BRITAIN'S EXPORT TRADE WORRIES

Over-resistance increases

STAFFORD REVEALS HIS APPEAL TO THE COUNTRY'S WORKERS

Britain's export figures revealed on Friday had fresh forebodings to some business quarters who were professed to see economic danger signals ahead. The first three months of the year showed a 10 per cent increase in exports over the corresponding period of the previous year.

Imports, swollen by increased quantities of raw materials, were £187,500,000, or the average for the first quarter of the year.

The decrease in export figures is comparatively small, but the Government is being criticised in the foreign markets noticeable for its inactivity in the face of the slump.

Mr. Stafford said that the Government should do more to help the export trade, and that the Government should do more to help the export trade, and that the Government should do more to help the export trade.

BERLIN'S 'BATTLE OF THE TRAINS'

Striking railwaymen fight for stations

FREE OF THE BLOCKADE FOR LESS THAN A WEEK

FREE OF THE BLOCKADE FOR LESS THAN A WEEK, Berlin is now in the throes of the "battle of the trains." Thirteen thousand railwaymen, protesting against a demand that the Soviet-controlled management pay the wages in Western marks instead of the less valuable Eastern marks, have been on strike since Friday night.

At many of the city's stations there have been clashes between the strikers and Soviet-controlled police and Communist strike-breakers. It was reported yesterday that the Soviet-controlled railway police had fired a number of shots in a scuffle with the strikers at Wannsee station in the American zone.

The confirmation of this news is that the Soviet-controlled railway police had fired a number of shots in a scuffle with the strikers at Wannsee station in the American zone.
