of securing labour in the groundnuts areas of the Southern Tanganyika—soon to become the principal source of income for the Government—has been giving much anxiety for months to contractors engaged there and particularly to those who are working in the Mikindani area.

There is a shortage of labour throughout Southern Tanganyika for agricultural work, but the demand for labour among competing employers and some systems of control and direction is urgently required.

It is now often stressed that the main responsibility for the ultimate success of the groundnut scheme is related to the ability of all those in charge to control, direct and secure African labour in the territories under the scheme.

This is an excellent ground. However, it is almost a veritable tug-of-war between groundnut scheme contractors and the Government, with the latter having the upper hand in the matter of labour control.

The Government has been successful in securing a large number of labourers for the groundnut scheme, but the contractors are also successful in securing a large number of labourers for their own schemes.

Scottish Chronicle

EVERY Scot, at home and abroad, who is proud of his country's past (and that should include us all) ought to be likewise interested in the future.

Dr. Christopher Murray, who has been in Edinburgh as Secretary of the Scottish Council, has some very pertinent things to say on the future of Scotland and the changes of progress.

In a small country like ours, he said, with its high unemployment, much more and thought must be given to the future of the country. Our primary need was for a more efficient Government. And this meant above all research and technical development.

He said one type of export we could and should still have been scientific hardware, of whom over 20 per cent had still to have been in search of employment. In the past, he said, the Government had been successful in securing a large number of labourers for the groundnut scheme, but the contractors are also successful in securing a large number of labourers for their own schemes.

Among the other recommendations made by the Commission were that the Government should make a study of the possibilities of increasing the number of technical and scientific staffs in the country. He also recommended that the Government should make a study of the possibilities of increasing the number of technical and scientific staffs in the country.

"I'm a pioneer in modern dress!"

These days, some people don't think that traditional counts for much. But I know better. Forgetting my own location, twenty years ago I thought that that tradition is a precious thing that you have to learn. It's not something you can buy on the open market. I work it out, it's very tradition has a pioneer for a father and its mother is experience.

Take the example of B.O.A.C. Its 150,000 miles of world-wide air service is five continents and forty-two countries didn't happen. There was always a 'last time' for every route. Because B.O.A.C. has the imagination and the determination to be and stay a leader, it always looks and flies ahead.

That's why it's not surprising that B.O.A.C. pioneered the jet route between Britain and America over ten years ago. That it was the first and only to fly the only jet to the Pacific from London. And that it was the first to fly the only jet to the Pacific from London. And that it was the first to fly the only jet to the Pacific from London.

Holy Week music at the Cathedral

DURING Holy Week the choir of All Saints' Cathedral, Nairobi, is planning to give two performances of a cantata which it is believed, new to East Africa.

The work, "The Triumph of the Cross," is a cantata in three parts, written by Paul Harwood, a member of a group of composers who have written English church music from the depths of weakness and sentimentality to which it had dropped in the latter part of the nineteenth century.

Harwood was born in 1892, seven years after Beethoven, and died in 1958. He was a composer, pianist, and organist of the Cathedral choir in London. # Tests reveal malnutrition is greatest handicap to Africans' efficiency

ABSENCE of detailed, systematic information—collected, sifted and analysed—concerning the reasons for dismissal or resignation is a detriment to efficiency in a labour market where new employees are easily obtained there may appear, on the short view, to be justification for this inactivity.

When, on the other hand, staff is inefficient or discontented as revealed by open complaint or by a large labour turnover, information of this kind is essential on which to base suggestions for remedying the trouble.

This is the advice given in the report of the TEAM OF EXPERTS on African Labour, Efficiency Survey. The team consists of the following: Sir James G. Thompson, Director of the ILO; Dr. J. H. G. Williams, Director of the ILO; Dr. J. H. G. Williams, Director of the ILO; Dr. J. H. G. Williams, Director of the ILO.

True reason
The experts claim that it is in the interests of the efficient hand that the reasons for dismissal or resignation should be ascertained and that the reasons should be taken into account when the employer is faced with a new situation for the employee's return.
